Notes

Specified required courses within Liberal Studies may have grade minimums (e.g. C- or better). Please consult your advisor or your college and major requirements.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Major Requirements

Course Requirements

In addition to ACC 101 and ACC 102, a student majoring in Accountancy is required to complete the following courses totaling at least 42.0 hours:

• ACC 250 CAREER MANAGEMENT FOR ACCOUNTANTS (2.0 hours)
• ACC 303 COST & MANAGERIAL ACCOUNTING
• ACC 304 FINANCIAL REPORTING I

• ACC 372 AUDITING I
• ACC 374 AUDITING II
• ACC 380 TAX TREATMENT OF INDIVIDUALS AND PROPERTY
• ACC 383 TAX TREATMENT OF CORPORATIONS AND PARTNERSHIPS

*Students majoring in accounting (primary or secondary) are allowed to substitute ACC 370 in place of BLW 201.

Career Management Course

Students are required to complete the Career Course (250) associated with the major. Students who double major may choose the Career Course (250) associated with either major provided that hours for graduation are satisfied.

Open Electives
Open elective credit (4.0 hours) is needed to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Financial Reporting Series

Students who have taken the financial accounting course, ACC 307-H taught within the finance cohort are exempt from taking the financial accounting course ACC 304.

Students who have taken the financial accounting course, ACC 309-H taught within the finance cohort are exempt from taking the financial accounting courses ACC 305 and ACC 306. A student exempt from ACC 306 due to completion of ACC 309 must take an additional Accountancy Elective to complete the hours required for the Accountancy major.

Graduation Requirements

All Accountancy (ACC) courses and any courses used toward the Accountancy major must be completed with a minimum grade of C- and with a combined GPA of 2.000 or higher.

Concentration in Internal Audit

Available to students majoring in Accountancy, the optional concentration in Internal Audit prepares students to meet the challenges of the profession and provides them with knowledge of the internal audit function that is becoming increasingly important in the global business community. Students experience rigorous classroom learning designed to deliver the knowledge and practical skills they'll need to succeed during the first years of their careers including: oral and written communication, understanding of internal audit’s role of providing objective assurance of key governance, risk management, and compliance processes, use information technology processes and controls in the assurance function, and development of teamwork and leadership skills. Successful students will enjoy opportunities to visit companies and interact with Chief Audit Executives on risk assessment projects.

A student completing the concentration in Internal Audit is required to take three courses:

- ACC 372 AUDITING I
- ACC 376 INTERNAL AUDITING
- One elective course chosen from:
  - ACC 375 FRAUD EXAMINATION AND FORENSIC AUDITING
  - IS 344 IT AUDITING

Courses for the concentration may be taken in any order.

To declare the concentration in Internal Audit, a student must be a declared Accountancy major. The concentration may be declared at the same time as major declaration or added afterward. All courses for the concentration must be completed with a minimum grade of C-.

Sample Schedule

Students majoring in Accountancy are encouraged to take the required courses in the following order:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Autumn</th>
<th>Winter</th>
<th>Spring</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1st Year</td>
<td>ACC 101</td>
<td>ACC 102</td>

<tr>
<td>3rd Year</td>
<td>ACC 372</td>
<td>ACC 374</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4th Year</td>
<td>ACC 383</td>
<td>ACC 308</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

ACC 250 may be taken by students any quarter that fits their schedule. Completion is recommended prior to third year.

Combined Bachelor's/ Master's Degree

The combined Bachelor's/Master's degree programs allow students to complete 12 graduate credit hours while still undergraduates. These 12 graduate credit hours will count toward both the undergraduate and graduate degree programs.

- Accountancy (BSB)/Audit and Advisory Services (MSAA)
- Accountancy (BSB)/Taxation (MSTAX)
Accountancy (BSB)/ Audit and Advisory Services (MSAA)

The Combined BSB/MSAA Program allows accountancy majors to complete a bachelor’s degree and a Master of Science in Audit and Advisory Services (MSAA) degree in five years.

The MSAA provides students with advanced auditing skills and prepares them to succeed as accountants at both public accounting firms and corporate internal audit departments. Students receive hands-on training with audit tools, visualization techniques and data analytics. The program also uses forensic accounting to prepare students to understand what questions to ask of financial data and how to interpret the findings. Students graduate with a set of integrated competencies that are highly valued by the accounting profession.

Classes During Senior Year

In this program, students will take three graduate classes during their senior year. These three classes will count toward both the bachelor’s degree and master’s degree as indicated below.

- ACC 547 AUDITING I (replaces ACC 372, prerequisite ACC 305)
- ACC 550 AUDITING II (replaces ACC 374; prerequisite ACC 372)
- ACC 640 ACCOUNTING THEORY AND POLICY FORMULATION (replaces ACC 350; prerequisite ACC 305 and ACC 380)

These courses are offered every quarter except summer and may be taken at any time providing prerequisites have been met. These courses must be taken in-person and not online.

Graduate Year

Upon completion of the bachelor’s degree, students complete the remaining master’s degree requirements.

Visit the MSAA degree requirements in the course catalog for more information.

Admission Requirements

Current DePaul accountancy majors who meet the following criteria may apply to this program:

- Junior standing or higher (at least 88.0 credits)
- A minimum cumulative DePaul grade point average of 3.200
- A minimum Accountancy (ACC) grade point average of 3.000
- B or higher in each of the three graduate classes taken during senior year

Students should apply for admission while enrolled in ACC 305.

Students must maintain the same GPA standards above by the end of senior year to continue into the MSAA program.

To apply to the program, go to https://grad.depaul.edu/apply.

- Select Audit and Advisory Services-Combined
- Select the term you plan to begin the master's degree after finishing your bachelor's degree. This term can be changed at a later date if your plans change.
- Not required: GMAT exam, personal statement, recommendations, and application fee.
- You may upload your unofficial transcript available through Campus Connect.

Accountancy (BSB)/ Taxation (MSTAX)

The Combined BSB-Accountancy/MS Taxation Program allows accountancy majors to complete a bachelor's degree and a Master of Science in Taxation (MSTAX) degree in five years.

The Master of Science (MS) in taxation is an integrated program of study that provides the foundation for exceptional performance and leadership in the field of taxation.
One of the first MS in taxation programs in the United States, DePaul's program is structured for working professionals to enhance understanding and analysis of complex tax statutes, tax regulations, related cases and rulings, and the Internal Revenue Code.

MS in taxation students gain technical competencies; analytical, communications and interpretive skills; and leadership abilities that prepare them to add value at the highest levels in their firms, businesses and organizations.

Classes During Senior Year

In this program, students will take three graduate classes during their senior year. These three classes will count toward both the bachelor’s degree and master’s degree as indicated below.

- ACC 551 TAX TREATMENT OF CORPORATIONS AND PARTNERSHIPS (replaces ACC 383; prerequisite ACC 380)
- ACC 558 TAX RESEARCH (replaces ACC 350; prerequisite ACC 551)
- ACC 565 TAX ACCOUNTING, PERIODS, AND METHODS or ACC 566 FEDERAL INCOME TAX PROCEDURES

These courses must be taken in-person and not online.

Graduate Year

Upon completion of the bachelor’s degree, students complete the remaining master’s degree requirements.

Visit the MS Taxation degree requirements in the course catalog for more information.

Admission Requirements

Current DePaul accountancy majors who meet the following criteria may apply to this program:

- Junior standing or higher (at least 88.0 credits)
- A minimum cumulative DePaul grade point average of 3.200
- A minimum Accountancy (ACC) grade point average of 3.000
- B or higher in each of the three graduate classes taken during senior year
- B or higher in ACC 380 Taxation of Individuals and Property

Students should apply for admission while enrolled in ACC 380.

Students must maintain the same GPA standards above by the end of senior year to continue into the MST program.

To apply to the program, go to https://grad.depaul.edu/apply.

- Select Taxation – Combined Degree
- Select the term you plan to begin the master’s degree after finishing your bachelor’s degree. This term can be changed at a later date if your plans change.
- Not required: GMAT exam, personal statement, recommendations, and application fee.
- You may upload your unofficial transcript available through Campus Connect.

Accountancy (Minor)

Available to students majoring outside the Driehaus College of Business, the Accountancy minor is designed for those students seeking to acquire skills in analyzing, interpreting, and communicating financial information to complement their major course of study.

Students who have taken the financial accounting course, ACC 309-H taught within the finance cohort are exempt from taking the financial... accounting courses ACC 305 and ACC 306. A student exempt from ACC 306 due to completion of ACC 309 must take an additional Accountancy Elective to complete the hours required for the Accountancy minor.

Graduation Requirements

All Accountancy (ACC) courses and any courses used toward the Accountancy minor must be completed with a minimum grade of C- and with a combined GPA of 2.000 or higher.

Accountancy Honors (BSB)

The designation Strobel Scholar is reserved for students of exceptional ability, achievement, and motivation in the School of Accountancy and Management Information Systems' Strobel Honors Program. These students are characterized by outstanding academic records, high aptitudes for scholastic work, and reputations for leadership.

Special honors sections of accountancy courses are provided for Strobel Scholars every quarter as indicated in the quarterly class schedule. The content and structure of these honors sections are designed to appeal to the Strobel Scholar. Strobel Scholars proceed through the Program together, interacting with peers who have similar abilities. Learning and teaching concepts are advanced and student-oriented; small group activities and student presentations are used in honors sections. Students in the Strobel Scholars Program are expected to maintain high academic performance throughout the complete honors curriculum. Academic performance is reviewed at the end of each school year by the Administrator of the Strobel Scholars Program, Deloitte Professor John McEnroe. Outside speakers from the accounting and business communities are frequent visitors and participants.

The program is named after the late chair of the Accountancy Department, Eldred C. Strobel. Professor Strobel's distinguished career as an accounting educator spanned thirty-five years, fourteen of which were served as chair. Known for his support of innovative approaches to accounting education, he was the founder of the honors program, which now bears his name.

Admission to the Strobel Honors Program is by invitation only and is based on outstanding academic achievement in high school. Prior to being considered for the Strobel Honors Program, a student must be admitted to DePaul University and the Driehaus College of Business as a full-time, first-year, degree-seeking student.

Notes

Specified required courses within Liberal Studies may have grade minimums (e.g. C- or better). Please consult your advisor or your college and major requirements.

Courses offered in the student’s primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student’s major and is cross-listed with a course within the student’s major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.
Major Requirements

Course Requirements

In addition to ACC 101 and ACC 102, a student majoring in Accountancy Honors is required to complete the following courses totaling at least 42.0 hours:

- ACC 250 CAREER MANAGEMENT FOR ACCOUNTANTS (2.0 hours)
- ACC 303 COST & MANAGERIAL ACCOUNTING
- ACC 304 FINANCIAL REPORTING I
- ACC 305 FINANCIAL REPORTING II
- ACC 306 FINANCIAL REPORTING III
- ACC 308 ADVANCED FINANCIAL ACCOUNTING
- ACC 350 INFORMATION FOR DECISION MAKING
- ACC 372 AUDITING I
- ACC 374 AUDITING II
- ACC 380 TAX TREATMENT OF INDIVIDUALS AND PROPERTY
- ACC 383 TAX TREATMENT OF CORPORATIONS AND PARTNERSHIPS

*Students majoring in accounting (primary or secondary) are allowed to substitute ACC 370 in place of BLW 201.

Strobel Course Sections

The courses listed above (excluding ACC 250 and ACC 370) must be taken as honors sections by students in the Strobel program. Strobel students take specially designated sections of all ACC classes, including ACC 101 and ACC 102.

Grade Standard

Strobel Honors students will face dismissal from the honors track if they receive a D or F in an honors accounting class or less than a B- in three honors accounting classes. This standard is designed to ensure that the academic excellence that the designation engenders is maintained.

Financial Reporting Series

Students who have taken the financial accounting course, ACC 307-H taught within the finance cohort are exempt from taking the financial accounting course ACC 304.

Students who have taken the financial accounting course, ACC 309-H taught within the finance cohort are exempt from taking the financial accounting courses ACC 305 and ACC 306. A student exempt from ACC 306 due to completion of ACC 309 must take an additional Accountancy Elective to complete the hours required for the Accountancy major.

Career Management Course

Students are required to complete the Career Course (250) associated with the major. Students who double major may choose the Career Course (250) associated with either major provided that hours for graduation are satisfied.

Open Electives

Open elective credit (4.0 hours) is needed to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Graduation Requirements

All Accountancy (ACC) courses and any courses used toward the Accountancy major must be completed with a minimum grade of C- and with a combined GPA of 2.000 or higher.
Concentration in Internal Audit

Available to students majoring in Accountancy, the optional concentration in Internal Audit prepares students to meet the challenges of the profession and provides them with knowledge of the internal audit function that is becoming increasingly important in the global business community. Students experience rigorous classroom learning designed to deliver the knowledge and practical skills they'll need to succeed during the first years of their careers including: oral and written communication, understanding of internal audit's role of providing objective assurance of key governance, risk management, and compliance processes, use information technology processes and controls in the assurance function, and development of teamwork and leadership skills. Successful students will enjoy opportunities to visit companies and interact with Chief Audit Executives on risk assessment projects.

A student completing the concentration in Internal Audit is required to take three courses:

- ACC 372 AUDITING I
- ACC 376 INTERNAL AUDITING
- One elective course chosen from:
  - ACC 375 FRAUD EXAMINATION AND FORENSIC AUDITING
  - IS 344 IT AUDITING

Courses for the concentration may be taken in any order.

To declare the concentration in Internal Audit, a student must be a declared Accountancy major. The concentration may be declared at the same time as major declaration or added afterward. All courses for the concentration must be completed with a minimum grade of C-.

Sample Schedule

Courses in the Strobel sequence must be taken in the following order:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Year</th>
<th>Autumn</th>
<th>Winter</th>

</table>

"H" denotes Strobel specific section of the course listed. The courses must be taken as honors sections by students in the Strobel program (with the exception of the recommended ACC 393, which is not offered as an honors section).

There is no honors section of ACC 250. Students may take that course any quarter that fits their schedule. Completion is recommended prior to third year.

ACC 393 is not required for the major, but it is recommended and may be used for Experiential Learning in the Liberal Studies requirements.

Combined Bachelor's/ Master's Degree

The combined Bachelor's/Master's degree programs allow students to complete 12 graduate credit hours while still undergraduates. These 12 graduate credit hours will count toward both the undergraduate and graduate degree programs.

- Accountancy (BSB)/Audit and Advisory Services (MSAA)
- Accountancy (BSB)/Taxation (MSTAX)
Accountancy (BSB)/Audit and Advisory Services (MSAA)

The Combined BSB/MSAA Program allows accountancy majors to complete a bachelor’s degree and a Master of Science in Audit and Advisory Services (MSAA) degree in five years.

The MSAA provides students with advanced auditing skills and prepares them to succeed as accountants at both public accounting firms and corporate internal audit departments. Students receive hands-on training with audit tools, visualization techniques and data analytics. The program also uses forensic accounting to prepare students to understand what questions to ask of financial data and how to interpret the findings. Students graduate with a set of integrated competencies that are highly valued by the accounting profession.

Classes During Senior Year

In this program, students will take three graduate classes during their senior year. These three classes will count toward both the bachelor's degree and master's degree as indicated below.

- ACC 547 AUDITING I (replaces ACC 372, prerequisite ACC 305)
- ACC 550 AUDITING II (replaces ACC 374; prerequisite ACC 372)
- ACC 640 ACCOUNTING THEORY AND POLICY FORMULATION (replaces ACC 350; prerequisite ACC 305 and ACC 380)

These courses are offered every quarter except summer and may be taken at any time providing prerequisites have been met. These courses must be taken in-person and not online.

Graduate Year

Upon completion of the bachelor's degree, students complete the remaining master's degree requirements.

Visit the MSAA degree requirements in the course catalog for more information.

Admission Requirements

Current DePaul accountancy majors who meet the following criteria may apply to this program:

- Junior standing or higher (at least 88.0 credits)
- A minimum cumulative DePaul grade point average of 3.200
- A minimum Accountancy (ACC) grade point average of 3.000
- B or higher in each of the three graduate classes taken during senior year

Students should apply for admission while enrolled in ACC 305.

Students must maintain the same GPA standards above by the end of senior year to continue into the MSAA program.

To apply to the program, go to https://grad.depaul.edu/apply.

- Select Audit and Advisory Services-Combined
- Select the term you plan to begin the master's degree after finishing your bachelor's degree. This term can be changed at a later date if your plans change.
- Not required: GMAT exam, personal statement, recommendations, and application fee.
- You may upload your unofficial transcript available through Campus Connect.

Accountancy (BSB)/Taxation (MSTAX)

The Combined BSB-Accountancy/MS Taxation Program allows accountancy majors to complete a bachelor’s degree and a Master of Science in Taxation (MSTAX) degree in five years.

The Master of Science (MS) in taxation is an integrated program of study that provides the foundation for exceptional performance and leadership in the field of taxation.
One of the first MS in taxation programs in the United States, DePaul’s program is structured for working professionals to enhance understanding and analysis of complex tax statutes, tax regulations, related cases and rulings, and the Internal Revenue Code.

MS in taxation students gain technical competencies; analytical, communications and interpretive skills; and leadership abilities that prepare them to add value at the highest levels in their firms, businesses and organizations.

Classes During Senior Year

In this program, students will take three graduate classes during their senior year. These three classes will count toward both the bachelor’s degree and master’s degree as indicated below.

- ACC 551 TAX TREATMENT OF CORPORATIONS AND PARTNERSHIPS (replaces ACC 383; prerequisite ACC 380)
- ACC 558 TAX RESEARCH (replaces ACC 350; prerequisite ACC 551)
- ACC 565 TAX ACCOUNTING, PERIODS, AND METHODS or ACC 566 FEDERAL INCOME TAX PROCEDURES

These courses must be taken in-person and not online.

Graduate Year

Upon completion of the bachelor’s degree, students complete the remaining master’s degree requirements.

Visit the MS Taxation degree requirements in the course catalog for more information.

Admission Requirements

Current DePaul accountancy majors who meet the following criteria may apply to this program:

- Junior standing or higher (at least 88.0 credits)
- A minimum cumulative DePaul grade point average of 3.200
- A minimum Accountancy (ACC) grade point average of 3.000
- B or higher in each of the three graduate classes taken during senior year
- B or higher in ACC 380 Taxation of Individuals and Property

Students should apply for admission while enrolled in ACC 380.

Students must maintain the same GPA standards above by the end of senior year to continue into the MST program.

To apply to the program, go to https://grad.depaul.edu/apply.

- Select Taxation – Combined Degree
- Select the term you plan to begin the master’s degree after finishing your bachelor’s degree. This term can be changed at a later date if your plans change.
- Not required: GMAT exam, personal statement, recommendations, and application fee.
- You may upload your unofficial transcript available through Campus Connect.

Acting (BFA)

The Theatre School’s Bachelor of Fine Arts (BFA) degree in Acting prepares actors to work on both stage and screen. It develops actors who are imaginative, skillful, expressive and vibrantly alive. It is rooted in the Chicago tradition, emphasizing physicality, truth in action, communication, collaboration and spontaneity. The first year introduces the actor to a broad range of techniques and experiences, defines a way of working and provides a set of skills. The next three years focus on developing and refining this way of working - adding skills and technique - while helping each actor discover and apply those which work best for him or her.

African and Black Diaspora Studies (BA)

The purpose of the African & Black Diaspora Studies Program is to provide DePaul students with a systematic, interdisciplinary, and integrated course of study of Africa & the Black Diaspora. The Program provides students with an opportunity to earn a Bachelor of Arts degree in African & Black Diaspora Studies with a concentration in Africa, Black America, and/or Afro-Caribbean and Latin America. African & Black Diaspora Studies will also train students in comparative analysis of regions (e.g., peoples, religions, philosophies) through an incorporation of the study of history, power, identity, gender, and race. The Program’s offerings provide students with opportunities to learn about and develop expertise in the cultures, epistemologies, histories, sciences, and societies of Africans and peoples of African descent. The Program prepares students to pursue professions and careers that require a systematic knowledge of Africa and its Diaspora.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Explain the concept of diaspora as a global unifying concept by integrating attention to the diversity of groups that make up the Black Diaspora.
- Detect and differentiate the interactions of race, ethnicity, gender, sexuality, and class.
- Identify and analyze multiple theories of Blackness: as a source of cultural identity, aesthetics, and/or as a basis of political, social, or national movements.
- Analyze and evaluate the ideological frameworks through which Black people have been defined and have defined themselves.
- Produce oral or written work based on primary and secondary sources that evaluate the contributions of African and Black people in the modern world.

College Core Requirements

Study in the Major Field

The student's course of study in the College consists of three parts: Liberal Studies, the major field, and electives. Together these three parts contribute to the liberal education of the student which is the common purpose of all study in the College. By "liberal education" the College understands not only a deep and thorough knowledge of a particular area of study but a knowledge of the diverse areas of study represented by criticism, history, the arts, the behavioral and social sciences, philosophy, religious studies, the natural science, and mathematics.

The major field program generally is built upon a set of core courses and a specialized "concentration." The number of courses required for a major varies by department. Most students go beyond the minimum requirements, electing additional courses which both broaden and deepen their understanding of their chosen discipline.

Because no academic major program is built in isolation, students are required to pursue a number of electives of the student's choice. The inherent flexibility of this curriculum demands that the student consult an academic advisor at each stage in the total program and at least once prior to each registration. Students will be prompted to visit the College Office for their official graduation check early in their senior year.

Declaration of Major, Minor and Concentration

All students in the College are required to declare a major field prior to beginning their junior year. The student will then be assigned a faculty advisor in the major field department or program and should make an appointment to see that advisor at his or her earliest convenience.

Students must declare or change majors, minors, and concentrations, via Campus Connection. However, for the purpose of exploring the possibility of changing a major field, the student should consult an academic advisor in the Office for Academic Advising Support.

The Modern Language Requirement (MLR)

All students will be required to demonstrate competence in a modern language (i.e., a language other than English) equivalent to the... proficiency attained from one year of college-level language study. This Modern Language Requirement (MLR) may be demonstrated by:

- placing into 104 or above on the DePaul language placement exam
- completing the last course or earning AP/IB credit for the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language (e.g. 103 for DePaul language classes)
- completing a college course or earning AP/IB credit for a college course beyond the first-year level in any language (e.g. 104 or above for DePaul language classes)
- completing the final course of a four-year sequence of the same modern language in high school*
- completing a proctored exam by BYU and passing the exam (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)
- completing a proctored Written Proficiency Test (WPT) by Language Testing International (LTI) and achieving a score of Beginner High or above (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)

* Students are strongly encouraged to take the DePaul language placement exam even if they have met the MLR via study of a language in high school. This will ensure continuation of language study at the proper level.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College will abide by this MLR in place on the effective date of the ICT, regardless of when they first matriculated at DePaul.

Students who have met the MLR and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" (MLO) of the Liberal Studies Program (see "Special Programs").

External Credit and Residency

A student who has been admitted to the College begins residency within the college as of the first day of classes of the term in which the student is registered. Students in residence, whether attending on a full-time or part-time basis, may not take courses away from DePaul University without the written permission of the college. Permission must be obtained in advance of registration to avoid loss of credit or residency in the college; see the LAS website for more information.

Notes

A student majoring in African and Black Diaspora Studies (ABD) is required to complete the Capstone offered by the ABD Department. This is the case even if a student is double majoring (or pursuing a dual degree) and the secondary major (or degree) requires its own Capstone. An ABD major in the University Honors Program shall take the University Honors Capstone and the ABD Capstone.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

- ABD 208  AFRICAN AMERICA:PEOPLES, CULTURES, IDEAS, AND MOVEMENTS
- 4 300-level ABD Courses
- 4 Major-Field ABD Electives at 200-level or 300-level
- ABD 391 SENIOR CAPSTONE

Core Courses

Students are required to complete four core ABD courses (16-quarter credit hours). The core courses are designed to accomplish three goals: to introduce students to the learning goals and outcomes of the Department of African and Black Diaspora Studies; to emphasize the Vincentian tenet that questions of human value are central to scholarly inquiry; and to strengthen an understanding of the interrelationships and dynamics between Africa, the Caribbean and Latin America, and the United States.

300-level Courses in an Area of Inquiry

For this requirement, students must take four ABD courses (16-quarter credit hours) at the 300 level. These courses build upon the general foundation of knowledge provided by the core courses. They serve to reinforce and extend student knowledge about a particular area of study relating to Africa and/or the Black Diaspora as well as the Department's core sites of inquiry (culture, gender, history, power, and race).

To insure that students are exposed to a variety of methodological approaches, students will endeavor to take courses in the social and behavioral sciences (i.e. anthropology, geography, history, international studies, psychology, political science, and sociology), humanities (i.e. history of art and architecture, literature, modern languages, music, philosophy, religious studies, and theatre), and interdisciplinary studies (i.e. American studies, Latin American & Latino studies, Women's and Gender studies, LGBT studies, etc.).

Each student, in consultation with his or her advisor, will work to design an area of study that is attentive to comparative analysis. Students who wish to take a 200-level course in partial fulfillment of this requirement must petition the Department of African and Black Diaspora Studies chair for approval (this is not common).

Major Field Electives

Students in the Department of African and Black Diaspora Studies will take four ABD courses as major field electives (16-quarter credit hours). These courses can be at the 200-level or 300-level. We urge students to consider courses at the 300-level to fulfill this requirement.

Such courses are designed to provide students with an opportunity to take courses related to their field of concentration in African and Black Diaspora Studies and at the same time extend their academic preparation through coursework in allied fields. The selection of electives will be done in consultation with the student's academic advisor.

Capstone

This senior seminar (four quarter hours) engages students in a synthesis of what they have learned through coursework. The capstone course will involve reading, writing, discussion, as well as the preparation by students a substantive piece of work (e.g., a senior thesis, a research paper, or a creative work).

Open Electives

Open elective credits are also required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 quarter-credit hours.
3+3 Program (BA/ JD)

In the 3 + 3 BA/JD Program, high-achieving first-year undergraduate students are admitted simultaneously to the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences and the College of Law. Students complete their first three years in the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences and their final three years in the College of Law. Students receive the Bachelor of Arts degree after successful completion of their first year of law school. Throughout the program, BA/JD students meet regularly with advisors in both Colleges and have access to a variety of resources to ensure their success.

Key Program Features

- Students earn a law degree (Juris Doctor) in a total of six years (three years undergraduate and three years in law school).
- Students save one year’s worth of tuition, reducing their overall debt load.
- Students benefit from new curricular offerings and collaborative activities created to prepare them for law school.
- Students receive early (conditional) admission to the College of Law.
- Credits earned in the first year of law school apply toward the BA degree.
- Students may opt out of the College of Law segment of the program and continue in the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences during their fourth year.
- If students withdraw after the first semester in the College of Law, they return to the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences for the winter quarter.

Program Requirements

In order to maintain status in the program, students must demonstrate satisfactory progress toward completing their undergraduate coursework in three years, including meeting the Modern Language Requirement and necessary Liberal Studies Program or Honors Program requirements. Students must achieve a cumulative GPA of 3.35 by the end of their second year of study and maintain a cumulative GPA of 3.35 in their third and final year of undergraduate study.

In addition, students must complete a series of two-credit courses, taught by College of Law faculty, prior to matriculation in the College of Law. They are designed to help students understand many aspects of the legal system as well as to complement their undergraduate course of study. The courses are as follows:

- PRELAW 150 THE PRACTICE OF LAW
- PRELAW 151 RECENT CONTROVERSIES IN LAW
- PRELAW 152 THINKING ABOUT THE LAW

In order to matriculate in the College of Law, students will be required to register with the Law School Admissions Council, submit the College of Law's online application, comply with all character and fitness requirements for admission, and submit an LSAT score. The activities should be completed no later than the end of the Autumn Quarter of the participant’s third undergraduate year. The LSAT score will only be used for consideration of merit scholarships; it will not be a factor in the admission of the participant to the program.

Combined Bachelor's/ Master's Degree

The combined Bachelor's/Master's degree programs allow students to complete 12 graduate credit hours while still undergraduates. These 12 graduate credit hours will count toward both the undergraduate and graduate degree programs.

African and Black Diaspora Studies (BA)/Critical Ethnic Studies (MA)

Undergraduate students majoring in African and Black Diaspora Studies apply to the Critical Ethnic Studies MA program in spring of their junior year; interested students should contact the Critical Ethnic Studies (CES) graduate director. Students in this program take twelve graduate credit hours in their senior year; these graduate courses apply toward both undergraduate African and Black Diaspora Studies and graduate Critical Ethnic Studies requirements.

In the senior year undergraduate students complete:

- CES 401 CRITICAL ETHNIC STUDIES

Two courses from:

- CES 402 MOBILITY AND THE STATE
- CES 403 CITIES AND RACIAL FORMATION
- CES 404 BORDERS AND MIGRATION
- or INT 404 MIGRATION AND FORCED MIGRATION
- CES 405 RACE AND THE MEDIA
- or CMNS 563 MULTICULTURAL MEDIA REPRESENTATIONS
Once the student has graduated with their undergraduate BA in African and Black Diaspora Studies, they will matriculate into the MA Program. As MA students, students will take the remaining nine courses toward the MA degree. Usually, students will take three graduate courses per quarter in order to complete the MA in the one additional year. Students may also wish to take one of these courses during the summer. See MA degree requirements.

Students interested in applying to the BA/MA program in Critical Ethnic Studies should contact the Critical Ethnic Studies director at ces@depaul.edu

African and Black Diaspora Studies (Minor)

A minor concentration in African and Black Diaspora studies provides students with a general knowledge about African and Black Diaspora Studies. Six courses are required for the minor.

Course Requirements

- ABD 100 -- INTRODUCTION TO AFRICAN AND BLACK DIASPORA STUDIES
- One course from the following list:
  - ABD 200 -- AFRICA: PEOPLES, CULTURES, IDEAS AND MOVEMENTS
  - ABD 206 -- AFRO-CARIBBEAN AND AFRO-LATIN AMERICA: PEOPLES, CULTURES, IDEAS AND MOVEMENTS
  - ABD 208 -- AFRICAN AMERICA: PEOPLES, CULTURES, IDEAS AND MOVEMENTS
- One 300 level course in an area of concentration
- One course from the following list:
  - ABD 391 -- CAPSTONE
  - Approved field elective (to be approved by the ABD chairperson)
- Two ABD electives

Students majoring in African and Black Diaspora Studies (BA) are restricted from earning this minor.

American Politics (Minor)

A minor concentration in American Politics offers a survey of American political institutions and behavior. It provides an opportunity to explore in depth a specific topic of interest which complements an individual course of study.

Course Requirements

- PSC 120 THE AMERICAN POLITICAL SYSTEM
- Three 200-level courses from the following list:
  - PSC 211 POLITICAL PSYCHOLOGY
  - PSC 213 POLITICAL SOCIALIZATION
  - PSC 214 POLITICS AND MULTICULTURALISM
  - PSC 216 AMERICAN POLITICAL CULTURE
  - PSC 217 WOMEN AND POLITICS
  - PSC 218 AFRICAN-AMERICAN POLITICS
  - PSC 219 TOPICS IN POLITICAL CULTURE
  - PSC 220 THE AMERICAN PRESIDENCY
  - PSC 221 CONGRESS AND THE LEGISLATIVE PROCESS
  - PSC 222 POLITICAL PARTIES AND ELECTIONS
  - PSC 223 URBAN POLITICS
  - PSC 224 BUREAUCRACY AND POLITICS
  - PSC 225 STATE POLITICS
  - PSC 229 TOPICS IN AMERICAN POLITICS
  - PSC 260 LAW AND THE POLITICAL SYSTEM
  - PSC 282 POLITICAL ACTION AND SOCIAL JUSTICE
  - PSC 286 CAMPAIGNS AND SOCIAL ENGAGEMENT
  - PSC 288 BIKEING, POLITICS AND POLICY
- Two 300-level courses from the following list:
  - PSC 310 POLITICAL CULTURE AND DEVELOPMENT
  - PSC 312 CREATING CHANGE: CONTEMPORARY GAY, LESBIAN, BISEXUAL & TRANSGENDERED POLITICS
  - PSC 315 INTERNET, TECHNOLOGY, AND POLITICS
American Studies (BA)

American Studies examines the breadth and diversity of the American experience. It is an interdisciplinary field that integrates the study of history, literature, popular culture, media, geography, politics, art, and religion in order to analyze critically American society, culture, institutions, and intellectual traditions. Students and faculty in American Studies question what constitutes American culture, and how cultural expressions reflect and reveal American values, beliefs, prejudices, pleasures, and perceptions.

American Studies courses are methodologically grounded in many different areas of cultural studies including media studies, material culture, visual literacy, critical race theory, and gender/sexuality studies. Students are expected to gain competency in American cultural studies by mastering the theoretical and intellectual frameworks of their concentrations and by learning to interpret and analyze primary documents.

Students in history, communication, anthropology, political science, sociology, English and other interdisciplinary programs find it beneficial to double major or minor in American Studies. Students who pursue Americans Studies are well prepared for graduate work in the humanities as well as professional training in law, business, and other fields. Most of our graduates go on to pursue post-graduate degrees.

Learning Outcomes

1. Integrate a range of disciplinary approaches and methods into their written and oral projects;
2. Find, use, and synthesize primary source material from multiple disciplines (including but not limited to textual sources, material culture, visual culture, music, and popular culture);
3. Apply theories and methodologies drawn from cultural studies, cultural theory, or cultural criticism to their written and oral work;
4. Analyze an event, source, idea or person within its historical context;
5. Employ a critical framework to understand the meanings of diversity and intersectionality in American culture;
6. Analyze historical and/or contemporary manifestations of inequality in power, resources, and access;
7. Produce and communicate an interdisciplinary project that draws on primary and secondary source evidence to a broad audience.
College Core Requirements

Study in the Major Field

The student's course of study in the College consists of three parts: Liberal Studies, the major field, and electives. Together these three parts contribute to the liberal education of the student which is the common purpose of all study in the College. By "liberal education" the College understands not only a deep and thorough knowledge of a particular area of study but a knowledge of the diverse areas of study represented by criticism, history, the arts, the behavioral and social sciences, philosophy, religious studies, the natural science, and mathematics.

The major field program generally is built upon a set of core courses and a specialized "concentration." The number of courses required for a major varies by department. Most students go beyond the minimum requirements, electing additional courses which both broaden and deepen their understanding of their chosen discipline.

Because no academic major program is built in isolation, students are required to pursue a number of electives of the student's choice. The inherent flexibility of this curriculum demands that the student consult an academic advisor at each stage in the total program and at least once prior to each registration. Students will be prompted to visit the College Office for their official graduation check early in their senior year.

Declaration of Major, Minor and Concentration

All students in the College are required to declare a major field prior to beginning their junior year. The student will then be assigned a faculty advisor in the major field department or program and should make an appointment to see that advisor at his or her earliest convenience.

Students must declare or change majors, minors, and concentrations, via Campus Connection. However, for the purpose of exploring the possibility of changing a major field, the student should consult an academic advisor in the Office for Academic Advising Support.

The Modern Language Requirement (MLR)

All students will be required to demonstrate competence in a modern language (i.e., a language other than English) equivalent to the proficiency attained from one year of college-level language study. This Modern Language Requirement (MLR) may be demonstrated by:

- placing into 104 or above on the DePaul language placement exam
- completing the last course or earning AP/IB credit for the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language (e.g. 103 for DePaul language classes)
- completing a college course or earning AP/IB credit for a college course beyond the first-year level in any language (e.g. 104 or above for DePaul language classes)
- completing the final course of a four-year sequence of the same modern language in high school*
- completing a proctored exam by BYU and passing the exam (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)
- completing a proctored Written Proficiency Test (WPT) by Language Testing International (LTI) and achieving a score of Beginner High or above (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)

* Students are strongly encouraged to take the DePaul language placement exam even if they have met the MLR via study of a language in high school. This will ensure continuation of language study at the proper level.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College will abide by this MLR in place on the effective date of the ICT, regardless of when they first matriculated at DePaul.

Students who have met the MLR and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" (MLO) of the Liberal Studies Program (see "Special Programs").

External Credit and Residency

A student who has been admitted to the College begins residency within the college as of the first day of classes of the term in which the student is registered. Students in residence, whether attending on a full-time or part-time basis, may not take courses away from DePaul University without the written permission of the college. Permission must be obtained in advance of registration to avoid loss of credit or residency in the college; see the LAS website for more information.

Major Requirements

The American Studies major requires thirteen courses, detailed below.

- Three (3) core courses form the foundation of the program. Ideally, majors should complete these prior to the start of their senior year.
  1. U.S. History requirement: AMS 200 AMERICAN SOCIAL HISTORY AND CULTURE (or another, preapproved U.S. History course from the list below);
  2. Foundational course requirement: AMS 201 CRITICAL AMERICAN STUDIES (generally offered Winter quarter);
  3. Method/theory course (from the second list below).

- One (1) American Studies Capstone course
  - AMS 301 SENIOR SEMINAR: During the fall quarter of their senior year, students should take AMS 301. Students will be sent instructions on how to prepare for the Senior Seminar by the Autumn Quarter instructor for the course. Students must earn a C- or better in this course. This course is waived for Honors students who are producing an Honors capstone thesis project and Double Majors when AMS is a student’s secondary major AND the student completes a thesis project through a capstone in their primary major; in these cases AMS 301 must be replaced with a 300-level AMS course. Students seeking these exceptions must discuss with the AMS Program Director in advance.

- Six (6) interdisciplinary courses are selected to flesh out one of five possible concentrations:
  - Popular Culture and Media Studies; Social and Literary Movements; Politics, Institutions and Values; Comparative Race and Ethnic Studies; or Material Culture and the Built Environment. At least two of the concentration courses must be at the 300-level.

- Three (3) elective courses are selected to complement one’s work in American Studies.
In consultation with an advisor, students select three additional courses from outside the concentration.

Distribution Requirements

For the concentration and the electives, no more than three courses for the major should be from any one department outside of AMS. Also, from among the concentration courses and elective courses at least three courses should carry an AMS designator. At least two of the concentration courses should be at the 300-level.

To fulfill the U.S. History core requirement, one of the following may be taken:

- AMS 200 AMERICAN SOCIAL HISTORY AND CULTURE is recommended, but one of the following may also fulfill the requirement:
  - AMS 240 CHICAGO HISTORY, GEOGRAPHY, AND CULTURES
  - AMS 275 HISTORY OF SEX IN AMERICA 1: COLONIAL TO LATE NINETEENTH CENTURY

Concentration Requirements

Concentrations, tracks and specializations provide focus to the major. In addition to any college core requirements, liberal studies requirements and major requirements, students are required to choose one of the following:

- Comparative Race and Ethnic Studies
- Material Culture and the Built Environment
- Politics, Institutions and Values
- Popular Culture and Media Studies
- Social and Literary Movements

Comparative Race and Ethnic Studies Concentration

American Studies has taken a central position in the analysis of American ethnicity and race. Early work in this area focused on the history and culture of specific groups, but as the field has developed, inquiry has turned to the theoretical and comparative analysis of race. Courses in this concentration encourage students to explore both the specificity and the diversity of race and ethnicity in American culture by taking some courses that focus on the experience of one racial or ethnic group and others that offer comparative perspectives.

Concentration Courses

Please note that the below list of possible courses is not exhaustive and that many courses listed under “TOPICS” headings may also count toward American Studies. Students may take an unlimited number of TOPICS courses, as long as the topic of each course is different.

Students must choose six courses from the following; however, exceptions may be granted by the Director of the American Studies Program. No more than three courses may be from any one department (AMS notwithstanding); at least two courses should be at the 300-level.

Portfolio Requirement

Students are encouraged to maintain an active record of documents from their concentration courses, including syllabi, completed written course work, collections of visuals, e.g., photo essays -- whatever is appropriate to the six courses chosen for the concentration. Students will use these documents to aid them in writing reflective essays during the initial weeks of their senior seminar. These essays might ask you to consider “What were the course’s most valuable lessons in research, analysis, writing and communication? How did this course, taken together with the other courses you have chosen for your concentration, influence/develop your understanding of the area of American culture on which you are focusing?” These essays, along with representative assignments, will form the student's American Studies "portfolio." Students turn in their portfolio on the concentration, along with a proposal for the senior seminar project, in the first weeks of the senior seminar, AMS 301. Specific directions for the portfolio can be obtained from your American Studies advisor, from the American Studies Program office, or from the American Studies Program Director.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.
Material Culture and the Built Environment Concentration

Students in this concentration study the complex interrelationships among the arts, craft, design, ideas, places, and social and cultural life in America. This concentration allows for the encyclopedic study of things in their historical context, drawing on methodologies and approaches from art and design history, economic history, history of technology, philosophy, anthropology, archaeology, and geography.

The curriculum combines two broad approaches: giving objects prime importance and placing objects in wider social and intellectual contexts. Some courses raise issues related to media, techniques, aesthetics, production and consumption, historiography, and theory, while others focus on the role objects and places play in people's lives: the planning of cities, parks, and gardens; the design of buildings, interiors, and furnishings; clothing; jewelry and body adornment; the material culture of food, decoration, and ornament; illustration and the graphic arts. Students will explore the ways in which Americans have been shaped by and have shaped their physical environments, from "nature" to the urban environment.

Concentration Courses

Please note that the below list of possible courses is not exhaustive and that many courses listed under "TOPICS" headings may also count toward American Studies. Students may take an unlimited number of TOPICS courses, as long as the topic of each course is different.

Students will use these documents to aid them in writing reflective essays during the initial weeks of their senior seminar. These essays might ask you to consider “What were the course's most valuable lessons in research, analysis, writing and communication? How did this course, taken together with the other courses you have chosen for your concentration, influence/develop your understanding of the area of American culture on which you are focusing?” These essays, along with representative assignments, will form the student's American Studies “portfolio.” Students turn in their portfolio on the concentration, along with a proposal for the senior seminar project, in the first weeks of the senior seminar, AMS 301. Specific directions for the portfolio can be obtained from your American Studies advisor, from the American Studies Program office, or from the American Studies Program Director.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Politics, Institutions and Values Concentration

Students in the Politics, Institutions, and Values concentration examine the structural and cultural processes that shape the distribution of power and resources, and supply the cultural meanings for U.S. society. Courses in this concentration explore a variety of American institutions and social processes, among them the political system, the economy, the educational system, the health care arena, the justice system and numerous other cultural and social spheres. Students will study the dynamic relations among these realms in courses ranging from traditional disciplines, like Political Science and Sociology, to those within interdisciplinary programs such as Women's and Gender Studies and, of course, American Studies.

This concentration particularly encourages students to choose courses that emphasize an historical perspective in order to better understand the interplay of individuals, social groups and subcultures as they shape and are shaped by various institutions over time. An historical perspective also allows for comparisons among traditional, modern and contemporary methodologies for conceptualizing American society. Ultimately, students in the Politics, Institutions and Values concentration should develop the critical skills with which to analyze the complexity of the conflicts among these institutions and processes and their diverse participants, among ruling elites, their members and outsiders, and between the official discourses and the complex real outcomes.

Concentration Courses

Please note that the below list of possible courses is not exhaustive and that many courses listed under “TOPICS” headings may also count toward American Studies. Students may take an unlimited number of TOPICS courses, as long as the topic of each course is different.

Students must choose six courses from the following; however, exceptions may be granted by the Director of the American Studies Program. No more than three courses may be from any one department (AMS notwithstanding); at least two courses should be at the 300-level.

Throughout the concentration courses, students are required to maintain a “portfolio” which combines reflections on the courses with collections of course materials (syllabi, completed written course work, collections of visuals, e.g., photo essays -- whatever is appropriate to the six courses chosen for the concentration). The reflections on each course and then on the concentration overall should include responses to questions such as “What were the course’s most valuable lessons in research, analysis, writing and communication? How did this course, taken together with the other courses you have chosen for your concentration, influence/develop your understanding of the area of American culture on which you are focusing?” Students turn in their portfolio on the concentration, along with a proposal for the senior seminar project, in the first weeks of the senior seminar. Specific directions for the portfolio can be obtained from your American Studies advisor, from the American Studies Program office, or from the American Studies Program Director.

Popular Culture and Media Studies Concentration

The Popular Culture and Media Studies concentration in American Studies offers students an opportunity to explore the rich and complex role popular culture has played and continues to play in American life. In contrast to high culture or folk culture forms, “popular culture” generally refers to those commercialized leisure activities or arts that are broadly accessible to most Americans, either through their mass media production (music, radio, film, television, novels, newspapers, magazines, fashion) or wide availability (amusement parks, concerts, sports, Broadway shows, shopping malls, internet sites). Since the end of the nineteenth century, American culture has been defined through its popular arts, most obviously Hollywood films and television programs, and American popular culture and media products have had enormous effects on American identity.

Four broad sets of questions underpin our examination of American popular culture and media. First, what does our close examination of the formal elements of cultural products - their written and visual texts, their physical shapes and sounds - tell us about their specific cultural effects and meanings, both during the historical period in which they were produced and in the present? Second, how does examining the development processes and industrial histories of cultural products help us better understand their political, economic, technological, and social implications? Third, what does the reception of these products by audiences, either through live performances or mass media, tell us about their impact on the formation of American identities (gender, racial, sexual), values, and opinions? Finally, how does studying the history of American popular culture help us critically assess our current cultural politics and the role American popular culture continues to play in our understanding of ourselves as individuals, as members of social groups, and as national and international citizens?

In this concentration, students integrate courses from a number of disciplines, combining those that offer broad surveys of cultural development as well as close examinations of particular cultural products; students should also look for courses that offer a variety of methodological approaches to studying American popular culture.

Concentration Courses

Please note that the below list of possible courses is not exhaustive and that many courses listed under “TOPICS” headings may also count toward American Studies. Students may take an unlimited number of TOPICS courses, as long as the topic of each course is different.

Social and Literary Movements Concentration

The Social and Literary Movements concentration focuses upon two areas of study: major cultural products by the principal novelists, philosophers, poets, political and religious thinkers, historians, artists, musicians and intellectuals in American history; and major cultural movements which have shaped the world view and attitudes of literate Americans in American history.

In the first area of focus, a heavy emphasis will be given to individual creative work, its form and content, its specific antecedents and influences as well as its later impact, and the cultural and philosophical implications of the document itself. The relationship between each work and larger trends of the period, both cultural and social, will also be explored.

In the second field of study, the focus will be upon broader cultural movements which are diffused through the larger literate society, which include major cultural documents as well as popular expressions of these ideas, beliefs and attitudes. Thus, the focus here is on the cultural reception and diffusion of ideas, the relation between innovative movements and mainstream belief systems and attitudes, and the nature and direction of cultural exchange.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Demonstrate a solid foundation in design and traditional studio art, and will be able to use these skills in order to communicate effectively through visual means;
- Demonstrate knowledge of the history of animation through written critical evaluation of animated films and be able to analyze work in a historical context;
- Create work in a variety of animation techniques including hand-drawn, 3D animation, stop-motion and experimental methods;
- Implement the use of storyboarding, animatics, and essential pre-production techniques to develop a film concept;
- Discuss learning experiences across disciplines in the University and establish connections to their own animation practices;
- Utilize their skills to produce a number of animated films culminating in a thesis animation in the media of their choosing.

* Students must earn a C- or better in this course.

Note
Students must take one of the following ethics courses: CSC 208 (PI), DC 228/GAM 228/IT 228 (PI), PHL 248/MGT 248 (PI), REL 228/MGT 228 (RD).

Specified required courses within Liberal Studies may have grade minimums (e.g. C- or better). Please consult your advisor or your college and major requirements.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or Science as a Way of Knowing requirement.

- Two (2) Major Electives

Major Electives

Students must choose two (2) Major electives from the following list:

- ANI 230 3D DESIGN & MODELING
- ANI 231 3D ANIMATION
- ANI 320 HAND-DRAWN ANIMATION
- ANI 355 STOP MOTION ANIMATION
- ANI 357 HYBRID ANIMATION
- DC 101 SCREENWRITING FOR MAJORS
- DC 215 SOUND DESIGN I
- DC 220 EDITING I
- ILL 200 ILLUSTRATION FOUNDATIONS

Students must earn a grade of C- or higher in all major elective courses

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

See www.cdm.depaul.edu to see sample schedule of course requirements on a year-by-year basis.

Degree Requirements

Students in this degree must meet the following requirements:

- Complete a minimum of 192 credit hours (generally 48 courses).
- Earn a grade of C- or higher in WRD 103, WRD 104, and all Major and Minor courses.
Combined Bachelor’s/ Master’s Degree

The combined Bachelor’s/Master’s degree programs allow students to complete 12 graduate credit hours while still undergraduates. These 12 graduate credit hours will count toward both the undergraduate and graduate degree programs.

Students who meet the admission requirements below may choose to apply to a combined degree program. Interested students should consult their faculty advisor regarding the application procedure. This program allows students to combine many CDM bachelor’s degrees with a CDM master’s degree following the structure outlined below.

Admission Criteria

- Minimum of 44 quarter hours earned
- Minimum of 12 quarter hours earned at DePaul
- GPA of 3.3 or higher in courses taken at DePaul
- Endorsement of faculty advisor

In order to apply for the combined degree program, your faculty advisor must send an e-mail recommendation to the CDM Academic Success Center. The recommendation should include your full name, student ID number, and the bachelor’s and master’s degrees you wish to combine.

Bachelor of Arts in Professional Studies with a Major in Computing students who are enrolled via the School for New Learning (SNL) are also eligible for this program. Interested students who meet the admission criteria for a combined degree should contact Kenn Skorupa in SNL for more information.

Program Structure

Students in the combined degree program take a maximum of three graduate level courses that count toward both their bachelor’s and master’s degree requirements. Students may enroll in graduate level coursework in the junior and senior year only. Students in the combined degree program will receive the bachelor’s degree after meeting all graduation requirements including the minimum credit hours required for graduation.

To earn the master’s degree, the student must earn as many additional graduate credit hours as needed to reach the minimum number of graduate credit hours required in that master’s degree.

Only CDM courses can be taken as part of this program. Advanced programs (e.g., J D/MS, MFA, and PhD) are not eligible for the combined degree program.

Maintaining Good Standing

Cumulative GPA and course grades will be reviewed after each Autumn, Winter, and Spring Quarter.

The student and faculty advisor will be notified when the student's cumulative GPA falls below 3.3 or when the students receives less than a C- in graduate level course.

If a student's cumulative GPA falls below 3.3, the student must earn a term GPA of 3.3 or above in the following quarter to stay in good standing. If the student does not achieve a 3.3 term GPA, then the student will be dismissed from the combined program and resume the traditional B.A./B.S./B.F.A.

If dismissed from the combined degree program after graduate courses have been passed, the graduate courses may only apply to the undergraduate degree. Should the student later be admitted to a graduate program, graduate courses applied to the undergraduate degree may not apply to the graduate program and may not be repeated if they are required in the declared graduate curriculum. Other graduate courses may be substituted in this case.

Designing a Course of Study

It is extremely important that the student and faculty advisor work together on a course of study immediately upon admission to the Combined Degree Program.

This course of study should include the graduate courses to be taken and the undergraduate courses that are replaced by the graduate courses. Failure to put together a solid plan can lead to extra coursework and a lengthening of the Combined Degree program.

It is advisable for the student and the faculty advisor to enter the proposed plan of study in the student communication record on the CDM intranet so it is available to the student and CDM faculty and staff.

Registering for Master's Degree Courses

Combined degree students must meet regularly with their faculty advisor. The faculty advisor will initiate the registration process for all graduate level courses taken during the undergraduate career.

Bachelor's Degree to Master's Degree Transition

In order to be fully admitted to the designated master's program, the student must meet all admission requirements for that program. When preparing to complete the undergraduate portion of the combined degree, students must submit the application for degree conferral for the undergraduate degree by the application deadline. At this time, the students should contact the CDM Academic Success Center about the procedure required to be formally admitted to the declared graduate program.

Animation (Minor)

The minor in Animation at DePaul emphasizes solid traditional animation and storytelling skills, while encouraging experimentation in form, content and medium.

Course Requirements

- ANI 101 ANIMATION FOR NON-MAJORS
  - or ANI 201 ANIMATION I
- ANI 206 HISTORY OF ANIMATION
- Twenty (20) credit hours from the following list of courses (at least three (3) courses must be ANI courses):
  - Any ANI course
  - DC 201 INTRODUCTION TO SCREENWRITING
  - DC 210 DIGITAL CINEMA PRODUCTION I
  - DC 220 EDITING I

Anthropology (BA)

Anthropology is the comparative study of humanity, focusing on people in all places and throughout history and prehistory. Courses engage students in the analysis of beliefs, values, and practices from a perspective that understands societies on their own terms. This perspective includes comparing the similarities and differences among different groups and appreciating and valuing different ways of living. Students study other cultures in order to learn more about their own. This curriculum affords students the opportunity to see the interaction between “what we know” and “what we do” that lies at the heart of the study of humanity.

Our curriculum combines the best parts of a critical, creative, liberal arts education with practical, professional preparation. The major courses direct the student toward the subfields of cultural anthropology, biological anthropology and archaeology, with a focus on applied research in these sub-fields. As part of the major, students engage in several research projects, including those that expose them to the application of anthropological knowledge for non-academic audiences, and to archaeological field methods. Out-of-class research projects in the City of Chicago are integral components of several courses. Students graduate with an extensive knowledge of how anthropology is actually done. We bring students farther into this practical side of the discipline than any other BA program in the country.

Academic careers are attractive to some graduates, but more than half of all professional anthropologists work outside of academic institutions. Some of these careers include research for public and private organizations, administration and/or public policy on the local, regional, federal, or international level; research and work in museums; intercultural communication; advertising, marketing, and public relations; human resources, public health, health care, and law. They also contribute to non-governmental and international organizations. Within the context of administration or public policy, anthropologists are engaged in cultural resource management (CRM), monitoring the preservation of cultural resources for national parks, museums, and state or municipal cultural institutions (i.e., parks and historical societies). Anthropology enhances other career paths, such as modern languages, international studies, international relations, cultural studies, and international business. Students will have completed at least four ethnographic research projects and be qualified in archaeological research skills by the time they graduate.

The extensive ethnographic research experience qualifies students with BA degrees to work in both non-profit (social service agencies) and for-profit (marketing, design, user-based) research settings. The archaeological certification opens avenues for careers in cultural resource management (CRM), and monitoring the preservation of cultural resources for national parks, museums, and state or municipal cultural...
Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Assess core anthropological concepts.
- Generate results of anthropological research.
- Disseminate anthropological research findings to multiple audiences.
- Demonstrate anthropological methods.
- Apply ethical principles of anthropology.

College Core Requirements

Study in the Major Field

The student's course of study in the College consists of three parts: Liberal Studies, the major field, and electives. Together these three parts contribute to the liberal education of the student which is the common purpose of all study in the College. By "liberal education" the College understands not only a deep and thorough knowledge of a particular area of study but a knowledge of the diverse areas of study represented by criticism, history, the arts, the behavioral and social sciences, philosophy, religious studies, the natural science, and mathematics.

The major field program generally is built upon a set of core courses and a specialized "concentration." The number of courses required for a major varies by department. Most students go beyond the minimum requirements, electing additional courses which both broaden and deepen their understanding of their chosen discipline.

Because no academic major program is built in isolation, students are required to pursue a number of electives of the student’s choice. The inherent flexibility of this curriculum demands that the student consult an academic advisor at each stage in the total program and at least once prior to each registration. Students will be prompted to visit the College Office for their official graduation check early in their senior year.

Declaration of Major, Minor and Concentration

All students in the College are required to declare a major field prior to beginning their junior year. The student will then be assigned a faculty advisor in the major field department or program and should make an appointment to see that advisor at his or her earliest convenience.

Students must declare or change majors, minors, and concentrations, via Campus Connection. However, for the purpose of exploring the possibility of changing a major field, the student should consult an academic advisor in the Office for Academic Advising Support.

The Modern Language Requirement (MLR)

All students will be required to demonstrate competence in a modern language (i.e., a language other than English) equivalent to the proficiency attained from one year of college-level language study. This Modern Language Requirement (MLR) may be demonstrated by:

- placing into 104 or above on the DePaul language placement exam
- completing the last course or earning AP/IB credit for the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language (e.g. 103 for DePaul language classes)
- completing a college course or earning AP/IB credit for a college course beyond the first-year level in any language (e.g. 104 or above for DePaul language classes)
- completing the final course of a four-year sequence of the same modern language in high school*
- completing a proctored exam by BYU and passing the exam (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)
- completing a proctored Written Proficiency Test (WPT) by Language Testing International (LTI) and achieving a score of Beginner High or above (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)

* Students are strongly encouraged to take the DePaul language placement exam even if they have met the MLR via study of a language in high school. This will ensure continuation of language study at the proper level.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College will abide by this MLR in place on the effective date of the ICT, regardless of when they first matriculated at DePaul.

Students who have met the MLR and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the “Modern Language Option” (MLO) of the Liberal Studies Program (see “Special Programs”).

External Credit and Residency

A student who has been admitted to the College begins residency within the college as of the first day of classes of the term in which the student is registered. Students in residence, whether attending on a full-time or part-time basis, may not take courses away from DePaul University without the written permission of the college. Permission must be obtained in advance of registration to avoid loss of credit or residency in the college; see the LAS website for more information.

Notes

A student majoring in Anthropology (ANT) is required to complete the Capstone offered by the ANT Department. This is the case even if a student is double majoring (or pursuing a dual degree) and the secondary major (or degree) requires its own Capstone. An ANT major in the University Honors Program shall take the University Honors Capstone and the ANT Capstone.

Courses offered in the student’s primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student’s major and is cross-listed with a course within the student’s major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

Major Requirements

Course Requirements

- One of the following courses:
  - ANT 102 CULTURAL ANTHROPOLOGY
  - ANT 103 ARCHAEOLOGY
  - ANT 104 INTRODUCTION TO BIOLOGICAL ANTHROPOLOGY
  - ANT 105 ANTHROPOLOGY THROUGH FILM
  - ANT 107 THE CULTURE OF BUSINESS
  - ANT 109 FOOD AND CULTURE
  - ANT 120 SCIENCE OF ARCHAEOLOGY
Allied Field Requirement

Anthropological research makes extensive use of language skills because of the opportunity it presents for cultural learning. Students are encouraged to study at least one language to the point of functional fluency, if they wish to become professional anthropologists. The minimum requirement for the major is completion of a language-based study abroad program of ten or more weeks duration. If the student is unable to participate in such a program, they can complete the requirement by studying the language with coursework through the end of the second year (Courses numbered 106). Study abroad programs at other universities may be used as long as half of the credit earned in is language-based courses. Depending on previous course work, students may place out of the requirement entirely by scoring high on the university’s placement exam. Heritage speakers of a language other than English must also take the university's test. For languages for which no test is available, consult the chair of the Modern Languages department. Even when the minimum of the language requirement is met, all majors are strongly encouraged to participate in a study abroad program that allows them to live in a community where English is not spoken and to seeks instruction in a third or fourth language.

Experiential Learning and Senior Capstone

Majors in anthropology are expected to fulfill their junior year experiential learning (JYEL) and senior capstone (SC) requirements with ANT 322 and ANT 396 respectively. Both of these courses are recognized by the Liberal Studies Council as fulfilling these requirements. Students may take other junior year experiential learning and senior capstone courses, but are still required to take these two courses (or designated alternatives) to fulfill the major with the permission of the department chair. When students take ANT 322 to fulfill the JYEL requirement they must take an additional course in a liberal studies learning domain of their choice.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Combined Bachelor’s/ Master’s Degree

The combined Bachelor’s/Master’s degree programs allow students to complete 12 graduate credit hours while still undergraduates. These 12 graduate credit hours will count toward both the undergraduate and graduate degree programs.

Anthropology (BA)/Secondary Education Social Science (MEd)

The TEACH Program combines a Liberal Arts and Social Sciences (LAS) undergraduate Social Science major (Anthropology, Economics, Geography, History, Political Science, or Sociology) or a Science and Health (Psychology) major with a graduate level College of Education (COE) Master’s in Education Program. Students graduate with a BA or BS in their disciplinary major and a MEd in Education with State of Illinois Secondary Social Science licensure.

Students may apply to the Program during the spring of their junior year. They must enroll in the Junior Year Experiential Learning course, TCH 320, and meet other application criteria; these include completion of at least 16 quarter credit hours at DePaul and a 3.0 GPA. During their senior year, students are required to complete a Program capstone course, TCH 390, and three 400-level courses that count toward both their undergraduate and graduate degrees:

- TCH 401 TEACHING AS A PROFESSION IN SECONDARY SCHOOL
- TCH 412 THE NATURE OF HISTORY AND THE SOCIAL SCIENCES
- TCH 422 INQUIRY & APPLICATION IN DEVELOPING SECONDARY HISTORY AND SOCIAL SCIENCES PEDAGOGY

Social Science Content Area (grades of C or better required for licensure): The following Social Science content area requirements are required. These can be taken as part of the major, liberal studies or open elective requirements:

DePaul University  Autumn 2018-2019  Page 91 of 2604
The Master's year comprises teacher-preparation coursework that culminates with student teaching during Spring quarter. Upon graduation and the fulfilling of State of Illinois licensure requirements (which may require some additional course work in the student's major and related fields), students are eligible to be licensed to teach Social Sciences at the 6th-12th grade levels.

A full description of the Program can be found on the College of Education website in the graduate course catalog. Students interested in the Program should consult with the designated TEACH Program advisor in their home department.

Anthropology (Minor)

The minor in Anthropology is intended to give you an overview of the discipline. You will study beliefs, values and practices of various cultures and will compare similarities and differences among diverse groups.

Course Requirements

- ANT 102 CULTURAL ANTHROPOLOGY
- ANT 103 ARCHAEOLOGY
- ANT 104 INTRODUCTION TO BIOLOGICAL ANTHROPOLOGY
- Any three additional courses from the anthropology curriculum for which the student has the prerequisites, including at least one 200-level and one 300-level course.

Students majoring in Anthropology (BA) or minoring in Archaeology are restricted from earning this minor.

Applied Behavioral Sciences (BA)

An accelerated, inter-disciplinary, 2-year degree completion program for adult students, the ABS major is offered at the Loop campus and online.

This course-based major is for graduates of community colleges with an Associate's degree who seek broad interdisciplinary preparation for a career in human services, social work, nonprofit management and other related fields.

Students must meet the following conditions to be admitted to the program:

- Be age 24 or older.
- Have a GPA of 2.0 or higher from their last college/university attended.
- Have completed an Associate in Arts or an Associate in Science (from IL schools; other degrees to be evaluated), or have earned 66 semester credit hours, applicable to the program based on review and evaluation.

The major consists of courses from the Department of Psychology, the College of Communication, and the School for New Learning, which offers the majority of courses, including a unique series of Adult Learning Seminars. The courses in the major provide students with multiple perspectives on human behavior, interaction and communications.
Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Analyze and apply knowledge and theories of behavioral sciences.
- Investigate problems using qualitative and quantitative methods.
- Apply ethical principles in context.
- Explain the value of social justice in behavioral settings.
- Utilize principles of reflective practice in behavioral science.
- Analyze and apply different liberal arts perspectives.

Program Requirements

There are 94 quarter hours required for this degree, as follows:

Understanding Human Behavior (4 courses equaling 16 credit hours)

- CMNS 329 PERSUASION
- PSY 347 SOCIAL PSYCHOLOGY
- PSY 363 ALCOHOLISM, DRUG ADDICTION AND RECOVERY
  or DCM 333 ADDICTIONS AND RECOVERY
- DCM 307 ANALYZING HUMAN BEHAVIOR

Life Cycle in Context (2 courses equaling 8 credit hours)

- DCM 323 THE PSYCHOLOGY OF AGING AND THE AGED
- PSY 302 PERSONAL ADJUSTMENT AND MENTAL HEALTH

Community and Social Justice (3 courses equaling 12 credit hours)

- DCM 304 EVOLVING PROFESSIONAL ETHICS
- DCM 325 WORK & SOCIETY
- PSY 354 COMMUNITY PSYCHOLOGY or PSY 353 ABNORMAL PSYCHOLOGY

Methods (3 courses equaling 12 credit hours)

- DA 200 DATA ANALYTICS or DA 233 APPLIED INFORMATION MANAGEMENT SYSTEMS
- DCM 308 INTRODUCTION TO STATISTICS
- DCM 309 APPLIED RESEARCH

Effective Workplace Dynamics (3 courses equaling 12 credit hours)

- ORGC 316 COMMUNICATION AND GROUP DECISION-MAKING
- ORGC 353 COMMUNICATION AND ORGANIZATIONAL CHANGE
- DCM 324 EFFECTIVE GROUP AND PERSONAL DYNAMICS

Leadership Theories and Skills (3 courses equaling 12 credit hours)

- LL 270 CRITICAL THINKING
- DCM 311 CONFLICT MANAGEMENT AND NEGOTIATION
- DCM 303 LEADERSHIP MODELS FOR STRONG ORGANIZATIONS

Adult Learning Seminars (10 courses equaling 22 credit hours)

- DCM 313 LEARNING FROM EXPERIENCE AND SELF-ASSESSMENT
- DCM 314 LEARNING AND TRANSFORMATION
- DCM 315 EXPLORING THE FIELD
- DCM 316 WORK IN A GLOBAL ENVIRONMENT
- DCM 317 ETHICS IN THE PROFESSIONS
- DCM 318 SOCIAL JUSTICE IN THE PROFESSIONS
- DCM 319 CREATIVITY AND INNOVATIVE THINKING
Open Electives

Additional Open Electives credit may be required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 credit hours. Open Electives can be fulfilled through courses offered by the School for New Learning and other DePaul colleges, transfer courses, assessment of prior learning (PLA), and independent studies.

Arabic Language (Minor)

An Arabic Language minor will provide intermediate proficiency in Arabic. Arabic is considered by the United States government as one of the critical languages for Americans to learn.

The minor will consist of a total of 5 courses in Arabic language at the 200/300-level.

Students majoring in Arabic Studies (BA) or minoring in Arabic Studies are restricted from earning this minor.

Arabic Studies (BA)

Through DePaul's Arabic Studies program, students will develop the ability to speak, understand, read and write the Arabic language and will be encouraged to foster an appreciation of Islamic literature and civilization.

Studying Arabic will expand the student's knowledge of the Middle East and of the culture of more than one billion Arabs across the globe. While learning the Arabic language, the student will also learn about Arab cultural, religious and political forces.

The Arabic language is one of the United Nations' six official languages, and the U.S. Government considers it one of the most critical languages for Americans to learn. Chicago has one of the nation's largest Arab-American populations in the U.S., giving the student opportunities to visit its communities and gain first-hand knowledge about the Arab culture and language.

What can the student do with this degree?

- Consulting
- Education
- Governmental Agency Work
- Immigration Services
- International Business
- Non-Profit Work
- Public Administration
- Public Policy
- Translation Services

A student whose only major is in Modern Languages is required to complete the Capstone offered by the Department of Modern Languages (MOL). A student who is double majoring (or pursuing dual degrees) with the primary major (or primary degree) in MOL may substitute the Capstone of the secondary major or degree. An MOL major in the University Honors Program shall take only the University Honors Capstone, not both the Honors Capstone and the MOL Capstone.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

The Archaeology minor provides students with an intensive grounding in both the methods and narratives of prehistoric and historic archaeology. Students are required to complete six courses (24 credit hours).

Course Requirements

- ANT 103 ARCHAEOLOGY
  or ANT 120 SCIENCE OF ARCHAEOLOGY
- ANT 202 ARCHAEOLOGICAL FIELD METHODS or comparable field methods course (ANT 384 ARCHAEOLOGICAL ANALYSIS)
- ANT 206 WORLD PREHISTORY
- To complete the minor students may choose three electives from the following list:
  - ANT 250 MATERIAL CULTURE OF MODERN AMERICA
  - ANT 252 MATERIAL CULTURE AND DOMESTIC LIFE
  - ANT 254 HISTORICAL ARCHAEOLOGY OF CHICAGO
  - ANT 256 MATERIAL CULTURE OF THE OLD WORLD
  - ANT 358 ARCHEOLOGY OF CITIES
  - ANT 374 ANTHROPOLOGY AND MUSEUMS
  - ANT 384 ARCHAEOLOGICAL ANALYSIS
  - Any ANT 390 SPECIAL TOPICS IN ANTHROPOLOGY course focusing primarily on archaeology.

Non-anthropology courses that apply as electives for the minor include: AMS 370, HST 290, HST 291, HST 294, and/or HST 296

Students majoring in Anthropology (BA) or minoring in Anthropology are restricted from earning this minor.

Art, Media, and Design (BFA)

The Bachelor of Fine Arts in Art, Media, and Design offers a studio specific curriculum that identifies and promotes continuing contact with the enduring values of our artistic heritage and the application of these values to the future. The educational aim of the department is to provide, through individualized mentoring, a focused foundation in studio art practice. The curriculum emphasizes fundamental artistic concepts through project-based learning, problem solving, experimentation in studio courses, and through development of the student artistic voice.

The Department of Art, Media, and Design offers three concentrations, Studio Art, Photography and Media Art, and Graphic Art, leading to a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree. Each of the concentrations is comprised of courses specifically designed to enhance students’ creativity, productivity, artistic and analytic skills, and mastery of tools and materials. Through individualized mentoring and a choice of electives, students are aided in planning for a variety of diverse art-related professions and graduate school options.

Studio Art: Designed to develop artistic skills and abilities in painting, drawing, sculpture, printmaking, and digital imaging. Areas of Specialty: 1. Drawing and Painting and Printmaking, 2. Sculpture, 3. Digital Imaging in Studio Art, 4. Graphic Art

Photography and Media Art: Designed to develop artistic skills and abilities in photography, digital photography, video, and web art. Areas of Specialty: 1. Photography, 2. Digital Photography, 3. Graphic Art, 4. Intermedia/Web Art and Video Art

Graphic Art: Designed to develop artistic skills and abilities in primarily two-dimensional media, focusing on an intersection of art and design that can include photography, drawing, printmaking, text, digital imaging, web art, the graphic novel, and the artist book and poster. Areas of Specialty: 1. Photography, 2. Intermedia/Web Art and Video Art, 3. Drawing and Painting and Printmaking

Complementary Minors in related areas: Students in the BFA in Art, Media, and Design have the option of complementing their major for extended artistic study and/or expanded career possibilities with minors in: Communication and Media, Graphic Design, Creative Writing, Art-Related Service Learning, Illustration, Animation, Game Design, Digital Cinema, Marketing (for non-business majors), History of Art and Architecture, American Politics, Psychology, International Politics, Public Law and Political Thought, Environmental Studies/Science, and Sustainability Studies. For details please visit the college/departmental website for the minor(s) in which you are interested.

Students majoring in Art, Media, and Design (BA) or Art (BA) are restricted from earning this major.

Learning Outcomes

The content on this page is shared from another website. If you are seeing this message, the referring website is not available or is experiencing technical difficulties.

Students will be able to:

- Demonstrate a high degree of competency of technical execution appropriate to their chosen medium.
- Produce work that demonstrates the social, visual, psychological, and/or aesthetic components of art making.
- Differentiate between artistic styles and the diverse populations and communities from which works of art are made.
- Express their thoughts and opinions in critiques, written assignments, and through their artwork.
- Produce work that demonstrate their ability to take creative and intellectual risks.
- Integrate the ways in which their materials, techniques, and subjects generate meaning.
- Understand the place of art making in a global context that connects with other disciplines.
- Define themselves as professional artists who contribute to their communities with their creative work.

College Core Requirements

Study in the Major Field

The student’s course of study in the College consists of three parts: Liberal Studies, the major field, and electives. Together these three parts contribute to the liberal education of the student which is the common purpose of all study in the College. By “liberal education” the College understands not only a deep and thorough knowledge of a particular area of study but a knowledge of the diverse areas of study represented by criticism, history, the arts, the behavioral and social sciences, philosophy, religious studies, the natural science, and mathematics.

The major field program generally is built upon a set of core courses and a specialized “concentration.” The number of courses required for a major varies by department. Most students go beyond the minimum requirements, electing additional courses which both broaden and deepen their understanding of their chosen discipline.

Because no academic major program is built in isolation, students are required to pursue a number of electives of the student’s choice. The inherent flexibility of this curriculum demands that the student consult an academic advisor at each stage in the total program and at least once prior to each registration. Students will be prompted to visit the College Office for their official graduation check early in their senior year.

Declaration of Major, Minor and Concentration
All students in the College are required to declare a major field prior to beginning their junior year. The student will then be assigned a faculty advisor in the major field department or program and should make an appointment to see that advisor at his or her earliest convenience.

Students must declare or change majors, minors, and concentrations, via Campus Connection. However, for the purpose of exploring the possibility of changing a major field, the student should consult an academic advisor in the Office for Academic Advising Support.

External Credit and Residency

A student who has been admitted to the College begins residency within the college as of the first day of classes of the term in which the student is registered. Students in residence, whether attending on a full-time or part-time basis, may not take courses away from DePaul University without the written permission of the college. Permission must be obtained in advance of registration to avoid loss of credit or residency in the college; see the LAS website for more information.

Learning Domains

Arts and Literature (AL)
- Not Required

Philosophical Inquiry (PI)
- 2 Courses Required

Scientific Inquiry (SI)
- 1 Course Required [must be 1 SWK Course or 1 Lab Course]

Social, Cultural, and Behavioral Inquiry (SCBI)
- 2 Course Required

Religious Dimensions (RD)
- 2 Courses Required

Understanding the Past (UP)
- 2 Courses Required

* Students must earn a C- or better in this course.

Notes

A student majoring in Art, Media, and Design (AMD) is required to complete the Capstone offered by the AMD Department. This is the case even if a student is double majoring (or pursuing a dual degree) and the secondary major (or degree) requires its own Capstone. An AMD major in the University Honors Program shall take the University Honors Capstone and the AMD Capstone.

Courses offered in the student’s primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or as the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student’s major and is cross-listed with a course within the student’s major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

Biological Science (Minor)

As a Biological Science minor you will gain a strong foundation in biological science theories and practices. You will have the opportunity to choose electives based on your individual study plan.

Course Requirements

- BIO 191 GENERAL BIOLOGY I FOR SCIENCE MAJORS
- BIO 192 GENERAL BIOLOGY II FOR SCIENCE MAJORS
- BIO 193 GENERAL BIOLOGY III FOR SCIENCE MAJORS
- Three additional courses (generally lab-based) designed for the major must be taken. If desired, these courses can be recommended by a departmental advisor on the basis of the student's interests.

Students cannot earn a minor in the same academic program as their major.

Biological Sciences (BS)

The Department of Biological Sciences provides courses for both biology majors and non-majors. For its majors, the department offers seven different concentrations. These concentrations provide a core program consisting of five lecture/laboratory courses. Beyond the core program, the concentrations allow the students to have a moderate degree of specialization in any one of several areas. It also provides a number of opportunities for learning outside the classroom, including a program of seminars, internships and opportunities for research with, or under the direction of, a member of the faculty.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Distinguish among the diversity of fields and approaches within Biology
- Describe the relationships among Biology and other scientific and social disciplines.
- Describe how the scientific process is used to identify and resolve testable questions.
- Critically analyze scientific information and design, and analyze the results of, an experiment.
- Effectively communicate scientific information in both written and oral forms.

College Core Requirements

Modern Language Requirements

Students who intend to graduate with the Bachelor of Arts (BA) degree will be required to demonstrate competence in a modern language equivalent to the proficiency attained from one year of college-level language study. Such competence may be demonstrated in one of several ways:

- completing the last course in the fourth-year high school sequence of any language
- completing the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language
- completing a college course beyond the first-year level in any language
- achieving a satisfactory score on any of the Modern Language placement examinations administered at DePaul
- achieving a satisfactory rating in a proficiency examination accepted by DePaul
• achieving a score of 3 or higher on the Advance Placement (AP) test for any language
• achieving a score of 5 or higher in the Language B assessment from a Standard or Higher Level International Baccalaureate (IB) program
• achieving a satisfactory score on the CLEP examination

For further information regarding satisfactory scores and possible credit from the DePaul placement, AP, CLEP, or IB examinations, please contact Student Records.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College of Science and Health will abide by the College of Science and Health Modern Language Requirement in place on the effective date of the ICT.

BA students who meet College requirements and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" of the Liberal Studies Program. While Bachelor of Science (BS) students are not required to demonstrate competency in a modern language, the "Modern Language Option" is available to them for language study at any level.

Major Declaration Requirements

All students in the College are required to declare a major field prior to beginning their junior year. After researching College programs, the student should declare a major field by visiting Campus Connection and using the Declarations and Inter-College Transfer tool. The student will then be assigned a faculty advisor or staff advisor in the department or program and should make an appointment to see that advisor at his or her earliest convenience.

To change major fields, or to declare a minor or concentration, the student must use the Declarations and Inter-College Transfer tool described above. However, for the purpose of exploring the possibility of changing a major field, the student should consult an academic advisor in the College or an academic advisor in the Office for Academic Advising Support.

Notes

Students with a primary major in Biology are required to complete the Capstone offered by the Biology department. Students double majoring or pursuing dual degrees with the primary major or primary degree in Biology are required to complete the Capstone offered by the Biology department. Biology students in the University Honors Program shall take the University Honors Capstone. They are not expected to take both the Honors Capstone and the primary major or primary degree Capstone.

Courses offered in the student’s primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student’s major and is cross-listed with a course within the student’s major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy would apply only to those students in pursuit of a BA or BS degree, and not to those who are double majors or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Major Requirements

Course Requirements

Biological Sciences Core

- BIO 191 GENERAL BIOLOGY I FOR SCIENCE MAJORS
- BIO 192 GENERAL BIOLOGY II FOR SCIENCE MAJORS
- BIO 193 GENERAL BIOLOGY III FOR SCIENCE MAJORS
- BIO 206 BIOSTATISTICS
- BIO 260 GENETICS
- BIO 395 BIOLOGY CAPSTONE SEMINAR (Liberal Studies Program Capstone)
Chemistry

- CHE 120 GENERAL CHEMISTRY I or CHE 130 GENERAL CHEMISTRY I and CHE 131 GENERAL CHEMISTRY I LABORATORY
- CHE 122 GENERAL CHEMISTRY II or CHE 132 GENERAL CHEMISTRY II and CHE 133 GENERAL CHEMISTRY LABORATORY II
- CHE 134 GENERAL CHEMISTRY III and CHE 135 GENERAL CHEMISTRY LABORATORY III
- CHE 230 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY I and CHE 231 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY LABORATORY I
- CHE 232 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY II and CHE 233 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY LABORATORY II
- CHE 234 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY III and CHE 235 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY LABORATORY III or CHE 346 PRINCIPLES OF BIOCHEMISTRY

Students are typically expected to take the first year chemistry courses simultaneously with Biology 191, 192, and 193.

Physics

- PHY 150 GENERAL PHYSICS I
- PHY 151 GENERAL PHYSICS II
- PHY 152 GENERAL PHYSICS III

Students may substitute comparable sequences of Physics courses designed for science majors.

Mathematics

Choose one of the following Calculus sequences:

- Sequence One
  - MAT 150 CALCULUS I
  - MAT 151 CALCULUS II
- Sequence Two
  - MAT 147 CALCULUS WITH INTEGRATED PRECALCULUS I
  - MAT 148 CALCULUS WITH INTEGRATED PRECALCULUS II
  - MAT 149 CALCULUS WITH INTEGRATED PRECALCULUS III
- Sequence Three
  - MAT 160 CALCULUS FOR MATHEMATICS AND SCIENCE MAJORS I
  - MAT 161 CALCULUS FOR MATHEMATICS AND SCIENCE MAJORS II
- Sequence Four
  - MAT 170 CALCULUS FOR LIFE SCIENCES I
  - MAT 171 CALCULUS FOR LIFE SCIENCES II
- Sequence Five
  - MAT 155 SUMMER CALCULUS I
  - MAT 156 SUMMER CALCULUS II

Students may be advised on the basis of their performance on the Mathematics Diagnostic test to take one or more course before calculus.

Concentration Requirements

Students must also complete the requirements from one of the following concentrations: Integrative Biology; Microbiology and Biotechnology; Medicine and Health; Neuroscience; Ecology and Evolution; Cell & Molecular Biology; or Physiology. Students are limited to only declaring one concentration.

Sequencing

Since programs in the Biological Sciences tend to be structured, it is useful for students to take courses in sequence. Students should begin with the General Biology and General Chemistry sequences. These are prerequisite to higher level requirements such as Ecology, Cell Biology, Genetics, and Organic Chemistry, which should preferably be taken in the sophomore year. Since calculus is required for the degree, students should also begin their study of mathematics as soon as possible, preferably prior to their junior year, so that they can be adequately prepared for the General Physics sequence, best taken in the junior year. Because of this highly structured sequence, students are strongly encouraged to work with their departmental advisor in order to plan their course schedules and plan alternatives if necessary. Such planning is particularly important for transfer students, as the sequence presented above is highly recommended and most likely to be completed in a timely fashion.

The predominance of chemistry and biology course sequences required in the freshman and sophomore years generally dictates that, with the exception of the Liberal Studies Core courses, the majority of the Liberal Studies courses may be postponed until the junior and senior years. Students may therefore be taking fewer Liberal Studies courses in the first two years than many other programs, concentrating instead on major field requirements, which are prerequisites to upper division courses.
Concentration Requirements

Concentrations, tracks and specializations provide focus to the major. In addition to any college core requirements, liberal studies requirements and major requirements, students are required to choose one of the following:

- Cell & Molecular Biology
- Ecology and Evolution
- Integrative Biology
- Medicine and Health
- Microbiology and Biotechnology
- Neuroscience
- Physiology

Cell & Molecular Biology Concentration

Course Requirements

- BIO 210 MICROBIOLOGY
- BIO 250 CELL BIOLOGY
- BIO 360 MOLECULAR BIOLOGY
- One advanced Topics course
- Two courses from the following list, one of which must be a lab course:
  - BIO 309 PLANT PHYSIOLOGY
  - BIO 315 TOPICS IN ECOLOGY
  - BIO 321 MOLECULAR METHODS IN ECOLOGY AND EVOLUTION
  - BIO 330 DEVELOPMENTAL BIOLOGY
  - BIO 335 CONCEPTS IN EVOLUTION
  - BIO 339 CELLULAR NEUROBIOLOGY
  - BIO 341 TOPICS IN NEUROBIOLOGY
  - BIO 345 TOPICS IN PALEOBIOLOGY
  - BIO 347 TOPICS IN MEDICAL BACTERIOLOGY
  - BIO 348 THE BIOLOGY OF INFECTION
  - BIO 354 PROBLEMS IN CELL MOTILITY
  - BIO 355 GENETIC TOXICOLOGY
  - BIO 361 TOPICS IN MOLECULAR BIOLOGY
  - BIO 362 BIOINFORMATICS FOR BENCH SCIENTISTS
  - BIO 365 PRINCIPLES OF TOXICOLOGY
  - BIO 370 IMMUNOBIOLOGY
  - BIO 375 INTRODUCTION TO PHARMACOLOGY
  - BIO 380 CANCER BIOLOGY
  - BIO 381 TOPICS IN CANCER
  - BIO 385 MAMMALIAN REPRODUCTION (CROSS-LISTED AS BIO 485)
  - BIO 386 INTRODUCTION TO ENDOCRINOLOGY
  - CHE 340 BIOCHEMISTRY I
    - and CHE 341 EXPERIMENTAL BIOCHEMISTRY I
  - Students can request permission from the department to have a BIO 390 SPECIAL TOPICS class count for one of the requirements if appropriate.
- Two additional majors-level Biology courses.

At least two of the four biology electives must have a lab. Biology courses other than the General Biology sequence that have any Scientific Inquiry domain designation do not generate credit toward the major or minor.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.
Ecology and Evolution Concentration

Course Requirements

- BIO 215 ECOLOGY
- BIO 235 EVOLUTION
- Three courses from the following list - at least one must be a lab course
  - BIO 270 COMPARATIVE VERTEBRATE ANATOMY
  - BIO 301 ANIMAL BEHAVIOR
  - BIO 304 FIELD METHODS FOR BIOLOGISTS
  - BIO 306 RESEARCH METHODS & APPLIED BIOSTATISTICS
  - BIO 315 TOPICS IN ECOLOGY
  - BIO 318 FIELD STUDIES IN MARINE AND ESTUARINE BIOLOGY
  - BIO 319 TOPICS IN BEHAVIORAL PARASITOLOGY
  - BIO 321 MOLECULAR METHODS IN ECOLOGY AND EVOLUTION
  - BIO 325 PALEOBIOLOGY
  - BIO 332 POPULATION ECOLOGY
  - BIO 335 CONCEPTS IN EVOLUTION
  - BIO 345 TOPICS IN PALEOBIOLOGY
  - BIO 350 ANIMAL ADAPTATIONS
  - BIO 389 RESEARCH IN FIELD BIOLOGY
  - Students can request permission from the department to have a BIO 390 SPECIAL TOPICS class count for one of the requirements if appropriate.
- Three additional majors-level Biology courses.

Two of the six total electives must have a lab. Biology courses other than the General Biology sequence that have any Scientific Inquiry domain designation do not generate credit toward the major or minor.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Integrative Biology Concentration

Course Requirements

- BIO 215 ECOLOGY or BIO 235 EVOLUTION
- BIO 250 CELL BIOLOGY
- BIO 309 PLANT PHYSIOLOGY or BIO 310 VERTEBRATE PHYSIOLOGY
- Five additional majors-level Biology courses (at least two of the five must have a lab component and at least two of the five must be 300-level courses). Biology courses that fulfill the Scientific Inquiry Domain requirements, other than the General Biology sequence, do not generate credit toward the major or minor.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Medicine and Health Concentration

Course Requirements

- BIO 250 CELL BIOLOGY
- Two courses from the following list (Each professional program in health requires different courses from the list below. Please consult with an academic advisor to help you select the ones that will support your applications):
  - BIO 201 HUMAN ANATOMY or HLTH 301 INTEGRATED HUMAN ANATOMY AND PHYSIOLOGY-A
  - BIO 210 MICROBIOLOGY
  - BIO 310 VERTEBRATE PHYSIOLOGY or HLTH 302 INTEGRATED HUMAN ANATOMY AND PHYSIOLOGY-B
  - CHE 340 BIOCHEMISTRY I /CHE 341 EXPERIMENTAL BIOCHEMISTRY I
Three additional courses from the following list (at least one of the three must have a lab):
- BIO 201 HUMAN ANATOMY
- BIO 210 MICROBIOLOGY
- BIO 220 PRINCIPLES OF BIOTECHNOLOGY
- BIO 270 COMPARATIVE VERTEBRATE ANATOMY
- BIO 310 VERTEBRATE PHYSIOLOGY
- BIO 311 HISTOLOGY
- BIO 330 DEVELOPMENTAL BIOLOGY
- BIO 339 CELLULAR NEUROBIOLOGY
- BIO 340 BEHAVIORAL NEUROSCIENCE
- BIO 341 TOPICS IN NEUROBIOLOGY
- BIO 342 COGNITIVE NEUROSCIENCE
- BIO 347 TOPICS IN MEDICAL BACTERIOLOGY
- BIO 348 THE BIOLOGY OF INFECTION
- BIO 352 ADVANCED COMPARATIVE PHYSIOLOGY
- BIO 360 MOLECULAR BIOLOGY
- BIO 362 BIOINFORMATICS FOR BENCH SCIENTISTS
- BIO 370 IMMUNOBIOLOGY
- BIO 375 INTRODUCTION TO PHARMACOLOGY
- BIO 380 CANCER BIOLOGY
- BIO 381 TOPICS IN CANCER
- BIO 385 MAMMALIAN REPRODUCTION
- BIO 386 INTRODUCTION TO ENDOCRINOLOGY
- CHE 340 BIOCHEMISTRY I /CHE 341 EXPERIMENTAL BIOCHEMISTRY I
- CHE 342 BIOCHEMISTRY II /CHE 343 EXPERIMENTAL BIOCHEMISTRY II
- Students can request permission from the department to have a BIO 390 SPECIAL TOPICS class count for one of the requirements if appropriate.

- Two additional majors-level Biology courses. One must be a lab course.

It is strongly recommended that students who wish to take the MCAT take an ethics course as part of their Philosophical Inquiry Domain and PSY 105, PSY 106 & SOC 101 for their Social, Cultural, and Behavioral Inquiry. Biology courses other than the General Biology sequence that have any Scientific Inquiry domain designation do not generate credit toward the major or minor.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.
Combined Bachelor's/ Master's Degree

The combined Bachelor's/Master's degree programs allow students to complete 12 graduate credit hours while still undergraduates. These 12 graduate credit hours will count toward both the undergraduate and graduate degree programs.

The Biological Sciences (BS) offers two options:

- Biological Sciences (BS)/Biological Sciences (MS)
- Biological Sciences (BS)/Secondary Education Biology (MED)

Biological Sciences (BS)/ Biological Sciences (MS)

Students apply to this program in spring of their junior year; interested students should meet with the Graduate Program Director of the program. Students accepted into this program take a maximum of twelve graduate credit hours as three courses in their senior year; these graduate courses apply toward both undergraduate and graduate Biological Sciences requirements.

Biological Sciences (BS)/ Secondary Education Biology (MEd)

This combined degree program of the College of Science and Health and the College of Education was collaboratively developed, and is governed and taught by faculty from these units. A full description of the Program can be found on the College of Education website in the graduate course catalog.

Business Administration (BSB)

The Bachelor of Science in Business with a major in Business Administration is designed for those students who desire a broad-based business curriculum with a strong liberal arts foundation. This flexible program is geared to the student who has no strong functional preference (e.g. Accounting, Finance, Marketing) but rather desires an overall conceptual foundation. Students majoring in Business Administration might be preparing for law school, entering into a family business, or some other specialized purpose. The program has sufficient flexibility to meet the needs of each of these career orientations.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Use analytical and reflective skills in decision making.
- Communicate effectively both orally and in writing.
- Recognize legal and ethical issues confronting them.
- Contribute to the performance of a group within a business setting.
- Know the differences among global economies, institutions, business practices and cultures.
- Acquire knowledge of the functional areas of business and the interrelationships among the functional areas within a business.

Business Core Requirements

All undergraduate students in the Driehaus College of Business complete foundational courses in the areas of accountancy, mathematics, economics, business law, finance, management, management information systems/computer science, and marketing.
Course Requirements

For a student to complete the Bachelor of Science in Business, the following Business Core courses totaling at least 66.0 hours are required:

- ACC 101 INTRODUCTION TO ACCOUNTING I
- ACC 102 INTRODUCTION TO ACCOUNTING II
- BLW 201 LEGAL & ETHICAL ASPECTS IN THE BUSINESS ENVIRONMENT*
- ECO 105 PRINCIPLES OF MICROECONOMICS
- ECO 106 PRINCIPLES OF MACROECONOMICS
- ECO 315 INTRODUCTION TO MONEY AND BANKING
- MAT 136 BUSINESS CALCULUS II
- MGT 300 PRINCIPLES OF MANAGEMENT
- MGT 301 PRINCIPLES OF OPERATIONS MANAGEMENT
- MKT 301 PRINCIPLES OF MARKETING
- MKT 310 CONSUMER BEHAVIOR

- One Finance course to be chosen from:
  - FIN 300 FOUNDATIONS OF FINANCE
  - FIN 310 INTRODUCTION TO FINANCE
    - ACC, ECO, FIN and MIS majors must take FIN 310
    - FIN minors must take FIN 310

- One Computer Science or MIS course to be chosen from:
  - CSC 241 INTRODUCTION TO COMPUTER SCIENCE I
  - MIS 140 MANAGEMENT INFORMATION SYSTEMS
    - MIS majors and minors must take MIS 140

- One Communication course to be chosen from:
  - MKT 376 EFFECTIVE BUSINESS COMMUNICATION
  - ORGC 201 BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL COMMUNICATION
    - MKT majors and Sales minors must take MKT 376

- One Business Capstone course to be chosen from:
  - ICS 394 ENTREPRENEURSHIP STRATEGY
  - ICS 395 MANAGEMENT STRATEGY
    - MGT majors with an Entrepreneurship Concentration minors must take ICS 394

- Global Business Perspective (4.0 hours) to be chosen from:
  - ECO 316 EUROPEAN ECONOMIC HISTORY
  - ECO 330 RADICAL RESPONSES TO CAPITALISM
  - ECO 333 TOPICS IN GLOBAL ECONOMIES
  - ECO 334 UNDERSTANDING CHINA'S ECONOMY
  - ECO 360 ECONOMICS OF LOW-INCOME COUNTRIES
  - ECO 361 INTERNATIONAL TRADE
  - ECO 362 INTERNATIONAL MONETARY ECONOMICS
  - ECO 363 ECONOMICS OF THE EUROPEAN UNION
  - FIN 340 INTERNATIONAL FINANCE

  - MKT 358 MARKETING IN A GLOBAL ENVIRONMENT
  - MKT 360 INTERNATIONAL MARKETING
  - SOC 217 WORK IN A GLOBALIZED WORLD
  - A course taken as part of a term-long study abroad program

- One Professional Writing course to be chosen from:
  - WRD 202 PROFESSIONAL WRITING FOR BUSINESS (2.0 hours)
  - WRD 204 TECHNICAL WRITING
  - WRD 206 PROFESSIONAL WRITING

*Students majoring in accounting (primary or secondary) are allowed to substitute ACC 370 in place of BLW 201.

MGT 301-H is required if pursuing the Management Honors Program.

Business Ethics

All undergraduate students in the Driehaus College of Business complete a course in Business Ethics. It is recommended students take MGT 248 or PHL 248 in Philosophical Inquiry or MGT 228 or REL 228 in Religious Dimensions in the Liberal Studies Program (or University Honors
Second Majors and Minors

The addition of a second major or minor may affect the Business Core classes required for a student. Meet with an academic advisor to confirm requirements.

Math Requirements

- A student is expected to complete the business math sequence (MAT 135, MAT 136, and MAT 137) in the first year of study.
- MAT 135 and MAT 137 are completed through Liberal Studies requirements.
- MAT 135 may be replaced by MAT 150 or MAT 160 or MAT 170.
- MAT 136 may be replaced by MAT 151 or MAT 161 or MAT 171.
- MAT 135 and MAT 136 may be replaced by the sequence of MAT 147, MAT 148, and MAT 149.
- MAT 137 may be replaced by MAT 348 or MAT 351; if done, an additional Scientific Inquiry course must be added to the degree plan.

Global Business Perspective

If a course is shared between Global Business Perspective and the Business Administration major, additional hours of Open Elective credit are required.

Grade Minimum Requirements for Business Administration Major

A minimum grade of C- is required for the following: ACC 101, ACC 102, BLW 201, ECO 105, ECO 106, ICS 394 or ICS 395, MAT 135, MAT 136, MAT 137, MGT 300, MGT 301, the course used for Professional Writing, and any MGT course used for Global Business Perspective.

Notes

Specified required courses within Liberal Studies may have grade minimums (e.g. C- or better). Please consult your advisor or your college and major requirements.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Major Requirements

Course Requirements

A student majoring in Business Administration is required to complete the following courses totaling at least 30.0 hours:

- Two required courses:
  - BLW 203 BUSINESS ORGANIZATIONS
  - MGT 250 CAREER MANAGEMENT SKILLS (2.0 hours)
- Six electives to be chosen from:
Major Electives

- Economics Electives are chosen from 300-level courses offered by the Economics department, excluding ECO 393 and ECO 395. Additionally, ECO 375 and 380 are not recommended for Business Administration majors.
- Management and Marketing Electives may be chosen from any 300-level course offered through the respective departments.
- Business Electives are selected from any 300-level course offered through any Driehaus College of Business program or department.
- ACC 370, ECO 315, FIN 300, FIN 310, FIN 320, ICS 392, MGT 300, MGT 301, MKT 301, and MKT 310 may not be used toward the major.
- ICS 350 can be used only once for either a Management Elective, Marketing Elective or one of the Business Electives.
- MKT 376 may not be used when also used for the Communication requirement.
- ICS 394, ICS 395, or ICS 396 may not be used when also used for the Business Capstone requirement.
- BLW 202 may be used within Business Administration as a Management Elective or Business Elective.

Career Management Course

Students are required to complete the Career Course (250) associated with the major. Students who double major may choose the Career Course (250) associated with either major provided that hours for graduation are satisfied.

Open Electives

Open elective credit (16.0 hours) is needed to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Global Business Perspective

If any course is shared between Global Business Perspective and the Business Administration major, additional hours of Open Elective credit are required. Any course used toward the Business Administration major and Global Business Perspective must be passed with C- or higher.

Graduation Requirements

All Management (MGT) and Business Law (BLW) courses, ICS 394 and/or ICS 395, and any courses used toward the Business Administration major must be completed with a minimum grade of C- and with a combined GPA of 2.000 or higher.

Catholic Studies (BA)

The Department of Catholic Studies is intellectual in focus and interdisciplinary in nature. Rigorous intellectual study, a deepened critical understanding and an appreciation of the Catholic contribution to human civilization are its main goals. The program explores Roman Catholicism as a religious and cultural reality that expresses and motivates multiple forms of human expression. All members of the university are invited to participate in the scholarly examination of Catholicism and the development of Catholic thought. True to DePaul’s tradition, no religious test is applied to either students or faculty participating in the department. In addition to the offerings of DePaul University, upper-level students in the program in Catholic Studies are able to take selected courses at the Catholic Theological Union at Chicago. The cooperative relationship between DePaul and CTU opens to students in the program the resources of the largest Catholic school of theology and ministry in North America. The Catholic Studies major is designed to give students with differing learning objectives and career goals maximum flexibility in the design of their Bachelor of Arts degree. In order to ensure intellectual coherence in their program, all students are expected to meet quarterly with their academic advisor to design a course of study, refine their learning goals, and select classes that meet their educational and professional objectives.

- Analyze Catholicism from a variety of disciplinary perspectives.
- Integrate classroom learning with Vincentian ideals.

College Core Requirements

Study in the Major Field

The student's course of study in the College consists of three parts: Liberal Studies, the major field, and electives. Together these three parts contribute to the liberal education of the student which is the common purpose of all study in the College. By "liberal education" the College understands not only a deep and thorough knowledge of a particular area of study but a knowledge of the diverse areas of study represented by criticism, history, the arts, the behavioral and social sciences, philosophy, religious studies, the natural science, and mathematics.

The major field program generally is built upon a set of core courses and a specialized "concentration." The number of courses required for a major varies by department. Most students go beyond the minimum requirements, electing additional courses which both broaden and deepen their understanding of their chosen discipline.

Because no academic major program is built in isolation, students are required to pursue a number of electives of the student's choice. The inherent flexibility of this curriculum demands that the student consult an academic advisor at each stage in the total program and at least once prior to each registration. Students will be prompted to visit the College Office for their official graduation check early in their senior year.

Declaration of Major, Minor and Concentration

All students in the College are required to declare a major field prior to beginning their junior year. The student will then be assigned a faculty advisor in the major field department or program and should make an appointment to see that advisor at his or her earliest convenience.

Students must declare or change majors, minors, and concentrations, via Campus Connection. However, for the purpose of exploring the possibility of changing a major field, the student should consult an academic advisor in the Office for Academic Advising Support.

The Modern Language Requirement (MLR)

All students will be required to demonstrate competence in a modern language (i.e., a language other than English) equivalent to the proficiency attained from one year of college-level language study. This Modern Language Requirement (MLR) may be demonstrated by:

- placing into 104 or above on the DePaul language placement exam
- completing the last course or earning AP/IB credit for the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language (e.g. 103 for DePaul language classes)
- completing a college course or earning AP/IB credit for a college course beyond the first-year level in any language (e.g. 104 or above for DePaul language classes)
- completing the final course of a four-year sequence of the same modern language in high school*
- completing a proctored exam by BYU and passing the exam (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)
- completing a proctored Written Proficiency Test (WPT) by Language Testing International (LTI) and achieving a score of Beginner High or above (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)

* Students are strongly encouraged to take the DePaul language placement exam even if they have met the MLR via study of a language in high school. This will ensure continuation of language study at the proper level.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College will abide by this MLR in place on the effective date of the ICT, regardless of when they first matriculated at DePaul.

Students who have met the MLR and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" (MLO) of the Liberal Studies Program (see “Special Programs”).

External Credit and Residency
A student who has been admitted to the College begins residency within the college as of the first day of classes of the term in which the student is registered. Students in residence, whether attending on a full-time or part-time basis, may not take courses away from DePaul University without the written permission of the college. Permission must be obtained in advance of registration to avoid loss of credit or residency in the college; see the LAS website for more information.

Notes

See Program Director for one additional course reduction.

Courses offered in the student’s primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student’s major and is cross-listed with a course within the student’s major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

Catholic Studies (Minor)

DePaul's Catholic Studies minor aims to provide an understanding and appreciation of the Catholic contribution to society. The program is intellectual in focus and is based on an interdisciplinary curriculum.

Course Requirements

Six courses are required for the Minor in Catholic Studies.

- CTH 180 INTRODUCTION TO CATHOLICISM
- CTH 209 THEORIES OF THE CHURCH: CONCEPTS AND CONTROVERSIES
- Two of the following:
  - CTH 220 CATHOLIC EXPERIENCE I: EARLY CHURCH - 1200
  - CTH 221 CATHOLIC EXPERIENCE II: 1200 - FRENCH REVOLUTION
  - CTH 222 CATHOLIC EXPERIENCE III: FRENCH REVOLUTION - PRESENT
- Two CTH electives, one of which must be at the 300-level

Students majoring in Catholic Studies (BA) are restricted from earning this minor.

Chemistry (BA)

As a Chemistry major, you will learn the fundamentals of chemical theory and practice through scientific investigation, laboratory experience and research opportunities.

All Chemistry students will take core courses in chemistry, physics and mathematics.

Chemistry faculty members conduct research projects that are funded through government, foundation and industry grants, providing you with multiple opportunities to gain hands-on research experience. Being in Chicago also allows you to attend many scientific conferences hosted in the city throughout the year.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Perform experiments.
- Apply proper safety protocols while in laboratory environments.
- Responsibly collect, analyze, and represent scientific data.
- Proficiently explain and apply, in writing, core chemical principles to the results of experiments and to representative problems.

College Core Requirements

Modern Language Requirements

Students who intend to graduate with the Bachelor of Arts (BA) degree will be required to demonstrate competence in a modern language equivalent to the proficiency attained from one year of college-level language study. Such competence may be demonstrated in one of several ways:

- completing the last course in the fourth-year high school sequence of any language
- completing the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language
- completing a college course beyond the first-year level in any language
- achieving a satisfactory score on any of the Modern Language placement examinations administered at DePaul
- achieving a satisfactory rating in a proficiency examination accepted by DePaul
- achieving a score of 3 or higher on the Advance Placement (AP) test for any language
- achieving a score of 5 or higher in the Language B assessment from a Standard or Higher Level International Baccalaureate (IB) program
- achieving a satisfactory score on the CLEP examination

For further information regarding satisfactory scores and possible credit from the DePaul placement, AP, CLEP, or IB examinations, please contact Student Records.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College of Science and Health will abide by the College of Science and Health Modern Language Requirement in place on the effective date of the ICT.

BA students who meet College requirements and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" of the Liberal Studies Program. While Bachelor of Science (BS) students are not required to demonstrate competency in a modern language, the "Modern Language Option" is available to them for language study at any level.

Major Declaration Requirements

All students in the College are required to declare a major field prior to beginning their junior year. After researching College programs, the student should declare a major field by visiting Campus Connection and using the Declarations and Inter-College Transfer tool. The student will then be assigned a faculty advisor or staff advisor in the department or program and should make an appointment to see that advisor at his or her earliest convenience.

To change major fields, or to declare a minor or concentration, the student must use the Declarations and Inter-College Transfer tool described above. However, for the purpose of exploring the possibility of changing a major field, the student should consult an academic advisor in the College or an academic advisor in the Office for Academic Advising Support.

Notes

Students with a primary major in Chemistry are required to complete the Capstone offered by the Chemistry department. Students double majoring or pursuing dual degrees with the primary major or primary degree in Chemistry are required to complete the Capstone offered by the Chemistry department. Chemistry students in the University Honors Program shall take the University Honors Capstone. They are not expected to take both the Honors Capstone and the primary major or primary degree Capstone.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

In addition, the Department of Chemistry recommends that students who are seeking accreditation by the American Chemical Society fulfill the Modern Language Option by completing a three-course language sequence. Please see an advisor for further information.

Major Requirements

Course Requirements

Common Core

All students pursuing a Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science in chemistry must complete a common core of courses in the department. These courses are consistent with the requirements of all degree programs accredited by the American Chemical Society. The courses in the common core consist of:

Introductory Courses

- CHE 130 GENERAL CHEMISTRY I or CHE 120 GENERAL CHEMISTRY IP and CHE 131 GENERAL CHEMISTRY I LABORATORY
- CHE 132 GENERAL CHEMISTRY II or CHE 122 GENERAL CHEMISTRY IIP and CHE 133 GENERAL CHEMISTRY II LABORATORY
- CHE 134 GENERAL CHEMISTRY III and CHE 135 GENERAL CHEMISTRY III LABORATORY

The department offers General Chemistry each summer. In this case, the combination of CHE 136 GENERAL CHEMISTRY I/CHE 137 GENERAL CHEMISTRY I LABORATORY and CHE 138 GENERAL CHEMISTRY II/CHE 139 GENERAL CHEMISTRY II LABORATORY may substitute for the three-quarter sequences above.

Foundation Courses

- CHE 204 ANALYTICAL CHEMISTRY and CHE 205 ANALYTICAL CHEMISTRY LABORATORY
- CHE 230 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY I and CHE 231 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY I LABORATORY
- CHE 232 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY II and CHE 233 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY II LABORATORY
- CHE 234 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY III and CHE 235 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY III LABORATORY
- CHE 261 INSTRUMENTAL ANALYSIS (LECTURE AND LAB COMPONENTS)

Allied Courses

Calculus

One year of calculus is required to earn a baccalaureate degree in chemistry. This may be accomplished by completing any of the following three-course sequences offered by the Department of Mathematical Sciences:
Sequence One
- MAT 147 CALCULUS WITH INTEGRATED PRECALCULUS I
- MAT 148 CALCULUS WITH INTEGRATED PRECALCULUS II
- MAT 149 CALCULUS WITH INTEGRATED PRECALCULUS III

Sequence Two
- MAT 150 CALCULUS I
- MAT 151 CALCULUS II
- MAT 152 CALCULUS III

Sequence Three
- MAT 160 CALCULUS FOR MATHEMATICS AND SCIENCE MAJORS I
- MAT 161 CALCULUS FOR MATHEMATICS AND SCIENCE MAJORS II
- MAT 162 CALCULUS FOR MATHEMATICS AND SCIENCE MAJORS III

Sequence Four
- MAT 170 CALCULUS FOR LIFE SCIENCES I
- MAT 171 CALCULUS FOR LIFE SCIENCES II
- MAT 172 CALCULUS III WITH DIFFERENTIAL EQUATIONS

Sequence Five
- MAT 155 SUMMER CALCULUS I
- MAT 156 SUMMER CALCULUS II

Students interested in earning credit for multi-variable calculus should not take the MAT 170 CALCULUS FOR LIFE SCIENCES I/MAT 171 CALCULUS FOR LIFE SCIENCES II/MAT 172 CALCULUS III WITH DIFFERENTIAL EQUATIONS sequence. Business calculus cannot be substituted for any of the sequences above.

Physics

One year of calculus-based physics is required to earn a baccalaureate in chemistry. This may be accomplished by completing the following three-course sequence offered by the Department of Physics:

- PHY 170 UNIVERSITY PHYSICS I
- PHY 171 UNIVERSITY PHYSICS II
- PHY 172 UNIVERSITY PHYSICS III

Non-calculus-based physics cannot be used to meet the requirements of the common core unless previously approved by the Director of Undergraduate Studies or the Chair.

Departmental Program Requirements

The following enrollment-related policies are fully enforced by the Department of Chemistry

1. All students enrolling in the first course of a General Chemistry sequence must independently meet a minimum mathematics requirement and successfully complete the General Chemistry placement examination. See the course descriptions for General Chemistry for up-to-date information.
2. All prerequisite chemistry courses must be completed with a C- or better. Students not meeting this requirement may be removed from course rosters before the start of an academic session. This requirement may be waived only with departmental consent.
3. The department offers lower-level sequences several times each academic year. Due to potentially small class sizes, upper-level courses are typically scheduled every other year. Students should consult with their faculty academic advisor to develop a program they can complete in a timely fashion.

Sequencing and Prerequisites

Students should begin their General Chemistry, Physics, and Calculus sequences in their freshman year, provided they have an adequate mathematics background. The Organic Chemistry sequence and Analytical Chemistry should be taken in the sophomore year. Students not yet prepared for calculus should take the prerequisite courses in the first year and take Calculus and General Physics one year later than suggested above. Advanced courses in Chemistry may be taken as soon as students have met the appropriate prerequisites.

Since the Undergraduate Common Core in Chemistry, Mathematics, and Physics is particularly demanding in the first two years, students take the majority of their Liberal Studies courses in their junior and senior years. This is necessary so that students have the necessary prerequisites for advanced courses.
Concentration Requirements

Concentrations, tracks and specializations provide focus to the major. In addition to any college core requirements, liberal studies requirements and major requirements, students are required to choose one of the following:

- Standard
- Accelerated Program

Standard Concentration

Course Requirements

- CHE 302 QUANTUM CHEMISTRY and CHE 303 EXPERIMENTAL PHYSICAL CHEMISTRY I
- CHE 320 INTERMEDIATE INORGANIC CHEMISTRY and CHE 321 INTERMEDIATE INORGANIC CHEMISTRY LABORATORY
- CHE 340 BIOCHEMISTRY I and CHE 341 EXPERIMENTAL BIOCHEMISTRY I

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Accelerated Program

The Accelerated Program is only for qualified Pathways Honors students with a major in Chemistry (BA) who have been accepted into the 3+4 College of Science and Health pre-professional program in pharmacy in conjunction with Rosalind Franklin University of Medicine and Science (RFUMS). In order to pursue the pre-pharmacy track, a student must secure approval from the College of Science and Health's pre-health advisor and Pre-health Advising Committee's (PAC) Accelerated Program advisor.

Students formally accepted into a 3+ Accelerated Program will complete their fourth year of coursework - taken at RFUMS and not shown here - and apply the credit toward their Bachelor of Arts degree in Chemistry at DePaul. Students must apply for degree conferral via Campus Connection by the deadline outlined in the Student Handbook in order to be considered a candidate for earning their Bachelor of Arts degree at the conclusion of their fourth year of study. As part of the agreement with RFUMS, some Liberal Studies Program courses, Chemistry major requirements, and open electives will be fulfilled by RFUMS courses. To avoid possibly earning duplicate credit for some courses, please be sure you meet regularly with the College of Science and Health pre-health advisor and your Chemistry faculty advisor.

Course Requirements

Pre-pharmacy

- BIO 191 GENERAL BIOLOGY I FOR SCIENCE MAJORS
- BIO 192 GENERAL BIOLOGY II FOR SCIENCE MAJORS
- BIO 193 GENERAL BIOLOGY III FOR SCIENCE MAJORS
- BIO 210 MICROBIOLOGY
- HLTH 301 INTEGRATED HUMAN ANATOMY AND PHYSIOLOGY-A
- HLTH 302 INTEGRATED HUMAN ANATOMY AND PHYSIOLOGY-B
- CHE 302 QUANTUM CHEMISTRY and CHE 303 EXPERIMENTAL PHYSICAL CHEMISTRY I or CHE 320 INTERMEDIATE INORGANIC CHEMISTRY and CHE 321 INTERMEDIATE INORGANIC CHEMISTRY LABORATORY

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.
Combined Bachelor's/ Master's Degree

The combined Bachelor's/Master's degree programs allow students to complete 12 graduate credit hours while still undergraduates. These 12 graduate credit hours will count toward both the undergraduate and graduate degree programs.

Chemistry (BA)/ Secondary Education Chemistry (MEd)

This combined degree program of the College of Science and Health and the College of Education was developed collaboratively, and is governed and taught by faculty from these units. A full description of the Program can be found on the College of Education website in the graduate course catalog.

Chemistry (BS)

As a Chemistry major, you will learn the fundamentals of chemical theory and practice through scientific investigation, laboratory experience and research opportunities.

All Chemistry students will take core courses in chemistry, physics and mathematics.

Chemistry faculty members conduct research projects that are funded through government, foundation and industry grants as well as DePaul internal grants, providing you with multiple opportunities to gain hands-on research experience. Being in Chicago also allows you to attend many scientific conferences hosted in the city throughout the year.

Major Requirements

Course Requirements

Common Core

All students pursuing a Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science in chemistry must complete a common core of courses in the department. These courses are consistent with the requirements of all degree programs accredited by the American Chemical Society. The courses in the common core consist of:

Introductory Courses
- CHE 130 GENERAL CHEMISTRY I or CHE 120 GENERAL CHEMISTRY IP and CHE 131 GENERAL CHEMISTRY I LABORATORY
- CHE 132 GENERAL CHEMISTRY II or CHE 122 GENERAL CHEMISTRY IIP and CHE 133 GENERAL CHEMISTRY II LABORATORY
- CHE 134 GENERAL CHEMISTRY III and CHE 135 GENERAL CHEMISTRY III LABORATORY
The department offers General Chemistry each summer. In this case, the combination of CHE 136 GENERAL CHEMISTRY I /CHE 137 GENERAL CHEMISTRY I LABORATORY and CHE 138 GENERAL CHEMISTRY II /CHE 139 GENERAL CHEMISTRY II LABORATORY may substitute for the three-quarter sequences above.

Foundation Courses

- CHE 204 ANALYTICAL CHEMISTRY and CHE 205 ANALYTICAL CHEMISTRY LABORATORY
- CHE 230 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY I and CHE 231 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY I LABORATORY
- CHE 232 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY II and CHE 233 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY II LABORATORY
- CHE 234 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY III and CHE 235 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY III LABORATORY
- CHE 261 INSTRUMENTAL ANALYSIS (lecture and lab)
- CHE 302 QUANTUM CHEMISTRY and CHE 303 EXPERIMENTAL PHYSICAL CHEMISTRY I
- CHE 320 INTERMEDIATE INORGANIC CHEMISTRY and CHE 321 INTERMEDIATE INORGANIC CHEMISTRY LABORATORY
- CHE 340 BIOCHEMISTRY I and CHE 341 EXPERIMENTAL BIOCHEMISTRY I

In-depth Courses

- CHE 304 THERMOCHEMISTRY and CHE 305 EXPERIMENTAL PHYSICAL CHEMISTRY II
- CHE 306 Kinetics and Statistical Thermodynamics and CHE 307 EXPERIMENTAL PHYSICAL CHEMISTRY III
- 16 credit hours from any of CHE 250 + up to CHE 399 INDEPENDENT STUDY (excluding CHE 346 PRINCIPLES OF BIOCHEMISTRY, CHE 392 INTERNSHIP, CHE 397 RESEARCH, and CHE 398 CHEMISTRY THESIS)

Calculus

One year of calculus is required to earn a baccalaureate degree in chemistry. This may be accomplished by completing any one of the following five course sequences offered by the Department of Mathematical Sciences:

Sequence One
- MAT 147 CALCULUS WITH INTEGRATED PRECALCULUS I
- MAT 148 CALCULUS WITH INTEGRATED PRECALCULUS II
- MAT 149 CALCULUS WITH INTEGRATED PRECALCULUS III

Sequence Two
- MAT 150 CALCULUS I
- MAT 151 CALCULUS II
- MAT 152 CALCULUS III

Sequence Three
- MAT 160 CALCULUS FOR MATHEMATICS AND SCIENCE MAJORS I
- MAT 161 CALCULUS FOR MATHEMATICS AND SCIENCE MAJORS II
- MAT 162 CALCULUS FOR MATHEMATICS AND SCIENCE MAJORS III

Sequence Four
- MAT 170 CALCULUS FOR LIFE SCIENCES I
- MAT 171 CALCULUS FOR LIFE SCIENCES II
- MAT 172 CALCULUS III WITH DIFFERENTIAL EQUATIONS

Sequence Five
- MAT 155 SUMMER CALCULUS I

Students interested in earning credit for multi-variable calculus should not take the MAT 170 CALCULUS FOR LIFE SCIENCES I/MAT 171 CALCULUS FOR LIFE SCIENCES II/MAT 172 CALCULUS III WITH DIFFERENTIAL EQUATIONS sequence. Business calculus cannot be substituted for any of the sequences above.

Physics

One year of calculus-based physics is required to earn a baccalaureate in chemistry. This may be accomplished by completing the following three-course sequence offered by the Department of Physics:

- PHY 170 UNIVERSITY PHYSICS I
- PHY 171 UNIVERSITY PHYSICS II
- PHY 172 UNIVERSITY PHYSICS III

Non-calculus-based physics cannot be used to meet the requirements of the common core unless previously approved by the departmental Exceptions Committee or academic advisor.

Departmental Program Requirements

The following enrollment-related policies are fully enforced by the Department of Chemistry

1. All students enrolling in the first course of a General Chemistry sequence must independently meet a minimum mathematics requirement and successfully complete the General Chemistry Placement examination. See the course descriptions for General Chemistry for up-to-date information.

2. All prerequisite chemistry courses must be completed with a C- or better. Students not meeting this requirement may be removed from course rosters before the start of an academic session. This requirement may be waived only with departmental consent.

3. The department offers lower-level sequences several times each academic year. Due to potentially small class sizes, upper-level courses are typically scheduled every other year. Students should consult with their faculty academic advisor to develop a program they can complete in a timely fashion.

Sequencing and Prerequisites

Students should begin their General Chemistry, Physics, and Calculus sequences in their freshman year, provided they have an adequate mathematics background. The Organic Chemistry sequence and Analytical Chemistry should be taken in the sophomore year. Students not yet prepared for calculus should take the prerequisite courses in the first year and take Calculus and General Physics one year later than suggested above. Advanced courses in Chemistry may be taken as soon as students have met the appropriate prerequisites.

Since the Undergraduate Common Core in Chemistry, Mathematics, and Physics is particularly demanding in the first two years, students take the majority of their Liberal Studies courses in their junior and senior years. This is necessary so that students have the necessary prerequisites for advanced courses.

Combined Bachelor's/ Master's Degree

The combined Bachelor's/Master's degree programs allow students to complete 12 graduate credit hours while still undergraduates. These 12 graduate credit hours will count toward both the undergraduate and graduate degree programs.

The Chemistry (BS) offers two options:
- Chemistry (BS)/Chemistry (MS)
- Chemistry (BS)/Secondary Education Chemistry (MEd)

Chemistry (BS)/ Chemistry (MS)

Students planning to integrate a BS and MS degree program at DePaul University should inquire of the Director of Graduate Studies as undergraduate juniors. Students who have applied and are accepted into this program take a maximum of twelve graduate credit hours as three courses in their senior year; these graduate courses apply toward both undergraduate and graduate Chemistry requirements.

Chemistry (BS)/ Secondary Education Chemistry (MEd)

This combined degree program of the College of Science and Health and the College of Education was collaboratively developed, and is governed and taught by faculty from these units. A full description of the Program can be found on the College of Education website in the graduate course catalog.

Chemistry (Minor)

As a Chemistry minor, you will learn the fundamentals of chemical theory and practice through scientific investigation and laboratory experience.

Course Requirements

- CHE 130 GENERAL CHEMISTRY I or CHE 120 GENERAL CHEMISTRY IP and CHE 131 GENERAL CHEMISTRY I LABORATORY
- CHE 132 GENERAL CHEMISTRY II or CHE 122 GENERAL CHEMISTRY IIP and CHE 133 GENERAL CHEMISTRY LABORATORY II
- CHE 134 GENERAL CHEMISTRY III and CHE 135 GENERAL CHEMISTRY LABORATORY III
- CHE 204 ANALYTICAL CHEMISTRY and CHE 205 ANALYTICAL CHEMISTRY LABORATORY
- CHE 230 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY I and CHE 231 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY LABORATORY I
- CHE 232 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY II and CHE 233 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY LABORATORY II
- One additional 4 credit-hour course numbered above CHE 250

The department offers General Chemistry each summer. In this case, the combination of CHE 136/CHE 137 and CHE 138/CHE 139 may substitute for the three-quarter sequences above.

Students cannot earn a minor in the same academic program as their major.
Chinese Language (Minor)

DePaul's Chinese Language minor focuses on developing an intermediate proficiency in spoken and written Chinese, one of the world’s major languages that is growing in importance in our global society.

The minor consists of a total of 5 courses in Chinese language at the 200/300-level.

Students majoring in Chinese Studies (BA) or minoring in Chinese Studies are restricted from earning this minor.

Chinese Studies (BA)

DePaul's Chinese Studies program focuses on developing the ability to speak Chinese and understand Chinese culture. Twenty percent of the global population speaks Chinese, making it the most widely used language in the world. Having the ability to communicate in Chinese provides students with many career opportunities around the world.

Chinese Studies courses focus on a variety of topics, including:

- Art
- Business
- Economics
- History
- Language
- Literature
- Philosophy
- Politics
- Religion

Chinese Studies students often earn a second degree in a complementary field of study, such as International Business or International Studies.

As a Chinese Studies major, the student is encouraged to participate in one of DePaul's Study Abroad programs in Beijing, Hong Kong or Shanghai. By studying and living in China for an extended period of time, the student will experience the Chinese language and culture first-hand.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Proficiently speak, understand, read, and write the studied language(s) to:
  - Engage in conversations.
  - Interpret and create a variety of written texts.
  - Provide and obtain information
  - Express feelings and emotions.
  - Exchange opinions.
- Acquire knowledge of the cultures related to the studied language(s) with appropriate background in geography, history, politics, and society.
- Acquire knowledge of the literary traditions related to the studied language(s) along with techniques of literary and rhetorical analysis.
- Acquire basic notion of the history and theory of language and language study, including linguistics, sociolinguistics, language acquisition, and dialectology.
- Acquire basic notion of the theory and practice of translation and interpretation.
College Core Requirements

Study in the Major Field

The student's course of study in the College consists of three parts: Liberal Studies, the major field, and electives. Together these three parts contribute to the liberal education of the student which is the common purpose of all study in the College. By "liberal education" the College understands not only a deep and thorough knowledge of a particular area of study but a knowledge of the diverse areas of study represented by criticism, history, the arts, the behavioral and social sciences, philosophy, religious studies, the natural science, and mathematics.

The major field program generally is built upon a set of core courses and a specialized "concentration." The number of courses required for a major varies by department. Most students go beyond the minimum requirements, electing additional courses which both broaden and deepen their understanding of their chosen discipline.

Because no academic major program is built in isolation, students are required to pursue a number of electives of the student's choice. The inherent flexibility of this curriculum demands that the student consult an academic advisor at each stage in the total program and at least once prior to each registration. Students will be prompted to visit the College Office for their official graduation check early in their senior year.

Declaration of Major, Minor and Concentration

All students in the College are required to declare a major field prior to beginning their junior year. The student will then be assigned a faculty advisor in the major field department or program and should make an appointment to see that advisor at his or her earliest convenience.

Students must declare or change majors, minors, and concentrations, via Campus Connection. However, for the purpose of exploring the possibility of changing a major field, the student should consult an academic advisor in the Office for Academic Advising Support.

The Modern Language Requirement (MLR)

All students will be required to demonstrate competence in a modern language (i.e., a language other than English) equivalent to the proficiency attained from one year of college-level language study. This Modern Language Requirement (MLR) may be demonstrated by:

- placing into 104 or above on the DePaul language placement exam
- completing the last course or earning AP/IB credit for the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language (e.g. 103 for DePaul language classes)
- completing a college course or earning AP/IB credit for a college course beyond the first-year level in any language (e.g. 104 or above for DePaul language classes)
- completing the final course of a four-year sequence of the same modern language in high school*
- completing a proctored exam by BYU and passing the exam (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)
- completing a proctored Written Proficiency Test (WPT) by Language Testing International (LTI) and achieving a score of Beginner High or above (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)

* Students are strongly encouraged to take the DePaul language placement exam even if they have met the MLR via study of a language in high school. This will ensure continuation of language study at the proper level.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College will abide by this MLR in place on the effective date of the ICT, regardless of when they first matriculated at DePaul.

Students who have met the MLR and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" (MLO) of the Liberal Studies Program (see "Special Programs").

External Credit and Residency

A student who has been admitted to the College begins residency within the college as of the first day of classes of the term in which the student is registered. Students in residence, whether attending on a full-time or part-time basis, may not take courses away from DePaul University without the written permission of the college. Permission must be obtained in advance of registration to avoid loss of credit or residency in the college; see the LAS website for more information.

Notes

A student whose only major is in Modern Languages is required to complete the Capstone offered by the Department of Modern Languages (MOL). A student who is double majoring (or pursuing dual degrees) with the primary major (or primary degree) in MOL may substitute the Capstone of the secondary major or degree. An MOL major in the University Honors Program shall take only the University Honors Capstone, not both the Honors Capstone and the MOL Capstone.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student’s major and is cross-listed with a course within the student’s major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

Major Requirements

Course Requirements

• 24-32 credit hours of 200/300 level courses in Chinese Language
• 20-28 credit hours of Allied Courses from at least three different departments

Students who begin their study of Chinese at DePaul with CHN 202 or higher may substitute a 300-level Chinese elective course for any of the required 200-level courses.

Cinema Studies (Minor)

The Cinema Studies minor provides students with the skills to analyze film critically across genres, along with a basic competency in film production in two areas of the student's choice.

Course Requirements

A minor in Cinema Studies requires students to complete six courses (24 credits).

- MCS 273 STORYTELLING & STYLE IN CINEMA
- Three History/Criticism Courses from the following:
  - MCS 207 HISTORY OF CINEMA I, 1890-1945

Cities (Minor)

The interdisciplinary Cities Minor brings together the prominent emphases on the material landscapes and cultural environments of the city evident in Geography courses and History of Art and Architecture courses. While both History of Art and Architecture and Geography have different kinds of theoretical or historical questions, they nevertheless strongly overlap when considering how the specific geographic spaces of cities unfold as particular spatial and cultural constructs. Courses in the minor thus explore the variety of ways in which the spaces of cities relate to their historical/geographical materiality. In this sense, culture is broadly construed to encompass the spatial, aesthetic, linguistic, and other social practices that define the material and phenomenological particularities of cities.

Course Requirements

- GEO 103 URBANIZATION
Classical Studies (Minor)

The Classical Studies minor offers a basic grounding in Latin or Greek, along with a more in-depth exploration of at least two disciplines focusing on the history, culture, art or religion of the ancient Western world.

Course Requirements

- Three quarters of college-level Ancient Greek or Latin (at any level).
- Five additional courses focusing on Ancient Greece or Rome from at least two different disciplines, chosen in consultation with an advisor or faculty member, from the current approved Classical Studies Allied Course List. For any of these five courses students are strongly encouraged to substitute any intermediate level course in Ancient Greek or Latin.

A minor in Coaching is designed for students interested in acquiring a second teaching area in physical education to coach in a school or professional setting.

Course Requirements
Commercial French (Minor)

The Commercial French minor program is offered to students who wish to be proficient enough to conduct business in French. Students completing the minor are encouraged to take the business language certification exams given by the French government through their respective chambers of commerce.

Course Requirements

- 12 credits of advanced (200-level) coursework in French language, selected to develop appropriate levels of proficiency in the language and to provide an introduction to translation
- 8 credits of advanced (300-level) coursework, including "French for Business" and a related class.

Depending on their level of prior expertise with French, students may need to complete courses at the Basic and Intermediate levels before enrolling in 200 or 300-level language courses.

Students majoring in French (BA) or minoring in French or French Translation are restricted from earning this minor.

Commercial Spanish (Minor) Overview

The Commercial Spanish minor program is for students who wish to be proficient enough to conduct business in Spanish. Students completing the minor are encouraged to take the business language certification exam in Spanish.

Course Requirements

- SPN 320 COMMERCIAL SPANISH II
- Four more courses at the 200/300 level in Spanish. The department recommends that those four courses include SPN 252 COMMERCIAL SPANISH I.

Students majoring in Spanish (BA) or minoring in Spanish are restricted from earning this minor.

Communication and Media (BA)

The College of Communication offers a variety of courses leading to a Bachelor of Arts degree in Communication and Media. The BA in Communication and Media offers students the opportunity to pursue coursework in communication and media that draws upon two or more related areas of study. This degree will provide flexibility for transfer students and others who have not determined their precise career trajectory, while affording them the fundamental communication and critical thinking skills needed to enter jobs across the public, private and non-profit sectors, or to continue their education in academic or professional post-graduate programs. This major is designed especially for those students holding allied field interests, as well as those who would like to complete a communication degree by taking mostly evening courses. In order to complete this degree, students have the option of pursuing coursework from any of the other majors offered in the College of Communication.

DePaul University Autumn 2018-2019
Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Understand and analyze the complexities of human communication.
- Construct a presentation that tailors ideas to a specific audience.
- Analyze and evaluate content from various media.
- Explain how elements of formal style impact an audience’s interpretation of a creative work.

College Core Requirements

All majors in the College of Communication consist of a four-course common core plus an additional combination of program requirements and electives.

Course Requirements

Four core courses are required of all College of Communication students:

- CMN 101 INTRODUCTION TO HUMAN COMMUNICATION
- CMN 102 INTRODUCTION TO MASS COMMUNICATION
- CMN 103 INTERCULTURAL COMMUNICATION
- CMN 104 PUBLIC SPEAKING

Students are encouraged to complete all four prior to taking additional coursework in the major.

Modern Language Requirement

Students who intend to graduate with a Bachelor of Arts degree in the College of Communication will be required to demonstrate a measure of competence in a modern language, as defined by the college. Such competence may be demonstrated in one of several ways:

- completing the last course in a second year high school course work in a modern language or Latin
- completing the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language
- completing a college course beyond the first-year level in any language
- achieving a satisfactory score on any of the Modern Language placement examinations administered at DePaul
- achieving a satisfactory rating in a proficiency examination accepted by DePaul
- achieving a score of 3 or higher on the Advance Placement (AP) test for any language (must be completed during high school)
- achieving a score of 5 or higher in the Language B assessment from a Standard or Higher Level International Baccalaureate (IB) program
- achieving a satisfactory score on the CLEP examination. (Note that CLEP scores may be used only to meet the language requirement. Credit is not awarded in modern languages on the basis of CLEP scores).

Students with some modern language training should consult with the Modern Language Department about the course with which they should begin. Students with little or no previous work in the language will be required to complete the entire three-course introductory sequence.

Modern Language Option

The Modern Language Option is available to all BA students who wish to study a modern language beyond the level necessary to meet the College’s modern language requirement. Students selecting the option may substitute a three-course language sequence for two learning domain courses and one open elective, or two upper-level courses in the same language for two learning domain requirements. Modern Language Option substitutions may not be used to replace the Scientific Inquiry: Lab or Scientific Inquiry: Science as a Way of Knowing requirement.

Any substitutions must be consistent with the principle that students complete at least one course in each learning domain.
Major Requirements

Course Requirements

- One presentation skills course from the following selection of classes:
  - ORGC 201 BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL COMMUNICATION
  - CMNS 230 PERFORMANCE: COMMUNICATION, CREATIVITY AND THE BODY

  - DC 301 WRITING THE FEATURE SCREENPLAY
  - DC 310 CINEMA PRODUCTION II
  - DC 371 DOCUMENTARY PRODUCTION II
  - DC 372 TOPICS IN TV PRODUCTION

Internship Credit

Students in the major may take CMN 394 MAKING THE MOST OF YOUR COMMUNICATION INTERNSHIP and/or CMN 395 COMMUNICATION INTERNSHIP SPECIAL TOPICS (when work relates to the major). In order to take CMN 394 or CMN 395, students must have completed two of the four communication core classes (CMN 101, CMN 102, CMN 103, CMN 104), two courses in the chosen major and have fulfilled internship program eligibility requirements.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

* Students must earn a C- or better in this course.

Note

Courses offered in the student’s primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student’s major and is cross-listed with a course within the student’s major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.
Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

Communication and Media (Minor)

The Communication and Media minor is for students interested in multiple areas of the media who wish to further their skills in effective communication to complement their major course of study.

Course Requirements

A minor in Communication and Media consists of 24 credit hours (six courses).

- 3 courses starting with the prefix CMNS or ORGC
- 3 courses starting with the prefix JOUR, MCS, PRAD, or SPRTCMN

Any of those six courses may be replaced with:

- CMN 394 MAKING THE MOST OF YOUR COMMUNICATION INTERNSHIP
- CMN 395 COMMUNICATION INTERNSHIP SPECIAL TOPICS

Students majoring in Communication and Media (BA) are restricted from earning this minor.

Communication Studies (BA)

The College of Communication offers a variety of courses leading to a Bachelor of Arts degree in Communication Studies. The program explores effective and participatory communication in interpersonal, small group, public, organizational, intercultural, rhetorical and performative contexts. Through a blend of theory and practice, students are encouraged to think, speak, and write clearly; to develop confidence and ability as ethical communicators; to view communication events from multiple perspectives; to understand the multicultural character of communication in contemporary society; to analyze and evaluate variables operating in verbal transactions; to probe the basic problems of human communication in order to understand self, others, and events; and to recognize the connections between communication studies and other disciplines.

Students whose professional goals are in the public, private, or non-profit sectors, such as government, training and human resources, and social and human services are well served by relational, group, and organizational communication, as well as courses in communication and culture, performance studies, and rhetoric. In addition, the BA in Communication Studies prepares students who want to continue their education, to excel in academic or professional graduate programs.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Describe the impact of language/discourse on attitudes, behaviors, and identity formation.
- Explain the symbiotic relationship between communication and culture.
- Compare and contrast the capacities necessary to exert influence and affect change in relational, group, organizational, and/or intercultural settings.
• Appraise the communication skills necessary to work effectively in relational, group, organizational, and/or intercultural settings.

College Core Requirements

All majors in the College of Communication consist of a four-course common core plus an additional combination of program requirements and electives.

Course Requirements

Four core courses are required of all College of Communication students:

- CMN 101 INTRODUCTION TO HUMAN COMMUNICATION
- CMN 102 INTRODUCTION TO MASS COMMUNICATION
- CMN 103 INTERCULTURAL COMMUNICATION
- CMN 104 PUBLIC SPEAKING

Students are encouraged to complete all four prior to taking additional coursework in the major.

Modern Language Requirement

Students who intend to graduate with a Bachelor of Arts degree in the College of Communication will be required to demonstrate a measure of competence in a modern language, as defined by the college. Such competence may be demonstrated in one of several ways:

- completing the last course in a second year high school course work in a modern language or Latin
- completing the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language
- completing a college course beyond the first-year level in any language
- achieving a satisfactory score on any of the Modern Language placement examinations administered at DePaul
- achieving a satisfactory rating in a proficiency examination accepted by DePaul
- achieving a score of 3 or higher on the Advance Placement (AP) test for any language (must be completed during high school)
- achieving a score of 5 or higher in the Language B assessment from a Standard or Higher Level International Baccalaureate (IB) program
- achieving a satisfactory score on the CLEP examination. (Note that CLEP scores may be used only to meet the language requirement. Credit is not awarded in modern languages on the basis of CLEP scores).

Students with some modern language training should consult with the Modern Language Department about the course with which they should begin. Students with little or no previous work in the language will be required to complete the entire three-course introductory sequence.

Modern Language Option

The Modern Language Option is available to all BA students who wish to study a modern language beyond the level necessary to meet the College's modern language requirement. Students selecting the option may substitute a three-course language sequence for two learning domain courses and one open elective, or two upper-level courses in the same language for two learning domain requirements. Modern Language Option substitutions may not be used to replace the Scientific Inquiry: Lab or Scientific Inquiry: Science as a Way of Knowing requirement.

Any substitutions must be consistent with the principle that students complete at least one course in each learning domain.

- Four additional courses (16 hours) from CMNS or ORGC. Students may include the following toward the four additional courses.
  - CMN 394 MAKING THE MOST OF YOUR COMMUNICATION INTERNSHIP
  - CMN 395 COMMUNICATION INTERNSHIP SPECIAL TOPICS

Students majoring in Communication Studies (BA) are restricted from earning this minor.

Community Service Studies (Minor)

The Community Service Studies (CSS) Minor is a multidisciplinary program that provides a framework for understanding and engaging in critical social issues at the level of community. While the notion of community is increasingly complex, the program explores the nuances of community as defined through the lens of groups with common affiliation, identity, or grievance that may be geographically or non-geographically based. The curriculum relies heavily on community-based service learning courses and is designed to provide students with a foundation of analytical, reflective, interpersonal, and leadership skills. Through supporting university partnerships with Chicago-area community-based organizations, students gain a local perspective on social justice issues, including those built on race, class, and gender inequalities and other forms of social, economic and political exclusion.

The practice of service is often shaped by particular economic and cultural circumstances related to power, privilege, and identity. A central component of CSS is the importance of viewing communities through an asset lens and thus working to support existing community strengths rather than responding to needs. Students minoring in CSS therefore develop strong critical self-reflection skills that guide them as future leaders in making ethical and socially responsible decisions.

Course Requirements

- CSS 201 CRITICAL COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT
- CSS 300 INTRODUCTION TO NON-PROFIT MANAGEMENT
- CSS 395 COMMUNITY INTERNSHIP

Study Abroad Courses

Several Study Abroad experiences may be used to fulfill one or more course requirements for the Minor. Approval of these trips for the Minor must be obtained in consultation with the Director.

Comparative Literature (Minor)

The Comparative Literature minor enables students to study the history, theory, and criticism of literature across national, linguistic, and disciplinary boundaries. It is designed for students who combine the drive and the ability to master foreign languages with a strong commitment to theoretical and interdisciplinary approaches to literature. Students must do a substantial portion of their work in at least one foreign language. Although students will take many of their courses in the departments of their elected literary fields, the program in comparative literature is distinguished from national literature departments by its comparative scope and by the requirement of seminars that focus on fundamental theoretical questions regarding the nature of literature and literary inquiry. The requirements for the minor are designed to allow each student to follow a course of study that combines intellectual rigor with the pursuit of personal interests.

Course Requirements

- CPL 355 CONTEMPORARY CRITICISM
- Choose one of the following two five-course options:
  - Option One
    - Five Comparative Literature offerings
  - Option Two
    - Four Comparative Literature offerings
    - One 300 level literature offering from Modern Languages in a language other than English

Composition (BM)

The Bachelor of Music degree in composition is comprised of a comprehensive range of courses including analysis, orchestration, counterpoint, compositional procedures, and contemporary musical styles. Throughout their studies, students work with a faculty of distinguished composers and participate in master classes with well-known guest composers. Student compositions may be performed at quarterly Composers Forums, and seniors may have a composition read through and recorded by Ensemble 20+, the School's student new music ensemble.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Perform solo and ensemble works with appropriate techniques and musicality.
- Identify and analyze the elements of music in a given piece, including an understanding of its compositional processes, aesthetic properties, and artistic, social, and historical contexts for works in the Western music tradition, Contemporary periods, Jazz, and World
Music Cultures.
- Demonstrate an appropriate level of aural, keyboard, and conducting skills.
- Compose consistently, developing a compositional voice that reflects awareness of prevalent musical styles of the 20th and 21st centuries and that shows a fundamental knowledge of instrumentation.
- Analyze appropriately music of the common practice period as well as the 20th and 21st centuries.
- Identify and demonstrate essential techniques of creating electro-acoustic music.
- Effectively employ contrapuntal composition techniques of previous centuries.

Music Core Requirements

Course Requirements
All students in the School of Music are required to enroll in the following music courses:

Musicianship (42 credits)
- Music Theory Sequence
  - MUS 110A MUSIC THEORY I
  - MUS 120A MUSIC THEORY II
  - MUS 130A MUSIC THEORY III
  - MUS 212A MUSIC THEORY IV
  - MUS 222A MUSIC THEORY V
  - MUS 232 MUSIC THEORY VI

  - MUS 123 GROUP PIANO II
  - MUS 133 GROUP PIANO III
  - MUS 213 GROUP PIANO IV
  - MUS 223 GROUP PIANO V
  - MUS 233 GROUP PIANO VI

Additional Courses
- MUS 303 BASIC CONDUCTING PRACTICUM
- MUS 304 BASIC CONDUCTING
- MUS 320 INTRODUCTION TO WORLD MUSIC
- MUS 321 INTRODUCTION TO JAZZ HISTORY
- MUS 322 ADVANCED MUSICIANSHP

Students in the BS-PAM degree program are not required to take MUS 303 and MUS 304.

Applied Music
Students may enroll in a maximum of 3 credits of applied study per quarter, with a maximum of 36 credits total. The requirements for applied study vary by degree program:
- BM in performance, 36 credits
- BM in jazz studies, 32 credits
- BM in composition, 12 credits
- BM in music education, 18 credits
- BM in performing arts management, 18 credits
The BS in Performing Arts Management degree does not require applied lessons, and the BS in Sound Recording Technology, non-performance track, degree does not require applied lessons.

Except performance majors, students may enroll in additional applied credits, which will count towards music electives.

Modern Language Option

If a music student wishes to study a modern language for a three-course sequence (12 credits), one quarter of language study (4 credits) may be used to replace a course requirement in Arts and Literature, Philosophical Inquiry, or Religious Dimensions. The remaining two quarters of language (8 credits) will be applied towards free electives.

Liberal Studies Requirements

Honors program requirements can be found in the individual Colleges & Schools section of the University Catalog. Select Academics, followed by Undergraduate, then Honors Program Alternative.

Notes

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

Major Requirements

Program Checkpoints

Students are admitted to a specialization at their initial enrollment. Students are then allowed to continue in specialization courses on the basis of program checkpoints. The program checkpoints differ for each specialization, and students should contact the department chairs or program directors/ coordinators for more information. Students are not permitted to continue to enroll in specialization classes if they have not met the requirements of their program checkpoints.

Course Requirements

Students are required to complete the following courses for a specialization in Composition:

- COM 315 COMPOSITION
- Counterpoint sequence:
  - COM 301 16TH CENTURY COUNTERPOINT
  - COM 302 18TH CENTURY COUNTERPOINT
  - COM 303 20TH CENTURY COUNTERPOINT

- PHY 300 METHODS OF COMPUTATIONAL AND THEORETICAL PHYSICS I
- PHY 301 METHODS OF COMPUTATIONAL AND THEORETICAL PHYSICS II

Students cannot earn a minor in the same academic program as their major.

Computer Science (BS)

The BS in Computer Science provides essential training in the foundations of computing, data storage and information processing. With this foundation, graduates of the program can easily adapt to and create new information technologies, new computing paradigms, and new ideas for applying computer systems.

The BS in Computer Science can be completed online by transfer students if they meet the following requirements:

- Have a minimum of 45 quarter/30 semester hours of transfer credit
- Completed one semester of Java or C++
- Have a minimum cumulative 2.0 GPA
- Be in good standing at the last school they attended

Note - The lab science requirement, English Composition I (WRD 103), and the pre-calculus prerequisite (MAT 130) for the Discrete Mathematics I (MAT 140) and Data Analysis (IT 223) requirements are not available online at DePaul and will need to be completed on campus or transferred in from another institution.

For more information on this option and a sample schedule please see www.cdm.depaul.edu.

Students can choose to study within one of two concentrations in the BS in Computer Science program:

- Software Development
- Game Systems

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Model a computational problem, select appropriate algorithms and data structures for a solution, justify the correctness of the algorithm, and implement an application solving the problem.
- Analyze the efficiency of a computational solution mathematically and validate the analysis experimentally.
- Analyze and select an algorithm based on system effects.
- Criticize a program on the basis of its maintainability and suggest improvements.

Specified required courses within Liberal Studies may have grade minimums (e.g. C- or better). Please consult your advisor or your college and major requirements.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student’s major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

• MAT 141 DISCRETE MATHEMATICS II
• WRD 204 TECHNICAL WRITING

Note: Students may take CSC 243 PYTHON FOR PROGRAMMERS and one (1) Additional Major Elective in lieu of CSC 241 and CSC 242.

Concentration Requirements

Students must also complete the requirements from Software Development or Game Systems concentrations.

Degree Requirements

Students in this degree must meet the following requirements:

• Complete a minimum of 192 credit hours (generally 48 courses)
• Earn a grade of C- or higher in WRD 103, WRD 104, and all Major and Minor courses
• Earn a grade of D or higher in all other Liberal Studies and Open Elective courses
• Maintain a cumulative GPA of 2.0 or higher
Concentration Requirements

Concentrations, tracks and specializations provide focus to the major. In addition to any college core requirements, liberal studies requirements and major requirements, students are required to choose one of the following:

- Game Systems
- Software Development

Game Systems Concentration

Course Requirements

- CSC 361 OPTIMIZED C++
- CSC 386 REAL-TIME NETWORKING (FORMERLY GAM 390)
- GAM 325 APPLIED 3D GEOMETRY

Combined Bachelor's/ Master's Degree

The combined Bachelor's/Master's degree programs allow students to complete 12 graduate credit hours while still undergraduates. These 12 graduate credit hours will count toward both the undergraduate and graduate degree programs.

Students who meet the admission requirements below may choose to apply to a combined degree program. Interested students should consult their faculty advisor regarding the application procedure. This program allows students to combine many CDM bachelor's degrees with a CDM master's degree following the structure outlined below.

Admission Criteria

- Minimum of 44 quarter hours earned
- Minimum of 12 quarter hours earned at DePaul
- GPA of 3.3 or higher in courses taken at DePaul
- Endorsement of faculty advisor

In order to apply for the combined degree program, your faculty advisor must send an e-mail recommendation to the CDM Academic Success Center. The recommendation should include your full name, student ID number, and the bachelor's and master's degrees you wish to combine.

Bachelor of Arts in Professional Studies with a Major in Computing students who are enrolled via the School for New Learning (SNL) are also eligible for this program. Interested students who meet the admission criteria for a combined degree should contact Kenn Skorupa in SNL for more information.

Program Structure

Students in the combined degree program take a maximum of three graduate level courses that count toward both their bachelor's and master's degree requirements. Students may enroll in graduate level coursework in the junior and senior year only. Students in the combined degree program will receive the bachelor's degree after meeting all graduation requirements including the minimum credit hours required for graduation.

To earn the master's degree, the student must earn as many additional graduate credit hours as needed to reach the minimum number of graduate credit hours required in that master's degree.

Only CDM courses can be taken as part of this program. Advanced programs (e.g., JD/MS, MFA, and PhD) are not eligible for the combined degree program.

Maintaining Good Standing

Cumulative GPA and course grades will be reviewed after each Autumn, Winter, and Spring Quarter.
The student and faculty advisor will be notified when the student's cumulative GPA falls below 3.3 or when the student receives less than a C- in a graduate level course.

If a student's cumulative GPA falls below 3.3, the student must earn a term GPA of 3.3 or above in the following quarter to stay in good standing. If the student does not achieve a 3.3 term GPA, then the student will be dismissed from the combined program and resume the traditional B.A./B.S./B.F.A.

If dismissed from the combined degree program after graduate courses have been passed, the graduate courses may only apply to the undergraduate degree. Should the student later be admitted to a graduate program, graduate courses applied to the undergraduate degree may not apply to the graduate program and may not be repeated if they are required in the declared graduate curriculum. Other graduate courses may be substituted in this case.

Designing a Course of Study

It is extremely important that the student and faculty advisor work together on a course of study immediately upon admission to the Combined Degree Program.

This course of study should include the graduate courses to be taken and the undergraduate courses that are replaced by the graduate courses. Failure to put together a solid plan can lead to extra coursework and a lengthening of the Combined Degree program.

It is advisable for the student and the faculty advisor to enter the proposed plan of study in the student communication record on the CDM intranet so it is available to the student and CDM faculty and staff.

Registering for Master's Degree Courses

Combined degree students must meet regularly with their faculty advisor. The faculty advisor will initiate the registration process for all graduate level courses taken during the undergraduate career.

Bachelor's Degree to Master's Degree Transition

In order to be fully admitted to the designated master's program, the student must meet all admission requirements for that program. When preparing to complete the undergraduate portion of the combined degree, students must submit the application for degree conferral for the undergraduate degree by the application deadline. At this time, the student should contact the CDM Academic Success Center about the procedure required to be formally admitted to the declared graduate program.

Costume Design (BFA)

The Theatre School's Bachelor of Fine Arts (BFA) degree in Costume Design is designed to give students the opportunity to explore and expand their artistic and visual expression and provides them the opportunity to practice their craft. The four-year curriculum in many ways simulates a costume designer's professional experience and process. Designers learn to visualize the world of plays through the garments and clothing the actors wear while collaborating with directors, dramaturgs, other designers and technicians, and our professional costume shop staff who build the costumes they design.
Learning Outcomes

Core Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Identify and describe the historical and theoretical significance of a range of theatrical artists, works and artistic approaches from antiquity to the present, encompassing a broad range of periods, cultures, and styles.
- Synthesize and apply elements of their education and training in classes, rehearsals, and productions.
- Participate in theatrical production in a professional manner, with discipline, respect, and maturity.
- Demonstrate the role of the theatre practitioner as an active member of society and of the cultural and social impact of the arts.

Program Specific Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Apply General knowledge of theatre history, dramatic literature covering a broad range of historical periods, cultures, and styles, and major theatre artists on both a national and international level.
- Utilize the principles and vocabulary of performance, directing, design, and a thorough grounding in the theory of their particular area of specialization.
- Write with competency in a variety of writing styles from casual to formal.
- Fully engage with knowledge through the ability to access, analyze, and evaluate information and ideas from multiple sources in order to identify underlying arguments and assumptions and to formulate conclusions.
- Utilize existing knowledge to generate and synthesize ideas in original, creative, and imaginative ways.
- Articulate clearly the process of transforming the written text into the theatrical event.
- Design, develop, and execute a noteworthy intellectual and/or creative project.
- Develop a profound understanding of the role of the artist in society.
- Develop an understanding of the cultural and sociopolitical context of theatre from the perspective of both historical and contemporary practice.
- Develop strong self-discipline, self-motivation, and an ability to work independently.
- Work collaboratively and effectively within a group process and with creative artists from all theatrical disciplines.
- Understand the interrelationship of what it means to be human and what it means to be a theatre artist.
- Evaluate ethical issues with respect to theatrical analysis, concept, and practice.
- Contribute artistically to communities through socially responsible engagement and leadership.
- Develop an understanding of and a respect for a multiplicity of cultural and artistic perspectives that may be different from their own.
- Understand the availability and/or scarcity of global resources for a sustainable future.
- Set goals for future work that are the result of rigorous self-appraisal and reflection.
- Articulate their skills and knowledge as they represent themselves to external audiences.
- Use technology to create, communicate, and synthesize their ideas.

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.
Costume Technology (BFA)

The Theatre School’s Bachelor of Fine Arts (BFA) degree in Costume Technology is designed to train students interested in careers as theatrical drapers/cutters, crafts persons, and costume shop managers. The four-year curriculum in many ways simulates a theatrical costume technicians professional experience and process. Costume Technology students learn to translate designs into the reality of the garments and accessories worn by actors. Students learn a variety skills including: sewing, pattern making, cutting, fitting, millinery, mask making, etc. They also take a progression of business management coursework. Students collaborate with directors and our professional costume shop staff in work on productions in addition to their class work.

Dramaturgy/ Criticism (BFA)

The Theatre School’s Bachelor of Fine Arts (BFA) degree in Dramaturgy/Criticism focuses on helping students explore their critical thinking and writing skills for a variety of applications within theatre and other art forms. The four-year curriculum provides students with primary tools – script analysis, dramatic theory and new play development – and opportunity for practical application of those tools in our production process.

Learning Outcomes

Core Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Identify and describe the historical and theoretical significance of a range of theatrical artists, works and artistic approaches from antiquity to the present, encompassing a broad range of periods, cultures, and styles.
- Synthesize and apply elements of their education and training to the preparation, rehearsal and presentation of theatrical productions with discipline, respect, and maturity.
- Identify and explain their theatrical work in the context of the cultural and social impact of the arts.

Program Specific Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Read and interpret theatrical text within the historical context of its creation and as applied to contemporary issues and practices.
- Identify and communicate, orally and in writing, significant issues and approaches to the production of theatrical texts to both theatre practitioners and general audiences.
- Apply interpretive, analytical, and communication skills to a wide variety of literature and theatrical practices, ranging from classics to new work.
Liberal Studies Requirements

Honors program requirements can be found in the individual Colleges & Schools section of the University Catalog. Select Academics, followed by Undergraduate, then Honors Program Alternative.

Notes
Specified required courses within Liberal Studies may have grade minimums (e.g. C- or better). Please consult your advisor or your college and major requirements.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

- PHL 381 DRAMATIC THEORY: TRAGEDY
- PHL 382 DRAMATIC THEORY: COMEDY These courses are offered alternately every other spring quarter.

It is also strongly suggested that students take the following

- Three quarters of language

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Early Childhood Education (BS)

The Bachelor of Science program in Early Childhood Education prepares students to teach children birth through third grade in a variety of urban and suburban education settings, including public and private elementary schools and child care centers.

Students learn educational theories and effective teaching practices, participate in field experiences that require observation and participation in teaching activities at multiple schools, and student teaching. Early Childhood students complete six weeks in a preschool classroom and six weeks in a primary classroom to fulfill their student teaching requirement leading to Illinois licensure. Students should meet early and regularly with their advisors to design and monitor their program of study.

Students entering the program must be able and willing to devote themselves to a minimum of 380 hours of daytime field experiences in schools and child care centers (230 hours in early childhood, including special education settings, and 150 hours in bilingual/ESL education settings). These field-based clinical hours are completed in conjunction with curriculum and strategy courses that require students to participate in teaching activities with children ranging in age from birth through eight years. In addition, the student must successfully complete two six-week periods of full-time student teaching as part of their culminating early childhood education experience.

The program incorporates a required concentration in bilingual education and English as a Second Language (ESL). Upon completion of the program, students are eligible to apply for Endorsements in bilingual education or ESL to be added to their early childhood teaching license. Bilingual Endorsements require a test of proficiency in the non-English language.
The required curriculum prepares students in special education and students are eligible for an Approval in ECE Special Education on their teaching license. This qualifies the individual to teach young children with special needs in a preschool setting (ages 3-6). Additional courses are available to prepare individuals to teach special education for the full range of the license (birth-3, primary grades).

Please make sure you consult the Liberal Studies Requirements, Major Requirements, and College Core Requirements for full degree requirements.

Licensure

Illinois Professional Educator Licensure with Endorsement in Early Childhood Education (birth-grade 3), Early Childhood Special Education Approval for Preschool (ages 3-6), and ESL/Bilingual Endorsement. The Early Childhood Education Program at DePaul is an Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) approved program.

Learning Outcomes

Student will be able to:

- Apply their knowledge of child development to create healthy, respectful, supportive, and challenging learning environments for each child.
- Establish respectful, reciprocal relationships that involve, support, and empower families as well as the communities in which they live.
  - Create these relationships based on their knowledge and understanding of each family's characteristics, the community's dynamics, and the identified needs of the children.
- Use multiple forms and approaches of effective assessment in planning and documenting all children's ongoing growth and development for a variety of stakeholders.
- Choose from a wide repertoire of developmentally appropriate and productive strategies to address the multiple learning needs of children and the families who support them.
- Design, implement, and critically analyze meaningful curriculum through use of academic disciplinary knowledge, to enhance learning outcomes for all children.
- Competently address children's reading, writing, and oral communication needs to facilitate learning in all content areas.
- Conduct themselves as knowledgeable professionals focused upon providing and advocating for quality care and education in a variety of settings across the early childhood age span (i.e., birth through age 8 years).

College Core Requirements

Dispositions

The academic programs within the College of Education have set forth these dispositions as educational and professional expectations for all students. Students should be aware that failing to abide by DePaul University or College of Education policies including, under certain circumstances, these dispositions, could result in adverse consequences for the student, including removal from his or her program, the College of Education, or the University.

The following dispositions apply to Early Childhood Education, Elementary Education, Exercise Science Middle Grades, Physical Education, Secondary Education, and World Language Education majors only:

- Reflects on progress and identifies strengths and weaknesses, including evaluating strategies for success, finding alternatives for inappropriate strategies, and modifying future practices
- Is receptive to faculty feedback and acts meaningfully and professionally upon suggestions
- Values critical thinking, including engaging theoretical and philosophical frameworks and shows evidence of critical thinking through discussion and writing (e.g., journals, response to prompts)

- Is aware of the role of classroom environment and uses management procedures that reflect respect and care for learners and concern for their emotional and physical well being
Takes the time and effort needed to understand how students learn, including discovering their interests and experiences and determining how to shape teaching acts (using technology as appropriate) that engage learners meaningfully and actively
Values and is committed to using assessment to evaluate and ensure the continuous intellectual, social, emotional, and physical development of the learner
Respects and considers cultural contexts in order to determine how to be responsive to learners and to proactively promote all students' learning
Values and is responsive to diverse learners' academic, emotional, and social needs through teaching acts (including careful instructional planning, implementation, and differentiation) and through everyday interactions with students
Is committed to collaboration with colleagues, families, and communities in order to promote all students' learning and development
Recognizes and fulfills professional responsibilities and habits of conduct (e.g., dress, language, preparedness, attendance, punctuality, etc.)
Demonstrates collegiality, honesty, good judgment, courtesy, respect, and diplomacy
Balances self-confidence and assertiveness with respect for others' perspectives
Respects the requirements, expectations, and procedures of both the College of Education and of our field partners and appreciates the issues of trust, fairness, and professionalism involved

The following dispositions apply to Special Education majors only:

- Is receptive to faculty feedback and acts meaningfully and professionally upon suggestions
- Reflects on his or her own progress, identifies strengths and weaknesses, and evaluates strategies for success and professional growth
- Takes initiative
- Is open to new ideas and engagement in learning
- Respects diversity and cultural contexts to determine how to be responsive to learners and to proactively promote all students' learning
- Expresses positive attitudes toward individuals with disabilities and a willingness to advocate on their behalf
- Is committed to collaboration with colleagues, families, and communities in order to promote all students' learning and development
- Demonstrates professional ethical and legal behavior as defined by the respective codes of ethics and laws
- Demonstrates consistent professional behavior across all academic settings
- Maintains appropriate interpersonal and professional boundaries
- Accepts personal responsibility for one's behavior
- Expresses feelings and opinions effectively and appropriately
- Upholds confidentiality

Skill Building Courses

Before taking any math or English courses, students must take the DePaul placement tests to determine if skill level is at the college level. If placement indicates skill level in these courses, the courses become part of degree requirements. Consult with your advisor regarding placement test results and any required classes.

Advanced Standing

Students are admitted conditionally to the College of Education. There are additional requirements to reach Advanced Standing in your program in the College of Education. Requirements must be met to progress in the major and take courses in the Advanced Standing category.

Advanced Standing requirements are:

- Maintain a DePaul undergraduate 2.5 GPA
- Pass the Illinois Test of Academic Proficiency (TAP)
- Submit an application for advanced standing form

Students should attempt to complete the Advanced Standing requirements soon after beginning the program. There is no time limit to meet these criteria; however, students will only be able to take pre-education courses until requirements have been met. Students can also take liberal studies or content area courses before or after meeting Advanced Standing requirements.

Modern Language Competence Requirement

Students pursuing a Bachelor of Arts degree in the College of Education will be required to demonstrate a measure of competence in a modern language, as defined by the college. Such competence may be demonstrated in one of several ways:

- completing two years of a language sequence in high school
- completing the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language
- completing a college course beyond the first-year level in any language
- achieving a satisfactory score on any of the Modern Language placement examinations administered at DePaul
- achieving a satisfactory rating in a proficiency examination accepted by DePaul
- achieving a score of 3 or higher on the Advance Placement (AP) test for any language
- achieving a score of 5 or higher in the Language B assessment from a Standard or Higher Level International Baccalaureate (IB) program
- achieving a satisfactory score on the CLEP examination

Please note: The Modern Language Competence Requirement is not required for students in the Early Childhood Education: SNL Joint Program (BAECE) program.
For further information regarding satisfactory scores and possible credit from the DePaul placement, AP, CLEP, or IB examinations, please contact the Office of the University Registrar.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College of Education will abide by the COE Modern Language Requirement in place on the effective date of the ICT.

B.A. students who meet College requirements and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the “Modern Language Option” of the Liberal Studies Program. While B.S. students are not required to demonstrate competency in a modern language, the “Modern Language Option” is available to them for language study at any level.

Licensure Tests

All individuals licensed by the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) are required to complete licensure tests specific to their teaching license.

Field Experiences

Each student seeking licensure from the College of Education/Professional Education Unit must complete supervised field experiences in appropriate settings in conjunction with education courses. The field experiences must include a variety of grade levels, multicultural experiences, and a minimum of 10 hours in special education settings. All field experiences must be completed prior to final approval for student teaching. Field experience hours should be entered by the student into the FEDS system when completing courses with field experience requirements.

Endorsements

An endorsement is a statement appearing on a license that identifies the specific subjects or grade level that the license holder is authorized to teach.

The Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) issues endorsements in various subject areas. To view the full list and requirements, visit the ISBE website.

Please note that the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) may change the state licensure and endorsement requirements at any time and without prior notice. Individuals are bound by the requirements in place when applying for the license or endorsement, not the requirements in place when beginning the program.

Student Teaching Requirements

Student Teaching is the culminating clinical experience in the student's program. All students in teacher preparation programs must meet the following requirements before applying for student teaching:

Academic Requirements:

- Completion of all Liberal Studies, Pre-Education, Advanced Standing and concentration/content area courses
- Overall cumulative GPA of 2.50 or better
- Cumulative GPA of 2.75 or better in all education courses
- Meet all other program requirements (e.g., modern language and residency requirements)
- Meet designated program standards
- Pass the required Illinois licensure content area test(s)

Clinical Requirements:

- Completion of all required field experiences
- Three satisfactory evaluations in field experiences
- Three satisfactory faculty recommendations
- Attendance at mandatory meeting for student teaching
- Application for student teaching, resume, transcripts, and writing sample (check deadlines)
- Review and approval by Student Teaching Committee of the College of Education

Student Teaching Timeline and Deadlines:

- Attend a Mandatory Meeting approximately 1 year prior to expected quarter of student teaching.
- Submit application for student teaching after attending Mandatory Meeting, approximately 1 year prior to student teaching.
- Academic requirements are due one quarter before expected quarter of student teaching.
- Clinical requirements are completed as course requirements. Field experience hours are entered by the student as coursework is completed.

Online Faculty Evaluations are entered by the instructor of relevant courses. All data must be entered in the Field Experience Documentation System (FEDS) due one month prior to student teaching.
Individual childcare agencies and public and private school districts may have additional requirements (application, training, background check, etc.).

Degree Conferral and Graduation

The awarding of a degree is not automatic. You must submit an application to be considered for the degree. DePaul awards and posts degrees at the end of each regular academic term (autumn, winter, spring, summer).

It is your responsibility to initiate the degree conferral application process by submitting an online application. Submitting an application means you intend to finish your degree requirements by the end of the term for which you have applied.

Undergraduate students must be approved for student teaching and complete student teaching and capstone to be cleared for the degree. Student must submit graduation application for the quarter that matches the quarter you are student teaching.

After you submit the application, you cannot register for any term after the one selected in the application.

To apply for degree conferral, log on to Campus Connection. Select STUDENT CENTER, then MY ACADEMICS. On screen instructions will take you through the application process.

Provided that all requirements and financial obligations are met, degrees are posted 30 days after the official end of the term. Official dates are listed on the Academic Calendar.

DePaul holds one commencement ceremony each year in June. If you intend to participate, you must first apply for degree conferral for the current academic year and then submit a cap and gown order. Honors announced at the ceremony for undergraduates are based on winter quarter GPAs because a final GPA is not available at the time of the ceremony.

Additional information about degree conferral and graduation can be found on the College of Education website at: http://education.depaul.edu/.

Licensure

Requirements for licensure include completion of full bachelor's degree program, all licensure tests (including OPI for world language majors), and awarding of bachelor's degree. A bachelor's degree is required to qualify for licensure and must be awarded before applying for the license.

Individuals must submit an application directly to the Illinois State Board of Education after completion of requirements and after DePaul has submitted notification to ISBE. Application requirements include application form, application fee, official transcripts, and registration fee.

All individuals must meet ISBE requirements in place at the time of application for the license. Requirements are subject to change per the discretion of ISBE. All coursework and requirements pertaining to licensure requirements must be completed before DePaul University can recommend an individual for the license.

Individuals seeking additional endorsements after applying for the licensure must contact ISBE directly for an evaluation request.

All coursework and requirements must be completed before DePaul University can recommend an individual for the license.

  - ECE 325 SECOND LANGUAGE ACQUISITION AND EARLY LITERACY DEVELOPMENT
  - ECE 377 ASSESSMENT OF YOUNG BILINGUAL/ESL STUDENTS
  - ECE 383 INTERNSHIP IN EARLY CHILDHOOD ESL/BILINGUAL EDUCATION SETTINGS

- Bilingual Concentration Courses: 32 quarter hours required, grade of C or better required
  - BBE 305 THEORETICAL FOUNDATIONS IN BILINGUAL EARLY CHILDHOOD DEVELOPMENT
  - BBE 325 BILITERACY PRACTICES IN BILINGUAL EDUCATION AND ESL
  - BBE 366 FIRST AND SECOND LANGUAGE ACQUISITION
  - ECE 313 CROSS CULTURAL STUDIES IN EARLY CHILDHOOD EDUCATION
  - ECE 314 METHODS AND MATERIALS FOR ENGLISH LANGUAGE LEARNERS IN EARLY CHILDHOOD EDUCATION
  - ECE 325 SECOND LANGUAGE ACQUISITION AND EARLY LITERACY DEVELOPMENT
Individuals seeking both bilingual and ESL endorsements on the Professional Educator License (PEL) must complete one additional course to qualify for both endorsements and must take both:

- BBE 305 THEORETICAL FOUNDATIONS IN BILINGUAL EARLY CHILDHOOD DEVELOPMENT
- BBE 306 FOUNDATIONS OF ENGLISH AS SECOND LANGUAGE INSTRUCTION IN EARLY CHILDHOOD EDUCATION

To be eligible for the bilingual endorsement, individuals also complete the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) Target Language Proficiency (TLP) test in the non-English language.

Advanced Standing Courses: 40 quarter hours required, grade of C or better required

- SCU 336 ADOLESCENT AND ADULT GROWTH AND DEVELOPMENT
- ECE 306 FUNCTIONAL BEHAVIOR ASSESSMENT: INTERVENTION AND SUPPORT IN EARLY CHILDHOOD
- ECE 307 LANGUAGE DEVELOPMENT IN EARLY CHILDHOOD (BIRTH TO 8)
- ECE 309 YOUNG EXCEPTIONAL CHILD: METHODS AND CHARACTERISTICS
- ECE 310 PREPRIMARY PROGRAMS: CURRICULUM AND STRATEGIES (must be taken with ECE 381)
- ECE 381 INTERNSHIP IN PRESCHOOL SETTING (2 credit hours) (ECE 310 is co-requisite)
- ECE 311 CURRICULUM AND INSTRUCTION IN PRIMARY GRADES (must be taken with ECE 382)
- ECE 382 INTERNSHIP IN PRIMARY SETTING (2 credit hours) (ECE 311 is co-requisite)
- ECE 331 BEGINNING MATH AND SCIENCE INSTRUCTION
- ECE 375 ASSESSMENT IN EARLY CHILDHOOD INCLUSIVE SETTINGS
- EE 324 READING/LANGUAGE ARTS IN THE EARLY YEARS

Student Teaching: 12 quarter hours required, grade of B- or better required

Registration in student teaching requires completion of all requirements and procedures indicated in the college core section. EDU 95 indicates to the Illinois State Board of Education that all field experience hours are complete. All students also take ECE 387, Capstone Seminar with student teaching (listed in the Liberal Studies section) during the Autumn, Winter or Spring quarters. Early Childhood students complete 6 weeks in a preschool classroom and 6 weeks in a primary classroom

- ECE 385 EARLY CHILDHOOD STUDENT TEACHING (12 credit hours)
- EDU 95 CLINICAL EXPERIENCE WITH CHILDREN AND YOUTH (non-credit, non-tuition, PA grade required)

Learning Behavior Specialist Special Education Endorsement Courses

Individuals seeking an endorsement in Special Education (called LBS1-Learning Behavior Specialist) can add the credential to the Professional Educator License (PEL) by taking additional courses. Courses are: ECE 332, ECE 333, ECE 334, ECE 380. Requirements are listed in the Endorsements section of the Course Catalog and are in addition to degree requirements.

Special Education Approval Courses

All students in ECE program will take 5 courses that are required for the degree. These courses will make ECE students who are seeking a PEL eligible to receive a letter of approval in early childhood special education. An approval in early childhood special education makes graduating ECE license holders eligible to work in preschool special education settings. Five special education courses are: ECE 302, ECE 306, ECE 307, ECE 309, ECE 375.

Licensure Tests

All individuals licensed by the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) are required to complete licensure tests specific to their teaching license. Early Childhood majors must complete the following tests:

- Test of Academic Proficiency (TAP) (test #400) - assesses knowledge of reading comprehension, language arts, writing, and math. Test is required to qualify for Advanced Standing. *Check with your advisor about qualifying for a waiver with acceptable ACT or SAT tests.
- Early Childhood Content Area Test (test #107) – assesses knowledge of the content of what is taught at the early childhood level including language and literacy development, learning across the curriculum, diversity, collaboration, and professionalism in the early childhood program. Test is required before Student Teaching (deadlines apply).
- EdTPA - assessment conducted during the student teaching experience including video clips of instruction, lesson plans, student work samples, analysis of student learning and reflective commentaries. Students will submit an electronic portfolio to an outside agency for independent evaluation and a fee will be imposed by that agency as part of the assessment.

Non-Licensure Option

Individuals that do not desire a license or are not eligible for a license can seek to earn the degree without meeting licensure requirements. In seeking this option, individuals understand that the following stipulations apply:

- Confirmation must be given by the individual in writing that they seek this option and agree to the stipulations.
- A notation is placed on the transcript indicating that “completion of degree requirements did not lead to eligibility for licensure.”
- Individuals have the option to return to the program within 1-2 years to complete student teaching and other licensure requirements and become eligible for the license (however, the transcript notation will remain). This may require additional coursework or other requirements.
- Individual must complete requirements for licensure (including any relevant tests) at the time of licensure application.
- Coursework is chosen in consultation with faculty advisor and is based on individual’s prior coursework, experience, and interests and is individually tailored.
- All coursework must be taken at DePaul; no transfer credit is allowed for substitutions.
- Individuals must complete the specified coursework within 2 years or be subject to re-evaluation.
- A minimum of 3 courses (12 credit hours) are required to substitute for the student teaching experience. Coursework must be 200-300 level and receive a grade of C or better.

Developmental Therapy Option

These courses will prepare early childhood teacher candidates for a career requiring expertise in early intervention for infants and toddlers (from birth to age three) with special needs and their families. The coursework can be taken in addition to degree requirements, or if seeking the non-licensure option, can be taken to replace student teaching. After taking the required courses and earning the degree, individuals will be required to take a training workshop on the State of Illinois system of Early Intervention and apply directly to Provider Connections to receive their credentials after submitting their transcripts.

- ECE 390 DEVELOPMENTAL THERAPY STRATEGIES FOR INFANTS AND TODDLERS IN EARLY INTERVENTION
- ECE 391 ASSESSMENT OF INFANT AND TODDLERS
- ECE 392 WORKING WITH FAMILIES OF INFANTS AND TODDLERS: PARTNERSHIP AND COLLABORATION IN EARLY INTERVENTION
- ECE 393 INTERNSHIP EXPERIENCES WITH INFANTS, TODDLERS AND TWOS WITH SPECIAL NEEDS (2 credit hours) (optional)

Optional Infant Toddler Courses

Two infant toddler courses are available for special population or as elective for early childhood education students who seek additional specialty in infant/toddler education.

- ECE 395 DESIGNING CURRICULUM FOR INFANTS AND TODDLERS (4 credit hours)
- ECE 398 SPECIAL TOPICS IN EARLY CHILDHOOD EDUCATION (4 credit hours—credit hours may vary for special population)

Early Childhood Education (Minor)

The Early Childhood Education minor provides a learning opportunity to all DePaul Students for those interested in the care and education of young children. Students interested in this minor should consult home college advisors and secure permission from the Early Childhood Program to enroll.

Course Requirements

- Seven courses from the following list selected in consultation with an academic advisor and Early Childhood Program faculty:
  - ECE 286 ART, MUSIC, AND MOVEMENT FOR THE YOUNG CHILD
  - ECE 290 CHILD GROWTH AND DEVELOPMENT
  - ECE 302 CHILD AND FAMILY IN THE URBAN COMMUNITY
  - ECE 303 INTRODUCTION TO EARLY CHILDHOOD EDUCATION
  - ECE 307 LANGUAGE DEVELOPMENT IN EARLY CHILDHOOD (BIRTH TO 8)
  - ECE 309 YOUNG EXCEPTIONAL CHILD: METHODS AND CHARACTERISTICS
  - ECE 310 PREPRIMARY PROGRAMS: CURRICULUM AND STRATEGIES
  - ECE 375 ASSESSMENT IN EARLY CHILDHOOD INCLUSIVE SETTINGS

Note: Students in DePaul’s College of Education programs in Elementary Education, Physical Education, Special Education, Secondary Education, or World Language Education cannot select the ECE minor. Students may elect to take courses in this minor or other education courses but it would not lead to an endorsement on their Professional Educator License at the completion of their program, though it may be applied in the future to a post-degree program leading to the addition of an endorsement.
Economics (BA)

Economics is both a social science discipline and a framework for analyzing production, consumption, and distribution decisions. The goal of the undergraduate curriculum is to offer students the theoretical background necessary to understand business and policy issues, as well as the quantitative and analytical skills necessary to evaluate these issues independently. The Economics Department offers courses that explore topics such as unemployment, inflation, production and distribution, economic growth, environmental issues, poverty, urban and regional development, international trade, labor issues, economic history, and international economic relations.

Courses emphasize the need for accurate knowledge of business institutions and economic phenomena, for theories capable of explaining these phenomena, for estimating relationships among economic variables, and for testing explanations.

Graduates with a major in economics are solidly prepared for employment in the private, public, and non-profit sectors, or for advanced studies in business, law, and economics.

DePaul offers Economics as both a major and minor field of study through both the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences and the Driehaus College of Business. An Honors Track option is available to economic majors in both colleges. In addition, the Department of Economics offers the Accelerated Bachelor-Master of Science in Economics and Policy Analysis.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Define economic concepts needed to analyze issues in the popular press.
- Identify the function of key economic institutions, such as the Federal Reserve System.
- Employ an economic theory or model to analyze the impact of changes in economic variables.
- Assess the potential impact of government interventions on individuals, markets, and/or the macroeconomy.
- Gain exposure to the application of economic concepts/models in a variety of fields within economics (e.g., Labor Economics, Health Economics, Urban Economics, Development Economics, History of economic thought, etc.).

College Core Requirements

Study in the Major Field

The student's course of study in the College consists of three parts: Liberal Studies, the major field, and electives. Together these three parts contribute to the liberal education of the student which is the common purpose of all study in the College. By "liberal education" the College understands not only a deep and thorough knowledge of a particular area of study but a knowledge of the diverse areas of study represented by criticism, history, the arts, the behavioral and social sciences, philosophy, religious studies, the natural science, and mathematics.

The major field program generally is built upon a set of core courses and a specialized "concentration." The number of courses required for a major varies by department. Most students go beyond the minimum requirements, electing additional courses which both broaden and deepen their understanding of their chosen discipline.

Because no academic major program is built in isolation, students are required to pursue a number of electives of the student's choice. The inherent flexibility of this curriculum demands that the student consult an academic advisor at each stage in the total program and at least once prior to each registration. Students will be prompted to visit the College Office for their official graduation check early in their senior year.

Declaration of Major, Minor and Concentration

All students in the College are required to declare a major field prior to beginning their junior year. The student will then be assigned a faculty advisor in the major field department or program and should make an appointment to see that advisor at his or her earliest convenience.

Students must declare or change majors, minors, and concentrations, via Campus Connection. However, for the purpose of exploring the possibility of changing a major field, the student should consult an academic advisor in the Office for Academic Advising Support.

The Modern Language Requirement (MLR)
All students will be required to demonstrate competence in a modern language (i.e., a language other than English) equivalent to the proficiency attained from one year of college-level language study. This Modern Language Requirement (MLR) may be demonstrated by:

- placing into 104 or above on the DePaul language placement exam
- completing the last course or earning AP/IB credit for the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language (e.g. 103 for DePaul language classes)
- completing a college course or earning AP/IB credit for a college course beyond the first-year level in any language (e.g. 104 or above for DePaul language classes)
- completing the final course of a four-year sequence of the same modern language in high school*
- completing a proctored exam by BYU and passing the exam (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)
- completing a proctored Written Proficiency Test (WPT) by Language Testing International (LTI) and achieving a score of Beginner High or above (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)

* Students are strongly encouraged to take the DePaul language placement exam even if they have met the MLR via study of a language in high school. This will ensure continuation of language study at the proper level.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College will abide by this MLR in place on the effective date of the ICT, regardless of when they first matriculated at DePaul.

Students who have met the MLR and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" (MLO) of the Liberal Studies Program (see "Special Programs").

External Credit and Residency

A student who has been admitted to the College begins residency within the college as of the first day of classes of the term in which the student is registered. Students in residence, whether attending on a full-time or part-time basis, may not take courses away from DePaul University without the written permission of the college. Permission must be obtained in advance of registration to avoid loss of credit or residency in the college; see the LAS website for more information.

Notes

A student whose only major is Economics is required to complete the Capstone offered by the Economics Department. A student who is double majoring (or pursuing dual degrees) with the primary major (or primary degree) in Economics may substitute the Capstone of the secondary major or degree. An Economics major in the University Honors Program shall take only the University Honors Capstone, not both the Honors Capstone and the Economics Capstone.

Courses offered in the student’s primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student’s major and is cross-listed with a course within the student’s major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.
Major Requirements

Course Requirements

- ECO 105 PRINCIPLES OF MICROECONOMICS
- ECO 106 PRINCIPLES OF MACROECONOMICS
- ECO 305 INTERMEDIATE MICROECONOMICS
- ECO 306 INTERMEDIATE MACROECONOMICS
- Eight additional Economics courses selected from the curricular specializations listed below
- MAT 136 BUSINESS CALCULUS II
- MAT 137 BUSINESS STATISTICS (or an equivalent statistics course approved by an Economics advisor).

MAT 135 BUSINESS CALCULUS I is not a requirement for the major but its successful completion is a prerequisite for MAT 136. MAT 135 is approved to count for the Liberal Studies Program’s Scientific Inquiry-Elective learning domain.

MAT 150 and MAT 151 may be substituted for MAT 135 and MAT 136.

Curricular Specializations

The eight Economics electives should be selected from the following. The department offers three recommendations for students who would like to focus their studies on one area of expertise. These areas are optional; no curricular specialization is required for the major.

International Focus

- ECO 316 EUROPEAN ECONOMIC HISTORY
- ECO 330 RADICAL RESPONSES TO CAPITALISM
- ECO 333 TOPICS IN GLOBAL ECONOMIES
- ECO 334 UNDERSTANDING CHINA’S ECONOMY
- ECO 340 DEVELOPMENT OF ECONOMIC THOUGHT
- ECO 359 DEVELOPMENT ECONOMICS
- ECO 360 ECONOMICS OF LOW-INCOME COUNTRIES
- ECO 361 INTERNATIONAL TRADE
- ECO 362 INTERNATIONAL MONETARY ECONOMICS
- ECO 363 ECONOMICS OF THE EUROPEAN UNION
- ECO 398 SPECIAL TOPICS

Public Policy and Pre-Law

- ECO 310 URBAN ECONOMICS
- ECO 312 THE CHICAGO ECONOMY
- ECO 313 ECONOMICS OF REGULATION & ANTI TRUST LAWS
- ECO 314 ECONOMICS OF THE PUBLIC SECTOR
- ECO 315 INTRODUCTION TO MONEY AND BANKING
- ECO 317 AMERICAN ECONOMIC HISTORY
- ECO 318 LABOR ECONOMICS AND ORGANIZATION
- ECO 319 ECONOMICS AND GENDER
- ECO 320 ECONOMICS OF RELIGION
- ECO 321 LAW & ECONOMICS
- ECO 322 FINANCIAL MARKET REGULATION
- ECO 326 HEALTH ECONOMICS
- ECO 335 ENERGY AND ENVIRONMENTAL ECONOMICS
- ECO 341 BEHAVIORAL ECONOMICS
- ECO 398 SPECIAL TOPICS

Quantitative Economics

- ECO 336 EXPLORING ECONOMICS & STATISTICS THROUGH SPORTS
- ECO 375 INTRODUCTION TO ECONOMETRICS
- ECO 379 GAME THEORY
- ECO 380 MATHEMATICAL ECONOMICS
- ECO 398 SPECIAL TOPICS: TIME SERIES ANALYSIS

ECO 101, ECO 250 and ECO 395 may not be used as Economics Electives towards a major or minor in Economics.

Open Electives
Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Students are encouraged to use their open electives to minor or double major in a complementary field of study. A student’s specific interest in economics will dictate the best choice of a minor or double major.

Combined Bachelor's/ Master's Degree

The Economics (BA) offers two options:

- Economics (BA)/Economics and Policy Analysis (MS)
- Economics (BA)/Secondary Education Social Sciences (MEd)

Economics (BA)/ Economics and Policy Analysis (MS)

The MS in Economics and Policy Analysis (MS-EPA) gives students a distinguished and marketable set of skills in economic theory as it applies to business and economic policy analysis. Students learn how to conduct statistical and econometric research grounded in sound economic models using data from multiple sources on different issues. In addition, students will be able to explain their results and policy recommendations not only to economists, but also to politicians, and the general public.

MS-EPA graduates can find employment in the private sector working for corporations in governmental relations departments, in federal and state governmental agencies, in trade associations or lobbying firms, or in the not-for-profit sector.

Undergraduate students will apply to the program during their junior year and will typically take the following three graduate level courses during their senior year:

- ECO 505 ADVANCED MICROECONOMICS
- ECO 515 MICROECONOMICS OF MARKET ORGANIZATION
- ECO 516 ECONOMICS OF THE PUBLIC SECTOR I

These three courses will count towards completion of the BA with a major in Economics and will also count towards completion of the MS-EPA. The undergraduate degree will be awarded at the completion of all undergraduate work while the MS-EPA will be awarded upon completion of the remaining graduate level work.

Economics (BA)/ Secondary Education Social Science (MEd)

The TEACH Program combines a Liberal Arts and Social Sciences (LAS) undergraduate Economics major with a graduate level College of Education (COE) Master's in Education Program. Students graduate with a B.A. in their disciplinary major and a MEd in Education with State of Illinois Secondary Social Science licensure.

Students may apply to the Program during the spring of their junior year. They must enroll in the Junior Year Experiential Learning course, TCH 320, and meet other application criteria; these include completion of at least 16 quarter credit hours at DePaul and a 3.0 grade point average. During their senior year, students are required to complete a Program capstone course, TCH 390, and three 400-level courses that count toward both their undergraduate and graduate degrees:

- TCH 401 TEACHING AS A PROFESSION IN SECONDARY SCHOOL
- TCH 412 THE NATURE OF HISTORY AND THE SOCIAL SCIENCES
- TCH 422 INQUIRY & APPLICATION IN DEVELOPING SECONDARY HISTORY AND SOCIAL SCIENCES PEDAGOGY

Social Science Content Area (grades of C or better required for licensure):
The following Social Science content area requirements are required. These can be taken as part of the major, liberal studies or open elective requirements:

- HST 298 INTRODUCTION TO HISTORICAL SOURCES AND METHODS
- HST 299 CRAFT OF HISTORY
- 3 United States History courses
- 2 Non- United States History courses
- 6 from the economics major
- Additional licensure requirements: (one course in each area required)
  - Geography (GEO 101 recommended)
  - Political Science (PSC 120 recommended)
  - Psychology (PSY 105 recommended)
  - Sociology (SOC 101 recommended)
  - Anthropology (ANT 102 recommended)

The Master’s year comprises teacher-preparation coursework that culminates with student teaching during Spring quarter. Upon graduation and the fulfilling of State of Illinois licensure requirements (which may require some additional course work in the student’s major and related fields), students are eligible to be licensed to teach Social Sciences at the 6th-12th grade levels.

A full description of the Program can be found on the College of Education website in the graduate course catalog. Students interested in the Program should consult with the designated TEACH Program advisor in their home department.

Economics (BSB)

Economics is both a social science discipline and a framework for analyzing production, consumption, and distribution decisions. The goal of the undergraduate curriculum is to offer students the theoretical background necessary to understand business and policy issues, as well as the quantitative and analytical skills necessary to evaluate these issues independently. Graduates with a major in economics are solidly prepared for employment in the private, public, and non-profit sectors, or for advanced studies in business, law, and economics. The economics major in the College of Business combines the study of economics with the related business fields of accountancy, finance, marketing and management.

DePaul offers Economics as both a major and minor field of study through both the Driehaus College of Business and the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences. An Honors Track option is available to economic majors in both colleges. In addition, the Department of Economics offers the Accelerated Bachelor-Master of Science in Economics and Policy Analysis.

One Professional Writing course to be chosen from:
- WRD 202 PROFESSIONAL WRITING FOR BUSINESS (2.0 hours)
- WRD 204 TECHNICAL WRITING
- WRD 206 PROFESSIONAL WRITING
*Students majoring in accounting (primary or secondary) are allowed to substitute ACC 370 in place of BLW 201.

MGT 301-H is required if pursuing the Management Honors Program.

Business Ethics

All undergraduate students in the Driehaus College of Business complete a course in Business Ethics. It is recommended students take MGT 248 or PHL 248 in Philosophical Inquiry or MGT 228 or REL 228 in Religious Dimensions in the Liberal Studies Program (or University Honors Program) Requirements.

Second Majors and Minors

The addition of a second major or minor may affect the Business Core classes required for a student. Meet with an academic advisor to confirm requirements.

Math Requirements

- A student is expected to complete the business math sequence (MAT 135, MAT 136, and MAT 137) in the first year of study
- MAT 135 and MAT 137 are completed through Liberal Studies requirements
- MAT 135 may be replaced by MAT 150 or MAT 160 or MAT 170
- MAT 136 may be replaced by MAT 151 or MAT 161 or MAT 171
- MAT 135 and MAT 136 may be replaced by the sequence of MAT 147, MAT 148, and MAT 149
- MAT 137 may be replaced by MAT 348 or MAT 351; if done, an additional Scientific Inquiry course must be added to the degree plan

Global Business Perspective

If an ECO course is shared between Global Business Perspective and the Economics major, additional hours of Open Elective credit are required.

Grade Minimum Requirements for Economics Major

A minimum grade of C- is required for the following: ACC 101, ACC 102, ECO 105, ECO 106, ECO 315, MAT 135, MAT 136, MAT 137, the course used for Professional Writing, and any ECO course used for Global Business Perspective.

Notes

Specified required courses within Liberal Studies may have grade minimums (e.g. C- or better). Please consult your advisor or your college and major requirements.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.
Major Requirements

Course Requirements

In addition to ECO 105, ECO 106 and ECO 315, a student majoring in Economics is required to complete the following courses totaling 30.0 hours:

- Three required courses:
  - ECO 250 CAREER PREPARATION FOR ECONOMICS MAJORS (2.0 hours)
  - ECO 305 INTERMEDIATE MICROECONOMICS
  - ECO 306 INTERMEDIATE MACROECONOMICS

- Five elective courses to be chosen from:
  - ECO 310 URBAN ECONOMICS
  - ECO 312 THE CHICAGO ECONOMY
  - ECO 313 ECONOMICS OF REGULATION & ANTI TRUST LAWS
  - ECO 314 ECONOMICS OF THE PUBLIC SECTOR
  - ECO 316 EUROPEAN ECONOMIC HISTORY
  - ECO 317 AMERICAN ECONOMIC HISTORY
  - ECO 318 LABOR ECONOMICS AND ORGANIZATION
  - ECO 319 ECONOMICS AND GENDER
  - ECO 320 ECONOMICS OF RELIGION
  - ECO 321 LAW & ECONOMICS
  - ECO 322 FINANCIAL MARKET REGULATION
  - ECO 325 THE ECONOMICS OF POVERTY
  - ECO 326 HEALTH ECONOMICS
  - ECO 330 RADICAL RESPONSES TO CAPITALISM
  - ECO 333 TOPICS IN GLOBAL ECONOMIES
  - ECO 334 UNDERSTANDING CHINA'S ECONOMY
  - ECO 335 ENERGY AND ENVIRONMENTAL ECONOMICS
  - ECO 336 EXPLORING ECONOMICS & STATISTICS THROUGH SPORTS
  - ECO 340 DEVELOPMENT OF ECONOMIC THOUGHT
  - ECO 341 BEHAVIORAL ECONOMICS
  - ECO 359 DEVELOPMENT ECONOMICS
  - ECO 360 ECONOMICS OF LOW-INCOME COUNTRIES
  - ECO 361 INTERNATIONAL TRADE
  - ECO 362 INTERNATIONAL MONETARY ECONOMICS
  - ECO 363 ECONOMICS OF THE EUROPEAN UNION
  - ECO 375 INTRODUCTION TO ECONOMETRICS
  - ECO 376 TIME SERIES ANALYSIS
  - ECO 379 GAME THEORY
  - ECO 380 MATHEMATICAL ECONOMICS
  - ECO 398 SPECIAL TOPICS (multiple topics may be used)
  - ECO 399 INDEPENDENT STUDY

If you are completing a double major or minor in finance, you must take FIN 320 in place of ECO 315.

ECO 101 is intended for non-Driehaus students and cannot be counted toward a major or minor in economics.

ECO 393 may not be used towards the major.

ECO 395 may not be taken by students in the Driehaus College of Business.

Career Management Course

Students are required to complete the Career Course (250) associated with the major. Students who double major may choose the Career Course (250) associated with either major provided that hours for graduation are satisfied.

Global Business Perspective

If an ECO course is shared between Global Business Perspective and the Economics major, additional hours of Open Elective credit are required. Any ECO course must be passed with C- or higher.

Open Electives

Open elective credit (16.0 hours) is needed to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.
Graduation Requirements

All Economics (ECO) courses and any courses used toward the Economics major must be completed with a minimum grade of C- and with a combined GPA of 2.000 or higher.

Curricular Specializations

The Department offers three recommendations for students who would like to focus their studies on one area of expertise. These areas are optional; no curricular specialization is required for the major.

International Focus

- ECO 316 EUROPEAN ECONOMIC HISTORY
- ECO 330 RADICAL RESPONSES TO CAPITALISM
- ECO 333 TOPICS IN GLOBAL ECONOMIES
- ECO 334 UNDERSTANDING CHINA'S ECONOMY
- ECO 340 DEVELOPMENT OF ECONOMIC THOUGHT
- ECO 360 ECONOMICS OF LOW-INCOME COUNTRIES

Quantitative Economics

- ECO 375 INTRODUCTION TO ECONOMETRICS
- ECO 379 GAME THEORY
- ECO 380 MATHEMATICAL ECONOMICS
- Further coursework in econometrics can be taken from the Kellstadt Graduate School of Business via ECO 399 with departmental permission

Economics (Minor)

Available to students majoring outside the Driehaus College of Business, the minor in Economics allows a student to learn the foundations of microeconomic and macroeconomic theory, along with the theoretical, quantitative and analytical skills necessary to understand business and policy issues.

Prerequisite Requirements

Students must meet the prerequisite of MAT 101 prior to taking the first course in the minor.

Course Requirements

A non-Driehaus student minoring in Economics is required to complete the following courses totaling at least 24.0 hours:
Two required courses:
- ECO 105 PRINCIPLES OF MICROECONOMICS
- ECO 106 PRINCIPLES OF MACROECONOMICS

Four elective courses to be chosen from:
- ECO 305 INTERMEDIATE MICROECONOMICS
- ECO 306 INTERMEDIATE MACROECONOMICS
- ECO 310 URBAN ECONOMICS
- ECO 312 THE CHICAGO ECONOMY
- ECO 313 ECONOMICS OF REGULATION & ANTI TRUST LAWS

- ECO 379 GAME THEORY
- ECO 380 MATHEMATICAL ECONOMICS
- ECO 398 SPECIAL TOPICS (multiple topics may be used)
- ECO 399 INDEPENDENT STUDY

ECO 101 cannot be counted toward a major or minor in economics.

ECO 393 Internship in Applied Economics and ECO 395 Capstone Seminar in Economics may not be used as Economics Electives.

Graduation Requirements

All Economics (ECO) courses and any other courses used toward the Economics minor must be completed with a minimum grade of C- and with a combined GPA of 2.000 or higher.

Economics (Minor: Business Students Only)

Students in the Driehaus College of Business who wish to gain a deeper understanding of economic theory and practice to complement their majors can do so with a minor in Economics. Students may choose the economics electives that best fit their individual courses of study.

Course Requirements

In addition to ECO 105, ECO 106 and ECO 315, a Driehaus student minoring in Economics is required to complete the following courses totaling at least 12.0 hours:

Three elective courses to be chosen from:
- ECO 305 INTERMEDIATE MICROECONOMICS

All Economics (ECO) courses and any other courses used toward the Economics minor must be completed with a minimum grade of C- and with a combined GPA of 2.000 or higher.

ECONOMICS (Minor: Liberal Arts and Social Sciences)

Undergraduate students in any college can minor in Economics in order to learn the foundations of microeconomic and macroeconomic theory, along with the theoretical, quantitative and analytical skills necessary to understand business and policy issues.

Course Requirements

- ECO 105 PRINCIPLES OF MICROECONOMICS
- ECO 106 PRINCIPLES OF MACROECONOMICS
- Four additional 300 level Economics courses
- ECO 395 CAPSTONE SEMINAR IN ECONOMICS

ECO 250 CAREER PREPARATION FOR ECONOMICS MAJORS may not be used as electives

Students majoring in Economics (BA) or Economics Honors (BA) are restricted from earning this minor.

ECONOMICS HONORS (BA)

The Honors Track in Economics is available to students completing the Bachelor of Arts in Economics in the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences. It provides the opportunity to pursue a more challenging path of meeting degree requirements. In addition to maintaining a higher GPA, this path requires the demonstration of more quantitative and writing skills than the basic requirements for the Economics major. The student successfully completing this track would graduate with departmental honors.

Liberal Studies Requirements

| Liberal Studies Requirements | 80 hours |

DePaul University

Autumn 2018-2019

Page 204 of 260
Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Define economic concepts needed to analyze issues in the popular press.
- Identify the function of key economic institutions, such as the Federal Reserve System.
- Employ an economic theory or model to analyze the impact of changes in economic variables.
- Assess the potential impact of government interventions on individuals, markets, and/or the macroeconomy.
- Gain exposure to the application of economic concepts/models in a variety of fields within economics (e.g., Labor Economics, Health Economics, Urban Economics, Development Economics, History of economic thought, etc.).

College Core Requirements

Study in the Major Field

The student's course of study in the College consists of three parts: Liberal Studies, the major field, and electives. Together these three parts contribute to the liberal education of the student which is the common purpose of all study in the College. By "liberal education" the College understands not only a deep and thorough knowledge of a particular area of study but a knowledge of the diverse areas of study represented by criticism, history, the arts, the behavioral and social sciences, philosophy, religious studies, the natural science, and mathematics.

The major field program generally is built upon a set of core courses and a specialized "concentration." The number of courses required for a major varies by department. Most students go beyond the minimum requirements, electing additional courses which both broaden and deepen their understanding of their chosen discipline.

Because no academic major program is built in isolation, students are required to pursue a number of electives of the student's choice. The inherent flexibility of this curriculum demands that the student consult an academic advisor at each stage in the total program and at least once prior to each registration. Students will be prompted to visit the College Office for their official graduation check early in their senior year.

Declaration of Major, Minor and Concentration

All students in the College are required to declare a major field prior to beginning their junior year. The student will then be assigned a faculty advisor in the major field department or program and should make an appointment to see that advisor at his or her earliest convenience.

Students must declare or change majors, minors, and concentrations, via Campus Connection. However, for the purpose of exploring the possibility of changing a major field, the student should consult an academic advisor in the Office for Academic Advising Support.

The Modern Language Requirement (MLR)

All students will be required to demonstrate competence in a modern language (i.e., a language other than English) equivalent to the proficiency attained from one year of college-level language study. This Modern Language Requirement (MLR) may be demonstrated by:

- placing into 104 or above on the DePaul language placement exam
- completing the last course or earning AP/IB credit for the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language (e.g. 103 for DePaul language classes)
- completing a college course or earning AP/IB credit for a college course beyond the first-year level in any language (e.g. 104 or above for DePaul language classes)
- completing the final course of a four-year sequence of the same modern language in high school*
- completing a proctored exam by BYU and passing the exam (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)
- completing a proctored Written Proficiency Test (WPT) by Language Testing International (LTI) and achieving a score of Beginner High or above (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)

* Students are strongly encouraged to take the DePaul language placement exam even if they have met the MLR via study of a language in high school. This will ensure continuation of language study at the proper level.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College will abide by this MLR in place on the effective date of the ICT, regardless of when they first matriculated at DePaul.

Students who have met the MLR and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" (MLO) of the Liberal Studies Program (see "Special Programs").
External Credit and Residency

A student who has been admitted to the College begins residency within the college as of the first day of classes of the term in which the student is registered. Students in residence, whether attending on a full-time or part-time basis, may not take courses away from DePaul University without the written permission of the college. Permission must be obtained in advance of registration to avoid loss of credit or residency in the college; see the LAS website for more information.

Notes

A student whose only major is Economics is required to complete the Capstone offered by the Economics Department. A student who is double majoring (or pursuing dual degrees) with the primary major (or primary degree) in Economics may substitute the Capstone of the secondary major or degree. An Economics major in the University Honors Program shall take only the University Honors Capstone, not both the Honors Capstone and the Economics Capstone.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student’s major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Major Requirements

Invitation

Economics majors will be invited each term to participate in the Honors Track if they meet the following criteria:
- Have declared Economics as their major (or second major).
- Have completed ECO 305 INTERMEDIATE MICROECONOMICS and ECO 306 INTERMEDIATE MACROECONOMICS with a minimum grade of B- in each course.
- Have a minimum grade point average (GPA) of 3.300 in all economics courses taken at DePaul.

Course Requirements

- ECO 105 PRINCIPLES OF MICROECONOMICS
- ECO 106 PRINCIPLES OF MACROECONOMICS
- ECO 305 INTERMEDIATE MICROECONOMICS (Minimum grade of B-)
- ECO 306 INTERMEDIATE MACROECONOMICS (Minimum grade of B-)
- ECO 375 INTRODUCTION TO ECONOMETRICS (Minimum grade of B-)
- One advanced economics elective (an ECO course that carries a prerequisite of ECO 305 Intermediate Microeconomic Theory, ECO 306 Intermediate Macroeconomic Theory, or ECO 375 Econometrics). This requirement must be satisfied with a course taken at DePaul.

Current courses meeting this requirement are:
  - ECO 313 ECONOMICS OF REGULATION & ANTI TRUST LAWS
  - ECO 314 ECONOMICS OF THE PUBLIC SECTOR
  - ECO 340 DEVELOPMENT OF ECONOMIC THOUGHT
  - ECO 341 BEHAVIORAL ECONOMICS
ECO 398 SPECIAL TOPICS
Any other ECO course that carries a prerequisite of ECO 305, ECO 306 or ECO 375
Six additional Economics courses
MAT 135 BUSINESS CALCULUS I (taken as a Scientific Inquiry domain course)
MAT 136 BUSINESS CALCULUS II
MAT 137 BUSINESS STATISTICS (or an equivalent statistics course approved by an Economics advisor).

MAT 150 and MAT 151 may be substituted for MAT 135 & MAT 136.

Degree Requirements

- Honors Track students must maintain a minimum GPA of 3.300 (B+ average) in all economics courses taken at DePaul.
- Honors Track students must submit a paper written for any economics class that meets the following criteria: (a) the student earned a B+ or better on the paper; (b) the paper contained a literature review based on at least 5 sources; and (c) the paper was at least 10 pages OR used econometrics. This requirement must be satisfied using a paper from a course taken at DePaul. Students should contact the Director of the Undergraduate Economics Program for submission guidelines.

Combined Bachelor's/ Master's Degree

The Economics (BA) offers two options:
- Economics (BA)/Economics and Policy Analysis (MS)
- Economics (BA)/Secondary Education Social Sciences (MEd)

Economics (BA)/ Economics and Policy Analysis (MS)

The MS in Economics and Policy Analysis (MS-EPA) gives students a distinguished and marketable set of skills in economic theory as it applies to business and economic policy analysis. Students learn how to conduct statistical and econometric research grounded in sound economic models using data from multiple sources on different issues. In addition, students will be able to explain their results and policy recommendations not only to economists, but also to politicians, and the general public.

MS-EPA graduates can find employment in the private sector working for corporations in governmental relations departments, in federal and state governmental agencies, in trade associations or lobbying firms, or in the not-for-profit sector.

Undergraduate students will apply to the program during their junior year and will take the following three graduate level courses during their senior year:
- ECO 505 ADVANCED MICROECONOMICS
- ECO 515 MICROECONOMICS OF MARKET ORGANIZATION
- ECO 516 ECONOMICS OF THE PUBLIC SECTOR I

These three courses will count towards completion of the BA with a major in Economics and will also count towards completion of the MS-EPA. The undergraduate degree will be awarded at the completion of all undergraduate work while the MS-EPA will be awarded upon completion of the remaining graduate level work.

Economics (BA)/ Secondary Education Social Science (MEd)

The TEACH Program combines a Liberal Arts and Social Sciences (LAS) undergraduate Economics major with a graduate level College of Education (COE) Master's in Education Program. Students graduate with a BA in their disciplinary major and a MEd in Education with State of Illinois Secondary Social Science licensure.

Students may apply to the Program during the spring of their junior year. They must enroll in the Junior Year Experiential Learning course, TCH 320, and meet other application criteria; these include completion of at least 16 quarter credit hours at DePaul and a 3.0 grade point average. During their senior year, students are required to complete a Program capstone course, TCH 390, and three 400-level courses that count toward both their undergraduate and graduate degrees:
- TCH 401 TEACHING AS A PROFESSION IN SECONDARY SCHOOL
- TCH 412 THE NATURE OF HISTORY AND THE SOCIAL SCIENCES
- TCH 422 INQUIRY & APPLICATION IN DEVELOPING SECONDARY HISTORY AND SOCIAL SCIENCES PEDAGOGY

Social Science Content Area (grades of C or better required for licensure):

The following Social Science content area requirements are required. These can be taken as part of the major, liberal studies or open elective requirements:
HST 298 INTRODUCTION TO HISTORICAL SOURCES AND METHODS
HST 299 CRAFT OF HISTORY
3 United States History courses
2 Non-United States History courses
6 from the economics major
Additional licensure requirements: (one course in each area required
  - Geography (GEO 101 recommended)
  - Political Science (PSC 120 recommended)
  - Psychology (PSY 105 recommended)
  - Sociology (SOC 101 recommended)
  - Anthropology (ANT 102 recommended)

The master’s year comprises teacher-preparation coursework that culminates with student teaching during Spring quarter. Upon graduation and the fulfilling of State of Illinois licensure requirements (which may require some additional coursework in the student’s major and related fields), students are eligible to be licensed to teach Social Sciences at the 6th-12th grade levels.

A full description of the Program can be found on the College of Education website in the graduate course catalog. Students interested in the Program should consult with the designated TEACH Program advisor in their home department.

Economics Honors (BSB)

The Honors Track in Economics is available to students completing the Bachelor of Science in Business with a major in Economics. It provides the opportunity to pursue a more challenging path of meeting degree requirements. In addition to maintaining a higher GPA, this path requires the demonstration of more quantitative and writing skills than the basic requirements for the Economics major. The student successfully completing this track would graduate with departmental honors.

Notes

Specified required courses within Liberal Studies may have grade minimums (e.g. C- or better). Please consult your advisor or your college and major requirements.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.
Major Requirements

Invitation

Economics majors will be invited each term to participate in the Honors Track if they meet the following criteria:

- Have completed ECO 305 INTERMEDIATE MICROECONOMICS and ECO 306 INTERMEDIATE MACROECONOMICS with a minimum grade of B- in each course
- Have a minimum GPA of 3.300 in all Economics (ECO) courses taken at DePaul

Course Requirements

In addition to ECO 105, ECO 106 and ECO 315, a student majoring in the Honors Track in Economics is required to complete the following courses totaling 30.0 hours:

- One required course:
  - ECO 250 CAREER PREPARATION FOR ECONOMICS MAJORS (2.0 hours)
- Three required courses with B- minimum grade in each:
  - ECO 305 INTERMEDIATE MICROECONOMICS
  - ECO 306 INTERMEDIATE MACROECONOMICS
  - ECO 375 INTRODUCTION TO ECONOMETRICS
- One Advanced Economics Elective completed at DePaul with a B- minimum grade to be chosen from:
  - ECO 313 ECONOMICS OF REGULATION & ANTI TRUST LAWS
  - ECO 314 ECONOMICS OF THE PUBLIC SECTOR
  - ECO 340 DEVELOPMENT OF ECONOMIC THOUGHT
  - ECO 341 BEHAVIORAL ECONOMICS
  - ECO 359 DEVELOPMENT ECONOMICS
  - ECO 376 TIME SERIES ANALYSIS
  - ECO 379 GAME THEORY
  - Any other ECO course that carries a prerequisite of ECO 305, ECO 306 or ECO 375
- Three electives to be chosen from:
  - ECO 310 URBAN ECONOMICS
  - ECO 312 THE CHICAGO ECONOMY
  - ECO 313 ECONOMICS OF REGULATION & ANTI TRUST LAWS
  - ECO 314 ECONOMICS OF THE PUBLIC SECTOR
  - ECO 316 EUROPEAN ECONOMIC HISTORY
  - ECO 317 AMERICAN ECONOMIC HISTORY
  - ECO 318 LABOR ECONOMICS AND ORGANIZATION
  - ECO 319 ECONOMICS AND GENDER
  - ECO 320 ECONOMICS OF RELIGION
  - ECO 321 LAW & ECONOMICS
  - ECO 322 FINANCIAL MARKET REGULATION
  - ECO 325 THE ECONOMICS OF POVERTY
  - ECO 326 HEALTH ECONOMICS
  - ECO 330 RADICAL RESPONSES TO CAPITALISM
  - ECO 333 TOPICS IN GLOBAL ECONOMIES
  - ECO 334 UNDERSTANDING CHINA'S ECONOMY
  - ECO 335 ENERGY AND ENVIRONMENTAL ECONOMICS
  - ECO 336 EXPLORING ECONOMICS & STATISTICS THROUGH SPORTS
  - ECO 340 DEVELOPMENT OF ECONOMIC THOUGHT
  - ECO 341 BEHAVIORAL ECONOMICS
  - ECO 360 ECONOMICS OF LOW-INCOME COUNTRIES
  - ECO 361 INTERNATIONAL TRADE
  - ECO 362 INTERNATIONAL MONETARY ECONOMICS
  - ECO 363 ECONOMICS OF THE EUROPEAN UNION
  - ECO 376 TIME SERIES ANALYSIS
  - ECO 379 GAME THEORY
  - ECO 380 MATHEMATICAL ECONOMICS
  - ECO 398 SPECIAL TOPICS (multiple topics may be used)
  - ECO 399 INDEPENDENT STUDY

If you are completing a double major or minor in finance, you must take FIN 320 in place of ECO 315.

ECO 393 may not be used towards the major.

ECO 395 may not be taken by students in the Driehaus College of Business.
Career Management Course

Students are required to complete the Career Course (250) associated with the major. Students who double major may choose the Career Course (250) associated with either major provided that hours for graduation are satisfied.

Global Business Perspective

If an ECO course is shared between Global Business Perspective and the Economics major, additional hours of Open Elective credit are required. Any ECO course must be passed with C- or higher.

Open Electives

Open elective credit (16.0 hours) is needed to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Additional Requirements

Honors Track students must maintain a minimum GPA of 3.300 (B+ average) in all Economics (ECO) courses taken at DePaul.

Honors Track students must submit a paper written for any economics class that meets the following criteria:
(a) the student earned a B+ or better on the paper
(b) the paper contained a literature review based on at least 5 sources; and
(c) the paper was at least 10 pages OR used econometrics.
This requirement must be satisfied using a paper from a course taken at DePaul. Students should contact the Director of the Undergraduate Economics Program for submission guidelines. The director position is currently held by Associate Professor Laura Owen, lowen@depaul.edu.

Graduation Requirements

All Economics (ECO) courses and any other courses used toward the Economics Honors major must be completed with a minimum grade of C- unless otherwise noted above and with a combined GPA of 2.000 or higher.

Sample Schedule

Students interested in pursuing the Honors Track in Economics are advised to complete the following courses according to the sequence found below:

Electronics (Minor)

The minor in Electronics provides a grounding in physics and a fundamental technical understanding of linear circuits and digital electronics to enable you to troubleshoot and create basic electronic circuits.

Course Requirements

- PHY 110 BASIC ELECTRONICS: PRINCIPLES & TECHNIQUES
- PHY 231 LINEAR ELECTRIC CIRCUITS
- PHY 232 INTRODUCTION TO DIGITAL ELECTRONICS
- Three additional physics courses

Students cannot earn a minor in the same academic program as their major.
Elementary Education (BS)

The Bachelor of Science program in Elementary Education prepares students to teach 1st through 6th grade in a variety of urban and suburban education settings, including public and private elementary schools.

Students learn educational theories and effective teaching practices, participate in field experiences, which require observation and participation in teaching activities at multiple schools, and student teaching. Students should meet early and regularly with their advisor to design and monitor their program of study.

The program combines theoretical principles of education and field work with the student's choice of major. Students follow a general pattern of study for middle school and high school levels. In all cases, appropriate field experience plays an integral role.

Students entering the program must be able and willing to devote themselves to a program requiring a minimum of 155-170 hours of daytime field experiences in schools. These school-based clinical hours are completed in conjunction with methodology courses that require students to spend a half-day each week in a school. In addition, the student must spend a minimum of 11 weeks in full-time student teaching.

Along with general elementary education courses, EE majors are required to complete a minor at the university.

Please make sure you consult the Liberal Studies Requirements, Major Requirements, and College Core Requirements for full degree requirements.

Licensure

Illinois Professional Educator License with endorsement in Elementary Education (self-contained general education) (grades 1 - 6), an Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) approved program.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Plan instruction that supports students in meeting rigorous learning goals, drawing upon knowledge of content areas, curriculum, and pedagogy.
- Demonstrate a variety of instructional strategies as they support learners in developing a deep understanding of content areas and their connections, as well as building skills needed to apply knowledge in meaningful ways.
- Apply their understanding of multiple purposes for and methods of assessment in order to monitor and evaluate student progress, make decisions regarding instructional practices, and guide students in reflecting upon their progress toward learning targets.
- Use the central concepts, standards, tools of inquiry, and structures of the discipline(s) they teach to create meaningful learning experiences based upon evidence-based practices that ensure mastery of content.
- Demonstrate an interest in ongoing professional learning, use evidence to evaluate practice, advocate for students, and exhibit professionalism and ethical behavior in all interactions.

College Core Requirements

Dispositions

The academic programs within the College of Education have set forth these dispositions as educational and professional expectations for all students. Students should be aware that failing to abide by DePaul University or College of Education policies including, under certain circumstances, these dispositions, could result in adverse consequences for the student, including removal from his or her program, the College of Education, or the University.

The following dispositions apply to Early Childhood Education, Elementary Education, Exercise Science Middle Grades, Physical Education, Secondary Education, and World Language Education majors only:

- Reflects on progress and identifies strengths and weaknesses, including evaluating strategies for success, finding alternatives for inappropriate strategies, and modifying future practices
- Is receptive to faculty feedback and acts meaningfully and professionally upon suggestions
- Values critical thinking, including engaging theoretical and philosophical frameworks and shows evidence of critical thinking through discussion and writing (e.g., journals, response to prompts)
- Understands the importance of and is committed to communicating clearly orally and in writing both in traditional and in new and emerging digital formats
- Values and is committed to continually developing strong content area knowledge and/or knowledge of the professional field, including pedagogical content knowledge
- Takes initiative, uses imagination and creativity, and seeks out information using a variety of human and material resources and technology to inform his or her teaching
- Is aware of the role of classroom environment and uses management procedures that reflect respect and care for learners and concern for their emotional and physical well being
- Takes the time and effort needed to understand how students learn, including discovering their interests and experiences and determining how to shape teaching acts (using technology as appropriate) that engage learners meaningfully and actively
- Values and is committed to using assessment to evaluate and ensure the continuous intellectual, social, emotional, and physical development of the learner
- Respects and considers cultural contexts in order to determine how to be responsive to learners and to proactively promote all students’ learning
- Values and is responsive to diverse learners’ academic, emotional, and social needs through teaching acts (including careful instructional planning, implementation, and differentiation) and through everyday interactions with students
- Is committed to collaboration with colleagues, families, and communities in order to promote all students’ learning and development
- Recognizes and fulfills professional responsibilities and habits of conduct (e.g., dress, language, preparedness, attendance, punctuality, etc.)
- Demonstrates collegiality, honesty, good judgment, courtesy, respect, and diplomacy
- Balances self-confidence and assertiveness with respect for others’ perspectives
- Respects the requirements, expectations, and procedures of both the College of Education and of our field partners and appreciates the issues of trust, fairness, and professionalism involved

The following dispositions apply to Special Education majors only:
- Is receptive to faculty feedback and acts meaningfully and professionally upon suggestions
- Reflects on his or her own progress, identifies strengths and weaknesses, and evaluates strategies for success and professional growth
- Takes initiative
- Is open to new ideas and engagement in learning
- Respects diversity and cultural contexts to determine how to be responsive to learners and to proactively promote all students’ learning
- Expresses positive attitudes toward individuals with disabilities and a willingness to advocate on their behalf
- Is committed to collaboration with colleagues, families, and communities in order to promote all students’ learning and development
- Demonstrates professional ethical and legal behavior as defined by the respective codes of ethics and laws
- Demonstrates consistent professional behavior across all academic settings
- Maintains appropriate interpersonal and professional boundaries
- Accepts personal responsibility for one’s behavior
- Expresses feelings and opinions effectively and appropriately
- Upholds confidentiality

Skill Building Courses

Before taking any math or English courses, students must take the DePaul placement tests to determine if skill level is at the college level. If placement indicates skill level in these courses, the courses become part of degree requirements. Consult with your advisor regarding placement test results and any required classes.

Advanced Standing

Students are admitted conditionally to the College of Education. There are additional requirements to reach Advanced Standing in your program in the College of Education. Requirements must be met to progress in the major and take courses in the Advanced Standing category.

Advanced Standing requirements are:

- Maintain a DePaul undergraduate 2.5 GPA
- Pass the Illinois Test of Academic Proficiency (TAP)
- Submit an application for advanced standing form

Students should attempt to complete the Advanced Standing requirements soon after beginning the program. There is no time limit to meet these criteria; however, students will only be able to take pre-education courses until requirements have been met. Students can also take liberal studies or content area courses before or after meeting Advanced Standing requirements.

Modern Language Competence Requirement

Students pursuing a Bachelor of Arts degree in the College of Education will be required to demonstrate a measure of competence in a modern language, as defined by the college. Such competence may be demonstrated in one of several ways:
completing two years of a language sequence in high school
completing the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language completing a college course beyond the first-year level in any language
achieving a satisfactory score on any of the Modern Language placement examinations administered at DePaul
achieving a satisfactory rating in a proficiency examination accepted by DePaul
achieving a score of 3 or higher on the Advance Placement (AP) test for any language
achieving a score of 5 or higher in the Language B assessment from a Standard or Higher Level International Baccalaureate (IB) program
achieving a satisfactory score on the CLEP examination

Please note: The Modern Language Competence Requirement is not required for students in the Early Childhood Education: SNL Joint Program (BAECE) program.

For further information regarding satisfactory scores and possible credit from the DePaul placement, AP, CLEP, or IB examinations, please contact the Office of the University Registrar.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College of Education will abide by the COE Modern Language Requirement in place on the effective date of the ICT.

B.A. students who meet College requirements and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" of the Liberal Studies Program. While B.S. students are not required to demonstrate competency in a modern language, the "Modern Language Option" is available to them for language study at any level.

Licensure Tests

All individuals licensed by the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) are required to complete licensure tests specific to their teaching license.

Field Experiences

Each student seeking licensure from the College of Education/Professional Education Unit must complete supervised field experiences in appropriate settings in conjunction with education courses. The field experiences must include a variety of grade levels, multicultural experiences, and a minimum of 10 hours in special education settings. All field experiences must be completed prior to final approval for student teaching. Field experience hours should be entered by the student into the FEDS system when completing courses with field experience requirements.

Endorsements

An endorsement is a statement appearing on a license that identifies the specific subjects or grade level that the license holder is authorized to teach.

The Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) issues endorsements in various subject areas. To view the full list and requirements, visit the ISBE website.

Please note that the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) may change the state licensure and endorsement requirements at any time and without prior notice. Individuals are bound by the requirements in place when applying for the license or endorsement, not the requirements in place when beginning the program.

Student Teaching Requirements

Student Teaching is the culminating clinical experience in the student's program. All students in teacher preparation programs must meet the following requirements before applying for student teaching:

Academic Requirements:

• Completion of all Liberal Studies, Pre-Education, Advanced Standing and concentration/content area courses
• Overall cumulative GPA of 2.50 or better
• Cumulative GPA of 2.75 or better in all education courses
• Meet all other program requirements (e.g., modern language and residency requirements)
• Meet designated program standards
• Pass the required Illinois licensure content area test(s)

Clinical Requirements:

• Completion of all required field experiences
• Three satisfactory evaluations in field experiences
• Three satisfactory faculty recommendations
• Attendance at mandatory meeting for student teaching
• Application for student teaching, resume, transcripts, and writing sample (check deadlines)
• Review and approval by Student Teaching Committee of the College of Education

Student Teaching Timeline and Deadlines:

- Attend a Mandatory Meeting approximately 1 year prior to expected quarter of student teaching.
- Submit application for student teaching after attending Mandatory Meeting, approximately 1 year prior to student teaching.
- Academic requirements are due one quarter before expected quarter of student teaching.
- Clinical requirements are completed as course requirements. Field experience hours are entered by the student as coursework is completed.

Online Faculty Evaluations are entered by the instructor of relevant courses. All data must be entered in the Field Experience Documentation System (FEDS) due one month prior to student teaching.

Individual childcare agencies and public and private school districts may have additional requirements (application, training, background check, etc.).

Degree Conferral and Graduation

The awarding of a degree is not automatic. You must submit an application to be considered for the degree. DePaul awards and posts degrees at the end of each regular academic term (autumn, winter, spring, summer).

It is your responsibility to initiate the degree conferral application process by submitting an online application. Submitting an application means you intend to finish your degree requirements by the end of the term for which you have applied.

Undergraduate students must be approved for student teaching and complete student teaching and capstone to be cleared for the degree. Student must submit graduation application for the quarter that matches the quarter you are student teaching.

After you submit the application, you cannot register for any term after the one selected in the application.

To apply for degree conferral, log on to Campus Connection. Select STUDENT CENTER, then MY ACADEMICS. On screen instructions will take you through the application process.

Provided that all requirements and financial obligations are met, degrees are posted 30 days after the official end of the term. Official dates are listed on the Academic Calendar.

DePaul holds one commencement ceremony each year in June. If you intend to participate, you must first apply for degree conferral for the current academic year and then submit a cap and gown order. Honors announced at the ceremony for undergraduates are based on winter quarter GPAs because a final GPA is not available at the time of the ceremony.

Additional information about degree conferral and graduation can be found on the College of Education website at: http://education.depaul.edu/.

Licensure

Requirements for licensure include completion of full bachelor’s degree program, all licensure tests (including OPI for world language majors), and awarding of bachelor’s degree. A bachelor's degree is required to qualify for licensure and must be awarded before applying for the license.

Individuals must submit an application directly to the Illinois State Board of Education after completion of requirements and after DePaul has submitted notification to ISBE. Application requirements include application form, application fee, official transcripts, and registration fee.

All individuals must meet ISBE requirements in place at the time of application for the license. Requirements are subject to change per the discretion of ISBE. All coursework and requirements pertaining to licensure requirements must be completed before DePaul University can recommend an individual for the license.

Individuals seeking additional endorsements after applying for the licensure must contact ISBE directly for an evaluation request.

All coursework and requirements must be completed before DePaul University can recommend an individual for the license.

Liberal Studies Requirements

Honors program requirements can be found in the individual Colleges & Schools section of the University Catalog. Select Academics, followed by Undergraduate, then Honors Program Alternative.

Major Requirements

The requirements below are those approved by the Illinois State Board of Education December 2015.

Course Requirements

Pre-Education Core: 16 quarter hours required, grade of C or better required

- SCU 207 SOCIAL AND HISTORICAL ISSUES IN EDUCATION
- EE 281 INTRODUCTION TO EDUCATIONAL PRACTICE
- EE 347 CHILDREN’S LITERATURE
- PE 206 PERSONAL AND COMMUNITY HEALTH

Mathematics for Elementary Teachers: 8 quarter hours required, grade of C or better required

- MAT 110 FOUNDATIONS OF MATHEMATICS FOR ELEMENTARY SCHOOL TEACHERS I
- MAT 111 FOUNDATIONS OF MATHEMATICS FOR ELEMENTARY SCHOOL TEACHERS II

DePaul Minor: 5-8 courses (20-32 credit hours), grade of C or better required

Along with elementary education courses, students in the elementary education major are required to complete a DePaul minor. This may be a minor leading to an additional endorsement on the Professional Educator License (e.g., special education, English as a Second Language, bilingual education) or an additional area to explore or focus your studies. However, all DePaul minors will meet this requirement. A minor of seven courses (28 credit hours) will lead to the required 192 credit hours. If a student chooses a minor with fewer than 28 credit hours, the additional credit hours will be replaced by electives. If students choose a minor with more than 28 credit hours, they will graduate with more than 192 credit hours. Students are encouraged to discuss their choice of a minor with their academic advisor in order to determine the impact their choice will have on their overall program plan, graduation date, and tuition.

Advanced Standing Education Courses: 48 quarter hours required, grade of C or better required

- SCU 337 HUMAN GROWTH AND DEVELOPMENT
- EE 317 PHYSICAL EDUCATION AND CLASSROOM MANAGEMENT IN THE ELEMENTARY SCHOOL
Open Electives: 4 quarter hours required

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours. The following cannot be used to fulfill an open elective: WRD 98, MAT 94, and MAT 95.

Student Teaching: 10 quarter hours required, grade of B- or better required

Registration in student teaching requires completion of all requirements and procedures indicated in the college core section. EDU 95 indicates to the Illinois State Board of Education that all field experience hours are complete. All students also take EE 387 Capstone Experience (2 hours) with student teaching (listed in the Liberal Studies section).

- EE 385 ELEMENTARY STUDENT TEACHING  (10 hours)
- EDU 95 CLINICAL EXPERIENCE WITH CHILDREN AND YOUTH (non-credit, non-tuition, PA grade required)

Licensure Tests

All individuals licensed by the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) are required to complete licensure tests specific to their teaching license. Elementary majors must complete the following tests:

- Test of Academic Proficiency (TAP) (test #400) - assesses knowledge of reading comprehension, language arts, writing, and math. Test is required to qualify for Advanced Standing. *Check with your advisor about qualifying for a waiver with acceptable ACT or SAT test scores.
- Elementary Content Area Test (test #197-200) – assesses knowledge of the content of what is taught at the elementary level including language arts and literacy, mathematics, science, social science, the arts, health, and physical education. Test is required before Student Teaching (deadlines apply).
- EdTPA - assessment conducted during the student teaching experience including video clips of instruction, lesson plans, student work samples, analysis of student learning and reflective commentaries. Students will submit an electronic portfolio to an outside agency for independent evaluation and a fee will be imposed by that agency as part of the assessment.

English (BA)

The English major exposes students to a broad range of literatures in English, strengthens their grasp of historical and critical principles, and hones their skill in using the written word. English majors study the major authors, works, genres, and literary movements in the British and American traditions, approaching these texts both analytically and historically. Students in the Creative Writing concentration also take a number of workshops, practicing writing in a variety of literary genres. Both concentrations teach students to read perceptively and to write effectively, to deepen their understanding of the power of language, to think creatively and critically, and to develop an awareness of multiple points of view.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Describe and analyze a wide and diverse range of literary works in English.
- Explain the impact of culture, race, gender, sexuality, and class on the reading and writing of literature.
- Conduct research and incorporate that research into thesis-driven essays written in clear, accurate, and coherent prose.
- Recognize and explain significant themes, stylistic features, and genre conventions associated with literatures in English over a range of historical periods.
- Produce creative work demonstrating imagination and literary technique. (Applicable only to students in the Creative Writing concentration.

College Core Requirements

Study in the Major Field

The student’s course of study in the College consists of three parts: Liberal Studies, the major field, and electives. Together these three parts contribute to the liberal education of the student which is the common purpose of all study in the College. By “liberal education” the College understands not only a deep and thorough knowledge of a particular area of study but a knowledge of the diverse areas of study represented by criticism, history, the arts, the behavioral and social sciences, philosophy, religious studies, the natural science, and mathematics.

The major field program generally is built upon a set of core courses and a specialized “concentration.” The number of courses required for a major varies by department. Most students go beyond the minimum requirements, electing additional courses which both broaden and deepen their understanding of their chosen discipline.

Because no academic major program is built in isolation, students are required to pursue a number of electives of the student’s choice. The inherent flexibility of this curriculum demands that the student consult an academic advisor at each stage in the total program and at least once prior to each registration. Students will be prompted to visit the College Office for their official graduation check early in their senior year.

Declaration of Major, Minor and Concentration

All students in the College are required to declare a major field prior to beginning their junior year. The student will then be assigned a faculty advisor in the major field department or program and should make an appointment to see that advisor at his or her earliest convenience.

Students must declare or change majors, minors, and concentrations, via Campus Connection. However, for the purpose of exploring the possibility of changing a major field, the student should consult an academic advisor in the Office for Academic Advising Support.

The Modern Language Requirement (MLR)

All students will be required to demonstrate competence in a modern language (i.e., a language other than English) equivalent to the proficiency attained from one year of college-level language study. This Modern Language Requirement (MLR) may be demonstrated by:

- placing into 104 or above on the DePaul language placement exam
- completing the last course or earning AP/IB credit for the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language (e.g. 103 for DePaul language classes)
- completing a college course or earning AP/IB credit for a college course beyond the first-year level in any language (e.g. 104 or above for DePaul language classes)
- completing the final course of a four-year sequence of the same modern language in high school*
- completing a proctored exam by BYU and passing the exam (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)
- completing a proctored Written Proficiency Test (WPT) by Language Testing International (LTI) and achieving a score of Beginner High or above (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)

* Students are strongly encouraged to take the DePaul language placement exam even if they have met the MLR via study of a language in high school. This will ensure continuation of language study at the proper level.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College will abide by this MLR in place on the effective date of the ICT, regardless of when they first matriculated at DePaul.

Students who have met the MLR and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" (MLO) of the Liberal Studies Program (see “Special Programs”).

External Credit and Residency

A student who has been admitted to the College begins residency within the college as of the first day of classes of the term in which the student is registered. Students in residence, whether attending on a full-time or part-time basis, may not take courses away from DePaul University without the written permission of the college. Permission must be obtained in advance of registration to avoid loss of credit or residency in the college; see the LAS website for more information.

Notes

A student whose only major is English is required to complete the Capstone offered by the English Department. A student who is double majoring (or pursuing dual degrees) with the primary major (or primary degree) in English may substitute the Capstone of the secondary major or degree. An English major in the University Honors Program shall take only the University Honors Capstone, not both the Honors Capstone and the English Capstone.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a major elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

Major Requirements

Course Requirements

All English majors must complete the following core courses early in their studies:

- ENG 101 INTRODUCTION TO LITERATURE or HON 101 WORLD LITERATURE*
- ENG 205 LITERATURE TO 1700
- ENG 206 LITERATURE FROM 1700 TO 1900
- ENG 207 LITERATURE FROM 1900 TO THE PRESENT
- One course focused on Race, Ethnicity, and Sexuality (RES) chosen from:
  - ENG 268 LITERATURE ACROSS CULTURES
  - ENG 271 AFRICAN AMERICAN LITERATURE
  - ENG 273 GLOBAL ASIAN LITERATURE
  - ENG 276 LATINO/A LITERATURE
  - ENG 285 LGBTQ LITERATURE
  - ENG 351 POSTCOLONIAL LITERATURE
  - ENG 352 GLOBAL ENGLISH LITERATURE
  - ENG 353 TOPICS IN GLOBAL ASIAN LITERATURE
  - ENG 368 STUDIES IN LITERATURE ACROSS CULTURES
  - ENG 371 TOPICS IN AFRICAN AMERICAN LITERATURE
  - ENG 373 MULTIETHNIC LITERATURE OF THE U.S.
  - ENG 374 NATIVE LITERATURE
  - ENG 384 TOPICS IN LATINO/A LITERATURE
  - ENG 385 TOPICS IN LGBTQ LITERATURE
ENG 101/Hon 101, ENG 205, ENG 206, and ENG 207 are prerequisites for many of the 300-level literature courses in the major.

*Honors students who meet the HON 101 requirement through AP Literature credit must take ENG 101 to fulfill the English major core requirement. Honors students who fulfill the ENG 101 requirement with HON 101 must complete an English course of their choosing to meet the required 20 credit hours in the English major core.

Concentration Requirements

English majors should declare a concentration in Literary Studies or Creative Writing by the time they complete the English core courses. All further course requirements are listed within the two concentrations.

Concentration Requirements

Concentrations, tracks and specializations provide focus to the major. In addition to any college core requirements, liberal studies requirements and major requirements, students are required to choose one of the following:

- Creative Writing
- Literary Studies

Creative Writing Concentration

The Creative Writing concentration trains students in writing imaginatively for professional publication. Students strengthen their creative skills in a variety of genres through a series of writing workshops, which they take alongside courses in literary history and analysis. They acquire a solid grounding in literary forms; they learn to think critically and creatively about how writers represent the material of everyday life; they gain insight into writing and audience through the intense study of style, voice, and genre; and they develop an understanding of the standards by which literary works are judged.

Course Requirements

Completion of ENG 101 INTRODUCTION TO LITERATURE/HON 101 WORLD LITERATURE, ENG 205 LITERATURE TO 1700, ENG 206 LITERATURE FROM 1700 TO 1900, ENG 207 LITERATURE FROM 1900 TO THE PRESENT, and one course focused on Race, Ethnicity, and Sexuality (RES) required.

Creative Writing Workshops

- ENG 201 INTRODUCTION TO CREATIVE WRITING
- ENG 290 THE CRAFT OF CREATIVE NONFICTION WRITING (may be taken twice) or ENG 291 THE CRAFT OF FICTION WRITING (may be taken twice) or ENG 292 THE CRAFT OF POETRY WRITING (may be taken twice)
- Three additional writing workshops chosen from:
  - ENG 306 ADVANCED CREATIVE NONFICTION WRITING (may be taken twice)
  - ENG 307 ADVANCED FICTION WRITING (may be taken twice)
  - ENG 308 ADVANCED POETRY WRITING (may be taken twice)
  - ENG 309 ADVANCED TOPICS IN WRITING (repeatable with different topics)

Major Author Requirement

- One major author course chosen from:
  - ENG 311 CHAUCER
  - ENG 327 MILTON
  - ENG 328 STUDIES IN SHAKESPEARE
  - ENG 332 MAJOR AUTHORS BEFORE 1800
  - ENG 342 MAJOR AUTHORS 1800-1900
  - ENG 382 MAJOR AUTHORS

Major Electives

Three English electives of any level.

Research Intensive Requirement
English majors must take at least one course in English designated as "Research Intensive". These courses integrate research instruction and assignments with the subject matter of the course. Qualifying concentration requirements or major electives are designated as "Research Intensive" or "RI" in the quarterly schedule.

Literary Studies Concentration

The Literary Studies concentration broadens and deepens students’ knowledge of literature and language through a range of courses focused on historical periods, literary movements, the structure of language, and critical approaches to literature. Students learn to read works of literature in their historical and cultural contexts; they develop their powers of textual analysis and their critical vocabulary; they examine and question the values expressed in literature; they practice research methods; and they work towards a written style that is clear, precise, and persuasive.

Course Requirements

Completion of ENG 101 INTRODUCTION TO LITERATURE /HON 101 WORLD LITERATURE, ENG 205 LITERATURE TO 1700, ENG 206 LITERATURE FROM 1700 TO 1900, ENG 207 LITERATURE FROM 1900 TO THE PRESENT, and one course focused on Race, Ethnicity, and Sexuality (RES) required.

Advanced Literature Courses

- ENG 328 STUDIES IN SHAKESPEARE
- One 300-level course in literature written before 1800 chosen from:
  - ENG 310 ENGLISH LITERATURE TO 1500
  - ENG 311 CHAUCER
  - ENG 319 TOPICS IN MEDIEVAL LITERATURE
  - ENG 320 ENGLISH RENAISSANCE LITERATURE
  - ENG 327 MILTON
  - ENG 328 STUDIES IN SHAKESPEARE
  - ENG 329 TOPICS IN RENAISSANCE LITERATURE
  - ENG 330 RESTORATION AND 18TH-CENTURY LITERATURE
  - ENG 332 MAJOR AUTHORS BEFORE 1800
  - ENG 335 TOPICS IN EARLY AMERICAN LITERATURE
  - ENG 339 TOPICS IN RESTORATION AND 18TH CENTURY BRITISH LITERATURE
  - ENG 360 AMERICAN LITERATURE TO 1830
- One 300-level course in literature written before 1900 chosen from:
  - ENG 310 ENGLISH LITERATURE TO 1500
  - ENG 311 CHAUCER
  - ENG 319 TOPICS IN MEDIEVAL LITERATURE
  - ENG 320 ENGLISH RENAISSANCE LITERATURE
  - ENG 327 MILTON
  - ENG 328 STUDIES IN SHAKESPEARE
  - ENG 329 TOPICS IN RENAISSANCE LITERATURE
  - ENG 330 RESTORATION AND 18TH-CENTURY LITERATURE
  - ENG 332 MAJOR AUTHORS BEFORE 1800
  - ENG 335 TOPICS IN EARLY AMERICAN LITERATURE
  - ENG 339 TOPICS IN RESTORATION AND 18TH CENTURY BRITISH LITERATURE
  - ENG 340 19TH-CENTURY BRITISH LITERATURE
  - ENG 342 MAJOR AUTHORS 1800-1900
  - ENG 345 TOPICS IN 19TH-CENTURY AMERICAN LITERATURE
  - ENG 346 19TH-CENTURY IRISH LITERATURE
  - ENG 348 TOPICS IN 19TH-CENTURY LITERATURE
  - ENG 349 TOPICS IN 19TH-CENTURY BRITISH LITERATURE
  - ENG 360 AMERICAN LITERATURE TO 1830
  - ENG 361 AMERICAN LITERATURE 1830 TO 1865
  - ENG 362 AMERICAN LITERATURE FROM 1865 TO 1920
- Three 300-level literature electives chosen from:
  - ENG 310 ENGLISH LITERATURE TO 1500
  - ENG 311 CHAUCER
  - ENG 319 TOPICS IN MEDIEVAL LITERATURE
  - ENG 320 ENGLISH RENAISSANCE LITERATURE
Major Electives

- Three English electives of any level.

Research Intensive Requirement

English majors must take at least one course in English designated as "Research Intensive." These courses integrate research instruction and assignments with the subject matter of the course. Qualifying concentration requirements or major electives are designated as "Research Intensive" or "RI" in the quarterly schedule.

3+3 Program (BA/JD)

In the 3 + 3 BA/JD Program, high-achieving first-year undergraduate students are admitted simultaneously to the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences and the College of Law. Students complete their first three years in the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences and their final three years in the College of Law. Students receive the Bachelor of Arts degree after successful completion of their first year of law school. Throughout the program, BA/JD students meet regularly with advisors in both Colleges and have access to a variety of resources to ensure their success.
Key Program Features

- Students earn a law degree (Juris Doctor) in a total of six years (three years undergraduate and three years in law school).
- Students save one year’s worth of tuition, reducing their overall debt load.
- Students benefit from new curricular offerings and collaborative activities created to prepare them for law school.
- Students receive early (conditional) admission to the College of Law.
- Credits earned in the first year of law school apply toward the BA degree.
- Students may opt out of the College of Law segment of the program and continue in the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences during their fourth year.
- If students withdraw after the first semester in the College of Law, they return to the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences for the winter quarter.

Program Requirements

In order to maintain status in the program, students must demonstrate satisfactory progress toward completing their undergraduate coursework in three years, including meeting the Modern Language Requirement and necessary Liberal Studies Program or Honors Program requirements. Students must achieve a cumulative GPA of 3.35 by the end of their second year of study and maintain a cumulative GPA of 3.35 in their third and final year of undergraduate study.

In addition, students must complete a series of two-credit courses, taught by College of Law faculty, prior to matriculation in the College of Law. They are designed to help students understand many aspects of the legal system as well as to complement their undergraduate course of study. The courses are as follows:

- PRELAW 150 THE PRACTICE OF LAW
- PRELAW 151 RECENT CONTROVERSIES IN LAW
- PRELAW 152 THINKING ABOUT THE LAW

In order to matriculate in the College of Law, students will be required to register with the Law School Admissions Council, submit the College of Law’s online application, comply with all character and fitness requirements for admission, and submit an LSAT score. The activities should be completed no later than the end of the Autumn Quarter of the participant’s third undergraduate year. The LSAT score will only be used for consideration of merit scholarships; it will not be a factor in the admission of the participant to the program.

Combined Bachelor's/ Master's Degree

The combined Bachelor's/Master's degree programs allow students to complete 12 graduate credit hours while still undergraduates. These 12 graduate credit hours will count toward both the undergraduate and graduate degree programs.

The English (BA) offers three options:

  - English (BA)/English (MA)
  - English (BA)/Writing and Publishing (MA)
  - English (BA)/Secondary Education English (MEd)

English (BA)/ English (MA)

Students apply to this program in the last quarter of their junior-year status; interested students should meet with the Director of the program earlier in the year. Applicants must be English majors, have a minimum grade point average of 3.50 in English and 3.30 overall, and have completed a minimum of four English literature courses, two of which must be core classes, and at least one of the four should be at the 300-level. Students in this program take twelve graduate credit hours in their senior year; these graduate courses apply toward both undergraduate and graduate English requirements. For information on applying to this program, please check the English Department BA/MA Combined Degree webpage.

English (BA)/Writing and Publishing (MA)

Students apply to this program in the last quarter of their junior-year status; interested students should meet with the Director of the program. Applicants must be English majors, have a minimum grade point average of 3.50 in English and 3.30 overall, and have completed ENG 201 and two creative writing workshops, at least one of which must be at the 300-level. Students in this program take twelve graduate credit hours in their senior year; these graduate courses apply toward both undergraduate and graduate program requirements. For information on applying to this program, please visit the English Department BA/MA Combined Degree webpage.

English (BA)/ Secondary Education English (MEd)

The TEACH Program combines a Liberal Arts and Social Sciences (LAS) undergraduate English major with a graduate level College of Education (COE) Master’s in Education Program. Students graduate with a BA in English and an MEd in Education with State of Illinois Secondary English Language Arts licensure. This combined degree program of the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences, the College of Science and Health, and the College of Education was collaboratively developed, and is governed and taught by faculty from these units.

Students may apply to the Program during the spring of their junior year. They must complete the Junior Year Experiential Learning course, TCH 320, and meet other application criteria prior to applying; these include completion of at least 16 quarter credit hours at DePaul and a 3.0 GPA. During their senior year, students are required to complete a Program capstone course, TCH 390, and three 400-level courses that count toward both their undergraduate and graduate degrees:

- TCH 401 TEACHING AS A PROFESSION IN SECONDARY SCHOOL
- TCH 411 THE NATURE OF ENGLISH
- TCH 421 INQUIRY & APPLICATION IN DEVELOPING SECONDARY ENGLISH PEDAGOGY

The following English content-area requirements may be fulfilled either as part of the English major or as open electives (for licensure, a grade of C or better is required in each course used to fulfill one of these requirements):

- One introductory literature course chosen from:
  - ENG 101 INTRODUCTION TO LITERATURE
  - ENG 120 READING LITERATURE
  - ENG 130 THEMES IN LITERATURE

- Five of the courses used to meet the requirements above must be at the 300-level.

The Bachelor of Science degree in Environmental Science is a broad, science-based curriculum designed to prepare students for a variety of environmentally-related technical careers, as well as for graduate programs in environmental and allied fields. The program requires 192 credit hours and draws upon the faculty and resources of several departments. Majors take core courses in Biology, Chemistry, Environmental Science, Mathematics, and Physics, advanced study in Environmental Science and five university-wide electives.

| Liberal Studies Requirements | 76 hours |
| Major Requirements            | 96 hours |
| Open Electives                | 20 hours |
| Total hours required      | 192 hours |

The Master’s year comprises teacher-preparation coursework that culminates with student teaching during spring quarter. Upon graduation and the fulfillment of State of Illinois Licensure requirements (which may require some additional course work in the student’s major and related fields), students are eligible to be licensed to teach English at the 9th-12th grade levels.

A full description of the Program can be found on the College of Education website in the graduate course catalog. Students interested in the Program should consult Dr. Carolyn Goffman, TEACH Program Advisor for English.
Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Discuss how the four spheres of the natural world (biosphere, hydrosphere, atmosphere, and lithosphere) are interconnected for a given environmental issue.
- Demonstrate how humans impact the natural world and how the natural world impacts humans, including in the context of social and environmental justice.
- Critically evaluate the science behind complex environmental problems that humans currently face both locally and globally.
- Design and conduct a scientific investigation using appropriate tools and techniques to gather, analyze, and interpret data and communicate results in oral and written form.

College Core Requirements

Modern Language Requirements

Students who intend to graduate with the Bachelor of Arts (BA) degree will be required to demonstrate competence in a modern language equivalent to the proficiency attained from one year of college-level language study. Such competence may be demonstrated in one of several ways:

- completing the last course in the fourth-year high school sequence of any language
- completing the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language
- completing a college course beyond the first-year level in any language
- achieving a satisfactory score on any of the Modern Language placement examinations administered at DePaul
- achieving a satisfactory rating in a proficiency examination accepted by DePaul
- achieving a score of 3 or higher on the Advance Placement (AP) test for any language
- achieving a score of 5 or higher in the Language B assessment from a Standard or Higher Level International Baccalaureate (IB) program
- achieving a satisfactory score on the CLEP examination

For further information regarding satisfactory scores and possible credit from the DePaul placement, AP, CLEP, or IB examinations, please contact Student Records.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College of Science and Health will abide by the College of Science and Health Modern Language Requirement in place on the effective date of the ICT.

BA students who meet College requirements and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" of the Liberal Studies Program. While Bachelor of Science (BS) students are not required to demonstrate competency in a modern language, the "Modern Language Option" is available to them for language study at any level.

Major Declaration Requirements

All students in the College are required to declare a major field prior to beginning their junior year. After researching College programs, the student should declare a major field by visiting Campus Connection and using the Declarations and Inter-College Transfer tool. The student will then be assigned a faculty advisor or staff advisor in the department or program and should make an appointment to see that advisor at his or her earliest convenience.

To change major fields, or to declare a minor or concentration, the student must use the Declarations and Inter-College Transfer tool described above. However, for the purpose of exploring the possibility of changing a major field, the student should consult an academic advisor in the College or an academic advisor in the Office for Academic Advising Support.

Liberal Studies Requirements

Honors program requirements can be found in the individual Colleges & Schools section of the University Catalog. Select Academics, followed by Undergraduate, then Honors Program Alternative.

Notes

Students with a primary major in Environmental Science are required to complete the Capstone offered by the Environmental Science department. Students double majoring or pursuing dual degrees with the primary major or primary degree in Environmental Science are required to complete the Capstone offered by the Environmental Science department. Environmental Science students in the University Honors Program shall take the University Honors Capstone. They are not expected to take both the Honors Capstone and the primary major or primary degree Capstone.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. (Courses in the range 150-199 are exceptions to this rule.) If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Course Requirements

- ENV 250 APPLIED ECOLOGY WITH LAB
  (or BIO 215 ECOLOGY)
- ENV 216 EARTH SYSTEM SCIENCE WITH LAB
- ENV 217 HUMAN IMPACTS ON THE ENVIRONMENT
- ENV 260 ENVIRONMENTAL DATA ANALYSIS
  (or BIO 206 BIOSTATISTICS)
- ENV 294 SECOND YEAR SEMINAR  (2 quarter credits)
- ENV 360 RESEARCH METHODS
- ENV 362 SENIOR THESIS  (2 quarter credits)
- ENV 350 ENVIRONMENTAL SCIENCE AND STUDIES CAPSTONE (Liberal Studies Program Capstone*)

Choose three courses from the following list:
- ENV 300 PLANT IDENTIFICATION WITH LAB
- ENV 305 ANIMAL DIVERSITY WITH LAB
- ENV 310 ENVIRONMENTAL SOIL SCIENCE WITH LAB
- ENV 315 PLANT ECOLOGY WITH LAB
- ENV 316 CHEMISTRY OF EARTH SYSTEMS WITH LAB
- ENV 320 CONSERVATION BIOLOGY WITH LAB
- ENV 322 ECOSYSTEM ECOLOGY WITH LAB
- ENV 340 URBAN ECOLOGY WITH LAB
- ENV 341 URBAN FORESTS AS SOCIAL-ECOLOGICAL SYSTEMS WITH LAB
- ENV 355 INTRODUCTION TO ENVIRONMENTAL HEALTH
- ENV 359 ECOLOGICAL AND ENVIRONMENTAL MODELING

Each quarter one or more versions of ENV 390 SPECIAL TOPICS IN ENVIRONMENTAL SCIENCE are offered. They are added to your major requirements in consultation with your advisor.

- BIO 191 GENERAL BIOLOGY I FOR SCIENCE MAJORS
- BIO 192 GENERAL BIOLOGY II FOR SCIENCE MAJORS
- BIO 193 GENERAL BIOLOGY III FOR SCIENCE MAJORS
- CHE 130 GENERAL CHEMISTRY I or CHE 120 GENERAL CHEMISTRY IP

*Students in the University Honors Program and students with a double major may be required to take a different Capstone. If this is the case, they may choose to substitute ENV 350 as one of their required 300-level ENV courses or as an open elective.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Combined Bachelor's/ Master's Degree

Environmental Science (BS)/ Secondary Education Environmental Science (MEd)

This combined degree program of the College of Science and Health and the College of Education was collaboratively developed, and is governed and taught by faculty from these units. A full description of the Program can be found on the College of Education website in the graduate course catalog.

Environmental Science (Minor)

The Environmental Science minor offers students the strongest background in the science behind environmental issues. Students will understand and explore the natural world and our interactions within the natural and built environment.

Course Requirements

- ENV 102 INTRO TO ENVIRONMENTAL SCIENCE WITH LAB (may be replaced with an upper-level course; check with an ENV advisor or the department chair)
- ENV 216 EARTH SYSTEM SCIENCE WITH LAB
Environmental Studies (BA)

The BA degree in Environmental Studies provides students with a holistic education on environmental topics that includes the natural and social sciences as well as the humanities. The degree allows students to connect with present and emerging environmental problems in a uniquely interdisciplinary manner, and will prepare them for positions in environmental management and in environmentally themed non-profit organizations, to bring an environmental perspective to any career, as well as preparing them for further studies. The degree is focused on the comprehensive study of human interaction with the natural environment.

The BA degree offers students a choice of two concentrations: A standard concentration and a sustainability concentration. Within the sustainability concentration, students can further choose an urban sustainability focus. Students selecting the sustainability concentration will recognize the concept of "sustainability" as a dynamic condition characterized by the interdependency among physical, biological, economic, and social systems.

Students choosing the urban sustainability focus will be able to identify the concepts and methods of environmental economics, environmental politics, ethics, design, and human geography relevant to the sustainability of environmental resources and social institutions in urban settings; as well as recognize and understand the functions of sustainable institutions created for water, land, air, and urban management at multiple spatial and temporal scales.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Discuss how the four spheres of the natural world (biosphere, hydrosphere, atmosphere, and lithosphere) are interconnected for a given environmental issue.
- Demonstrate how humans impact the natural world and how the natural world impacts humans, including in the context of social and environmental justice.
- Identify and communicate the causes of and solutions to environmental issues from the social science, natural science, and humanities perspectives.
- Design, conduct, and evaluate environmental research using qualitative, quantitative, and mixed methods.
College Core Requirements

Modern Language Requirements

Students who intend to graduate with the Bachelor of Arts (BA) degree will be required to demonstrate competence in a modern language equivalent to the proficiency attained from one year of college-level language study. Such competence may be demonstrated in one of several ways:

- completing the last course in the fourth-year high school sequence of any language
- completing the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language
- completing a college course beyond the first-year level in any language
- achieving a satisfactory score on any of the Modern Language placement examinations administered at DePaul
- achieving a satisfactory rating in a proficiency examination accepted by DePaul
- achieving a score of 3 or higher on the Advance Placement (AP) test for any language
- achieving a score of 5 or higher in the Language B assessment from a Standard or Higher Level International Baccalaureate (IB) program
- achieving a satisfactory score on the CLEP examination

For further information regarding satisfactory scores and possible credit from the DePaul placement, AP, CLEP, or IB examinations, please contact Student Records.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College of Science and Health will abide by the College of Science and Health Modern Language Requirement in place on the effective date of the ICT.

BA students who meet College requirements and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" of the Liberal Studies Program. While Bachelor of Science (BS) students are not required to demonstrate competency in a modern language, the “Modern Language Option” is available to them for language study at any level.

Major Declaration Requirements

All students in the College are required to declare a major field prior to beginning their junior year. After researching College programs, the student should declare a major field by visiting Campus Connection and using the Declarations and Inter-College Transfer tool. The student will then be assigned a faculty advisor or staff advisor in the department or program and should make an appointment to see that advisor at his or her earliest convenience.

To change major fields, or to declare a minor or concentration, the student must use the Declarations and Inter-College Transfer tool described above. However, for the purpose of exploring the possibility of changing a major field, the student should consult an academic advisor in the College or an academic advisor in the Office for Academic Advising Support.

Liberal Studies Requirements

Honors program requirements can be found in the individual Colleges & Schools section of the University Catalog. Select Academics, followed by Undergraduate, then Honors Program Alternative.

Scientific Inquiry (SI)
- Not Required

Social, Cultural, and Behavioral Inquiry (SCBI)
- 3 Courses Required

Religious Dimensions (RD)
- 2 Courses Required

Understanding the Past (UP)
- 2 Courses Required

* Students must earn a C- or better in this course.

Notes

Students with a primary major in Environmental Studies are required to complete the Capstone offered by the Environmental Studies department. Students double majoring or pursuing dual degrees with the primary major or primary degree in Environmental Studies are required to complete the Capstone offered by the Environmental Studies department. Environmental Studies students in the University Honors Program shall take the University Honors Capstone. They are not expected to take both the Honors Capstone and the primary major or primary degree Capstone.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.
Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required.

Major Requirements

Course Requirements

- ENV 150 FOUNDATIONS OF ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES
- ENV 152 ECOLOGICAL AND SOCIAL ECONOMICS
- ENV 205 BIOLOGY FOR ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES
- ENV 216 EARTH SYSTEM SCIENCE WITH LAB
- ENV 217 HUMAN IMPACTS ON THE ENVIRONMENT
- ENV 250 APPLIED ECOLOGY WITH LAB
- ENV 261 MIXED METHODS IN ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES WITH LAB
- ENV 294 SECOND YEAR SEMINAR (2 quarter credits)
- ENV 203 CHEMISTRY FOR ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES WITH LAB
  (or CHE 103 ENVIRONMENTAL CHEMISTRY)
- ENV 350 ENVIRONMENTAL SCIENCE AND STUDIES CAPSTONE (Liberal Studies Program Capstone*)

Concentration Requirements

Students must also complete the requirements from one of the following concentrations: Standard or Sustainability. Students are limited to only declaring one concentration.

* Students in the University Honor Program and students with a double major may be required to take a different Capstone. If this is the case, they may choose to substitute ENV 350 as one of their required 300-level ENV courses or as an open elective.

Concentration Requirements

Concentrations, tracks and specializations provide focus to the major. In addition to any college core requirements, liberal studies requirements and major requirements, students are required to choose one of the following:

- Standard
- Sustainability

Standard Concentration

Course Requirements

- Three Natural Sciences courses from the following list. At least two must have labs and at least one must be non-SI:
  - ENV 200 CITIES AND THE ENVIRONMENT
  - ENV 204 ENERGY AND THE ENVIRONMENT
  - ENV 230 GLOBAL CLIMATE CHANGE
  - ENV 240 INTRODUCTION TO HORTICULTURE

- REL 262 RELIGION AND GLOBALIZATION
- WRD 283 ENVIRONMENTAL WRITING
- Others by approval

Each quarter one or more versions of ENV 390 SPECIAL TOPICS IN ENVIRONMENTAL SCIENCE are offered. They are added to your major requirements in consultation with your advisor.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Sustainability Concentration

Course Requirements

- ENV 151 INTRODUCTION TO SUSTAINABILITY
- PPS 330 SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT

Eight courses chosen from the following categories:

- At Least two Natural Science courses from the following list. At least one must have a lab:
  - ENV 200 CITIES AND THE ENVIRONMENT *
  - ENV 204 ENERGY AND THE ENVIRONMENT
  - ENV 230 GLOBAL CLIMATE CHANGE
  - ENV 310 ENVIRONMENTAL SOIL SCIENCE WITH LAB
  - ENV 320 CONSERVATION BIOLOGY WITH LAB
  - ENV 340 URBAN ECOLOGY WITH LAB *
  - ENV 341 URBAN FORESTS AS SOCIAL-ECOLOGICAL SYSTEMS WITH LAB
  - ENV 355 INTRODUCTION TO ENVIRONMENTAL HEALTH

- At least two Social Sciences courses from the following list:
  - ENV 245 URBAN AND COMMUNITY AGRICULTURE
  - ENV 344 ENVIRONMENTAL JUSTICE AND ADVOCACY
  - CSS 320 COMMUNITY FOOD SYSTEMS
  - CMNS 325 PROMOTING SUSTAINABLE PRACTICES *
At least two Humanities courses from the following list:
- ENV 160 IDEAS OF NATURE
- ENV 165 NATIONAL PARKS HISTORY
- ENV 170 ENVIRONMENTAL ETHICS
- ENV 180 ISSUES IN ENVIRONMENTAL DESIGN
- ENV 181 LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTURE
- REL 222 CONTEMPORARY MORAL ISSUES (Only "Change in an Era of Sustainability" or "Sustainable Development" or "Sweatshops and Sacraments")

* Students with an interest in Urban Sustainability are encouraged to select the courses with asterisks.

Each quarter one or more versions of ENV 390 SPECIAL TOPICS IN ENVIRONMENTAL SCIENCE are offered. They are added to your major requirements in consultation with your advisor.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Combined Bachelor's/ Master's Degree

Environmental Science/ Studies (BA/ BS)/ Master of Science in Sustainable Management (MSSM)

The combined degree provides environmental science/studies students with advanced knowledge of business systems and practices, focusing on environmental sustainability, to create leaders for business, government and civic organizations. For more information on the full Master of Science in Sustainable Management curriculum, go to MSSM degree requirements found within the graduate programs section of the University Catalog.

Admission Requirements

Current DePaul Environmental Science or Studies majors who meet the following criteria may apply to this program:

- Junior standing or higher (at least 88.0 credits)
- A minimum cumulative DePaul grade point average of 3.300

Admission to the combined program does not require the GMAT, essays, or letters of recommendation.

Classes During Senior Year

If accepted into the combined program, students will take three graduate classes during the senior year. These three graduate classes at 12 quarter hours will count toward the bachelor's degree - as indicated below - and toward the master's degree.

Students must apply for degree conferral in order to be eligible to graduate with either the BA in Environmental Studies or the BS in Environmental Science before matriculating into the MSSM program.

Students are limited to applying a maximum of three graduate courses as 12 quarter hours toward both the bachelor's and master's degrees. Students should note that expectations for graduate classes are typically more rigorous than for undergraduate classes. Students can choose from the following list of core MSSM courses; other options available upon consultation with the MSSM advisor.

Final Quarter of Senior Year

During the final quarter of the bachelor's degree, students must petition for formal admission into the Kellstadt Graduate School of Business. The admission criteria are as follows:
• Completion of the Bachelor of Arts in Environmental Studies or Bachelor of Science in Environmental Science
• A minimum cumulative DePaul grade point average of 3.300
• A minimum grade point average for graduate courses of 3.000.
• Student must apply for undergraduate degree conferral of their Environmental Science or Studies program in anticipation of completing their fourth year of study.

After Senior Year

After completion of the undergraduate degree including the three graduate courses, students take nine additional graduate classes to complete the graduate degree, for a total of twelve graduate classes. Information on the MSSM degree can be found in the graduate program degree requirements section of the University Catalog.

For an application to the combined program (at the end of your junior year) or to learn more about it, please contact the chair of the Environmental Science and Studies department.

Environmental Studies (Minor)

The Environmental Studies minor offers students a broad, interdisciplinary overview of topics linking environmental science to human behavior and society.

Course Requirements

• ENV 102 INTRO TO ENVIRONMENTAL SCIENCE WITH LAB
• ENV 150 FOUNDATIONS OF ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES
• One from the following list:
  o ENV 160 IDEAS OF NATURE
  o ENV 170 ENVIRONMENTAL ETHICS
  o PHL 235 PHILOSOPHY AND THE ENVIRONMENT
• One from the following list:
  o CMNS 325 PROMOTING SUSTAINABLE PRACTICES
  o CMNS 326 ENVIRONMENTAL POLITICS AND RHETORIC
  o CMNS 363 CLIMATE CHANGE COMMUNICATION
• Two from the following list:
  o ENV 151 INTRODUCTION TO SUSTAINABILITY
  o ENV 152 ECOLOGICAL AND SOCIAL ECONOMICS
  o ENV 180 ISSUES IN ENVIRONMENTAL DESIGN
  o ENV 181 LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTURE
  o ENV 200 CITIES AND THE ENVIRONMENT
  o ENV 204 ENERGY AND THE ENVIRONMENT
  o ENV 205 BIOLOGY FOR ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES
  o ENV 230 GLOBAL CLIMATE CHANGE

  o ENV 322 ECOSYSTEM ECOLOGY
  o ENV 340 URBAN ECOLOGY
  o ENV 344 ENVIRONMENTAL JUSTICE AND ADVOCACY
  o ENV 355 INTRODUCTION TO ENVIRONMENTAL HEALTH
  o ENV 390 SPECIAL TOPICS IN ENVIRONMENTAL SCIENCE

Students cannot earn a minor in the same academic program as their major.

Finance (BSB)

DePaul's Finance program will provide you with a solid foundation in financial management and an understanding of public and private financial processes, financial markets, analysis and investments.

As a Finance major, you will take courses in:
You will also take multiple elective courses. Depending on your career goals, you may take a series of courses that focus on one of the following areas:

- Banking and financial services
- Corporate financial management
- Investment analysis/management
- Risk management

DePaul's Driehaus College of Business is located in downtown Chicago, in the heart of the city's financial district, providing you with countless opportunities to intern and work professionally with leading companies in the business industry. You are encouraged to complete an internship with a Chicago-area business during the summer preceding either your junior or senior year.

Business Core Requirements
- 66 hours

Liberal Studies Requirements
- 80 hours

Major Requirements
- 32 hours

Open Electives
- 14 hours

Total hours required
- 192 hours

Learning Outcomes

Core Outcomes

- Use analytical and reflective skills in decision making.
- Communicate effectively both orally and in writing.
- Recognize legal and ethical issues confronting them.
- Contribute to the performance of a group within a business setting.
- Know the differences among global economies, institutions, business practices and cultures.
- Acquire knowledge of the functional areas of business and the interrelationships among the functional areas within a business.

Program Specific Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Understand financial theory and how it can be applied to financial decision making.
  - Develop appropriate cash flows and discount rate analysis of projects, and financial instruments (e.g. bonds and stocks).
  - Apply and interpret the appropriate risk measures (e.g. beta, standard deviation) to situations under uncertainty.
  - Understand the role of agents and impact of governance.
- Understand the structure of the financial markets and the roles of institutions in those markets.
  - Understand the flow of funds in the private and public markets.

- One Professional Writing course to be chosen from:
  - WRD 202 PROFESSIONAL WRITING FOR BUSINESS (2.0 hours)
  - WRD 204 TECHNICAL WRITING
  - WRD 206 PROFESSIONAL WRITING

FIN 300 may not be used towards the major or minor.

Business Ethics

All undergraduate students in the Driehaus College of Business complete a course in Business Ethics. It is recommended students take MGT 248 or PHL 248 in Philosophical Inquiry or MGT 228 or REL 228 in Religious Dimensions in the Liberal Studies Program (or University Honors

[End of document]
Program) Requirements.

Second Majors and Minors

The addition of a second major or minor may affect the Business Core classes required for a student. Meet with an academic advisor to confirm requirements.

Math Requirements

- A student is expected to complete the business math sequence (MAT 135, MAT 136, and MAT 137) in the first year of study
- MAT 135 and MAT 137 are completed through Liberal Studies requirements
- MAT 135 may be replaced by MAT 150 or MAT 160 or MAT 170
- MAT 136 may be replaced by MAT 151 or MAT 161 or MAT 171
- MAT 135 and MAT 136 may be replaced by the sequence of MAT 147, MAT 148, and MAT 149
- MAT 137 may be replaced by MAT 348 or MAT 351; if done, an additional Scientific Inquiry course must be added to the degree plan

Global Business Perspective

If a FIN course is shared between Global Business Perspective and the Finance major, additional hours of Open Elective credit are required.

Grade Minimum Requirements for Finance Major

A minimum grade of C- is required for the following: ACC 101, ACC 102, ECO 105, ECO 106, FIN 310, FIN 320, MAT 135, MAT 136, MAT 137, the course used for Professional Writing, and any FIN course used for Global Business Perspective.

Notes

Specified required courses within Liberal Studies may have grade minimums (e.g. C- or better). Please consult your advisor or your college and major requirements.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Major Requirements

Course Requirements

In addition to FIN 310 and FIN 320, a student majoring in Finance is required to complete the following courses totaling at least 32.0 hours:

- Seven required courses:
  - ACC 304 FINANCIAL REPORTING I
  - FIN 202 QUANTITATIVE REASONING (2.0 hours)
FIN 250 CAREER EXPLORATION & PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT (2.0 hours)
FIN 311 CORPORATE FINANCE
FIN 330 INVESTMENTS: THEORY & PRACTICE
FIN 333 FINANCIAL STATEMENTS ANALYSIS
FIN 380 CASES IN FINANCIAL DECISION MAKING

- Two elective courses (8.0 hours) to be chosen from:
  - FIN 313 INVESTMENT BANKING
  - FIN 323 COMMERCIAL BANKING
  - FIN 335 PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT
  - FIN 336 PRINCIPLES OF STOCK PICKING
  - FIN 340 INTERNATIONAL FINANCE
  - FIN 360 IPOs & VENTURE CAPITAL
  - FIN 362 ENTERPRISE RISK MANAGEMENT
  - FIN 363 DERIVATIVES: PRICING & APPLICATIONS
  - FIN 366 FINANCIAL MODELING
  - FIN 381 BEHAVIORAL FINANCE
  - FIN 393 FINANCE INTERNSHIP (see note below)
  - FIN 394 APPLIED INTERNATIONAL PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT (2.0 hours)
  - FIN 395 INVESTMENT SEMINAR (2.0 hours)
  - FIN 398 SPECIAL TOPICS (multiple topics may be used)
  - FIN 399 INDEPENDENT STUDY
  - RE 350 REAL ESTATE ANALYSIS*

FIN 300 may not be used towards the major.

The Department of Finance enforces all course prerequisites; exceptions will not be made.

*RE 350 and FIN 350 are cross listed and may only be completed once for credit.

Note: FIN 394 and FIN 395 are 2.0 credit hour courses. Students must complete 4.0 credit hours of either the FIN 394 or FIN 395 sequences in order to earn Finance Elective credit. Two hour FIN 398 courses will not satisfy Finance Electives.

FIN 380 is a capstone course. It is recommended that students take this course after the completion of all required finance courses.

Students are encouraged to seek an internship with a Chicago-area business during the summer preceding either their junior or senior year.

Open Electives

Open elective credit (14.0 hours) is needed to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Global Business Perspective

If a FIN course is shared between Global Business Perspective and the Finance major, additional hours of Open Elective credit are required. Any FIN course used toward Global Business Perspective must be passed with C- or higher.

Career Management Course

Students are required to complete the Career Course (250) associated with the major. Students who double major may choose the Career Course (250) associated with either major provided that hours for graduation are satisfied.

Experiential Learning

If FIN 393 is completed in the Finance major consult with academic advisor regarding options for Experiential Learning.

Graduation Requirements

All Finance (FIN) courses and any courses used toward the Finance major must be completed with a minimum grade of C- and with a combined GPA of 2.000 or higher.

Curricular Specializations

The Department offers four recommendations for students who would like to focus their studies on one area of expertise. These areas are optional; no curricular specialization is required for the major.

Finance (Minor)
Available to students majoring outside the Driehaus College of Business, a minor in Finance provides a student with a basic foundation in financial management, along with an understanding of financial markets, analysis, and investments.

Prerequisite Requirements
Students must meet the prerequisites of ACC 101, ECO 105, ECO 106 and MAT 137 (or a course in statistics) prior to some courses in the minor.

Course Requirements
A non-Driehaus student minoring in Finance is required to complete the following courses totaling at least 26.0 hours:
- Five required courses:
  - FIN 202 QUANTITATIVE REASONING (2.0 hours)
  - FIN 310 INTRODUCTION TO FINANCE
  - FIN 311 CORPORATE FINANCE
  - FIN 320 MONEY AND BANKING
  - FIN 330 INVESTMENTS: THEORY & PRACTICE
- Two elective (8.0 hours) courses to be chosen from:
  - FIN 313 INVESTMENT BANKING
  - FIN 323 COMMERCIAL BANKING
  - FIN 333 FINANCIAL STATEMENTS ANALYSIS
  - FIN 335 PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT
  - FIN 336 PRINCIPLES OF STOCK PICKING
  - FIN 340 INTERNATIONAL FINANCE
The Department of Finance enforces all course prerequisites; exceptions will not be made.

FIN 300 may not be used towards the minor.

RE 350 is cross-listed with FIN 350.

Note: FIN 394 and FIN 395 are 2.0 credit hour courses. Students must complete 4.0 credit hours of either the FIN 394 or FIN 395 sequences in order to earn Finance Elective credit. Two hour FIN 398 courses will not satisfy Finance Electives.

FIN 380 is a capstone course. It is recommended that students take this course after the completion of all required finance courses.

Graduation Requirements

All Finance (FIN) courses and any other courses used toward the Finance minor must be completed with a minimum grade of C- and with a combined GPA of 2.000 or higher.

Finance (Minor: Business Students Only)

Students in the Driehaus College of Business who wish to round out their courses of study with a deeper understanding of financial management, investment banking, financial markets and investment strategy, may choose to minor in Finance.

Course Requirements

In addition to FIN 310 and FIN 320, a Driehaus student minoring in Finance is required to complete the following courses totaling at least 18.0 hours:

- Three required courses:
  - FIN 202 QUANTITATIVE REASONING (2.0 hours)
  - FIN 311 CORPORATE FINANCE
  - FIN 330 INVESTMENTS: THEORY & PRACTICE
- Two elective (8 hours) courses to be chosen from:
  - FIN 313 INVESTMENT BANKING
  - FIN 323 COMMERCIAL BANKING
  - FIN 333 FINANCIAL STATEMENTS ANALYSIS
  - FIN 335 PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT
  - FIN 336 PRINCIPLES OF STOCK PICKING
  - FIN 340 INTERNATIONAL FINANCE
  - FIN 360 IPOs & VENTURE CAPITAL
  - FIN 362 ENTERPRISE RISK MANAGEMENT
  - FIN 363 DERIVATIVES: PRICING & APPLICATIONS
  - FIN 366 FINANCIAL MODELING
  - FIN 380 CASES IN FINANCIAL DECISION MAKING
  - FIN 381 BEHAVIORAL FINANCE
  - FIN 393 FINANCE INTERNSHIP
  - FIN 394 APPLIED INTERNATIONAL PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT (2.0 hours)
  - FIN 395 INVESTMENT SEMINAR (2.0 hours)
  - FIN 398 SPECIAL TOPICS (multiple topics may be used)
  - FIN 399 INDEPENDENT STUDY
  - RE 350 REAL ESTATE ANALYSIS

The Department of Finance enforces all course prerequisites; exceptions will not be made.

FIN 300 may not be used towards the minor.
Note: FIN 394 and FIN 395 are 2.0 credit hour courses. Students must complete 4.0 credit hours of either the FIN 394 or FIN 395 sequences in order to earn Finance Elective credit. Two hour FIN 398 courses will not satisfy Finance Electives.

RE 350 is cross-listed with FIN 350.

FIN 380 is a capstone course. It is recommended that students take this course after the completion of all required finance courses.

Graduation Requirements

All Finance (FIN) courses and any other courses used toward the Finance minor must be completed with a minimum grade of C- and with a combined GPA of 2.000 or higher.

Finance Honors (BSB)

The honors program in finance is reserved for students of high promise and exceptional ability. Students admitted to this program are characterized by outstanding academic performance, exceptional leadership capability, high aptitude for superior academic work and exceptional ability for making meaningful contributions during a professional career.

Honors students in finance proceed through the program together in a cohort system with peers who have similar exceptional abilities. Courses reserved for honors students are advanced in nature, student-oriented, and small. Students in the program are afforded the opportunity to interact with leaders from finance and business communities in small settings.

  - MKT 358 MARKETING IN A GLOBAL ENVIRONMENT
  - MKT 360 INTERNATIONAL MARKETING
  - SOC 217 WORK IN A GLOBALIZED WORLD
    - A course taken as part of a term-long study abroad program

- One Professional Writing course to be chosen from:
  - WRD 202 PROFESSIONAL WRITING FOR BUSINESS (2.0 hours)
  - WRD 204 TECHNICAL WRITING
  - WRD 206 PROFESSIONAL WRITING

FIN 300 may not be used towards the major or minor.

Business Ethics

All undergraduate students in the Driehaus College of Business complete a course in Business Ethics. It is recommended students take MGT 248 or PHL 248 in Philosophical Inquiry or MGT 228 or REL 228 in Religious Dimensions in the Liberal Studies Program (or University Honors
Second Majors and Minors

The addition of a second major or minor may affect the Business Core classes required for a student. Meet with an academic advisor to confirm requirements.

Math Requirements

- A student is expected to complete the business math sequence (MAT 135, MAT 136, and MAT 137) in the first year of study.
- MAT 135 and MAT 137 are completed through Liberal Studies requirements.
- MAT 135 may be replaced by MAT 150 or MAT 160 or MAT 170.
- MAT 136 may be replaced by MAT 151 or MAT 161 or MAT 171.
- MAT 135 and MAT 136 may be replaced by the sequence of MAT 147, MAT 148, and MAT 149.
- MAT 137 may be replaced by MAT 348 or MAT 351; if done, an additional Scientific Inquiry course must be added to the degree plan.

Grade Minimum Requirements for Finance Honors Major

A minimum grade of B+ is required for FIN 310. A minimum grade of C- is required for the following: ACC 101, ACC 102, ECO 105, ECO 106, FIN 320, MAT 135, MAT 136, MAT 137, the course used for Professional Writing, and any FIN course used for Global Business Perspective.

Notes

Specified required courses within Liberal Studies may have grade minimums (e.g. C- or better). Please consult your advisor or your college and major requirements.

Courses offered in the student’s primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student’s major and is cross-listed with a course within the student’s major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Major Requirements

Admission Requirements

Students with an overall GPA of 3.300 and a minimum grade of B+ in FIN 310 or currently enrolled in FIN 310 may apply for admission into the program. The admissions committee will consider the student’s GPA, grade in FIN 310 as well as other evidence of superior academic performance for admission into the program.

Course Requirements

In addition to FIN 310 and FIN 320, a student majoring in Finance Honors is required to complete the following courses totaling at least 34.0 hours:

- Three required courses (not taken as Honors section)
  - FIN 202 QUANTITATIVE REASONING (2.0 hours)
  - FIN 250 CAREER EXPLORATION & PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT (2.0 hours)
  - FIN 362 ENTERPRISE RISK MANAGEMENT

- FIN 397 HONORS SEMINAR CONTINUATION (0.0 hours)
- ACC 307 FINANCIAL REPORTING I FOR FINANCE HONORS STUDENTS
- ACC 309 FINANCIAL REPORTING II FOR FINANCE HONORS STUDENTS

Students who have taken the financial accounting courses, ACC 304, ACC 305 and ACC 306, are exempt from taking the financial accounting courses taught within the finance cohort, ACC 307-H and ACC 309-H.

Expectations

A cumulative GPA of 3.000 is required to remain in the program. A student will be dropped from the program if a grade of D or F is earned in any DePaul course after admission to the program.

Once admitted, students will begin the curriculum in the spring quarter of the current academic year, and will complete the curriculum in the spring quarter of the following year. The honors student cohort will be exposed to rigorous and challenging courses in corporate finance, risk management, financial statement analysis, and financial accounting. Analytical writing and teamwork skills will be emphasized throughout the program.

Open Electives

Open elective credit (12.0 hours) is needed to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Career Management Course

Students are required to complete the Career Course (250) associated with the major. Students who double major may choose the Career Course (250) associated with either major provided that hours for graduation are satisfied.

Graduation Requirements

A minimum grade of B+ is required in FIN 310. All other Finance (FIN) courses and any courses used toward the Finance major must be completed with a minimum grade of C- and with a combined GPA of 2.000 or higher.

French (BA)

In DePaul's French program, students will study French language, literature and culture. Because French is a major world language with more than 200 million speakers in more than 50 countries, having the ability to communicate in French will provide students with many career opportunities around the world.

Courses in the French major will cover a variety of topics, including:
- Business
- Cinema
- Civilization
- Communication
- Grammar
- Historical literary periods
- Phonology and phonetics
- Translation

For students interested in pursuing careers in education, the French department partners with the College of Education to award teaching degrees at the middle school and high school levels.

As French majors, students are encouraged to participate in one of DePaul's study abroad programs in order to grow linguistically and expand their cultural understanding of French-speaking societies. DePaul sponsors two study abroad programs in Paris: one at Alliance Française and another at the Institute for the International Education of Students. It also has an exchange program with Sciences Po, an elite institution in the social sciences.

Chicago is a culturally diverse city, providing many opportunities to attend French lectures and festivals, dine out at French restaurants and see the work of French artists.
Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Proficiently speak, understand, read, and write the studied language(s) to:
  - Engage in conversations.
  - Interpret and create a variety of written texts.
  - Provide and obtain information.
  - Express feelings and emotions.
  - Exchange opinions.
- Acquire knowledge of the cultures related to the studied language(s) with appropriate background in geography, history, politics, and society.
- Acquire knowledge of the literary traditions related to the studied language(s) along with techniques of literary and rhetorical analysis.
- Acquire basic notion of the history and theory of language and language study, including linguistics, sociolinguistics, language acquisition, and dialectology.
- Acquire basic notion of the theory and practice of translation and interpretation.

College Core Requirements

Study in the Major Field

The student's course of study in the College consists of three parts: Liberal Studies, the major field, and electives. Together these three parts contribute to the liberal education of the student which is the common purpose of all study in the College. By "liberal education" the College understands not only a deep and thorough knowledge of a particular area of study but a knowledge of the diverse areas of study represented by criticism, history, the arts, the behavioral and social sciences, philosophy, religious studies, the natural science, and mathematics.

The major field program generally is built upon a set of core courses and a specialized "concentration." The number of courses required for a major varies by department. Most students go beyond the minimum requirements, electing additional courses which both broaden and deepen their understanding of their chosen discipline.

Because no academic major program is built in isolation, students are required to pursue a number of electives of the student's choice. The inherent flexibility of this curriculum demands that the student consult an academic advisor at each stage in the total program and at least once prior to each registration. Students will be prompted to visit the College Office for their official graduation check early in their senior year.

Declaration of Major, Minor and Concentration

All students in the College are required to declare a major field prior to beginning their junior year. The student will then be assigned a faculty advisor in the major field department or program and should make an appointment to see that advisor at his or her earliest convenience.

Students must declare or change majors, minors, and concentrations, via Campus Connection. However, for the purpose of exploring the possibility of changing a major field, the student should consult an academic advisor in the Office for Academic Advising Support.

The Modern Language Requirement (MLR)

All students will be required to demonstrate competence in a modern language (i.e., a language other than English) equivalent to the proficiency attained from one year of college-level language study. This Modern Language Requirement (MLR) may be demonstrated by:

- placing into 104 or above on the DePaul language placement exam
- completing the last course or earning AP/IB credit for the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language (e.g. 103 for DePaul language classes)
- completing a college course or earning AP/IB credit for a college course beyond the first-year level in any language (e.g. 104 or above for DePaul language classes)
- completing the final course of a four-year sequence of the same modern language in high school*
- completing a proctored exam by BYU and passing the exam (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)
- completing a proctored Written Proficiency Test (WPT) by Language Testing International (LTI) and achieving a score of Beginner High or above (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)

* Students are strongly encouraged to take the DePaul language placement exam even if they have met the MLR via study of a language in high school. This will ensure continuation of language study at the proper level.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College will abide by this MLR in place on the effective date of the ICT, regardless of when they first matriculated at DePaul.

Students who have met the MLR and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" (MLO) of the Liberal Studies Program (see “Special Programs”).

External Credit and Residency

A student who has been admitted to the College begins residency within the college as of the first day of classes of the term in which the student is registered. Students in residence, whether attending on a full-time or part-time basis, may not take courses away from DePaul University without the written permission of the college. Permission must be obtained in advance of registration to avoid loss of credit or residency in the college; see the LAS website for more information.

Notes

A student whose only major is in Modern Languages is required to complete the Capstone offered by the Department of Modern Languages (MOL). A student who is double majoring (or pursuing dual degrees) with the primary major (or primary degree) in MOL may substitute the Capstone of the secondary major or degree. An MOL major in the University Honors Program shall take only the University Honors Capstone, not both the Honors Capstone and the MOL Capstone.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.
Major Requirements

Course Requirements

- FCH 201 ADVANCED COMMUNICATION I
- FCH 202 ADVANCED COMMUNICATION II
- FCH 203 ADVANCED COMMUNICATION III
- or FCH 204 ADVANCED COMMUNICATION IV
- Five additional 300-level FCH courses

Students must complete the requirements from one of the following two concentrations: Commercial French or Standard. Students who begin their study of French at DePaul with FCH 202 or higher may substitute a 300-level French elective course for any of the required 200-level courses.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Study Abroad Requirements

Year-long program

Students on a year-long study abroad program would most likely complete 10 courses, 5 of which may be applied to their French Major or Minor provided the courses are at the B1 level or higher for FCH 200 level credit and B2 level for FCH 300 level credit. The remaining courses might fulfill various learning domains or other major/minor requirements. They could also potentially be counted as general electives. Note that the 5 French courses completed on a year-long program will most likely generate more than 5 courses worth of credit (30 vs. 20); the excess credits could be used toward the fulfillment of domain requirements, if possible, or applied to general electives, as appropriate.

Semester-long program

Students on semester-long study abroad program would most likely complete 5 courses, 3 of which may be applied to their French Major or Minor provided the courses are at the B1 level or higher for FCH 200 level credit. The remaining courses might fulfill various learning domains or other major/minor requirements. They could also potentially be counted as general electives. Note that the 3 French courses taken on a semester-long program will most likely generate more than 3 courses worth of credit (18 vs. 12); the excess credits could be used toward the fulfillment of domain requirements, if possible, or applied to general electives, as appropriate.

French (Minor)

A minor in French is customizable to fit the goals of each student, with an aim of general proficiency in writing, reading and speaking French. The student may choose to focus on a specific area to complement the course of study.

The minor consists of a total of 5 courses in French language at the 200/300-level.

Students majoring in French (BA) or minoring in Commercial French or French Translation are restricted from earning this minor.

French Translation (Minor)

Course Requirements

- 12 credits of advanced (200-level) coursework in French language, selected to develop appropriate levels of proficiency in the language and to provide an introduction to translation
- 12 credits of advanced (300-level) coursework in translation classes

Depending on their level of prior expertise with French, students may need to complete courses at the Basic and Intermediate levels before enrolling in 200 or 300-level language courses.
Students majoring in French (BA) or minoring in French or Commercial French are restricted from earning this minor.

Game Design (Minor)

The minor in Game Design exposes students to the three areas of game development — animation design, writing and production.

Course Requirements

- ANI 101 ANIMATION FOR NON-MAJORS
  - or ANI 201 ANIMATION I
- ANI 230 3D DESIGN & MODELING
- GAM 224 GAME DESIGN FOR NON-MAJORS
  - or GAM 226 FUNDAMENTALS OF GAME DESIGN
- GAM 244 GAME DEVELOPMENT I
- GAM 245 GAME DEVELOPMENT II
- One (1) course from the following list:
  - ANI 231 3D ANIMATION
  - GAM 341 INTRODUCTION TO LEVEL DESIGN
  - GAM 362 MAKING DEEP GAMES
  - GAM 365 ADVANCED GAME DESIGN
  - GAM 392 GAME MODIFICATION WORKSHOP
  - GAM 397 TOPICS IN GAME DESIGN
  - DC 341 STORYTELLING FOR VIDEO GAMES

Geography (BA)

Geographers examine the spatial relationships between people, places, environments and economies using innovative conceptual and technological approaches. Exciting technological changes, from computer mapping software like Google Earth, to satellite image processing, and global positioning systems (GPS), make geography a fascinating discipline to study. DePaul's geographers share a commitment to 'hands on' teaching and research that makes a world of difference for the people, places, environments and processes that we study. Geographers apply methods such as observation, visualization, analysis, and modeling to explain the spatial organization of human and physical environments. Geographical perspectives foster skills that have broad applications in public policy, research and the private sector. The Department of Geography teaches students to reason spatially by applying geographic techniques and information technologies, including new technologies such as Geographic Information Systems (GIS). This helps students produce sophisticated understandings of the world, its people, environments, economic structures and cultures.

Geospatial analysis and Geographic Information Systems (GIS) is a rapidly-growing multi-billion dollar industry. Geotechnology was named by the U.S. Bureau of Labor as a “hot” area for job growth in both 2005 and 2010 and it is estimated that over the next ten years, demand for geospatial analysts will exceed supply as the geospatial technology industry grows to ten times the size of the video games industry. Geography holds a comparative advantage as a discipline that straddles fields in the social and natural science disciplines and, as a result, Geography has courses in every DePaul learning domain. This breadth of courses makes Geography the ideal double major at DePaul and the range of classes offered means that geography is an exceptional foundation for a variety of careers that explore questions of spatial organization and require regional knowledge. The study of geography builds a unique spatial perspective that sits at the intersection of "natural" and "social" science, and it addresses both "human" and "physical" domains of knowledge, examining the interactions between them through space.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Use key concepts, theories, and vocabulary to interpret how socio-cultural, political, economic, and/or environmental phenomena may construct a “space,” a “place,” a “landscape,” a “location,” or a “region” as a complex material or symbolic structure.
- Use qualitative and/or quantitative methodologies to analyze spatial phenomena, and collect, identify, and apply spatial data from either primary or secondary sources to interpret the spatial character of a physical, socio-cultural, or environment-society problem.
- Interpret spatial patterns of economic inequalities and social injustices and their relation to urban, built, and natural environments.
- Demonstrate competence in one or more of several geospatial technologies (i.e. remote sensing, geographical information systems, global navigation satellite systems, etc.) and articulate effectively the results of that use in speech, text, image, or map.
- Describe and differentiate processes of globalization and their effects on cities, regions, physical systems, cultures, and political divisions.

College Core Requirements

Study in the Major Field

The student’s course of study in the College consists of three parts: Liberal Studies, the major field, and electives. Together these three parts contribute to the liberal education of the student which is the common purpose of all study in the College. By “liberal education” the College understands not only a deep and thorough knowledge of a particular area of study but a knowledge of the diverse areas of study represented by criticism, history, the arts, the behavioral and social sciences, philosophy, religious studies, the natural science, and mathematics.

The major field program generally is built upon a set of core courses and a specialized “concentration.” The number of courses required for a major varies by department. Most students go beyond the minimum requirements, electing additional courses which both broaden and deepen their understanding of their chosen discipline.

Because no academic major program is built in isolation, students are required to pursue a number of electives of the student’s choice. The inherent flexibility of this curriculum demands that the student consult an academic advisor at each stage in the total program and at least once prior to each registration. Students will be prompted to visit the College Office for their official graduation check early in their senior year.

Declaration of Major, Minor and Concentration

All students in the College are required to declare a major field prior to beginning their junior year. The student will then be assigned a faculty advisor in the major field department or program and should make an appointment to see that advisor at his or her earliest convenience.

Students must declare or change majors, minors, and concentrations, via Campus Connection. However, for the purpose of exploring the possibility of changing a major field, the student should consult an academic advisor in the Office for Academic Advising Support.

The Modern Language Requirement (MLR)

All students will be required to demonstrate competence in a modern language (i.e., a language other than English) equivalent to the proficiency attained from one year of college-level language study. This Modern Language Requirement (MLR) may be demonstrated by:

- placing into 104 or above on the DePaul language placement exam
- completing the last course or earning AP/IB credit for the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language (e.g. 103 for DePaul language classes)
- completing a college course or earning AP/IB credit for a college course beyond the first-year level in any language (e.g. 104 or above for DePaul language classes)
- completing the final course of a four-year sequence of the same modern language in high school*
- completing a proctored exam by BYU and passing the exam (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)
- completing a proctored Written Proficiency Test (WPT) by Language Testing International (LTI) and achieving a score of Beginner High or above (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)

* Students are strongly encouraged to take the DePaul language placement exam even if they have met the MLR via study of a language in high school. This will ensure continuation of language study at the proper level.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College will abide by this MLR in place on the effective date of the ICT, regardless of when they first matriculated at DePaul.

Students who have met the MLR and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" (MLO) of the Liberal Studies Program (see "Special Programs").

External Credit and Residency
A student who has been admitted to the College begins residency within the college as of the first day of classes of the term in which the student is registered. Students in residence, whether attending on a full-time or part-time basis, may not take courses away from DePaul University without the written permission of the college. Permission must be obtained in advance of registration to avoid loss of credit or residency in the college; see the LAS website for more information.

Scientific Inquiry (SI)
- 3 Courses Required
  [1 SWK Course, 1 Lab Course, and 1 Additional Course]

Social, Cultural, and Behavioral Inquiry (SCBI)
- 1 Course Required

Religious Dimensions (RD)
- 2 Courses Required

Understanding the Past (UP)
- 2 Courses Required
  * Students must earn a C- or better in this course.

Notes
A student majoring in Geography (GEO) is required to complete the Capstone offered by the GEO Department. This is the case even if a student is double majoring (or pursuing a dual degree) and the secondary major (or degree) requires its own Capstone. A Geography major in the University Honors Program shall take the University Honors Capstone and the GEO Capstone.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the JYEL requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy
Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

Major Requirements

Core Requirements
- GEO 101 ENVIRONMENTAL GEOGRAPHY
- GEO 103 URBANIZATION
- GEO 141 GEOGRAPHIC INFORMATION SYSTEMS I: DIGITAL MAPPING
- GEO 299 PEOPLE, PLACE AND POWER

Concentration Requirements
Students must also complete the requirements from one of the following concentrations: Standard; Urban Development and Planning; GIS and Geotechnology; or Environment and Society.
Concentration Requirements

Concentrations, tracks and specializations provide focus to the major. In addition to any college core requirements, liberal studies requirements and major requirements, students are required to choose one of the following:

- Standard
- Urban Development and Planning
- GIS and Geotechnology
- Environment and Society

Environment and Society Concentration

Course Requirements

Concentration Core

Choose 5 courses from the following, at least one of which must be at the 300-level:

- GEO 200 SUSTAINABLE URBAN DEVELOPMENT
- GEO 205 URBAN ENVIRONMENTAL JUSTICE
- GEO 210 ENVIRONMENTAL CONSERVATION
- GEO 211 BIOGEOGRAPHY
- GEO 215 INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT AND REGIONAL INEQUALITY
- GEO 219 WOMEN AND SCIENCE
- GEO 220 OCEANOGRAPHY
- GEO 225 WEATHER AND CLIMATE
- GEO 260 GLOBALIZATION AND RESOURCES
- GEO 269 CULTURAL AND POLITICAL ECOLOGY
- GEO 310 GREEN INFRASTRUCTURE
- GEO 315 THE STATE AND ECONOMIC GROWTH
- GEO 351 GEOGRAPHY, FOOD AND JUSTICE
- Any other 300-level Geography course with consent of advisor

Methods and Techniques (2 courses)

- GEO 243 REMOTE SENSING (required)

One course from the list below:

- GEO 242 GEOGRAPHIC INFORMATION SYSTEMS II: COMMUNITY GIS
- GEO 340 PLACES, HUMANITIES AND GEOGRAPHIC INFORMATION SYSTEMS
- GEO 343 REMOTE SENSING II
- GEO 344 GEOGRAPHIC INFORMATION SYSTEMS III: SPATIAL ANALYSIS FOR SUSTAINABILITY
- GEO 345 PROGRAMMING IN PYTHON FOR GIS
- GEO 346 HEALTH GIS
- GEO 347 WEB GIS AND SPATIAL DATA VISUALIZATION ON THE WEB
- GEO 391 STATISTICAL DATA ANALYSIS FOR GIS

Supporting/Allied Fields

Five additional environment-themed courses selected with adviser consent from offerings in Anthropology, History of Art and Architecture, Economics, Environmental Science and Studies, Geography, History, International Studies, Political Science, Public Policy Studies, Sociology, and any other discipline or program selected in consultation with the student's adviser.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.
GIS and Geotechnology Concentration

Course Requirements

Concentration Core

Choose 5 courses from the following, at least one of which must be at the 300-level:

- GEO 242 GEOGRAPHIC INFORMATION SYSTEMS II: COMMUNITY GIS
- GEO 243 REMOTE SENSING
- GEO 340 PLACES, HUMANITIES AND GEOGRAPHIC INFORMATION SYSTEMS
- GEO 343 REMOTE SENSING II
- GEO 344 GEOGRAPHIC INFORMATION SYSTEMS III: SPATIAL ANALYSIS FOR SUSTAINABILITY
- GEO 345 PROGRAMMING IN PYTHON FOR GIS
- GEO 346 HEALTH GIS
- GEO 347 WEB GIS AND SPATIAL DATA VISUALIZATION ON THE WEB
- GEO 391 STATISTICAL DATA ANALYSIS FOR GIS

Systematic Surveys and Seminars

Choose any two other Geography courses:

- GEO 133 URBAN GEOGRAPHY - EXPERIENTIAL LEARNING
- GEO 172 CULTURAL GEOGRAPHY
- GEO 200 SUSTAINABLE URBAN DEVELOPMENT
- GEO 201 GEOPOLITICS
- GEO 205 URBAN ENVIRONMENTAL JUSTICE
- GEO 215 INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT AND REGIONAL INEQUALITY
- GEO 219 WOMEN AND SCIENCE
- GEO 231 HISTORICAL GEOGRAPHY OF CHICAGO
- GEO 233 COMPARATIVE URBANISM
- GEO 260 GLOBALIZATION AND RESOURCES
- GEO 266 WORLD ECONOMY: STATES, MARKETS AND LABOR
- GEO 269 CULTURAL AND POLITICAL ECOLOGY
- GEO 310 GREEN INFRASTRUCTURE
- GEO 330 SUSTAINABLE URBAN TRANSPORTATION
- GEO 333 URBAN PLANNING
- GEO 334 URBAN/CITY DESIGN
- Any Geography course in consultation with the student’s adviser.

Courses not taken from those listed in the GIS and Geotechnology Concentration Core may be taken to fulfill the Systematic Surveys and Seminars requirement.

Supporting Fields

Five courses selected from course offerings in, Anthropology, Computer Science, Economics, Environmental Science, Geography, Graphic Design, History, History of Art and Architecture, Information Technology, International Studies, Political Science, Public Policy Studies, Sociology, Women's and Gender Studies, and any other discipline or program selected in consultation with the student's adviser.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Standard Concentration

Course Requirements

Choose seven courses from the following list (at least one course must be at the 300-level):
- GEO 133 URBAN GEOGRAPHY - EXPERIENTIAL LEARNING
- GEO 172 CULTURAL GEOGRAPHY
- GEO 200 SUSTAINABLE URBAN DEVELOPMENT
- GEO 201 GEOPOLITICS
- GEO 204 RELIGIOUS GEOGRAPHY
- GEO 205 URBAN ENVIRONMENTAL JUSTICE
- GEO 210 ENVIRONMENTAL CONSERVATION
- GEO 211 BIOGEOGRAPHY
- GEO 215 INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT AND REGIONAL INEQUALITY
- GEO 219 WOMEN AND SCIENCE
- GEO 220 OCEANOGRAPHY
- GEO 225 WEATHER AND CLIMATE
- GEO 231 HISTORICAL GEOGRAPHY OF CHICAGO
- GEO 233 COMPARATIVE URBANISM
- GEO 260 GLOBALIZATION AND RESOURCES
- GEO 266 WORLD ECONOMY: STATES, MARKETS AND LABOR
- GEO 269 CULTURAL AND POLITICAL ECOLOGY
- GEO 310 GREEN INFRASTRUCTURE
- GEO 316 THE EUROPEAN UNION
- GEO 330 SUSTAINABLE URBAN TRANSPORTATION
- GEO 333 URBAN PLANNING
- GEO 334 URBAN/CITY DESIGN
- GEO 339 TOPICS IN ARCHITECTURE AND URBANISM
- GEO 340 PLACES, HUMANITIES AND GEOGRAPHIC INFORMATION SYSTEMS
- GEO 343 REMOTE SENSING II
- GEO 344 GEOGRAPHIC INFORMATION SYSTEMS III: SPATIAL ANALYSIS FOR SUSTAINABILITY
- GEO 345 PROGRAMMING IN PYTHON FOR GIS
- GEO 346 HEALTH GIS
- GEO 347 WEB GIS AND SPATIAL DATA VISUALIZATION ON THE WEB
- GEO 350 WORLD OF WINE
- GEO 351 GEOGRAPHY, FOOD AND JUSTICE
- GEO 391 STATISTICAL DATA ANALYSIS FOR GIS
- GEO 395 SEMINAR IN SELECTED TOPICS

Supporting Fields

Five courses selected from course offerings in Anthropology, History of Art and Architecture, Economics, Environmental Sciences, Geography, History, International Studies, Political Science, Public Policy Studies, Real Estate, Sociology, Women’s and Gender Studies, and any other discipline or program selected in consultation with the student’s advisor.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Urban Development and Planning Concentration

Course Requirements

Concentration Core

Choose five courses from the following (at least one must be at the 300-level)

- GEO 133 URBAN GEOGRAPHY - EXPERIENTIAL LEARNING
- GEO 200 SUSTAINABLE URBAN DEVELOPMENT
- GEO 205 URBAN ENVIRONMENTAL JUSTICE
- GEO 231 HISTORICAL GEOGRAPHY OF CHICAGO
- GEO 233 COMPARATIVE URBANISM
- GEO 266 WORLD ECONOMY: STATES, MARKETS AND LABOR

- GEO 330 SUSTAINABLE URBAN TRANSPORTATION
- GEO 333 URBAN PLANNING
- GEO 334 URBAN/CITY DESIGN
- GEO 339 TOPICS IN ARCHITECTURE AND URBANISM
Methods and Techniques

Choose two courses from the following list:

- GEO 242 GEOGRAPHIC INFORMATION SYSTEMS II: COMMUNITY GIS
- GEO 243 REMOTE SENSING
- GEO 340 PLACES, HUMANITIES AND GEOGRAPHIC INFORMATION SYSTEMS
- GEO 343 REMOTE SENSING II
- GEO 344 GEOGRAPHIC INFORMATION SYSTEMS III: SPATIAL ANALYSIS FOR SUSTAINABILITY
- GEO 345 PROGRAMMING IN PYTHON FOR GIS
- GEO 346 HEALTH GIS
- GEO 347 WEB GIS AND SPATIAL DATA VISUALIZATION ON THE WEB
- GEO 391 STATISTICAL DATA ANALYSIS FOR GIS

Supporting Fields

Choose five urban-related courses selected from course offerings in Anthropology, Environmental Science and Studies, Geography, History, History of Art and Architecture, Political Science, Public Policy Studies, Real Estate, Sociology, Women's and Gender Studies, or any other discipline or program selected in consultation with the student's adviser.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

3+3 Program (BA/JD)

In the 3 + 3 BA/JD Program, high-achieving first-year undergraduate students are admitted simultaneously to the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences and the College of Law. Students complete their first three years in the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences and their final three years in the College of Law. Students receive the Bachelor of Arts degree after successful completion of their first year of law school. Throughout the program, BA/JD students meet regularly with advisors in both Colleges and have access to a variety of resources to ensure their success.

Key Program Features

- Students earn a law degree (Juris Doctor) in a total of six years (three years undergraduate and three years in law school).
- Students save one year’s worth of tuition, reducing their overall debt load.
- Students benefit from new curricular offerings and collaborative activities created to prepare them for law school.
- Students receive early (conditional) admission to the College of Law.
- Credits earned in the first year of law school apply toward the BA degree.
- Students may opt out of the College of Law segment of the program and continue in the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences during their fourth year.
- If students withdraw after the first semester in the College of Law, they return to the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences for the winter quarter.

Program Requirements

In order to maintain status in the program, students must demonstrate satisfactory progress toward completing their undergraduate coursework in three years, including meeting the Modern Language Requirement and necessary Liberal Studies Program or Honors Program requirements. Students must achieve a cumulative GPA of 3.35 by the end of their second year of study and maintain a cumulative GPA of 3.35 in their third and final year of undergraduate study.

In addition, students must complete a series of two-credit courses, taught by College of Law faculty, prior to matriculation in the College of Law. They are designed to help students understand many aspects of the legal system as well as to complement their undergraduate course of study. The courses are as follows:

- PRELAW 150 THE PRACTICE OF LAW
- PRELAW 151 RECENT CONTROVERSIES IN LAW
- PRELAW 152 THINKING ABOUT THE LAW

In order to matriculate in the College of Law, students will be required to register with the Law School Admissions Council, submit the College of Law's online application, comply with all character and fitness requirements for admission, and submit an LSAT score. The activities should be completed no later than the end of the Autumn Quarter of the participant’s third undergraduate year. The LSAT score will only be used for consideration of merit scholarships; it will not be a factor in the admission of the participant to the program.
Combined Bachelor's/ Master's Degree

The combined Bachelor's/Master's degree programs allow students to complete 12 graduate credit hours while still undergraduates. These 12 graduate credit hours will count toward both the undergraduate and graduate degree programs.

Geography (BA)/ Secondary Education Social Science (MEd)

The TEACH Program combines a Liberal Arts and Social Sciences (LAS) undergraduate Social Science major (Anthropology, Economics, Geography, History, Political Science, or Sociology) or a Science and Health (Psychology) major with a graduate level College of Education (COE) Master’s in Education Program. Students graduate with a BA or BS in their disciplinary major and a MEd in Education with State of Illinois Secondary Social Science licensure.

Students may apply to the Program during the spring of their junior year. They must enroll in the Junior Year Experiential Learning course, TCH 320, and meet other application criteria; these include completion of at least 16 quarter credit hours at DePaul and a 3.0 GPA. During their senior year, students are required to complete a Program capstone course, TCH 390, and three 400-level courses that count toward both their undergraduate and graduate degrees:

- TCH 401 TEACHING AS A PROFESSION IN SECONDARY SCHOOL
- TCH 412 THE NATURE OF HISTORY AND THE SOCIAL SCIENCES
- TCH 422 INQUIRY & APPLICATION IN DEVELOPING SECONDARY HISTORY AND SOCIAL SCIENCES PEDAGOGY

Social Science Content Area (grades of C or better required for licensure):
The following Social Science content area requirements are required. These can be taken as part of the major, liberal studies or open elective requirements:

- HST 298 INTRODUCTION TO HISTORICAL SOURCES AND METHODS
- HST 299 CRAFT OF HISTORY
- 3 United States History courses
- 2 Non- United States History courses
- 6 from the geography major
- Additional licensure requirements: (one course in each area required)
  - Economics (ECO 101 recommended)
  - Political Science (PSC 120 recommended)
  - Psychology (PSY 105 recommended)
  - Sociology (SOC 101 recommended)
  - Anthropology (ANT 102 recommended)

The Master's year comprises teacher-preparation coursework that culminates with student teaching during Spring quarter. Upon graduation and the fulfilling of State of Illinois licensure requirements (which may require some additional course work in the student’s major and related fields), students are eligible to be licensed to teach Social Sciences at the 6th-12th grade levels.

A full description of the Program can be found on the College of Education website in the graduate course catalog. Students interested in the Program should consult with the designated TEACH Program advisor in their home department.

Geography (Minor)

In the Geography minor program you can explore spatial relationships at the local, regional, national and global scales. From learning how to apply methods such as GIS data visualization and analyses, to urban development and planning, and international environmental, geopolitical and economic policies and processes, the five course (20 credit hour) Geography minor offers students an introduction to this dynamic and exciting discipline.

Course Requirements

- Any five Geography courses, selected with the approval of the student’s Geography faculty advisor.

A student completing a Geography minor is eligible to simultaneously complete a GIS Certificate. No more than 2 Geography minor courses can be applied to a GIS Certificate. A student wishing to complete a Geography minor and a GIS Certificate will complete a minimum of 8 Geography courses. Please see a faculty advisor in the Department of Geography for further details. Students majoring in Geography (BA) or minoring in Urban Geography and Planning are restricted from earning this minor.
German (BA)

The German Program at DePaul offers students an extensive background in German and Austrian culture, language, and literature, and prepares them to think and work in an increasingly globalized world. German is the most widely spoken first language in the European Union, and German-speaking countries are among the most influential engines driving culture, business, and politics today. The German-speaking world is rich and multifaceted – these are the cultures of Mozart, Goethe, Freud, Kafka, and Marx – and the study of German also explores the crucial questions of memory and history particular to the German past. A degree in German from DePaul offers a broad-based humanities education with crucial skills in reading, writing, critical thinking, and intercultural communication useful for any number of pursuits after college. Several of our German students have been awarded prestigious grants and scholarships, including multiple Fulbright grants and Congress-Bundestag Youth Exchange scholarships. Our graduates have gone on to pursue careers in government, business, the public humanities, scientific research, and education, both in the US and abroad, while others have enrolled in prestigious graduate programs in the humanities, medicine, and law.

The courses in DePaul's German program give students the opportunity to attain advanced language proficiency while studying all aspects of German literature and culture. Topics of our regular GER course offerings include:

- Language and Culture
- Film
- History and Politics
- Business
- Art and Music
- Literature
- Current Events
- Translation
- Creative Writing

Students expand upon the fundamental skills learned in the German core by choosing one of three concentrations: German Studies, German Language and Literature, or Commercial German. Many German students pair German with another major, and several courses from these double majors can potentially be double-counted with the concentrations in the German major.

The German Program offers its students two study abroad options: a long-term study abroad program to Vienna, and a short-term, human rights-oriented program in Berlin. German students are encouraged to participate in one of these programs, both in order to grow linguistically and also to expand their cultural understanding of the German-speaking world and culture today. The German Program also has its own chapter of the German Honorary Society Delta Phi Alpha and is affiliated with the student-led organization DePaul Deutsch Club.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Proficiently speak, understand, read, and write the studied language(s) to:
  - Engage in conversations.
  - Interpret and create a variety of written texts.
  - Provide and obtain information
  - Express feelings and emotions.
  - Exchange opinions.
- Acquire knowledge of the cultures related to the studied language(s) with appropriate background in geography, history, politics, and society.
- Acquire knowledge of the literary traditions related to the studied language(s) along with techniques of literary and rhetorical analysis.
- Acquire basic notion of the history and theory of language and language study, including linguistics, sociolinguistics, language acquisition, and dialectology.
- Acquire basic notion of the theory and practice of translation and interpretation.
College Core Requirements

Study in the Major Field

The student's course of study in the College consists of three parts: Liberal Studies, the major field, and electives. Together these three parts contribute to the liberal education of the student which is the common purpose of all study in the College. By "liberal education" the College understands not only a deep and thorough knowledge of a particular area of study but a knowledge of the diverse areas of study represented by criticism, history, the arts, the behavioral and social sciences, philosophy, religious studies, the natural science, and mathematics.

Notes

A student whose only major is in Modern Languages is required to complete the Capstone offered by the Department of Modern Languages (MOL). A student who is double majoring (or pursuing dual degrees) with the primary major (or primary degree) in MOL may substitute the Capstone of the secondary major or degree. An MOL major in the University Honors Program shall take only the University Honors Capstone, not both the Honors Capstone and the MOL Capstone.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

Major Requirements

Majors in German must complete a total of 12 advanced courses (48 quarter hours), comprised of a common 8-course core and a 4-course concentration in “German Studies,” “German Language and Literature, or "Commercial German.”

Core Requirements

- GER 201 ADVANCED COMMUNICATION I
- GER 202 ADVANCED COMMUNICATION II
- GER 203 ADVANCED COMMUNICATION III
- Five 300-level GER courses

Students who begin their study of German at DePaul with GER 202 or higher may substitute a 300-level German elective course for any of the required 200-level courses.

300-level German Course Listings

GER 301 INTRODUCTION TO GERMAN LITERATURE I : FROM ORIGINS TO 1600
GER 302 INTRODUCTION TO GERMAN LITERATURE II: FROM 1600-1850
GER 303 INTRODUCTION TO GERMAN LITERATURE III: FROM 1850 TO PRESENT
GER 304 GERMAN DRAMA

GER 308 GOETHE’S FAUST
GER 309 GERMAN CIVILIZATION I
GER 310 GERMAN CIVILIZATION II
GER 311 GERMAN CIVILIZATION III
GER 312 GERMAN INTELLECTUAL HISTORY
Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours. Majors in German should select these courses in consultation with the German Program Director and Modern Languages Staff Advisor. Students can use their open electives to pursue a double major or one or more minors.

German (Minor)

The German minor at DePaul University provides students with a basic linguistic and cultural background, develops their creative and critical thinking skills and helps to prepare them for a career in a multicultural, global world.

The minor consists of a total of 5 courses in German language at the 200/300-level.

Students majoring in German (BA) or minoring in German Studies are restricted from earning this minor.

German Studies (Minor)

The German Studies minor offers a basic proficiency in the German language along with a more in-depth exploration of the cultural landscape and history of German-speaking nations.

Course Requirements

- Three quarters of college-level German language (at any level).
- HST 222 MODERN GERMANY, 1870-PRESENT
- Four additional courses associated with the German-speaking world, chosen in consultation with the German Program Advisor from the list of German Studies Allied Courses below. Please note that while this list of courses is extensive, it is not exhaustive. Other courses not listed here could also be included in the German Studies minor after approval by the German Program Director.

Graphic Design (BFA)

Graphic design integrates a range of media and technologies—from web, interaction, and coding to typography, illustration, branding, and packaging—to communicate to diverse audiences. Students engage with both theory and practice, and develop skills to research, concept, prototype, design and document their work.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:
• Address social, ethical, and user-centered concerns related to visual communication.
• Generate a design portfolio blending typography with graphic imagery that demonstrates technical skill, conceptual strategy, and aesthetic direction.
• Engage in graphic design discourse and critique, referencing graphic design history and theory.
• Use research, inquiry, and iteration to organize and transform complex visual information across a range of visual and interactive platforms.

Liberal Studies Requirements

Honors program requirements can be found in the individual Colleges & Schools section of the University Catalog. Select Academics, followed by Undergraduate, then Honors Program Alternative.

* Students must earn a C- or better in this course.

Notes
Specified required courses within Liberal Studies may have grade minimums (e.g. C- or better). Please consult your advisor or your college and major requirements.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam.

Major Requirements

Course Requirements

- ANI 101 ANIMATION FOR NON-MAJORS
- ANI 201 ANIMATION I
- ANI 260 MOTION GRAPHICS
- ART 106 BEGINNING DRAWING

- GD 395 CAPSTONE PROJECT II
- ISM 101 INTRODUCTION TO USER EXPERIENCE DESIGN
- ISM 210 INTRODUCTION TO HUMAN-COMPUTER INTERACTION
- Twenty-Eight (28) Major Elective Credits
  - Students must complete 28 Major Elective credits in any ANI, DC, GD, GAM, GPH, ISM, TV, VFX, or ART courses. Students must earn a grade of C- or higher in all major elective courses.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 208 hours.

See www.cdm.depaul.edu to see sample schedule of course requirements on a year-by-year basis.

Degree Requirements

Students in this degree must meet the following requirements:
Complete a minimum of 208 credit hours (generally 54 courses).
Earn a grade of C- or higher in WRD 103, WRD 104, and all Major and Minor courses.
Earn a grade of D or higher in all other Liberal Studies and Open Elective courses.
Maintain a cumulative GPA of 2.0 or higher.

Graphic Design (Minor)

DePaul’s minor in Graphic Design provides a foundation in both traditional and computer-based forms of graphic design with a balanced focus on conceptual, creative and technical skills.

Course Requirements

- GD 105 INTRO TO VISUAL DESIGN
- GD 200 GRAPHIC DESIGN I
- GD 300 GRAPHIC DESIGN II
- GD 230 TYPOGRAPHY
- Three (3) courses from the following list and/or any GD course (at least one (1) course must be GD)
  - ANI 101 ANIMATION FOR NON-MAJORS
  - ANI 201 ANIMATION I
  - ANI 230 3D DESIGN & MODELING
  - ANI 260 MOTION GRAPHICS
  - ANI 360 ADVANCED MOTION GRAPHICS
  - DC 125 DIGITAL STILL PHOTOGRAPHY FOR NON-MAJORS
  - DC 220 EDITING I
  - DC 225 DIGITAL STILL PHOTOGRAPHY
  - DC 321 PRODUCTION DESIGN
  - DC 376 VISUAL DESIGN
  - ISM 220 INTERACTIVE DESIGN & PROTOTYPING
  - ISM 222 INFORMATION VISUALIZATION
  - ISM 320 ADVANCED PRINCIPLES OF INTERACTIVITY
  - ISM 270 USER-CENTERED WEB DESIGN
  - IT 130 INTRODUCTORY COMPUTING FOR THE WEB
- Two (2) of the following courses may substitute for one (1) course
  - GD 350 PORTFOLIO WORKSHOP
  - GD 150 ILLUSTRATOR WORKSHOP
  - GD 151 PHOTOSHOP WORKSHOP
  - GD 152 INDESIGN WORKSHOP

Health (Minor)

The Health minor is designed for education students interested in adding teaching skills in Health to their major course of study, which can lead to a middle school teaching endorsement for teacher candidates.

Course Requirements

- PE 206 PERSONAL AND COMMUNITY HEALTH
- PE 273 HEALTH AND NUTRITION
- PE 302 FIRST AID: RESPONDING TO EMERGENCIES
- PE 304 THE SCHOOL HEALTH PROGRAM
- Five additional courses to meet state requirements (see advisor)

Health Sciences (BS)

The mission of DePaul University’s Department of Health Sciences is to educate and train students who will collaboratively address human health from interdisciplinary natural and social scientific perspectives in order to promote health and to improve the lives of individuals and communities.
The Health Sciences major offers concentrations in BioScience and Public Health Sciences that will enable future health care professionals to begin this cross-disciplinary conversation even earlier. Each concentration offers tracks that help students focus their interests and prepare for future careers. This degree a) provides students interested in pursuing a career in one of many health-related professions with a common core of knowledge; b) provides a general track in each concentration but also articulates additional tracks that meet requirements for entry into graduate programs; c) provides enough flexibility to enable students to move among those tracks as their interests evolve, and d) brings students headed for multiple health-related professions into on-going conversation with each other.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Evaluate scientific research and evidence-based approaches to human health on an individual and population level.
- Identify the core concepts and principles of public health and explain how they promote health and prevention of disease.
- Explain the foundational biological principles related to human health.
- Identify and analyze ethical issues in research, health, and public health.
- Explain how social determinants influence an individual's health and create health disparities.
- Demonstrate effective communication skills and work collaboratively with individuals of varied perspectives.

College Core Requirements

Modern Language Requirements

Students who intend to graduate with the Bachelor of Arts (BA) degree will be required to demonstrate competence in a modern language equivalent to the proficiency attained from one year of college-level language study. Such competence may be demonstrated in one of several ways:

- completing the last course in the fourth-year high school sequence of any language
- completing the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language
- completing a college course beyond the first-year level in any language
- achieving a satisfactory score on any of the Modern Language placement examinations administered at DePaul
- achieving a satisfactory rating in a proficiency examination accepted by DePaul
- achieving a score of 3 or higher on the Advance Placement (AP) test for any language
- achieving a score of 5 or higher in the Language B assessment from a Standard or Higher Level International Baccalaureate (IB) program
- achieving a satisfactory score on the CLEP examination

For further information regarding satisfactory scores and possible credit from the DePaul placement, AP, CLEP, or IB examinations, please contact Student Records.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College of Science and Health will abide by the College of Science and Health Modern Language Requirement in place on the effective date of the ICT.

BA students who meet College requirements and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" of the Liberal Studies Program. While Bachelor of Science (BS) students are not required to demonstrate competency in a modern language, the "Modern Language Option" is available to them for language study at any level.

Major Declaration Requirements

All students in the College are required to declare a major field prior to beginning their junior year. After researching College programs, the student should declare a major field by visiting Campus Connection and using the Declarations and Inter-College Transfer tool. The student will then be assigned a faculty advisor or staff advisor in the department or program and should make an appointment to see that advisor at his or her earliest convenience.

To change major fields, or to declare a minor or concentration, the student must use the Declarations and Inter-College Transfer tool described above. However, for the purpose of exploring the possibility of changing a major field, the student should consult an academic advisor in the College or an academic advisor in the Office for Academic Advising Support.

Notes

Students must complete one approved health ethics course: REL 229 (RD) or PHL 229 (PI) within their liberal studies program or a track elective in the major, HLTH 229.

Specified required courses within Liberal Studies may have grade minimums (e.g. C- or better). Please consult your advisor or your college and major requirements.

Students with a primary major in Health Sciences are required to complete the Capstone offered by the Health Sciences department. Students double majoring or pursuing dual degrees with the primary major or primary degree in Health Sciences are required to complete the Capstone offered by the Health Sciences department. Health Sciences students in the University Honors Program shall take the University Honors Capstone. They are not expected to take both the Honors Capstone and the primary major or primary degree Capstone.

Courses offered in the student’s primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student’s major and is cross-listed with a course within the student’s major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy (for Public Health Studies only)

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam.

Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required.

Major Requirements

Core Course Requirements

- HLTH 201 INTRODUCTION TO HEALTH SCIENCE
- HLTH 202 HEALTH RESEARCH LITERACY
- HLTH 210 INTRODUCTION TO PUBLIC HEALTH (not required for some Accelerated Program concentrations)
- HLTH 350 HEALTH SCIENCES CAPSTONE
- BIO 191 GENERAL BIOLOGY I FOR SCIENCE MAJORS

All majors will also complete one approved health ethics course, which can apply to the Religious Dimensions or Philosophical Inquiry learning domains (REL 229 MEDICINE, ETHICS AND SOCIETY or PHL 229 BIOMEDICAL ETHICS) within their liberal studies program, or to their track electives in the major (HLTH 229 ETHICS FOR HEALTH SCIENCES).

Concentration Requirements

Students must select a concentration within the major and complete the requirements. A maximum of one concentration and one track may be selected. Health Sciences concentrations include BioScience (with tracks in General; Medical; Lab Investigations; and Pre-nursing) and Public Health Sciences.
Concentration Requirements

Concentrations provide an opportunity for students to narrow the focus of their major. In addition to the college core requirements, liberal studies requirements and major requirements, student are required to choose one of the following concentrations.

- BioScience
- BioScience - Accelerated Program
- Public Health Sciences

BioScience Concentration - Accelerated Program

The Accelerated Program is only for qualified Pathways Honors students who are majoring in the Health Sciences with a BioScience concentration, and who have been accepted into an accelerated 3+ College of Science and Health pre-professional program. In order to pursue one of the pre-professional Accelerated Program tracks, a student must coordinate carefully with the Pre-Health Advisor and Pre-Health Advising Committee’s (PAC) Accelerated Program advisor (email CSHPreHealth@depaul.edu for information). Once accepted to an accelerated program, students may declare one of the concentrations below. There are pre-professional Accelerated Programs in Nursing (3+2) at DePaul University and in Medicine (3+4), Pathologists’ Assistant (3+2), Pharmacy (3+4), Physical Therapy (3+3), Physician Assistant (3+2), and Podiatry (3+4) at Rosalind Franklin University.

Students formally accepted into an Accelerated Program will complete their fourth year of coursework at their professional school and apply the credit toward their Bachelor of Science in Health Sciences at DePaul. Students must apply for degree conferral via Campus Connect by the deadline outlined in the Student Handbook in order to be considered a candidate for earning their Bachelor of Science degree at the conclusion of their fourth year of study. Depending on the program in question, some Liberal Studies Program courses, Health Sciences major requirements, and open electives will be fulfilled by professional degree courses. To avoid earning duplicate credit for some courses, students must meet regularly with the Pre-Health Advisor and the Health Sciences departmental academic advisor. Please visit the Pathways Honors Program site for more information about eligibility requirements.

Concentration Electives

Students in the Public Health Sciences concentration select four (4) electives from the following list to provide additional focus to their studies.

- HLTH 229 ETHICS FOR HEALTH SCIENCES
- HLTH 230 FUNDAMENTALS OF HEALTH EDUCATION
- HLTH 236 GAY MEN'S HEALTH MATTERS
- HLTH 315 MATERNAL AND CHILD HEALTH
- HLTH 329 HEALTH HUMANITIES
Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Combined Bachelor's/ Master's Programs

Combined Bachelor's/Master's degree programs allow especially strong and motivated students to complete both degrees on an accelerated timeline by sharing a pre-determined limited number of credits between the undergraduate and graduate degree programs. The BS in Health Sciences has specially designed combined degree programs with the MA in Health Communications, the Master of Public Health, and the Master's Entry to Nursing Practice*. Please contact your academic advisor for details.

* Acceptance to Pathways Honors Program required

Health Sciences (BS)/ Generalist Nursing (MS) Master's Entry to Nursing Practice

The combined BS in Health Sciences/Master's Entry to Nursing Practice allows strong students with an interest in nursing to complete both degrees in 5 years, saving both time and significant tuition dollars. In order to be eligible to apply, students must be members of the Pathways Honors Program in the College of Science and Health and should begin working with their academic advisor by the end of their freshman year to ensure that their coursework is completed properly. Due to the restrictive nature of the program, students with significant transfer credit are not eligible. Please see the Accelerated BioScience Concentration requirements for a complete list of courses needed.

Health Sciences (BS)/ Health Communication (MA)

The BS in Health Sciences and MA in Health Communication is a Universal Pathway combined degree offered through the College of Communication. Students should refer to the College of Communications MA in Health Communications Combined Degree Programs page for requirements.
Health Sciences (BS)/ Master of Public Health (MPH)

The 3+2 combined program maintains the rigor and value of both the undergraduate degree in Health Sciences from the College of Science and Health and the Master of Public Health program from the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences, giving students exceptional education and training at the undergraduate and graduate level. The advantage of this program is that students can earn their BS in Health Sciences and their MPH in as few as five years. There is also a Universal Pathway to the MPH as an option for students who are not eligible for the 3+2 combined degree program, and more information about that pathway can be found on the Master of Public Health site.

Interested students may apply to the BS in Health Sciences/Master of Public Health 3+2 combined degree program during their junior year at DePaul. Eligible students must be declared Health Sciences majors in the Public Health Sciences concentration with a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.5. Application to the MPH program is competitive and includes several personal statement essays and a current CV. The GRE requirement will be waived for application to this program. Students are responsible for planning their remaining quarters at DePaul to confirm that they can complete all degree requirements.

In year four, accepted students take undergraduate courses toward the BS, graduate courses towards the MPH, and graduate courses that will count towards both degrees. The students will be awarded the BS in Health Sciences when all requirements have been met, by the end of year 4 at the latest. The fifth year will consist solely of courses for the MPH.

Because this program requires careful planning of courses, students in their sophomore year are encouraged to work with the Health Sciences academic advisor and a faculty advisor from the MPH program. While students are enrolled as undergraduates in the College of Science and Health, they must apply for undergraduate degree conferral in anticipation of completing the BS in Health Sciences. Once students are matriculated as graduate students in the College of Liberal Arts & Social Sciences they will be responsible for applying for degree conferral in anticipation of completing the Master of Public Health.

In the event that they are not accepted to the program, applicants would take the remaining coursework for the BS in Health Sciences and would be encouraged to apply for traditional entry into the MPH.

The MPH curriculum will be completed in its entirety and is unaltered by this program. Unique to this combined degree program, a maximum of 5 courses/20 quarter hours may be applied toward both the BS in Health Sciences and the Master of Public Health courses below will apply toward both degrees. All other graduate coursework counts solely towards the MPH. The following courses in the BS Health Sciences/Public Health Sciences concentration will be replaced by graduate level courses:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>

</tbody>

If the student is admitted to the combined program and completed some MPH coursework but then decides not to complete the MPH, the completed graduate courses will apply to the undergraduate degree and any remaining Health Sciences requirements will be finished at the undergraduate level. Also, students will be advised

Once the 5 courses/20 quarter hours of graduate coursework has been completed and applied toward the BS and MPH degrees, the student will take their remaining undergraduate courses as part of their undergraduate career and remaining graduate courses as part of their graduate career. Once the undergraduate degree is conferred, the student is eligible for the Double Demon Scholarship for remaining graduate-only terms. See DePaul’s Scholarship website for details.

History (BA)

As the American Historical Association has noted, "We all interpret and narrate the past, which is to say that we all participate in making history. It is among our most fundamental tools for understanding ourselves and the world around us." The History Department at DePaul University embraces this idea, and is committed to engaging with students, the university, and the wider community in an ongoing effort to understand the past and its varied meanings, the critical and scholarly debates through which we gain such understanding, and the relationship of the past to the problems of the present.

The history program at DePaul combines a breadth of chronological and geographical coverage with the opportunity to develop a concentration in a student’s fields of interest. Instruction emphasizes the humanistic as well as the social scientific dimension of the field. One-hundred and two-hundred-level courses (lower division) provide surveys of Asian, African, European, Latin American, North American and World and Comparative History. A main focus of these lower division courses is teaching students how to evaluate primary sources. Three-hundred-level courses (upper division) concentrate on historical debates within specific fields. All courses stress development of research, writing and oral communications skills.

The history major gives students a broad base of knowledge and skills applicable to a variety of careers. Many of our graduates go on to work in the fields of education and law. Others pursue jobs in government and politics; museums, historical societies, and libraries; and business and commercial ventures. A wide range of employers find that history majors have honed critical analytical and communications skills, making them ideal candidates for positions of requiring responsibility and independent work habits.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Describe and discuss historical facts, themes, and ideas.
- Identify, analyze, evaluate, and synthesize primary and secondary source evidence.
- Analyze an event, source, idea or person within its historical context.
- Critically evaluate change over time.
- Identify different perspectives on the past, whether those be historical, interpretive, or methodological in nature.
- Conduct research independently using primary and secondary source evidence.
- Express knowledge and reason effectively in writing.

College Core Requirements

Study in the Major Field

The student's course of study in the College consists of three parts: Liberal Studies, the major field, and electives. Together these three parts contribute to the liberal education of the student which is the common purpose of all study in the College. By "liberal education" the College understands not only a deep and thorough knowledge of a particular area of study but a knowledge of the diverse areas of study represented by criticism, history, the arts, the behavioral and social sciences, philosophy, religious studies, the natural science, and mathematics.

The major field program generally is built upon a set of core courses and a specialized "concentration." The number of courses required for a major varies by department. Most students go beyond the minimum requirements, electing additional courses which both broaden and deepen their understanding of their chosen discipline.

Because no academic major program is built in isolation, students are required to pursue a number of electives of the student's choice. The inherent flexibility of this curriculum demands that the student consult an academic advisor at each stage in the total program and at least once prior to each registration. Students will be prompted to visit the College Office for their official graduation check early in their senior year.

Declaration of Major, Minor and Concentration

All students in the College are required to declare a major field prior to beginning their junior year. The student will then be assigned a faculty advisor in the major field department or program and should make an appointment to see that advisor at his or her earliest convenience.

Students must declare or change majors, minors, and concentrations, via Campus Connection. However, for the purpose of exploring the possibility of changing a major field, the student should consult an academic advisor in the Office for Academic Advising Support.

The Modern Language Requirement (MLR)

All students will be required to demonstrate competence in a modern language (i.e., a language other than English) equivalent to the proficiency attained from one year of college-level language study. This Modern Language Requirement (MLR) may be demonstrated by:

- placing into 104 or above on the DePaul language placement exam
- completing the last course or earning AP/IB credit for the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language (e.g. 103 for DePaul language classes)
• completing a college course or earning AP/IB credit for a college course beyond the first-year level in any language (e.g. 104 or above for DePaul language classes)
• completing the final course of a four-year sequence of the same modern language in high school*
• completing a proctored exam by BYU and passing the exam (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)
• completing a proctored Written Proficiency Test (WPT) by Language Testing International (LTI) and achieving a score of Beginner High or above (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)

* Students are strongly encouraged to take the DePaul language placement exam even if they have met the MLR via study of a language in high school. This will ensure continuation of language study at the proper level.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College will abide by this MLR in place on the effective date of the ICT, regardless of when they first matriculated at DePaul.

Students who have met the MLR and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the “Modern Language Option” (MLO) of the Liberal Studies Program (see “Special Programs”).

External Credit and Residency

A student who has been admitted to the College begins residency within the college as of the first day of classes of the term in which the student is registered. Students in residence, whether attending on a full-time or part-time basis, may not take courses away from DePaul University without the written permission of the college. Permission must be obtained in advance of registration to avoid loss of credit or residency in the college; see the LAS website for more information.

Liberal Studies Requirements

Honors program requirements can be found in the individual Colleges & Schools section of the University Catalog. Select Academics, followed by Undergraduate, then Honors Program Alternative.

Understanding the Past (UP)

- Not Required

* Students must earn a C- or better in this course.

Notes

A student majoring in History (HST) is required to complete the Capstone offered by the History Department. This is the case even if a student is double majoring (or pursuing a dual degree) and the secondary major (or degree) requires its own Capstone. An HST major in the University Honors Program shall take the University Honors Capstone and the HST Capstone.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student’s major and is cross-listed with a course within the student’s major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.
Major Requirements

Course Requirements

Core

- HST 298 INTRODUCTION TO HISTORICAL SOURCES AND METHODS*
- HST 299 CRAFT OF HISTORY
- HST 390 CAPSTONE IN HISTORICAL RESEARCH AND WRITING

*Important Note: Students must complete WRD 103 and WRD 104 or HON 101 prior to enrolling in HST 298. For all concentrations, HON 102 may be counted toward lower division requirements.

Concentration Requirements

Students must also complete the requirements from one of the following concentrations: standard, pre-law, public history, or secondary-education.

Concentration Requirements

Concentrations, tracks and specializations provide focus to the major. In addition to any college core requirements, liberal studies requirements and major requirements, students are required to choose one of the following:

- Standard
- Pre-Law
- Public History
- Secondary Education History

Pre-Law Concentration

Course Requirements

Lower Division Courses

Students must take five courses at the 100- or 200-level. Note that the 200-level courses are not more difficult than the 100. The 100-level indicates that the course examines global history or large regions of the world. The 200-level indicates that the course has a narrower national or thematic focus. Note: HON 102 HISTORY IN GLOBAL CONTEXTS may be counted toward this lower division requirement.

Core

- HST 298 INTRODUCTION TO HISTORICAL SOURCES AND METHODS *
- HST 299 CRAFT OF HISTORY
- HST 390 CAPSTONE IN HISTORICAL RESEARCH AND WRITING

History majors should take HST 298 at the beginning of their sophomore year, after they have completed two or three of their lower-division courses as well as WRD 103 and WRD 104. Transfer students should plan on registering for HST 298 as soon as possible.

*Important Note: Students must complete WRD 103 and WRD 104 or HON 101 prior to enrolling in HST 298. For all concentrations, HON 102 may be counted toward lower division requirements.

Upper Division Courses

Once they have completed HST 298, students take six HST courses at the 300 level. One of the 300 level classes must be a gateway course linked to HST 390. Note that HST 390 counts as a capstone and not as one of the six 300 level HST courses. For those in the pre-law concentration, four of those six 300-level classes must be the following:

- HST 388 THE COURT AND THE U.S. BILL OF RIGHTS
HST 395 ISSUES IN NON-U.S. LEGAL HISTORY

Two courses from the following list:
- HST 301 U.S. LABOR HISTORY
- HST 308 EUROPE FROM CONFLICT TO CONSENSUS
- HST 328 ENGLISH CONSTITUTIONAL HISTORY
- HST 331 THE NATION AND NATIONALISM IN EUROPE
- HST 332 FRENCH REVOLUTION AND NAPOLEON
- HST 335 THE AGE OF ENLIGHTENMENT IN EUROPE
- HST 371 THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION
- HST 379 RECONSTRUCTION AND THE RISE OF JIM CROW
- HST 385 UNITED STATES CONSTITUTIONAL HISTORY TO 1865
- HST 386 UNITED STATES CONSTITUTIONAL HISTORY SINCE 1865
- Any 300-level HST Topics course with a relevant topic

History majors cap off their studies with HST 390 CAPSTONE IN HISTORICAL RESEARCH AND WRITING, a course in deep and sustained historical research and writing. To prepare for this capstone, one of the six 300-level HST classes must be part of a two-quarter linked sequence (called the "gateway course"). Students are strongly encouraged to take this sequence either in their junior or senior year bearing in mind that the gateway HST 390s are reliably offered only in Autumn-Winter and Winter-Spring. Not all 300-level HST courses are gateways to the HST 390 capstone, so students should refer to the History Department web page and postings in SAC 420 for applicable offerings. HST 299 is a prerequisite for HST 390.

Additional Course

Students will take one additional HST course in either the lower or upper division.

Open Electives

Open elective credit is also required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

- Of the five lower division and six upper division courses, four must come from the following list:
  - HST 269 MUSEUMS, MATERIAL CULTURE AND MEMORY: INTRODUCTION TO PUBLIC HISTORY
  - HST 360 DOING DIGITAL HISTORY
  - HST 382 CHICAGO HISTORY MUSEUM EXPERIENCE
  - HST 389 TOPICS IN PUBLIC HISTORY
  - HST 391 DOING LOCAL AND COMMUNITY HISTORY

Secondary Education History Concentration

Course Requirements

The Secondary Education concentration is intended to be completed as a double major with the College of Education. Please consult a COE advisor for more information.

In order to fulfill the history portion of the double major, here are the required courses:

Lower Division Courses

Students take five 100- or 200-level courses, including:

- Two courses in the World History Sequence:
  - HST 111 THE WORLD TO C.1500
  - HST 112 THE WORLD, C.1500-1914
  - HST 113 THE WORLD, 1900-PRESENT
- Two courses in the American History Sequence:
  - HST 181 UNITED STATES TO 1800
  - HST 182 UNITED STATES, 1800-1900
  - HST 183 UNITED STATES, 1900-PRESENT
- One 100- or 200-level course

Core

- HST 298 INTRODUCTION TO HISTORICAL SOURCES AND METHODS *
- HST 299 CRAFT OF HISTORY
- HST 390 CAPSTONE IN HISTORICAL RESEARCH AND WRITING

History majors should take HST 298 at the beginning of their sophomore year, after they have completed two or three of their lower-division courses as well as WRD 103 and WRD 104. Transfer students should plan on registering for HST 298 as soon as possible.

*Important Note: Students must complete WRD 103 and WRD 104 or HON 101 prior to enrolling in HST 298. For all concentrations, HON 102 may be counted toward lower division requirements.

One Additional Course
Students will take one additional lower or upper division HST course.

Note: In addition to the World and US requirements at the lower level shown above, of the remaining requirements (6 upper level courses and one at either level) 2 must be US and 2 non-US.

Open Electives

Open elective credit is also required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

HST 299 is a prerequisite for HST 390.

One Additional Course

Students will take one additional HST course in either the lower or upper division.

Open Electives

Open elective credit is also required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

3+3 Program (BA/JD)

In the 3 + 3 BA/JD Program, high-achieving first-year undergraduate students are admitted simultaneously to the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences and the College of Law. Students complete their first three years in the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences and their final three years in the College of Law. Students receive the Bachelor of Arts degree after successful completion of their first year of law school. Throughout the program, BA/JD students meet regularly with advisors in both Colleges and have access to a variety of resources to ensure their success.
Key Program Features

- Students earn a law degree (Juris Doctor) in a total of six years (three years undergraduate and three years in law school).
- Students save one year’s worth of tuition, reducing their overall debt load.
- Students benefit from new curricular offerings and collaborative activities created to prepare them for law school.
- Students receive early (conditional) admission to the College of Law.
- Credits earned in the first year of law school apply toward the BA degree.
- Students may opt out of the College of Law segment of the program and continue in the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences during their fourth year.
- If students withdraw after the first semester in the College of Law, they return to the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences for the winter quarter.

Program Requirements

In order to maintain status in the program, students must demonstrate satisfactory progress toward completing their undergraduate coursework in three years, including meeting the Modern Language Requirement and necessary Liberal Studies Program or Honors Program requirements. Students must achieve a cumulative GPA of 3.35 by the end of their second year of study and maintain a cumulative GPA of 3.35 in their third and final year of undergraduate study.

In addition, students must complete a series of two-credit courses, taught by College of Law faculty, prior to matriculation in the College of Law. They are designed to help students understand many aspects of the legal system as well as to complement their undergraduate course of study. The courses are as follows:

- PRELAW 150 THE PRACTICE OF LAW
- PRELAW 151 RECENT CONTROVERSIES IN LAW
- PRELAW 152 THINKING ABOUT THE LAW

In order to matriculate in the College of Law, students will be required to register with the Law School Admissions Council, submit the College of Law’s online application, comply with all character and fitness requirements for admission, and submit an LSAT score. The activities should be completed no later than the end of the Autumn Quarter of the participant’s third undergraduate year. The LSAT score will only be used for consideration of merit scholarships; it will not be a factor in the admission of the participant to the program.

Combined Bachelor’s/Master’s Degree

History (BA)/Secondary Education History (MEd)

The TEACH Program combines a Liberal Arts and Social Sciences (LAS) undergraduate Social Science major (Anthropology, Economics, Geography, History, Political Science, or Sociology) or a Science and Health (Psychology) major with a graduate level College of Education (COE) Master’s in Education Program. Students graduate with a BA or BS in their disciplinary major and a MEd in Education with State of Illinois Secondary Social Science licensure.

This combined degree program of the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences and the College of Education was collaboratively developed, and is governed and taught by faculty from these units.

Students may apply to the Program during the spring of their junior year. They must enroll in the Junior Year Experiential Learning course, TCH 320, and meet other application criteria; these include completion of at least 16 quarter credit hours at DePaul and a 3.0 GPA. During their senior year, students are required to complete a Program capstone course, TCH 390, and three 400-level courses that count toward both their undergraduate and graduate degrees:

- TCH 401 TEACHING AS A PROFESSION IN SECONDARY SCHOOL
- TCH 412 THE NATURE OF HISTORY AND THE SOCIAL SCIENCES
- TCH 422 INQUIRY & APPLICATION IN DEVELOPING SECONDARY HISTORY AND SOCIAL SCIENCES PEDAGOGY

Content Area Requirements for Secondary History Education (grades of C or better required for certification):

The following courses should be completed as part of the history major:

- HST 298 INTRODUCTION TO HISTORICAL SOURCES AND METHODS (serves as prerequisite for HST 299 & serves as prerequisite for upper division History courses)
- HST 299 CRAFT OF HISTORY
- 4 US History courses
- 4 Non-US History courses

*A minimum of four History courses must be at the upper division level (300-level) with at least one of those courses in non-US History.

Additional licensure requirements which can be taken as liberal studies or open elective requirements (minimum of one course in each discipline required):

- Geography (GEO 101 recommended)
- Economics (ECO 106 recommended)
- Political Science (PSC 120 recommended)
- Sociology (SOC 101 recommended)
- Psychology (PSY 105 recommended)
- Anthropology (ANT 102 recommended)

History (Minor)

DePaul's History minor is designed to help students develop a critical understanding of the past, as well as its impact on the present and the future. Students may pick a specific focus area of interest to complement their major.

Course Requirements

- HST 298 INTRODUCTION TO HISTORICAL SOURCES AND METHODS
- Two lower division HST courses (100 or 200 level)
- Two upper division HST courses (300 level)
- One course in either the lower or upper level

Students majoring in History (BA) are restricted from earning this minor.

History of Art and Architecture (BA)

The Department of the History of Art and Architecture familiarizes DePaul students with works of art that define civilizations around the world from their emergence to the present day. The study of art is integral to the development of human knowledge and thus consistent with the academic goals of DePaul University as well as a liberal arts education. We extend the Vincentian mission in our particular focus on comparative culture and art in its urban setting. In an increasingly interconnected world, art history encourages a critical engagement with the visual and its role in individual and social formation.

The study of art and architectural history prepares students for a wide variety of careers and post-graduate pursuits. Thus, all of our classes foster critical thinking by developing visual literacy, close reading, persuasive writing, research skills and oral communication. Taking advantage of the rich cultural resources of Chicago through classroom lectures, discussions and site visits to exhibits, museums, and architectural monuments, students come to understand how art is produced and how it operates in its social and historical moment. In more advanced classes, students become well-versed in the nature of the field and its current and traditional theoretical issues. In these classes, too, consideration is given to the professional world, including museums, galleries, cultural institutions, and the global art market.

All of these goals are consistent with our professional aspirations, not only as faculty, but as scholars who distinguish ourselves by the breadth of our geographical and chronological interests and through our record of publishing and professional achievements. Although our approaches vary widely, we are united in our shared interest in the creative, social, and political forces that both determine and emanate from all works of art.

Learning Outcomes

Student will be able to:

- Identify and analyze physical, technical, and conceptual aspects of an object, building, or architectural site.
- Initiate and conduct independent research on art and architecture, making use of library, textual, and primary source materials.
- Discuss and explain, in an in-depth way, the history of art and architecture, including its most compelling theoretical issues, and various ideological approaches.
- Speak and write in a sophisticated way on the diverse cultural, ethnic and gender traditions in the visual arts and architecture.
- Demonstrate a geographically and chronologically broad knowledge of art and architecture sufficient for applying to graduate programs or for entry-level work in most professional art contexts, such as museums, galleries, educational and research centers, and publications.
College Core Requirements

Study in the Major Field

The student's course of study in the College consists of three parts: Liberal Studies, the major field, and electives. Together these three parts contribute to the liberal education of the student which is the common purpose of all study in the College. By "liberal education" the College understands not only a deep and thorough knowledge of a particular area of study but a knowledge of the diverse areas of study represented by criticism, history, the arts, the behavioral and social sciences, philosophy, religious studies, the natural science, and mathematics.

The major field program generally is built upon a set of core courses and a specialized “concentration.” The number of courses required for a major varies by department. Most students go beyond the minimum requirements, electing additional courses which both broaden and deepen their understanding of their chosen discipline.

Because no academic major program is built in isolation, students are required to pursue a number of electives of the student's choice. The inherent flexibility of this curriculum demands that the student consult an academic advisor at each stage in the total program and at least once prior to each registration. Students will be prompted to visit the College Office for their official graduation check early in their senior year.

Declaration of Major, Minor and Concentration

All students in the College are required to declare a major field prior to beginning their junior year. The student will then be assigned a faculty advisor in the major field department or program and should make an appointment to see that advisor at his or her earliest convenience.

Students must declare or change majors, minors, and concentrations, via Campus Connection. However, for the purpose of exploring the possibility of changing a major field, the student should consult an academic advisor in the Office for Academic Advising Support.

The Modern Language Requirement (MLR)

All students will be required to demonstrate competence in a modern language (i.e., a language other than English) equivalent to the proficiency attained from one year of college-level language study. This Modern Language Requirement (MLR) may be demonstrated by:

- placing into 104 or above on the DePaul language placement exam
- completing the last course or earning AP/IB credit for the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language (e.g. 103 for DePaul language classes)
- completing a college course or earning AP/IB credit for a college course beyond the first-year level in any language (e.g. 104 or above for DePaul language classes)
- completing the final course of a four-year sequence of the same modern language in high school*
- completing a proctored exam by BYU and passing the exam (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)
- completing a proctored Written Proficiency Test (WPT) by Language Testing International (LTI) and achieving a score of Beginner High or above (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)

* Students are strongly encouraged to take the DePaul language placement exam even if they have met the MLR via study of a language in high school. This will ensure continuation of language study at the proper level.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College will abide by this MLR in place on the effective date of the ICT, regardless of when they first matriculated at DePaul.

Students who have met the MLR and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" (MLO) of the Liberal Studies Program (see "Special Programs").

External Credit and Residency

A student who has been admitted to the College begins residency within the college as of the first day of classes of the term in which the student is registered. Students in residence, whether attending on a full-time or part-time basis, may not take courses away from DePaul University without the written permission of the college. Permission must be obtained in advance of registration to avoid loss of credit or residency in the college; see the LAS website for more information.

Notes

A student majoring in History of Art and Architecture (HAA) is required to complete the Capstone offered by the HAA Department. This is the case even if a student is double majoring (or pursuing a dual degree) and the secondary major (or degree) requires its own Capstone. An HAA major in the University Honors Program shall take the University Honors Capstone and the HAA Capstone.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

3+3 Program (BA/JD)

In the 3 + 3 BA/JD Program, high-achieving first-year undergraduate students are admitted simultaneously to the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences and the College of Law. Students complete their first three years in the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences and their final three years in the College of Law. Students receive the Bachelor of Arts degree after successful completion of their first year of law school. Throughout the program, BA/JD students meet regularly with advisors in both Colleges and have access to a variety of resources to ensure their success.

Key Program Features

- Students earn a law degree (Juris Doctor) in a total of six years (three years undergraduate and three years in law school).
- Students save one year’s worth of tuition, reducing their overall debt load.
- Students benefit from new curricular offerings and collaborative activities created to prepare them for law school.
- Students receive early (conditional) admission to the College of Law.
- Credits earned in the first year of law school apply toward the BA degree.
- Students may opt out of the College of Law segment of the program and continue in the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences during their fourth year.
- If students withdraw after the first semester in the College of Law, they return to the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences for the winter quarter.

Program Requirements

In order to maintain status in the program, students must demonstrate satisfactory progress toward completing their undergraduate coursework in three years, including meeting the Modern Language Requirement and necessary Liberal Studies Program or Honors Program requirements. Students must achieve a cumulative GPA of 3.35 by the end of their second year of study and maintain a cumulative GPA of 3.35 in their third and final year of undergraduate study.

In addition, students must complete a series of two-credit courses, taught by College of Law faculty, prior to matriculation in the College of Law. They are designed to help students understand many aspects of the legal system as well as to complement their undergraduate course of study. The courses are as follows:

- PRELAW 150 THE PRACTICE OF LAW
- PRELAW 151 RECENT CONTROVERSIES IN LAW
- PRELAW 152 THINKING ABOUT THE LAW
In order to matriculate in the College of Law, students will be required to register with the Law School Admissions Council, submit the College of Law’s online application, comply with all character and fitness requirements for admission, and submit an LSAT score. The activities should be completed no later than the end of the Autumn Quarter of the participant’s third undergraduate year. The LSAT score will only be used for consideration of merit scholarships; it will not be a factor in the admission of the participant to the program.

History of Art and Architecture (Minor)

The minor program helps students develop visual literacy by critically thinking about how art and architecture affect individuals and societies. Students may focus on a particular area of art history or architecture.

Course Requirements

- One course from the following list:
  - HAA 101 INTRODUCTION TO AFRICAN ART
  - HAA 115 INTRODUCTION TO ASIAN ART
  - HAA 145 INTRODUCTION TO ARTS OF THE AMERICAS
- Five additional 200- or 300-level history of art and architecture courses
  - HAA 130 INTRODUCTION TO EUROPEAN ART may be substituted for one 200 or 300 level course in the minor

Students wishing to group their minor courses around a specialty should confer with the history of art and architecture professor in that specialty.

Students majoring in History of Art and Architecture (BA) are restricted from earning this minor.

Hospitality Leadership (BSB)

The heart and soul of any academic program is the curriculum and the faculty who deliver it. We have developed our unique curriculum with the strong involvement of local Chicago hospitality industry leaders and the members of our national advisory board. We have also asked senior faculty at four of the nation’s top ranked hospitality programs to review it and advise us how to strengthen it. By incorporating this input, we created a powerful curriculum that distinguishes us from other hospitality programs. Our curriculum blends two primary concepts: hospitality industry knowledge and key business skills. Additionally, woven throughout the courses are five central themes: leadership, ethics, human resources, globalization and sustainability. By including these themes in many of our courses, we strive to deeply instill within students a sense of personal and corporate social responsibility embedded within an awareness of the larger world around them.

We have three primary curricular goals:

1. Embed a true sense of hospitality within our students; that is, to create a bedrock belief that hospitality is about serving others
2. Create industry leaders prepared to deliver hospitality to anyone who needs it, whenever or wherever
3. Embrace the Vincentian mission: to share hospitality with the underprivileged and disenfranchised members of our communities

The Hospitality Leadership major is comprised of three components: the Liberal Studies Program (the broad, general education of members of our society), the College of Business core (foundational business skills), and the specific requirements of the School of Hospitality Leadership.

- WRD 202 PROFESSIONAL WRITING FOR BUSINESS (2.0 hours)
- WRD 204 TECHNICAL WRITING
- WRD 206 PROFESSIONAL WRITING

Business Ethics

All undergraduate students in the Driehaus College of Business complete a course in Business Ethics. It is recommended students take MGT 248 or PHL 248 in Philosophical Inquiry or MGT 228 or REL 228 in Religious Dimensions in the Liberal Studies Program (or University Honors Program) Requirements.

Global Business Perspective

If an ICS or HSP course is shared between Global Business Perspective and the Hospitality major, additional hours of Open Elective credit are required. Any ICS or HSP course must be passed with C- or higher.

Second Majors and Minors

The addition of a second major or minor may affect the Business Core classes required for a student. Meet with an academic advisor to confirm requirements.

Math Requirements

- A student is expected to complete the business math sequence (MAT 135, MAT 136, and MAT 137) in the first year of study
- MAT 135 and MAT 137 are completed through Liberal Studies requirements
- MAT 135 may be replaced by MAT 150 or MAT 160 or MAT 170
- MAT 136 may be replaced by MAT 151 or MAT 161 or MAT 171
- MAT 135 and MAT 136 may be replaced by the sequence of MAT 147, MAT 148, and MAT 149
- MAT 137 may be replaced by MAT 348 or MAT 351; if done, an additional Scientific Inquiry course must be added to the degree plan

Business Capstone Requirement

Hospitality Leadership majors must take ICS 396 for the Business Capstone; use of ICS 396 is limited to Hospitality Leadership majors. A student majoring in Hospitality Leadership and a second business major must complete ICS 396 and one of ICS 394 or ICS 395.

Business Law Requirement

Hospitality Leadership majors must take HSP 207 for the Business Law requirement; use of HSP 207 is limited to Hospitality Leadership majors. A student majoring in Hospitality Leadership and a second business major must complete both HSP 207 and BLW 201.

Grade Minimum Requirements for Hospitality Leadership Major

A minimum grade of C- is required for the following: ACC 101, ACC 102, ECO 105, ECO 106, HSP 207, MAT 135, MAT 136, MAT 137, and the course in Professional Writing.
Liberal Studies Requirements

Honors program requirements can be found in the individual Colleges & Schools section of the University Catalog. Select Academics, followed by Undergraduate, then Honors Program Alternative.

* Students must earn C- or better in this course.
 Students majoring in Hospitality Leadership are required to complete the sequence of HSP 303 and HSP 304 in order to receive Junior Year Experiential Learning credit.
 PHL 248 / MGT 248 is required in PI or REL 228 / MGT 228 is required in RD

Notes

Specified required courses within Liberal Studies may have grade minimums (e.g. C- or better). Please consult your advisor or your college and major requirements.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Major Requirements

Course Requirements

A student majoring in Hospitality Leadership is required to complete the following courses totaling at least 46.0 hours plus 8.0 hours to be shared with the Business Core and 4.0 hours to be shared with the Liberal Studies Program (58.0 hours total):

- One required course to be taken Pass/Fail and for 0 hours:
  - HSP 1 HOSPITALITY BUSINESS ETIQUETTE
- One required course to be taken for 4.0 hours:
  - HSP 100 INTRODUCTION TO HOSPITALITY
- Eight required courses to be taken for 2.0 hours each:
  - HSP 201 HOSPITALITY SERVICE & EXPERIENCE MANAGEMENT
  - HSP 202 HOSPITALITY BUSINESS OPERATIONS
  - HSP 203 HOSPITALITY LEADERSHIP & SELF DEVELOPMENT
  - HSP 204 HOSPITALITY LEADERSHIP & TEAMS
  - HSP 205 HOSPITALITY REVENUE, SALES & MARKETING
  - HSP 206 HOSPITALITY RATIO & FINANCIAL ANALYSIS
  - HSP 208 MANAGING PEOPLE & THE CHICAGO UNION ENVIRONMENT
  - HSP 250 MANAGING YOUR HOSPITALITY CAREER
- Two required courses to be taken in Business Core for 4.0 hours each:
  - HSP 207 HOSPITALITY LAW, ETHICS & RISK
  - ICS 396 HOSPITALITY STRATEGY
- Two required courses to be taken Pass/Fail and for 1.0 hour each:
  - HSP 301 LEADERSHIP SPEAKER SERIES I
  - HSP 302 LEADERSHIP SPEAKER SERIES II
- Two required courses to be taken in Liberal Studies (or University Honors Program) Requirements for Experiential Learning and for 2.0 hours each:
  - HSP 303 HOSPITALITY INTERNSHIP I
  - HSP 304 HOSPITALITY INTERNSHIP II
- One Hospitality Leadership Concentration for 24.0 hours

Business Capstone

Hospitality Leadership majors must take ICS 396 for the Business Capstone; use of ICS 396 is limited to Hospitality Leadership majors. A student majoring in Hospitality Leadership and a second business major must complete both ICS 396 and either ICS 394 or ICS 395.

Business Law

Hospitality Leadership majors must take HSP 207 for the Business Law requirement; use of HSP 207 is limited to Hospitality Leadership majors. A student majoring in Hospitality Leadership and a second business major must complete both HSP 207 and BLW 201.
Experiential Learning

Hospitality Leadership majors must complete HSP 303 and HSP 304. The completed sequence satisfies the requirement for Experiential Learning in the Liberal Studies Program (or University Honors Program) Requirements.

Career Management Course

Students are required to complete the Career Course (250) associated with the major. Students who double major may choose the Career Course (250) associated with either major provided that hours for graduation are satisfied.

Global Business Perspective

If an ICS or HSP course is shared between Global Business Perspective and the Hospitality major, additional hours of Open Elective credit are required. Any ICS or HSP course must be passed with C- or higher.

Graduation Requirements

All Hospitality Leadership (HSP) courses and any other courses used toward the major must be completed with a minimum grade of C- (or PA where specified) and with a combined GPA of 2.000 or higher.

Concentration Requirements

Concentrations, tracks and specializations provide focus to the major. In addition to any college core requirements, liberal studies requirements and major requirements, students are required to choose one of the following:

- Event Management
- Lodging Management
- Private Club Management
- Restaurant Operations and Ownership

Event Management

This dynamic and fast growing field includes the management of meetings, events, and tradeshows for organizations and facilities. Career paths include corporate planning, association planning, special event companies, and intermediaries or third party planning companies. Most common types of meetings and events planned by these professionals include: product launches, business meetings, conventions, tradeshows, customer events, and special events. A student majoring in Hospitality Leadership with this concentration must complete the following requirements totaling at least 24.0 hours:

- One required course:
  - HSP 350 EVENT PLANNING
- Two elective courses to be chosen from:
  - HSP 352 EVENT PRODUCTION
  - HSP 353 EVENT SALES, SERVICE & PROMOTION
  - HSP 355 ADVANCED EVENT MANAGEMENT
  - ICS 350 INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS SEMINAR (Hospitality-led programs only)
  - HSP 502 MANAGING THE GUEST/EMPLOYEE EXPERIENCE *
  - HSP 503 ADVANCED HOSPITALITY LEADERSHIP AND PERFORMANCE *
  - HSP 505 SERVICE TECHNOLOGY & INNOVATION IN THE HOSPITALITY ENVIRONMENT *
- Three elective courses to be chosen from the list above or:
  - Any HSP course between HSP 305 through HSP 399

*To take graduate (500) level HSP courses a student must be admitted to the Hospitality Leadership and Operational Performance (MS) Combined Master's Program.

Graduation Requirements

All Hospitality Leadership (HSP) courses and any other courses used toward the Hospitality Leadership major must be completed with a minimum grade of C- (or PA where specified) and with a combined GPA of 2.000 or higher.
Lodging Management

Hotels, motels, inns, bed & breakfast, resorts, cruises, etc., or anywhere that people sleep away from home is included in this concentration. This field includes the management of all of the various facilities and amenities found at modern lodging facilities: sleeping rooms, restaurants, bars, meetings & events, catering, recreation facilities, business centers, etc., in a wide range of environments. A student majoring in Hospitality Leadership with this concentration must complete the following requirements totaling at least 24.0 hours:

- One required course:
  - HSP 340 LODGING PROPERTY MANAGEMENT

- Two elective courses to be chosen from:
  - HSP 341 RESORT & SPA MANAGEMENT
  - HSP 343 CASINO MANAGEMENT
  - HSP 362 REVENUE, PRICING & DISTRIBUTION
  - HSP 372 BRAND & CUSTOMER LOYALTY
  - ICS 350 INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS SEMINAR (Hospitality-led programs only)
  - HSP 502 MANAGING THE GUEST/EMPLOYEE EXPERIENCE
  - HSP 503 ADVANCED HOSPITALITY LEADERSHIP AND PERFORMANCE *
  - HSP 505 SERVICE TECHNOLOGY & INNOVATION IN THE HOSPITALITY ENVIRONMENT *

- Three elective courses to be chosen from the list above or:
  - Any HSP course between HSP 305 through HSP 399

*To take graduate (500) level HSP courses a student must be admitted to the Hospitality Leadership and Operational Performance (MS) Combined Master's Program.

Graduation Requirements

All Hospitality Leadership (HSP) courses and any other courses used toward the Hospitality Leadership major must be completed with a minimum grade of C- (or PA where specified) and with a combined GPA of 2.000 or higher.

Private Club Management

This field of study is about the management of membership clubs. The many different types of clubs that need managers include city clubs, country clubs, golf clubs, athletic clubs, yacht clubs, faculty clubs, town clubs, and military clubs. As membership-based organizations, the customers and staff are often in regular contact, sometimes on a weekly or monthly basis. Learning how to create engaging programs to satisfy member interest is a key challenge in this industry. A student majoring in Hospitality Leadership with this concentration must complete the following requirements totaling at least 24.0 hours:

- One required course:
  - HSP 320 PRIVATE CLUB MANAGEMENT

- Two elective courses to be chosen from:
  - HSP 323 ADVANCED PRIVATE CLUB MANAGEMENT
  - ICS 350 INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS SEMINAR (Hospitality-led programs only)
  - MGT 340 LEADERSHIP IN SPORTS: LESSONS FOR COACHING IN THE WORKPLACE
  - MGT 356 INTRODUCTION TO SPORTS MANAGEMENT
  - HSP 502 MANAGING THE GUEST/EMPLOYEE EXPERIENCE *
  - HSP 503 ADVANCED HOSPITALITY LEADERSHIP AND PERFORMANCE *
  - HSP 505 SERVICE TECHNOLOGY & INNOVATION IN THE HOSPITALITY ENVIRONMENT *

- Three elective courses to be chosen from the list above or:
  - Any HSP course between HSP 305 through HSP 399

*To take graduate (500) level HSP courses a student must be admitted to the Hospitality Leadership and Operational Performance (MS) Combined Master's Program.

Graduation Requirements

All Hospitality Leadership (HSP), Management (MGT), and any other courses used toward the Hospitality Leadership major must be completed with a minimum grade of C- (or PA where specified) and with a combined GPA of 2.000 or higher.
Restaurant Operations and Ownership

Students can prepare for leadership careers in restaurants, contract food companies (industrial and commercial settings), catering, and bar/beverage organizations by completing this concentration. The focus of the coursework is upon the development of strong managerial skills in the leadership of foodservice operations rather than culinary expertise. Students are strongly encouraged to complete at least one internship in the 'back of the house' (kitchen) in order to gain an understanding of culinary operations. A student majoring in Hospitality Leadership with this concentration must complete the following requirements totaling at least 24.0 hours:

- One required course:
  - HSP 330 RESTAURANT OPERATIONS

- Two elective courses to be chosen from:
  - HSP 331 FOODSERVICE PURCHASING
  - HSP 332 BEVERAGE MANAGEMENT
  - HSP 333 INTERNATIONAL WINE EDUCATION & MANAGEMENT
  - ICS 350 INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS SEMINAR (Hospitality-led programs only)
  - HSP 502 MANAGING THE GUEST/EMPLOYEE EXPERIENCE *
  - HSP 503 ADVANCED HOSPITALITY LEADERSHIP AND PERFORMANCE *
  - HSP 505 SERVICE TECHNOLOGY & INNOVATION IN THE HOSPITALITY ENVIRONMENT *

- Three elective courses to be chosen from the list above or:
  - Any HSP course between HSP 305 through HSP 399

*To take graduate (500) level HSP courses a student must be admitted to the Hospitality Leadership and Operational Performance (MS) Combined Master's Program.

Graduation Requirements

All Hospitality Leadership (HSP) courses and any other courses used toward the Hospitality Leadership major must be completed with a minimum grade of C- (or PA where specified) and with a combined GPA of 2.000 or higher.

---

Hospitality Leadership (Minor)

Available to all students, the focus of this minor is to give broad exposure to the scale and scope of the hospitality industry, and to enable students to explore major sectors, such as lodging, event management, restaurant operations & ownership, or private club management in some depth.

Course Requirements

A student minoring in Hospitality Leadership is required to complete the following courses totaling at least 20.0 hours:

- Twelve credit hours to be chosen from courses in the Hospitality Business Foundation:
  - HSP 100 INTRODUCTION TO HOSPITALITY
  - HSP 101 INTRODUCTION TO GLOBAL TOURISM
  - HSP 201 HOSPITALITY SERVICE & EXPERIENCE MANAGEMENT (2.0 hours)
  - HSP 202 HOSPITALITY BUSINESS OPERATIONS (2.0 hours)
  - HSP 203 HOSPITALITY LEADERSHIP & SELF DEVELOPMENT (2.0 hours)
  - HSP 204 HOSPITALITY LEADERSHIP & TEAMS (2.0 hours)
  - HSP 205 HOSPITALITY REVENUE, SALES & MARKETING (2.0 hours)
  - HSP 206 HOSPITALITY RATIO & FINANCIAL ANALYSIS (2.0 hours)
  - HSP 207 HOSPITALITY LAW, ETHICS & RISK
  - HSP 208 MANAGING PEOPLE & THE CHICAGO UNION ENVIRONMENT (2.0 hours)
  - HSP 250 MANAGING YOUR HOSPITALITY CAREER (2.0 hours)
  - HSP 301 LEADERSHIP SPEAKER SERIES I (1.0 hour)
  - HSP 302 LEADERSHIP SPEAKER SERIES II (1.0 hour)
  - HSP 303 HOSPITALITY INTERNSHIP I (2.0 hours)
  - HSP 304 HOSPITALITY INTERNSHIP II (2.0 hours)
  - ICS 396 HOSPITALITY STRATEGY

- Eight credit hours to be chosen from courses in the Hospitality Concentrations:
  - Any HSP course between HSP 305 through HSP 399

Graduation Requirements
All Hospitality Leadership (HSP) courses and any other courses used toward the minor must be completed with a minimum grade of C- (or PA where specified) and with a combined GPA of 2.000 or higher.

Hospitality: Revenue Management (Minor)

The hospitality industry has an ongoing need for managers skilled in the science and art of forecasting demand. Similar to the tactics of the airlines in pricing and seat allocation, Revenue Management is a business practice that applies theories of pricing and statistics to patterns of lodging room sales and advance reservations. Knowledge of pricing theory, trend analysis, distribution channels, and customer relationship management (CRM) are key tenets.

Course Requirements

A student minoring in Revenue Management is required to complete the following courses totaling at least 20.0 hours:

- Six required courses:
  - HSP 100 INTRODUCTION TO HOSPITALITY
  - HSP 205 HOSPITALITY REVENUE, SALES & MARKETING (2.0 hours)
  - HSP 206 HOSPITALITY RATIO & FINANCIAL ANALYSIS (2.0 hours)
  - HSP 340 LODGING PROPERTY MANAGEMENT
  - HSP 362 REVENUE, PRICING & DISTRIBUTION
  - HSP 372 BRANDING & CUSTOMER LOYALTY

Graduation Requirements

All Hospitality Leadership (HSP) courses and any other courses used toward the minor must be completed with a minimum grade of C- (or PA where specified) and with a combined GPA of 2.000 or higher.

Information Systems (BS)

The BS in Information Systems focuses on the organizational and business application of computers and related technologies. It prepares students for careers in IT project management, systems analysis & design, database administration, helpdesk, enterprise systems administration, and user training.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

See www.cdm.depaul.edu to see sample schedule of course requirements on a year-by-year basis.

Degree Requirements

Students in this degree must meet the following requirements:

- Complete a minimum of 192 credit hours (generally 48 courses).
- Earn a grade of C- or higher in WRD 103, WRD 104, and all Major and Minor courses.
- Earn a grade of D or higher in all other Liberal Studies and Open Elective courses.
- Maintain a cumulative GPA of 2.0 or higher.

Combined Bachelor's/ Master's Degree

The combined Bachelor's/Master's degree programs allow students to complete 12 graduate credit hours while still undergraduates. These 12 graduate credit hours will count toward both the undergraduate and graduate degree programs.

Students who meet the admission requirements below may choose to apply to a combined degree program. Interested students should consult their faculty advisor regarding the application procedure. This program allows students to combine many CDM bachelor's degrees with a CDM master's degree following the structure outlined below.

Admission Criteria

- Minimum of 44 quarter hours earned
- Minimum of 12 quarter hours earned at DePaul
- GPA of 3.3 or higher in courses taken at DePaul
- Endorsement of faculty advisor

In order to apply for the combined degree program, your faculty advisor must send an e-mail recommendation to the CDM Academic Success Center. The recommendation should include your full name, student ID number, and the bachelor's and master's degrees you wish to combine.

Bachelor of Arts in Professional Studies with a Major in Computing students who are enrolled via the School for New Learning (SNL) are also eligible for this program. Interested students who meet the admission criteria for a combined degree should contact Kenn Skorupa in SNL for more information.
Program Structure

Students in the combined degree program take a maximum of three graduate level courses that count toward both their bachelor's and master's degree requirements. Students may enroll in graduate level coursework in the junior and senior year only. Students in the combined degree program will receive the bachelor's degree after meeting all graduation requirements including the minimum credit hours required for graduation.

To earn the master's degree, the student must earn as many additional graduate credit hours as needed to reach the minimum number of graduate credit hours required in that master's degree.

Only CDM courses can be taken as part of this program. Advanced programs (e.g., JD/MS, MFA, and PhD) are not eligible for the combined degree program.

Maintaining Good Standing

Cumulative GPA and course grades will be reviewed after each Autumn, Winter, and Spring Quarter.

The student and faculty advisor will be notified when the student's cumulative GPA falls below 3.3 or when the student receives less than a C- in a graduate level course.

If a student's cumulative GPA falls below 3.3, the student must earn a term GPA of 3.3 or above in the following quarter to stay in good standing. If the student does not achieve a 3.3 term GPA, then the student will be dismissed from the combined program and resume the traditional B.A./B.S./B.F.A.

If dismissed from the combined degree program after graduate courses have been passed, the graduate courses may only apply to the undergraduate degree. Should the student later be admitted to a graduate program, graduate courses applied to the undergraduate degree may not apply to the graduate program and may not be repeated if they are required in the declared graduate curriculum. Other graduate courses may be substituted in this case.

Designing a Course of Study

It is extremely important that the student and faculty advisor work together on a course of study immediately upon admission to the Combined Degree Program.

This course of study should include the graduate courses to be taken and the undergraduate courses that are replaced by the graduate courses. Failure to put together a solid plan can lead to extra coursework and a lengthening of the Combined Degree program.

It is advisable for the student and the faculty advisor to enter the proposed plan of study in the student communication record on the CDM intranet so it is available to the student and CDM faculty and staff.

Registering for Master's Degree Courses

Combined degree students must meet regularly with their faculty advisor. The faculty advisor will initiate the registration process for all graduate level courses taken during the undergraduate career.

Bachelor's Degree to Master's Degree Transition

In order to be fully admitted to the designated master's program, the student must meet all admission requirements for that program. When preparing to complete the undergraduate portion of the combined degree, students must submit the application for degree conferral for the undergraduate degree by the application deadline. At this time, the students should contact the CDM Academic Success Center about the procedure required to be formally admitted to the declared graduate program.

Information Systems (Minor)

DePaul's Information Systems minor will help you acquire the technological skills needed to address the operational, tactical and strategic challenges facing business, governmental and non-profit organizations.

Course Requirements

- IT 240 INTRODUCTION TO DATABASES
- IS 201 INTRODUCTION TO INFORMATION SYSTEMS
Information Technology (BS)

The BS in Information Technology focuses on preparing graduates who are able to configure software to meet the needs of organizations. Students acquire skills related to the selection, creation, application, integration and administration of computing technologies. This degree prepares you to become skilled in problem solving and programming, networks and communications systems, databases, Internet and Web technologies, security and project management, and have a strong grasp of business concepts and technical communications.

The BS in Information Technology has two concentrations:

- Standard Concentration
- Web Development Concentration

The BS in Information Technology can be completed online by transfer students if they meet the following requirements:

- Have a minimum of 45 quarter/30 semester hours of transfer credit
- Have a minimum cumulative 2.0 GPA
- Be in good standing at the last school they attended

Note - The lab science requirement and the pre-calculus prerequisite for the Data Analysis (IT 223) requirement are not available online at DePaul and will need to be completed on campus or transferred in from another institution.

For more information on this option and a sample schedule please see www.cdm.depaul.edu.

- GPA of 3.3 or higher in courses taken at DePaul
- Endorsement of faculty advisor

In order to apply for the combined degree program, your faculty advisor must send an e-mail recommendation to the CDM Academic Success Center. The recommendation should include your full name, student ID number, and the bachelor's and master's degrees you wish to combine.

Bachelor of Arts in Professional Studies with a Major in Computing students who are enrolled via the School for New Learning (SNL) are also eligible for this program. Interested students who meet the admission criteria for a combined degree should contact Kenn Skorupa in SNL for more information.
Program Structure

Students in the combined degree program take a maximum of three graduate level courses that count toward both their bachelor's and master's degree requirements. Students may enroll in graduate level coursework in the junior and senior year only. Students in the combined degree program will receive the bachelor's degree after meeting all graduation requirements including the minimum credit hours required for graduation.

To earn the master's degree, the student must earn as many additional graduate credit hours as needed to reach the minimum number of graduate credit hours required in that master's degree.

Only CDM courses can be taken as part of this program. Advanced programs (e.g., JD/MS, MFA, and PhD) are not eligible for the combined degree program.

Maintaining Good Standing

Cumulative GPA and course grades will be reviewed after each Autumn, Winter, and Spring Quarter.

The student and faculty advisor will be notified when the student's cumulative GPA falls below 3.3 or when the students receives less than a C- in graduate level course.

If a student's cumulative GPA falls below 3.3, the student must earn a term GPA of 3.3 or above in the following quarter to stay in good standing. If the student does not achieve a 3.3 term GPA, then the student will be dismissed from the combined program and resume the traditional B.A./B.S./B.F.A.

If dismissed from the combined degree program after graduate courses have been passed, the graduate courses may only apply to the undergraduate degree. Should the student later be admitted to a graduate program, graduate courses applied to the undergraduate degree may not apply to the graduate program and may not be repeated if they are required in the declared graduate curriculum. Other graduate courses may be substituted in this case.

Designing a Course of Study

It is extremely important that the student and faculty advisor work together on a course of study immediately upon admission to the Combined Degree Program.

This course of study should include the graduate courses to be taken and the undergraduate courses that are replaced by the graduate courses. Failure to put together a solid plan can lead to extra coursework and a lengthening of the Combined Degree program.

It is advisable for the student and the faculty advisor to enter the proposed plan of study in the student communication record on the CDM intranet so it is available to the student and CDM faculty and staff.

Registering for Master's Degree Courses

Combined degree students must meet regularly with their faculty advisor. The faculty advisor will initiate the registration process for all graduate level courses taken during the undergraduate career.

Bachelor's Degree to Master's Degree Transition

In order to be fully admitted to the designated master's program, the student must meet all admission requirements for that program. When preparing to complete the undergraduate portion of the combined degree, students must submit the application for degree conferral for the undergraduate degree by the application deadline. At this time, the students should contact the CDM Academic Success Center about the procedure required to be formally admitted to the declared graduate program.

Information Technology (Minor)

The Information Technology minor emphasizes the technical aspects of information technology including web design, human interaction, databases, scripting and content management systems.

Course Requirements

- IT 130 INTRODUCTORY COMPUTING FOR THE WEB
- IT 240 INTRODUCTION TO DATABASES
User Experience Design (BS)

The BS in User Experience Design prepares students for the expanding fields of user experience and interaction design. The program integrates visual design, code, and user research. Concepts and skills involved include design principles, prototyping, and usability testing. Students will learn how to analyze, design, develop and evaluate effective computer interfaces to provide better user experiences.

The User Experience Design program offers two concentrations: a design concentration and a development concentration. The design concentration emphasizes coursework in interaction design, usability, and user research. The development concentration emphasizes coursework in information technology and interactive scripting.

Concentrations

Design Concentration

The design concentration emphasizes coursework in information and interaction design as well as strategies for design of social media. It further prepares students to integrate components for social media and create finished visual designs for website, apps, and causal games.

Development Concentration

The development concentration emphasizes coursework in information technology and interaction scripting. It further prepares students to develop the websites, mobile apps and interactive displays that they have designed.

Interactive and Social Media (Minor)

The Interactive and Social Media minor gives students a foundational skill set in the expanding field of interaction design and its applications to multimedia and web development.

Course Requirements

- ISM 101 INTRODUCTION TO USER EXPERIENCE DESIGN
- ISM 210 INTRODUCTION TO HUMAN-COMPUTER INTERACTION
- ISM 220 INTERACTIVE DESIGN & PROTOTYPING
- IT 130 INTRODUCTORY COMPUTING FOR THE WEB
  - or GD 110 WEB DESIGN
- ISM 270 USER-CENTERED WEB DESIGN
  - or ISM 320 ADVANCED PRINCIPLES OF INTERACTIVITY
- Elective from the list of required and elective courses for the Interactive and Social Media major.
Intercultural Communication (Minor)

In the Intercultural Communication minor program, you will study the theories and methods necessary to analyze communication among and between diverse communities and ethnic groups within the United States.

Course Requirements

A minor in Intercultural Communication requires students to complete six courses (24 credits).

- CMN 103 INTERCULTURAL COMMUNICATION
- CMN 104 PUBLIC SPEAKING
  or CMNS 230 PERFORMANCE: COMMUNICATION, CREATIVITY AND THE BODY
- Four additional courses chosen from
  - CMN 394 MAKING THE MOST OF YOUR COMMUNICATION INTERNSHIP
  - CMN 398 STUDY ABROAD
  - CMNS 205 COMMUNICATION, CULTURE AND COMMUNITY
  - CMNS 308 TOPICS IN INTERCULTURAL COMMUNICATION
  - CMNS 309 INTERNATIONAL/GLOBAL COMMUNICATION
  - CMNS 310 DISCOURSE ANALYSIS
  - CMNS 321 CULTURAL AND SYMBOLIC CRITICISM
  - CMNS 330 TOPICS IN PERFORMANCE
  - CMNS 333 CULTURAL WAYS OF SPEAKING
  - CMNS 334 URBAN COMMUNICATION
  - CMNS 337 ASIAN-AMERICAN MEDIA REPRESENTATIONS
  - CMNS 338 ASIAN CULTURE AND COMMUNICATION
  - CMNS 339 PERFORMANCE OF GENDER & SEXUALITY
  - CMNS 361 GENDER AND COMMUNICATION
  - CMNS 382 QUANTITATIVE RESEARCH METHODS IN COMMUNICATION STUDIES

Students majoring in Intercultural Communication (BA) are restricted from earning this minor.

International Business (Minor: Business Students Only)

Students in the Driehaus College of Business who demonstrate a proficiency in a modern language may minor in International Business. Students will learn about factors affecting international trade, monetary economics, and political economy with a special focus on a particular economic hot spot.

The International Business minor is available to Driehaus College of Business students only. A student must be able to demonstrate that he or she has modern language proficiency through the intermediate level of college coursework to complete the minor.

Course Requirements

The minor consists of six to ten courses totaling 24.0-36.0 hours:

- One economics course to be chosen from:
  - ECO 333 TOPICS IN GLOBAL ECONOMIES
  - ECO 361 INTERNATIONAL TRADE
  - ECO 362 INTERNATIONAL MONETARY ECONOMICS
  - PSC 344 WORLD POLITICAL ECONOMY
- International business courses (8.0 hours) to be chosen from:
  - ECO 316 EUROPEAN ECONOMIC HISTORY
  - ECO 330 RADICAL RESPONSES TO CAPITALISM
  - ECO 333 TOPICS IN GLOBAL ECONOMIES
  - ECO 334 UNDERSTANDING CHINA'S ECONOMY
  - ECO 360 ECONOMICS OF LOW-INCOME COUNTRIES
  - ECO 361 INTERNATIONAL TRADE
  - ECO 362 INTERNATIONAL MONETARY ECONOMICS
  - ECO 363 ECONOMICS OF THE EUROPEAN UNION
  - FIN 340 INTERNATIONAL FINANCE
  - FIN 394 APPLIED INTERNATIONAL PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT (2.0 hours)
  - ICS 350 INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS SEMINAR
• MGT 354 GLOBAL HUMAN RESOURCE MANAGEMENT
• MGT 357 INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS
• MKT 340 MARKETING ACROSS CULTURES: A CULTURAL PERSPECTIVE ON MULTICULTURAL MARKETS
• MKT 358 MARKETING IN A GLOBAL ENVIRONMENT (available only to Marketing Honors majors)
• MKT 360 INTERNATIONAL MARKETING

Three to six modern language and/or area studies courses (related to the language being studied)

Modern Language and Area Studies

The exact mix of language and area studies courses is determined by the student’s starting level in the modern language.

1. For a student with limited language background who does not place out of any college level language course, two years of college level language instruction (six courses through the intermediate level) are required.
2. For a student who places out of one or more of the college language courses, he/she will start the language sequence at the appropriate placement and continue it through the intermediate level of instruction. If the student needs fewer than three language courses to complete the intermediate sequence, the student will take either advanced language or area studies courses to complete the minimum three course language/area studies requirement.

Examples of language/area studies mix:

1. A Driehaus student wishing to pursue the IB minor tests out of SPN 101 and SPN 102. The student begins language instruction in SPN 103 (which completes the introductory sequence), and then continues with the intermediate sequence of SPN 104/105/106. The student completes the minor with the 3 international economics/business requirements plus the 4 language courses, for a total of seven courses.
2. A Driehaus student wishing to pursue the IB minor tests out of SPN 101/102/103/104. The student begins language instruction in SPN 105 and completes the intermediate sequence with SPN 106. Because the student has taken only two courses to complete the intermediate sequence, he/she will take an additional advanced language or area studies course to complete the minimum 3 course language/area studies requirement. Along with the 3 international economics/business requirements, this student can complete the minor with a total of six courses.

Economics/International Business Courses

The three courses taken for the Economics/International Business requirements must be chosen from at least two different departments. The one course taken for the economics requirement may not be used again for the two course international business requirement; course sharing is not allowed.

Graduation Requirements

All courses used toward the International Business minor must be completed with a minimum grade of C- and with a combined GPA of 2.000 or higher.

International Politics (Minor)

The minor in international politics is designed to provide the non-major with an opportunity to develop a specialty in the domestic and international politics of regions outside the United States.

Course Requirements

• PSC 140 INTRODUCTION TO INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS
• PSC 150 INTRODUCTION TO COMPARATIVE POLITICS
• Two of the following 200-level courses:
  o PSC 242 AMERICAN FOREIGN POLICY
  o PSC 243 RUSSIAN-AMERICAN RELATIONS
  o PSC 244 LATIN AMERICAN-UNITED STATES RELATIONS
  o PSC 245 FOREIGN POLICIES OF WESTERN EUROPE
  o PSC 246 ASIAN FOREIGN POLICY
  o PSC 247 U.S. - AFRICA RELATIONS
  o PSC 249 TOPICS IN INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS
  o PSC 250 EUROPEAN POLITICS
  o PSC 251 RUSSIAN POLITICS
  o PSC 252 LATIN AMERICAN POLITICS
  o PSC 253 ASIAN POLITICS
  o PSC 254 AFRICAN POLITICS
  o PSC 255 MIDDLE EAST POLITICS
  o PSC 259 COUNTRY STUDIES
Students majoring in Political Science (BA) or minoring in American Politics or Public Law/Political Thought are restricted from earning this minor.

International Studies (BA)

Our undergraduate program is designed to equip students with the interdisciplinary approach, critical thinking skills and international perspectives necessary to address real world challenges. Students can expect to be challenged by a rigorous interdisciplinary curriculum founded in critical social theory and international political economy. Undergraduate students are required to take seven core classes that, taken together, explore and problematize notions of culture, migration, conflict, governance, popular movements, and identities and boundaries. In the process, students acquire critical reading, writing, research, and problem-solving skills tailored to contemporary local, regional, and international challenges.

The BA program is unique for its interdisciplinary approach to international studies and commitment to placing the themes of power and inequality at the heart of academic inquiry. Unlike conventional programs that focus on international security and economy, our program addresses the economic in conjunction with the political and social. Moreover, undergraduates are encouraged to develop second-language proficiency through two years of intensive language study, and we encourage study abroad in a country where the second language is spoken. Students learn to think in more international and interdisciplinary contexts, to value social and cultural complexity, and to question conventional wisdom. As a result, our students often engage in activism and social justice work in Chicago, nationally, and internationally.

Internships

Students in the INT Department pursue internship opportunities to gain job experience, investigate career possibilities, earn academic credit, and round out their concentrations. We work with the University Internship Program to help students find or create an internship that suits their particular interests. Our students have worked at local and international non-profit organizations, consulates, government offices, international businesses, and cultural institutions, including RefugeeOne, the Council for American-Islamic Relations, the Puerto Rican Cultural Institute, and the European Community Commission’s Office in Brussels, which offers a unique research internship.

Study Abroad Programs

All International Studies majors are encouraged, but not required, to participate in study abroad programs. Study abroad challenges students to develop cultural competency, expand their education through diverse intellectual perspectives, and engage with local and global challenges. DePaul University sponsors study abroad opportunities with a range of course offerings, including intensive language-learning classes, cultural and historical studies, public service, and business. Some INT students pursue study abroad programs outside of DePaul that match their particular interests.

Employers of Graduates

The combination of language training with rigorous preparation in interdisciplinary social sciences and political economy opens doors to careers in nonprofits and community organizations, international non-governmental organizations, international diplomatic entities, international law, international commerce and cross cultural communications.

Combined Bachelor's/ MA Option

The Department of International Studies offers a combined degree program that allows academically outstanding students the opportunity to complete their current bachelor's degree and a master's degree in International Studies in only one additional year. This program is open to all majors. Students apply in the spring of their junior year. Students interested in the bachelor's/MA program in International Studies should Graduate School

Students who complete the major in International Studies are prepared with the writing and critical thinking skills necessary to go on to graduate school and many choose to pursue advanced degrees in the political, economic, anthropological, sociological, geographical, historical, linguistic, or literary fields. We have placed students in prestigious graduate programs with membership in the Association of Professional Schools of International Affairs, including those at Johns Hopkins University, Tufts University, University of Maryland, Georgetown University, University of California at San Diego, and University of Colorado at Boulder. Additionally, our students have entered University of California at Berkeley, University of Chicago, Emery University, University of Illinois, Indiana University, University of Michigan, Northwestern University, University of Wisconsin at Madison, and Yale University in languages or the social sciences.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Produce written and/or oral work that exhibits mastery of the content areas found in the core courses of the major: nationalism, international relations, social movements, cultural analysis, international political economy, and critical geography.
- Write scholarly essays presented in a format consistent with The Chicago Manual of Style:
  - Using reliable primary and/or scholarly sources.
  - Drawing valid inferences from the evidence presented.
- Make arguments, whether in a written or oral context, that are logically valid and based on reliable evidence, critique arguments that are logically invalid or lack adequate evidence, and use these to propose well-considered real-world courses of action.
- Conduct research or communicate in professional contexts using at least one language other than English.
- Analyze the mathematical basis of moderately technical arguments in the field of international political economy.
- Analyze how historical pathways inflect present meanings and both constrain and enable what can be done in the present and the future.

College Core Requirements

Study in the Major Field

The student’s course of study in the College consists of three parts: Liberal Studies, the major field, and electives. Together these three parts contribute to the liberal education of the student which is the common purpose of all study in the College. By "liberal education" the College understands not only a deep and thorough knowledge of a particular area of study but a knowledge of the diverse areas of study represented by criticism, history, the arts, the behavioral and social sciences, philosophy, religious studies, the natural science, and mathematics.

The major field program generally is built upon a set of core courses and a specialized “concentration.” The number of courses required for a major varies by department. Most students go beyond the minimum requirements, electing additional courses which both broaden and deepen their understanding of their chosen discipline.

Because no academic major program is built in isolation, students are required to pursue a number of electives of the student’s choice. The inherent flexibility of this curriculum demands that the student consult an academic advisor at each stage in the total program and at least once prior to each registration. Students will be prompted to visit the College Office for their official graduation check early in their senior year.

Declaration of Major, Minor and Concentration

All students in the College are required to declare a major field prior to beginning their junior year. The student will then be assigned a faculty advisor in the major field department or program and should make an appointment to see that advisor at his or her earliest convenience.

Students must declare or change majors, minors, and concentrations, via Campus Connection. However, for the purpose of exploring the possibility of changing a major field, the student should consult an academic advisor in the Office for Academic Advising Support.

The Modern Language Requirement (MLR)

All students will be required to demonstrate competence in a modern language (i.e., a language other than English) equivalent to the proficiency attained from one year of college-level language study. This Modern Language Requirement (MLR) may be demonstrated by:

contact the INT academic advisor, Mallory Warner, at mallory.warner@depaul.edu.
- placing into 104 or above on the DePaul language placement exam
- completing the last course or earning AP/IB credit for the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language (e.g. 103 for DePaul language classes)
- completing a college course or earning AP/IB credit for a college course beyond the first-year level in any language (e.g. 104 or above for DePaul language classes)
- completing the final course of a four-year sequence of the same modern language in high school*
- completing a proctored exam by BYU and passing the exam (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)
- completing a proctored Written Proficiency Test (WPT) by Language Testing International (LTI) and achieving a score of Beginner High or above (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)

* Students are strongly encouraged to take the DePaul language placement exam even if they have met the MLR via study of a language in high school. This will ensure continuation of language study at the proper level.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College will abide by this MLR in place on the effective date of the ICT, regardless of when they first matriculated at DePaul.

Students who have met the MLR and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the “Modern Language Option” (MLO) of the Liberal Studies Program (see “Special Programs”).

External Credit and Residency

A student who has been admitted to the College begins residency within the college as of the first day of classes of the term in which the student is registered. Students in residence, whether attending on a full-time or part-time basis, may not take courses away from DePaul University without the written permission of the college. Permission must be obtained in advance of registration to avoid loss of credit or residency in the college; see the LAS website for more information.

Notes

See an advisor to utilize the modern language option.

Specified required courses within Liberal Studies may have grade minimums (e.g. C- or better). Please consult your advisor or your college and major requirements.

A student majoring in International Studies (INT) is required to complete the Capstone offered by the INT Department. This is the case even if a student is double majoring (or pursuing a dual degree) and the secondary major (or degree) requires its own Capstone. An INT major in the University Honors Program shall take the University Honors Capstone and the INT Capstone.

Courses offered in the student’s primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or as the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

Major Requirements

Course Requirements

- GEO 201 GEOPOLITICS
  or HON 201 STATES, MARKETS, AND SOCIETIES (counts for Social, Cultural, and Behavioral Inquiry)
- ECO 106 PRINCIPLES OF MACROECONOMICS
- INT 100 INTRODUCTION TO INTERNATIONAL STUDIES
- INT 200 INTRODUCTION TO MACROECONOMICS IN AN INTERNATIONAL CONTEXT
- INT 201 THE EVOLUTION OF THE MODERN NATION STATE
- INT 202 INTERNATIONAL CONFLICT AND COOPERATION
- INT 203 INTERNATIONAL MOVEMENTS IN THE 20TH AND 21ST CENTURIES
- INT 204 CULTURAL ANALYSIS
- INT 205 INTERNATIONAL POLITICAL ECONOMY
- INT 206 IDENTITIES AND BOUNDARIES
- INT 301 SENIOR SEMINAR (counts for the LSP Capstone)
- Five courses in an individualized concentration
- Second language proficiency

Individualized Concentration (5 courses)

All international studies majors are required to complete a twenty-credit individualized concentration designed in consultation with their faculty advisors. This concentration provides students with a depth of knowledge on a particular theme, approach, region, and/or question of some international importance. The concentration is restricted to 300-level INT courses (including cross-listed courses), with the following exceptions:

- Study Abroad: Up to eight credits (two courses) from Study Abroad may be counted toward the concentration, if approved in advance by the student's faculty advisor.
- Double Majors/Minors: Up to eight credits (two courses) in a double major or minor can be applied to the concentration, if approved in advance by the student's faculty advisor.

Second Language Proficiency

Proficiency in a language other than English is required and can be demonstrated through passing grades in college coursework through the intermediate (second-year) level, up to and including 106. Students who enter the program with second language skills developed outside of formal college coursework may petition the director to demonstrate proficiency by examination in order to satisfy the language requirement. The assessment and proficiency tests can be taken on Campus Connect.

Open Electives

Open elective credit is also required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours. International Studies majors have 60 open elective credit hours. Courses taken to meet the second language proficiency requirement count as electives.

3+3 Program (BA/JD)

In the 3 + 3 BA/JD Program, high-achieving first-year undergraduate students are admitted simultaneously to the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences and the College of Law. Students complete their first three years in the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences and their final three years in the College of Law. Students receive the Bachelor of Arts degree after successful completion of their first year of law school. Throughout the program, BA/JD students meet regularly with advisors in both Colleges and have access to a variety of resources to ensure their success.

Key Program Features
Students earn a law degree (Juris Doctor) in a total of six years (three years undergraduate and three years in law school).

Students save one year’s worth of tuition, reducing their overall debt load.

Students benefit from new curricular offerings and collaborative activities created to prepare them for law school.

Students receive early (conditional) admission to the College of Law.

Credits earned in the first year of law school apply toward the BA degree.

Students may opt out of the College of Law segment of the program and continue in the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences during their fourth year.

If students withdraw after the first semester in the College of Law, they return to the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences for the winter quarter.

Program Requirements

In order to maintain status in the program, students must demonstrate satisfactory progress toward completing their undergraduate coursework in three years, including meeting the Modern Language Requirement and necessary Liberal Studies Program or Honors Program requirements. Students must achieve a cumulative GPA of 3.35 by the end of their second year of study and maintain a cumulative GPA of 3.35 in their third and final year of undergraduate study.

In addition, students must complete a series of two-credit courses, taught by College of Law faculty, prior to matriculation in the College of Law. They are designed to help students understand many aspects of the legal system as well as to complement their undergraduate course of study. The courses are as follows:

- PRELAW 150 THE PRACTICE OF LAW
- PRELAW 151 RECENT CONTROVERSIES IN LAW
- PRELAW 152 THINKING ABOUT THE LAW

In order to matriculate in the College of Law, students will be required to register with the Law School Admissions Council, submit the College of Law’s online application, comply with all character and fitness requirements for admission, and submit an LSAT score. The activities should be completed no later than the end of the Autumn Quarter of the participant’s third undergraduate year. The LSAT score will only be used for consideration of merit scholarships; it will not be a factor in the admission of the participant to the program.

Combined Bachelor's/ Master's Program

The combined Bachelor's/Master's degree programs allow students to complete 12 graduate credit hours while still undergraduates. These 12 graduate credit hours will count toward both the undergraduate and graduate degree programs.

Students interested in applying to one of the BA/MA programs in International Studies should contact the INT academic advisor, Mallory Warner, at mallory.warner@depaul.edu.

International Studies (BA)/ International Studies (MA)

INT majors apply to this program by April 15th of their junior year. Applicants must have completed INT 201, INT 202, and INT 203 with a grade of B+ or higher and have an overall GPA of 3.5 or above.

INT students in this program take INT 401 and two other 400-level courses in their senior year. For students admitted to the five-year program, the three graduate-level INT courses taken in the senior year will count toward their individualized concentrations in the INT major as well as their graduate degree. Additionally, BA/MA students will begin their thesis research during their senior year in INT 301, the International Studies Senior Seminar.

History (BA)/ International Studies (MA)

History majors apply to this program by April 15th of their junior year. Applicants must have an overall GPA of 3.5 or above.

History students in this program take INT 401 and two other INT 400-level courses in their senior year. These three graduate-level courses will count toward open electives in the history major as well as requirements in the MA degree. Whenever possible, HST majors will begin their thesis research during their senior year in HST 390, the History Senior Seminar. If this is not possible (e.g. a student's thesis interests do not fit within the theme of HST 390 for that year), then HST majors will be required to take INT 301 as an elective in order to begin their thesis research.

Other DePaul Majors (BA or BS)/ International Studies (MA)

Students in any undergraduate major at DePaul University are invited to apply to the five year combined degree program in order to complete the MA in International Studies in their fifth year at DePaul. Applications are due by April 15th of the student's junior year. Applicants must have an overall GPA of 3.5 or above.
Students in this program will take INT 401 and two other INT 400-level courses in their senior year. These three graduate-level courses will count as undergraduate electives as well as requirements in the MA degree. Students are also required to take INT 301 in their senior year in order to begin their thesis research.

International Studies (Minor)

For students who do not wish to or are unable to pursue a major in International Studies, the minor offers the opportunity to gain a basic grounding in a rigorous, interdisciplinary approach to international affairs. Students who pursue this minor will benefit from an introduction to theories of nationalism, international relations, social movements, cultural studies, international political economy, and critical geography.

The minor can complement traditional disciplines, as well as other interdisciplinary programs, by providing students with the theoretical tools necessary to critically analyze pressing global issues. Additionally, students will build their writing, reading, and research skills through the coursework required for the minor.

Course Requirements

- INT 200 INTRODUCTION TO MACROECONOMICS IN AN INTERNATIONAL CONTEXT
- INT 201 THE EVOLUTION OF THE MODERN NATION STATE
- INT 202 INTERNATIONAL CONFLICT AND COOPERATION
- INT 203 INTERNATIONAL MOVEMENTS IN THE 20TH AND 21ST CENTURIES
- INT 204 CULTURAL ANALYSIS
- INT 205 INTERNATIONAL POLITICAL ECONOMY
- INT 206 IDENTITIES AND BOUNDARIES

Students majoring in International Studies (BA) are restricted from earning this minor.

Irish Studies (Minor)

The Irish Studies minor is an interdisciplinary academic program focused on Ireland and its place in the world. The purpose of the minor is to give students access to another culture in order to enable them to better understand the role of culture in human society.

The study of Ireland is particularly apposite for a number of reasons:

1. Ireland has a rich history, culture and literature that in itself is worthy of study.
2. The Irish experience epitomizes a variety of processes which are of relevance to an understanding of today's world. Among them are:
   1. an experience of colonialism and development
   2. the phenomenon of emigration and diaspora
   3. a changing interaction with adjacent countries
   4. finding a place in Europe and a globalized world
   5. searching for cultural identity
   6. coping with intercommunal, political conflict and violence, and reconfiguring the role of women in society
3. How Ireland has dealt with issues such as the environment and the configuration of gender roles can provide a point of comparison for and reflection on American experience.
4. The study of Ireland provides insights on how American influence impinges on other cultures.
5. Irish immigration into the United States has proved to be a formative influence on the development of American society. The study of Ireland can contribute to the shifting search for personal and social identity within America itself.

Course Requirements

Students can complete the 6 course Irish Studies Minor by completing one of the following two tracks:

1) For students who complete courses at DePaul University Chicago campus (i.e. do not participate in the Dublin Internship):
   - IRE 100 INTRODUCTION TO IRISH STUDIES
   - 5 additional approved elective courses in Irish Studies. Courses must be taken from at least three separate departments/programs and must represent a range of topics/issues.
2) For students who participate in DePaul's Parliamentary Internship in Dublin:

The College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences offers a study abroad program in Dublin, Ireland, twice each year. It provides an excellent opportunity for students to get to know Ireland at first hand. It is not a compulsory part of the minor in Irish Studies. However, students taking part in the Study Abroad Program in Dublin may gain credit for four courses that count towards completion of the minor. Thus, for students who successfully complete the Dublin Internship, the requirements for the IRE minor are as follows:

- IRE 100 INTRODUCTION TO IRISH STUDIES
- 1 additional approved elective courses in Irish Studies

For further information on the Dublin Parliamentary Internship courses please contact the Director of the Irish Studies Program.

Irish Studies Courses

General Irish Studies

- IRE 100 INTRODUCTION TO IRISH STUDIES

History

- HST 266 IRELAND, 1450 - 1800, CONQUEST, COLONIZATION & REBELLION
- HST 268 IRELAND, 1800-PRESENT

Literature

- ENG 346 19TH-CENTURY IRISH LITERATURE
- ENG 354 THE IRISH REVIVAL
- ENG 355 MODERN IRISH LITERATURE
- ENG 456 CONTEMPORARY IRISH LITERATURE
- ENG 357 TOPICS IN IRISH STUDIES: (e.g. Irish women's literature) *
- ENG 339 TOPICS IN RESTORATION AND 18TH CENTURY BRITISH LITERATURE: (e.g. Jonathan Swift) *
- ENG 456 CONTEMPORARY IRISH LITERATURE: (e.g. James Joyce) *
- ENG 382 MAJOR AUTHORS: (e.g. James Joyce) *

Nature and Culture

- REL 260 RELIGION AND POLITICAL CONFLICT: Ireland *
- GEO 204 RELIGIOUS GEOGRAPHY: Celtic Geographies *
- WGS 249 GENDER AND POLITICS IN IRELAND

Experiential Learning

Independent Study

- IRE 379 INDEPENDENT STUDY (a course, approved by the director of the program, can be taken with a member of the Irish-Studies faculty).

Ancillary Studies

- HST 323 THE CULTURES OF EARLY CHRISTIANITY
- CPL 319 TOPICS IN COMPARATIVE LITERATURE: Aspects of Empire *
- ENG 389 TOPICS IN COMPARATIVE LITERATURE: Aspects of Empire *
- GEO 201 GEOPOLITICS
- GEO 316 THE EUROPEAN UNION

Courses marked *are topical courses which may sometimes be on an Irish topic and sometimes not. Only when an Irish topic is offered – as given in the examples in parentheses in the list of courses above – will it count for the Irish Studies minor. When you register for such a course it will not automatically show up on the list of Irish Studies courses you have taken. You will need to contact the Director of Irish Studies at the beginning of the quarter, providing your name, DePaul ID number and SSN, and ask that the course be credited towards your Irish Studies minor. In due course the course will be credited towards the minor. This only applies to courses marked *. The process should work automatically for other courses.
Islamic World Studies (BA)

This interdisciplinary program grounds students in the study of Islam as a worldview, civilization, and living reality. Students will investigate the Islamic World from a variety of perspectives. The program engages students in exploring primary texts, history, cultural traditions, global communities, and regional issues. Three assumptions undergird the philosophy of this program: 1) that Islamic civilization is both a historical and a living reality; 2) that Islam has interacted with all known cultures and is thus expressed in a wide range of ways; 3) that the religious core ties all of these cultural expressions together. While studying the Islamic World historically and also learning about specific cultural manifestations, students develop a critical understanding of the unique worldview engendered by Islam in its global contexts. Courses for the program are drawn from a broad variety of disciplines including History, History of Art and Architecture, International Studies, Modern Languages, Political Science, Religious Studies, and Women's and Gender Studies. The regional focus of these courses includes Africa, the Middle East, South Asia, Central Asia, Europe, and the Americas.

A major in Islamic World Studies prepares students for a wide variety of careers and advanced graduate study. The program provides students with core knowledge of the worldview of Islam, its peoples, geographical distribution in the world, language study, and regional studies, enabling students to have a firm foundation in a world civilization. Students will be able to pursue career goals in such areas as social work, journalism, government, law, museums and cultural heritage, religion, education, and foreign service.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Describe and discuss cultural manifestation of Islam in at least three global regions including the authoritative centers in Arabic speaking countries with emphasis on cultural adaptations, modifications and innovations.
- Articulate the historical and contemporary tensions around pluralism, authority (public and private) in domestic and societal life, relationships with other religious communities.
- Produce effective written essays that compare and contrast Islam in regions where it is the dominate religion and where it is a minority religion.
- Write on the major events in Islamic history.
- Use the major texts and research tools in Islamic studies.
- Articulate the central beliefs and practices of the religion of Islam across the branches and in the schools of legal thought.

College Core Requirements

Study in the Major Field

The student’s course of study in the College consists of three parts: Liberal Studies, the major field, and electives. Together these three parts contribute to the liberal education of the student which is the common purpose of all study in the College. By "liberal education" the College understands not only a deep and thorough knowledge of a particular area of study but a knowledge of the diverse areas of study represented by criticism, history, the arts, the behavioral and social sciences, philosophy, religious studies, the natural science, and mathematics.

The major field program generally is built upon a set of core courses and a specialized "concentration." The number of courses required for a major varies by department. Most students go beyond the minimum requirements, electing additional courses which both broaden and deepen their understanding of their chosen discipline.

Because no academic major program is built in isolation, students are required to pursue a number of electives of the student’s choice. The inherent flexibility of this curriculum demands that the student consult an academic advisor at each stage in the total program and at least once prior to each registration. Students will be prompted to visit the College Office for their official graduation check early in their senior year.

Declaration of Major, Minor and Concentration

All students in the College are required to declare a major field prior to beginning their junior year. The student will then be assigned a faculty advisor in the major field department or program and should make an appointment to see that advisor at his or her earliest convenience.

Students must declare or change majors, minors, and concentrations, via Campus Connection. However, for the purpose of exploring the possibility of changing a major field, the student should consult an academic advisor in the Office for Academic Advising Support.
The Modern Language Requirement (MLR)

All students will be required to demonstrate competence in a modern language (i.e., a language other than English) equivalent to the proficiency attained from one year of college-level language study. This Modern Language Requirement (MLR) may be demonstrated by:

- placing into 104 or above on the DePaul language placement exam
- completing the last course or earning AP/IB credit for the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language (e.g. 103 for DePaul language classes)
- completing a college course or earning AP/IB credit for a college course beyond the first-year level in any language (e.g. 104 or above for DePaul language classes)
- completing the final course of a four-year sequence of the same modern language in high school*
- completing a proctored exam by BYU and passing the exam (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)
- completing a proctored Written Proficiency Test (WPT) by Language Testing International (LTI) and achieving a score of Beginner High or above (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)

* Students are strongly encouraged to take the DePaul language placement exam even if they have met the MLR via study of a language in high school. This will ensure continuation of language study at the proper level.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College will abide by this MLR in place on the effective date of the ICT, regardless of when they first matriculated at DePaul.

Students who have met the MLR and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the “Modern Language Option” (MLO) of the Liberal Studies Program (see “Special Programs”).

External Credit and Residency

A student who has been admitted to the College begins residency within the college as of the first day of classes of the term in which the student is registered. Students in residence, whether attending on a full-time or part-time basis, may not take courses away from DePaul University without the written permission of the college. Permission must be obtained in advance of registration to avoid loss of credit or residency in the college; see the LAS website for more information.

Notes

Please consult an advisor about using the Modern Language Option.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

Major Requirements

Course Requirements

Core:

- IWS 116 THE ISLAMIC EXPERIENCE
- IWS 192 ISLAMIC WORLD STUDIES II
- IWS 217 MUSLIM CULTURES IN GLOBAL CONTEXT
- IWS 395 SENIOR CAPSTONE SEMINAR

Historical Sequence:

- IWS 141 THE MUSLIM WORLD, C. 600 CE TO 1100
- IWS 266 MUSLIM CULTURES IN NORTH AMERICA

Arabic Language Requirement:

- ARB 101 BASIC ARABIC I
- ARB 102 BASIC ARABIC II
- ARB 103 BASIC ARABIC III

Electives:

Students must complete four electives from amongst IWS offerings, or related courses as approved by the Program Director. Of these electives, two must be at the 200-level and two must be at the 300-level.

3+3 Program (BA/ JD)

In the 3 + 3 BA/JD Program, high-achieving first-year undergraduate students are admitted simultaneously to the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences and the College of Law. Students complete their first three years in the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences and their final three years in the College of Law. Students receive the Bachelor of Arts degree after successful completion of their first year of law school. Throughout the program, BA/JD students meet regularly with advisors in both Colleges and have access to a variety of resources to ensure their success.

Key Program Features

- Students earn a law degree (Juris Doctor) in a total of six years (three years undergraduate and three years in law school).
- Students save one year’s worth of tuition, reducing their overall debt load.
- Students benefit from new curricular offerings and collaborative activities created to prepare them for law school.
- Students receive early (conditional) admission to the College of Law.
- Credits earned in the first year of law school apply toward the BA degree.
- Students may opt out of the College of Law segment of the program and continue in the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences during their fourth year.
- If students withdraw after the first semester in the College of Law, they return to the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences for the winter quarter.

Program Requirements

In order to maintain status in the program, students must demonstrate satisfactory progress toward completing their undergraduate coursework in three years, including meeting the Modern Language Requirement and necessary Liberal Studies Program or Honors Program requirements. Students must achieve a cumulative GPA of 3.35 by the end of their second year of study and maintain a cumulative GPA of 3.35 in their third and final year of undergraduate study.

In addition, students must complete a series of two-credit courses, taught by College of Law faculty, prior to matriculation in the College of Law. They are designed to help students understand many aspects of the legal system as well as to complement their undergraduate course of study. The courses are as follows:
In order to matriculate in the College of Law, students will be required to register with the Law School Admissions Council, submit the College of Law's online application, comply with all character and fitness requirements for admission, and submit an LSAT score. The activities should be completed no later than the end of the Autumn Quarter of the participant's third undergraduate year. The LSAT score will only be used for consideration of merit scholarships; it will not be a factor in the admission of the participant to the program.

Islamic World Studies (Minor)

A minor in Islamic World Studies will allow students the flexibility of adding a minor while also maintaining the integrity of the program. Students will need to take the following three courses:

Required Courses:

- IWS 192 ISLAMIC WORLD STUDIES II
- IWS 217 MUSLIM CULTURES IN GLOBAL CONTEXT

The remaining three courses can be any courses listed or cross-listed with Islamic World Studies:

- IWS 116 THE ISLAMIC EXPERIENCE
- IWS 215 MUSLIMS IN AMERICAN FICTION AND FILM
- IWS 224 ISLAMIC LAW (SHARIAH) AND AMERICAN CULTURE
- IWS 230 ISLAMIC FINANCE
- IWS 251 ISLAMIC ART
- IWS 263 RELIGION AND POLITICS IN THE MIDDLE EAST
- IWS 265 REFORM MOVEMENTS WITHIN ISLAM
- IWS 266 MUSLIM CULTURES IN NORTH AMERICA
- IWS 270 ISLAMIC ETHICS
- IWS 271 THE QUR'AN AND ITS INTERPRETERS
- IWS 272 GENDER AND SEXUALITY IN MUSLIM CULTURES
- IWS 278 APPROACHES TO THE HADITH
- IWS 285 ISLAM'S ENCOUNTER WITH OTHER RELIGIONS AND NON-RELIGIOUS TRADITIONS
- IWS 295 SECTARIAN MOVEMENTS WITHIN ISLAM
- IWS 330 ISLAMIC LAW, ITS HISTORY AND MODERN APPLICATIONS
- HST 141 THE MUSLIM WORLD, C. 600 CE TO 1100
- HST 142 THE MUSLIM WORLD, 1000-1500
- HST 143 THE MUSLIM WORLD, 1400-1920
- ANT 240 CULTURES OF THE MIDDLE EAST
- WGS 307 WOMEN IN THE MIDDLE EAST: BEYOND THE VEIL
- HST 366 THE MODERN MIDDLE EAST AND NORTH AFRICA
- PSC 255 MIDDLE EAST POLITICS
- HST 226 ISLAM AND THE WEST: A SURVEY OF ORIENTALISM

Students majoring in Islamic World Studies (BA) are restricted from earning this minor.

Italian (BA)

From ancient Rome to the European Union, Italy has always been at the core of the humanist tradition and the heart of world affairs. A degree in Italian offers a broad-based humanities education with crucial skills in reading, writing, critical thinking, and intercultural communication useful for any number of pursuits after college. Our majors have gone on to career paths in teaching, government, and business both in the US and abroad. Others have enrolled in prestigious graduate programs in linguistics, literature, and law.

DePaul's Italian program gives students the opportunity to attain advanced language proficiency while studying all aspects of Italian literature and culture. Topics of our regular course offerings include:

- Language and Culture
- Film
- History and Politics
Students expand upon the fundamental skills learned in the Italian core by choosing one of three concentrations: Italian Studies, Italian Language and Literature, and Commercial Italian. DePaul majors in world language education, management, marketing, environmental studies, history of art and architecture, international studies, political science and many other disciplines often choose to double major in Italian.

Each Fall DePaul's study abroad program in Rome offers students the opportunity to study at Italiaidea, a small, student-centered language institute with a superb record and reputation for high quality instruction, and at St. John’s University campus in Rome, a university, like DePaul, driven by its Vincentian mission. Students can also spend a semester or year in Milan through DePaul’s partnership with Università Cattolica del Sacro Cuore. The Italian Program has a chapter of the National Italian Honor Society Gamma Kappa Alpha and routinely partners with Italian agencies, businesses, and community organizations to offer its students quality internship opportunities locally and abroad. Home to one of the largest Italian-American communities in the US, Chicago also offers a dazzling array of resources—the Italian Cultural Institute, museums, galleries, film centers, restaurants and cafés—that allow students to immerse themselves in Italian language and culture right here in the city.

Major Requirements

Majors in Italian must complete a total of 12 advanced courses (48 quarter hours), comprised of a common 8-course core and a 4-course concentration in Italian Studies, Italian Language and Literature, or Commercial Italian.

Core courses (32 quarter hours)

- ITA 201 ADVANCED COMMUNICATION I
- ITA 202 ADVANCED COMMUNICATION II
- ITA 203 ADVANCED COMMUNICATION III
- Five 300-level ITA courses

Students who begin their study of Italian at DePaul with ITA 202 or higher may substitute a 300-level Italian elective course for any of the required 200-level courses. 300-level courses will vary based on quarterly offerings.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours. Majors in Italian should select these courses in consultation with the Italian Program Director and Modern Languages Staff Advisor. Students can use their open electives to pursue a double major or one or more minors.
Italian (Minor)

The Italian minor gives students the opportunity to develop basic linguistic and cultural skills, to train in creative and critical thinking, and prepare for a career in our multicultural society.

The minor consists of a total of 5 courses in Italian language at the 200/300-level.

Students majoring in Italian (BA) are restricted from earning this minor.

Japanese (Minor)

The Japanese language minor prepares students to speak and read with a basic proficiency in one of the world’s most important languages for business.

The minor consists of a total of 5 courses in Japanese language at the 200/300-level.

Students majoring in Japanese Studies (BA) or minoring in Japanese Studies are restricted from earning this minor.

Japanese Studies (BA)

The Japanese Studies (JPS) program at DePaul engages students in Japanese language and culture to cultivate cultural, historical, linguistic, and ethical values while developing the skills to lead in business, arts, diplomacy, education and digital media.

Japan is America’s most important Asian ally, the 3rd strongest economy in the world, the second largest investor in the United Stated in business, and a global soft-power leader in digital media and popular consumer goods. At DePaul, students explore Japanese language and culture through an interdisciplinary approach to their studies. Our faculty offer classes in literature, history, religion, art history, ethics, political science, business, anime and film studies. Students learn transferrable, marketable skills in the areas of advanced language study and translation, and hone their critical thinking and writing skills by studying Japanese culture and society with experts in the fields of Japanese ethical and environmental studies, gender studies, and visual and material culture.

JPS encourages opportunities outside the classroom to strengthen linguistic and cultural competency through quarter-long or full-year exchange programs to Osaka (Kansai Gaidai) and Kyoto (Ritsumeikan). Special DePaul faculty-led short-term programs are offered every year, such as Peace Studies in Hiroshima-Nagasaki, Diaspora and Politics in Okinawa, and Digital Media in Tokyo-Kyoto.

On campus, JPS hosts numerous cultural and academic events, such as film screenings, Japanese language table, and cultural showcases. Off campus, students benefit from the many Japan-related activities at local Japanese organizations (e.g., the Japanese Consulate General in Chicago, Japanese American Service Committee, Japanese Culture Center, Japanese Chamber of Commerce and Industry in Chicago), and at local museums and theaters (e.g., the Art Institute of Chicago, the Museum of Contemporary Art, and the Gene Siskel Film Center).

The Japanese Studies curriculum allows students to take courses from many academic departments, including:

- Art history
- History
- Literature
- Political Science
- Religious Studies

Japanese Studies students are encouraged to participate in one of DePaul's Study Abroad programs in Kyoto or Osaka, in order to grow linguistically and expand their understanding of the Japanese culture.

  - Engage in conversations.
  - Interpret and create a variety of written texts.
  - Provide and obtain information
  - Express feelings and emotions.
  - Exchange opinions.
- Acquire knowledge of the cultures related to the studied language(s) with appropriate background in geography, history, politics, and society.
- Acquire knowledge of the literary traditions related to the studied language(s) along with techniques of literary and rhetorical analysis.
- Acquire basic notion of the history and theory of language and language study, including linguistics, sociolinguistics, language acquisition, and dialectology.
- Acquire basic notion of the theory and practice of translation and interpretation.

College Core Requirements

Study in the Major Field

The student’s course of study in the College consists of three parts: Liberal Studies, the major field, and electives. Together these three parts contribute to the liberal education of the student which is the common purpose of all study in the College. By “liberal education” the College understands not only a deep and thorough knowledge of a particular area of study but a knowledge of the diverse areas of study represented by criticism, history, the arts, the behavioral and social sciences, philosophy, religious studies, the natural science, and mathematics.

The major field program generally is built upon a set of core courses and a specialized “concentration.” The number of courses required for a major varies by department. Most students go beyond the minimum requirements, electing additional courses which both broaden and deepen their understanding of their chosen discipline.

Because no academic major program is built in isolation, students are required to pursue a number of electives of the student’s choice. The inherent flexibility of this curriculum demands that the student consult an academic advisor at each stage in the total program and at least once prior to each registration. Students will be prompted to visit the College Office for their official graduation check early in their senior year.

Declaration of Major, Minor and Concentration

All students in the College are required to declare a major field prior to beginning their junior year. The student will then be assigned a faculty advisor in the major field department or program and should make an appointment to see that advisor at his or her earliest convenience.

Students must declare or change majors, minors, and concentrations, via Campus Connection. However, for the purpose of exploring the possibility of changing a major field, the student should consult an academic advisor in the Office for Academic Advising Support.

The Modern Language Requirement (MLR)

All students will be required to demonstrate competence in a modern language (i.e., a language other than English) equivalent to the proficiency attained from one year of college-level language study. This Modern Language Requirement (MLR) may be demonstrated by:

- placing into 104 or above on the DePaul language placement exam
- completing the last course or earning AP/IB credit for the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language (e.g. 103 for DePaul language classes)
- completing a college course or earning AP/IB credit for a college course beyond the first-year level in any language (e.g. 104 or above for DePaul language classes)
- completing the final course of a four-year sequence of the same modern language in high school*
- completing a proctored exam by BYU and passing the exam (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)
- completing a proctored Written Proficiency Test (WPT) by Language Testing International (LTI) and achieving a score of Beginner High or above (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)

* Students are strongly encouraged to take the DePaul language placement exam even if they have met the MLR via study of a language in high school. This will ensure continuation of language study at the proper level.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College will abide by this MLR in place on the effective date of the ICT, regardless of when they first matriculated at DePaul.
Students who have met the MLR and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" (MLO) of the Liberal Studies Program (see "Special Programs").

External Credit and Residency

A student who has been admitted to the College begins residency within the college as of the first day of classes of the term in which the student is registered. Students in residence, whether attending on a full-time or part-time basis, may not take courses away from DePaul University without the written permission of the college. Permission must be obtained in advance of registration to avoid loss of credit or residency in the college; see the LAS website for more information.

Notes
A student whose only major is in Modern Languages is required to complete the Capstone offered by the Department of Modern Languages (MOL). A student who is double majoring (or pursuing dual degrees) with the primary major (or primary degree) in MOL may substitute the Capstone of the secondary major or degree. An MOL major in the University Honors Program shall take only the University Honors Capstone, not both the Honors Capstone and the MOL Capstone.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy
Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

Jazz Studies (BM)

The Bachelor of Music in Jazz Studies degree prepares students for careers as jazz professionals. Drawing upon the resources of the Chicago jazz scene, faculty members are highly celebrated performers, teachers, composers, and arrangers. The program is comprised of applied jazz lessons, jazz ensembles and combos, jazz improvisation, jazz theory and history, arranging and composition, and pedagogy.

Learning Outcomes

Core Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Perform with an acceptable tone quality, pitch and rhythmic accuracy, dynamic control, articulation, and expressiveness.
- Participate in a musical ensemble, with appropriate technique and musicality.
- Identify and analyze the elements of music in a given piece, including an understanding of its compositional processes, aesthetic properties, and artistic, social, and historical context.
- Identify significant composers and works in the Western music tradition, and trace the evolution of musical styles through the Medieval, Renaissance, Baroque, Classical, Romantic, and Contemporary periods, as well as in jazz and select world music cultures.
- Hear, notate, analyze, and perform music through aural skills, sight-singing, and keyboard skills.
- Demonstrate basic conducting knowledge and skills for both instrumental and vocal settings.
- Develop an expanded global awareness and cultural understanding through musical study.
Describe basic information about health and safety within the contexts of practice, performing, teaching, and listening; topics will include hearing, vocal, and musculoskeletal health and injury prevention.

Students will be able to:

- Demonstrate a growing competence in technical aspects of performance, such as tone quality, pitch consistency, dynamic control, technical agility, accurate rhythmic concepts, and other skills particular to the area of specialization.
- Identify and analyze the elements of music in a given piece, including an understanding of its compositional processes, aesthetic properties, and artistic, social, and historical contexts for works in the Western music tradition, Contemporary periods, Jazz, and World Music Cultures.
- Demonstrate an appropriate level of aural, keyboard, and conducting skills.
- Develop an understanding of the pedagogical processes and theories that are foundational to performance practices and instruction on one's primary instrument.
- Demonstrate a growing maturity in musical concepts using tools of performance to create artistic products.
- Demonstrate increasing knowledge of repertoire and growing musical competence through participation in solo, chamber and large ensemble performances.

Music Core Requirements

Course Requirements

All students in the School of Music are required to enroll in the following music courses:

Musicianship (42 credits)

- Music Theory Sequence
  - MUS 110A MUSIC THEORY I
  - MUS 120A MUSIC THEORY II
  - MUS 130A MUSIC THEORY III
  - MUS 212A MUSIC THEORY IV
  - MUS 222A MUSIC THEORY V
  - MUS 232 MUSIC THEORY VI

  - MUS 131 AURAL TRAINING III
  - MUS 211 AURAL TRAINING IV
  - MUS 221 AURAL TRAINING V
  - MUS 231 AURAL TRAINING VI
- Group Piano Sequence
  - MUS 113 GROUP PIANO I
  - MUS 123 GROUP PIANO II
  - MUS 133 GROUP PIANO III
  - MUS 213 GROUP PIANO IV
  - MUS 223 GROUP PIANO V
  - MUS 233 GROUP PIANO VI

Additional Courses

- MUS 303 BASIC CONDUCTING PRACTICUM
- MUS 304 BASIC CONDUCTING
- MUS 320 INTRODUCTION TO WORLD MUSIC
- MUS 321 INTRODUCTION TO JAZZ HISTORY
- MUS 322 ADVANCED MUSICIANSHP
Students in the BS-PAM degree program are not required to take MUS 303 and MUS 304.

Applied Music

Students may enroll in a maximum of 3 credits of applied study per quarter, with a maximum of 36 credits total. The requirements for applied study vary by degree program:

- BM in performance, 36 credits
- BM in jazz studies, 32 credits
- BM in composition, 12 credits
- BM in music education, 18 credits
- BM in performing arts management, 18 credits
- BA in music, 12 credits
- BS in sound recording technology, performance track, 9 credits

The BS in Performing Arts Management degree does not require applied lessons, and the BS in Sound Recording Technology, non-performance track, degree does not require applied lessons.

Except performance majors, students may enroll in additional applied credits, which will count towards music electives.

Modern Language Option

If a music student wishes to study a modern language for a three-course sequence (12 credits), one quarter of language study (4 credits) may be used to replace a course requirement in Arts and Literature, Philosophical Inquiry, or Religious Dimensions. The remaining two quarters of language (8 credits) will be applied towards free electives.

Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

Major Requirements

Program Checkpoints
Undergraduate students in classical performance will perform a checkpoint audition at the end of their sophomore year. Undergraduate Jazz Studies majors will perform this audition at the end of their freshman year. The student's applied instructor and/or area coordinator or director will give students specific information on content and required music. Successful completion of the checkpoint audition is required for continuation in the performance degree.

Course Requirements
Students are required to complete the following courses for a specialization in Jazz Studies:

- Essentials of Jazz Sequence
  - JZZ 300 ESSENTIALS OF JAZZ I
  - JZZ 301 ESSENTIALS OF JAZZ II
  - JZZ 302 ESSENTIALS OF JAZZ III
- Improvisation Sequence

- JZZ 314 JAZZ PEDAGOGY
Journalism (BA)

The Bachelor of Arts degree in Journalism prepares graduates for careers as multimedia content producers and video storytellers. The program’s team of professional journalists and emphasis on experiential learning enable graduates to write, produce, and post stories that serve citizens with news worth knowing. Production facilities include a South Loop news center, green screen studio, mac labs, high-end editing suites, and smart classrooms. Students particularly benefit from DePaul's long partnership with Chicago's professional community.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Write, interpret and report the news of the day.
- Understand the business many of them will be entering.
- Understand the role technology, social media and repurposing stories for multimedia platforms are playing in the current and future world of newsgathering and dissemination.
- Understand journalism's relationship to society, power, politics and the international stage, which is being made smaller through the use of mass media.

College Core Requirements

All majors in the College of Communication consist of a four-course common core plus an additional combination of program requirements and electives.

Course Requirements

Four core courses are required of all College of Communication students:

- CMN 101 INTRODUCTION TO HUMAN COMMUNICATION
- CMN 102 INTRODUCTION TO MASS COMMUNICATION
- CMN 103 INTERCULTURAL COMMUNICATION
- CMN 104 PUBLIC SPEAKING

Students are encouraged to complete all four prior to taking additional coursework in the major.

Modern Language Requirement

Students who intend to graduate with a Bachelor of Arts degree in the College of Communication will be required to demonstrate a measure of competence in a modern language, as defined by the college. Such competence may be demonstrated in one of several ways:
• completing the last course in a second year high school course work in a modern language or Latin
• completing the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language
• completing a college course beyond the first-year level in any language
• achieving a satisfactory score on any of the Modern Language placement examinations administered at DePaul
• achieving a satisfactory rating in a proficiency examination accepted by DePaul
• achieving a score of 3 or higher on the Advance Placement (AP) test for any language (must be completed during high school)
• achieving a score of 5 or higher in the Language B assessment from a Standard or Higher Level International Baccalaureate (IB) program
• achieving a satisfactory score on the CLEP examination. (Note that CLEP scores may be used only to meet the language requirement. Credit is not awarded in modern languages on the basis of CLEP scores).

Students with some modern language training should consult with the Modern Language Department about the course with which they should begin. Students with little or no previous work in the language will be required to complete the entire three-course introductory sequence.

Modern Language Option

The Modern Language Option is available to all BA students who wish to study a modern language beyond the level necessary to meet the College's modern language requirement. Students selecting the option may substitute a three-course language sequence for two learning domain courses and one open elective, or two upper-level courses in the same language for two learning domain requirements. Modern Language Option substitutions may not be used to replace the Scientific Inquiry: Lab or Scientific Inquiry: Science as a Way of Knowing requirement.

Any substitutions must be consistent with the principle that students complete at least one course in each learning domain.

  - JOUR 301 REPORTING FOR 14 EAST DEPAUL
  - JOUR 380 REPORTING FOR GOOD DAY DEPAUL
  - JOUR 390 WRITING FOR THE DEPAULIA
- Three courses (12 hours) that begin with JOUR. Any of these three JOUR courses may be replaced with CMN 394 MAKING THE MOST OF YOUR COMMUNICATION INTERNSHIP or CMN 395 COMMUNICATION INTERNSHIP SPECIAL TOPICS, if those internships are journalism-related.

Students majoring in Journalism (BA) are restricted from earning this minor.

Latin American and Latino Studies (BA)

The Department of Latin American and Latino Studies explores the cultural contributions of Latin Americans to the global community and highlights perspectives and traditions that have developed in the region. It analyzes the multicultural character of the peoples of Latin America by calling attention to the complex interplay among Indigenous, European, Semitic, Arab, Asian, and African societies in the region. It explores the profound linkage that has emerged between Latin America and the United States, particularly through the construction of Latino communities in the U.S.

This interdisciplinary department explores the broad dynamics shaping Latin American and Latino experiences and draws courses and insights from the fields of film and media studies, art and art history, geography, political science, religious studies, sociology, history, anthropology, modern languages, international studies, and philosophy. Students interested in a wide range of work requiring multicultural skills, such as education, law, social work, community organizing, and business, will benefit from course work in this program. The Department of Latin American and Latino Studies also serves to deepen Latino students’ awareness of their cultural heritage.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Describe and discuss the trajectory and history of the diverse communities that have emerged in Latin America from the centuries of interactions among a range of Indigenous, European, and African societies, and other immigrant and diasporic groups (e.g. Arab, Asian, and Semitic).
- Evaluate the history of interactions between Latin America and the United States and explore the experiences of Latin Americans and their descendants within the U.S.
- Critically engage with the history and dynamics of power imbalances between dominant and subordinate groups in Latin American and between the U.S. and Latin America.
- Develop, through self-reflection and critical analysis, a strong sense of social justice within a commitment to community outreach.
- Apply theoretical approaches to practical problems and use interdisciplinary concepts and methods related to issues of social justice in the Americas.
- Develop a range of practical and communication skills, including but not limited to:
  - Conducting independent research and writing.
  - Conducting research and writing as part of a team.
  - Engaging in critical and analytical thinking.
Creating and delivering a presentation.

College Core Requirements

Study in the Major Field

The student's course of study in the College consists of three parts: Liberal Studies, the major field, and electives. Together these three parts contribute to the liberal education of the student which is the common purpose of all study in the College. By "liberal education" the College understands not only a deep and thorough knowledge of a particular area of study but a knowledge of the diverse areas of study represented by criticism, history, the arts, the behavioral and social sciences, philosophy, religious studies, the natural science, and mathematics.

The major field program generally is built upon a set of core courses and a specialized "concentration." The number of courses required for a major varies by department. Most students go beyond the minimum requirements, electing additional courses which both broaden and deepen their understanding of their chosen discipline.

Because no academic major program is built in isolation, students are required to pursue a number of electives of the student's choice. The inherent flexibility of this curriculum demands that the student consult an academic advisor at each stage in the total program and at least once prior to each registration. Students will be prompted to visit the College Office for their official graduation check early in their senior year.

Declaration of Major, Minor and Concentration

All students in the College are required to declare a major field prior to beginning their junior year. The student will then be assigned a faculty advisor in the major field department or program and should make an appointment to see that advisor at his or her earliest convenience.

Students must declare or change majors, minors, and concentrations, via Campus Connection. However, for the purpose of exploring the possibility of changing a major field, the student should consult an academic advisor in the Office for Academic Advising Support.

The Modern Language Requirement (MLR)

All students will be required to demonstrate competence in a modern language (i.e., a language other than English) equivalent to the proficiency attained from one year of college-level language study. This Modern Language Requirement (MLR) may be demonstrated by:

- placing into 104 or above on the DePaul language placement exam
- completing the last course or earning AP/IB credit for the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language (e.g. 103 for DePaul language classes)
- completing a college course or earning AP/IB credit for a college course beyond the first-year level in any language (e.g. 104 or above for DePaul language classes)
- completing the final course of a four-year sequence of the same modern language in high school*
- completing a proctored exam by BYU and passing the exam (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)
- completing a proctored Written Proficiency Test (WPT) by Language Testing International (LTI) and achieving a score of Beginner High or above (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)

* Students are strongly encouraged to take the DePaul language placement exam even if they have met the MLR via study of a language in high school. This will ensure continuation of language study at the proper level.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College will abide by this MLR in place on the effective date of the ICT, regardless of when they first matriculated at DePaul.

Students who have met the MLR and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" (MLO) of the Liberal Studies Program (see "Special Programs").

External Credit and Residency

A student who has been admitted to the College begins residency within the college as of the first day of classes of the term in which the student is registered. Students in residence, whether attending on a full-time or part-time basis, may not take courses away from DePaul University without the written permission of the college. Permission must be obtained in advance of registration to avoid loss of credit or residency in the college; see the LAS website for more information.

Understanding the Past (UP)

- 1 Course Required
  (Note: Course must focus on a geographic region outside Latin America)

* Students must earn a C- or better in this course.

Notes

See an advisor to utilize the modern language option.

A student majoring in Latin American and Latino Studies (LST) is required to complete the Capstone offered by the LST Department. This is the case even if a student is double majoring (or pursuing a dual degree) and the secondary major (or degree) requires its own Capstone. An LST major in the University Honors Program shall take the University Honors Capstone and the LST Capstone.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

Major Requirements

Course Requirements

Core Requirements (5 courses / 20 credit hours):

- LST 200 FOUNDING MYTHS AND CULTURAL CONQUEST IN LATIN AMERICA
- LST 201 STRUGGLE AND RESISTANCE IN LATIN AMERICA
- LST 202 CONSTRUCTING LATINO COMMUNITIES
- LST 203 MEDIA AND CULTURAL STUDIES ACROSS THE AMERICAS
- LST 390 SENIOR SEMINAR (taken for Liberal Studies requirement)

Spanish Requirement (2 courses / 8 credit hours):

- Two 200/300-level Spanish courses

Concentration Requirements

Students must also complete the requirements from one of the following concentrations: Historical Processes and Interpretations of the Americas; Contemporary Transformations in the Americas; Cultural Studies of the Americas or Latina/o Studies.
Concentration Requirements

Concentrations, tracks and specializations provide focus to the major. In addition to any college core requirements, liberal studies requirements and major requirements, students are required to choose one of the following:

- Contemporary Transformations in the Americas
- Cultural Studies of the Americas
- Historical Processes and Interpretations of the Americas
- Latina/o Studies

Contemporary Transformations in the Americas Concentration

This concentration focuses on the political, economic, and socio-cultural transformations that have profoundly shaped the Americas in the twentieth and twenty-first centuries. Courses in this concentration address issues such as authoritarian and democratic regimes of governance, state-interventionist and neoliberal economies, national and transnational forms of belonging, as well as the new modes of institutional exclusion and socio-cultural formation. In choosing this concentration, students will grapple with key figures, events, and movements in the Americas.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.
Cultural Studies of the Americas Concentration

This concentration includes the study of cultural productions - e.g. art, film, television, literature - and the major theoretical and ideological trends of cultural studies in the Americas. This concentration takes a hemispheric or Inter-American approach to the study of cultural productions, taking into account the impact of social, economic, and political exchanges on the circulation of culture across the hemisphere. Courses in this concentration explore issues relating to the representation of transnational migration, race, ethnicity, sexuality, gender, class, and indigeneity.

Latina/o Studies Concentration

The Latina/o Studies concentration allows students to choose from an array of intellectually challenging, multidisciplinary courses that introduce cutting-edge scholarship on the Latina/o populations of the United States. Our courses familiarize students with the nation’s fast-growing, diverse, transnational Latina/o populations, including their histories, ongoing connections to Latin America, cultures, and social conditions. Courses offer students the opportunity to focus on individual Latina/o communities in the country and to engage in comparative analysis of the various Latina/o communities. Students can select courses that concentrate on current socioeconomic and political issues facing Latinos in the U.S., as well as others that capture Latina/o expression in literature, music, and the arts. Some courses in this concentration involve students in collaborative projects with Chicago based Latina/o community organizations, civic programs, and other service learning opportunities.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.
Combined Bachelor's/ Master's Degrees

The combined Bachelor's/Master's degree programs allow students to complete 12 graduate credit hours while still undergraduates. These 12 graduate credit hours will count toward both the undergraduate and graduate degree programs.

Latin American and Latino Studies (BA)/Critical Ethnic Studies (MA)

In the spring of their junior year, majors can apply for the combined Latin American and Latino Studies (BA)/Critical Ethnic Studies (MA). Students in this program take twelve graduate credit hours in their senior year; these graduate courses may apply toward both undergraduate Latin American/Latino Studies major field and graduate Critical Ethnic Studies requirements. Interested students should contact the Critical Ethnic Studies (CES) graduate director.

A variety of other combined degree options are available for majors within the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences as well as other colleges at DePaul. These options generally offer double-counting of undergraduate open elective credit with graduate program credit.

Latin American and Latino Studies (Minor)

The Latin American and Latino Studies minor will help you explore the cultural contributions of the Latin American community to the global community and the traditions that developed in the region.

Course Requirements

Core Requirements (2 courses / 8 credit hours):

- One course from the following list:
  o LST 200 FOUNDING MYTHS AND CULTURAL CONQUEST IN LATIN AMERICA
  o LST 201 STRUGGLE AND RESISTANCE IN LATIN AMERICA
  o LST 203 MEDIA AND CULTURAL STUDIES ACROSS THE AMERICAS
  o LST 202 CONSTRUCTING LATINO COMMUNITIES

Areas of Concentration (4 courses / 16 credit hours):

- Four elective courses, to be chosen in consultation with a program advisor. Minors are encouraged to take LST 390 SENIOR SEMINAR. Minors are suggested to focus in one of the four Areas of Concentration:
  o Historical Processes and Interpretations of the Americas
  o Contemporary Transformations in the Americas
  o Cultural Studies of the Americas
  o Latina/o Studies

Study Abroad Experience

Students are strongly encouraged to participate in DePaul's quarter abroad program in Merida, Mexico or one of the university's other short-term study abroad programs in Latin America.

Internship Experience

Students are strongly encouraged to include an internship as part of their academic experience. Internships may be arranged with either a Latino community organization, a U.S.-based organization that focuses on Latin America, or, as part of a study abroad experience, with a public service organization in a Latin American country.

Students majoring in Latin American and Latino Studies (BA) are restricted from earning this minor.

Latino Media and Communication (Minor)

The minor in Latino Media and Communication is comprised of six courses. The minor allows students within the college and from other colleges, who have a strong interest in focusing their interest in Latino Studies, to develop them within the communication field. Students opting to pursue a minor in Latino Media and Communication may not pursue a concentration in the same subject area.
Minor Goals

The program educates students to think critically about all aspects of media and communication, with a particular focus on Latino media and Latino communities. Coursework will provide students with the applied skills necessary to create communication strategies which effectively reach the Latino segment of the population, based on an understanding of Latino cultures in the US and grounded in an understanding of its cultural, economic and sociological aspects.

Learning Goals

Students who complete the minor will:

- Develop an understanding of the heterogeneous and rapidly changing Latino communities locally, nationally, and globally.
- Ground their knowledge of intercultural studies within a more extensive and concrete knowledge of a particular (even though diverse), rapidly growing, and increasingly important population within the US—Latino communities.
- Increase their cross-cultural competence (understanding and ability to dialogue across difference, develop cultural sensitivity and awareness) with Latino communities.
- Develop insights into the needs and motivations of Latino populations in the workplace, in community situations, and other sites of engagement, and develop communications tools and strategies to address those needs and motivations.
- Enhance their capacity to communicate with and learn from Latino populations in the workplace, in community situations, and other sites of engagement.
- Recognize the impact of the movement of Latinos across the globe and to develop the skills to critically consume and produce media, public relations, and advertisement representations that communicate to and about Latino communities.
- Both engage and demonstrate their interest in Latino Studies within and across diverse areas of knowledge production in the Communication field.

Course Requirements

- LST 202 CONSTRUCTING LATINO COMMUNITIES
  or CMNS 335 LATINO COMMUNICATION, CULTURE, & COMMUNITY
- Five additional courses from:
  - CMN 394 MAKING THE MOST OF YOUR COMMUNICATION INTERNSHIP (for credit in this concentration, the internships must focus on Latino media and communication)
  - CMN 395 COMMUNICATION INTERNSHIP SPECIAL TOPICS (for credit in this concentration, the internships must focus on Latino media and communication)
  - CMNS 308 TOPICS IN INTERCULTURAL COMMUNICATION
  - CMNS 335 LATINO COMMUNICATION, CULTURE, & COMMUNITY
  - CSS 201 CRITICAL COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT
  - CSS 390 SPECIAL TOPICS IN COMMUNITY SERVICE STUDIES (cross-listed with LST 300 Special Topics: Transnational Communities: Puerto Rico/ABD Fall Quarter)
  - JOUR 377 SPECIAL TOPICS IN JOURNALISM (Topic requires departmental approval)
  - LST 202 CONSTRUCTING LATINO COMMUNITIES
  - LST 300 SPECIAL TOPICS IN LATIN AMERICAN STUDIES
  - MCS 350 TOPICS IN GLOBAL CINEMA (Topic requires departmental approval)
  - MCS 353 TOPICS IN MEDIA STUDIES (Topic requires departmental approval)

  - SPN 398 STUDY ABROAD

Leadership Studies (BA)

An accelerated, inter-disciplinary, 2-year degree completion program for adult students, the Leadership Studies major is offered at the Loop campus and online.

This course-based major is for graduates of community colleges with an Associate's degree who seek broad interdisciplinary study that includes project management, leadership models, communication, organizational change, ethics, human interaction, conflict management and
Students must meet the following conditions to be admitted to the program:

- Be age 24 or older.
- Have a GPA of 2.0 or higher from their last college/university attended.

Open Electives

Additional Open Electives credit may be required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 credit hours. Open Electives can be fulfilled through courses offered by the School for New Learning and other DePaul colleges, transfer courses, assessment of prior learning (PLA), and independent studies.

Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, Queer Studies (Minor)

The LGBTQ Studies program analyzes sex and sexuality within many different fields of inquiry. A minor in LGBTQ Studies will enable DePaul students to devote significant study to the experiences of people who do not conform to culturally dominant identities of sexuality and gender: lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, queer. Such an endeavor is profoundly interdisciplinary by nature and draws on university resources and faculty expertise in a wide array of disciplines. Students in this minor will have the opportunity to analyze the experiences of LGBTQ people on their own terms, as well as through critical perspectives on sexuality and gender as complex social, cultural, biological, and historical phenomena.

Course Requirements

- LGQ 150 INTRODUCTION TO LESBIAN, GAY, BISEXUAL, TRANSGENDER, QUEER STUDIES
- Five elective courses
  - All LGQ 100, 200, 300-level courses count as electives
  - Other electives approved for the minor

The following is a sample of regularly-offered approved electives. This list is not exhaustive; new courses are continually created and approved. Every quarter before registration begins, the Program Director distributes a list of courses being offered the following quarter. Students should contact the Program Director to request the current list. Students may also petition the Director for approval of a course not listed. Many LGBTQ Studies courses are crosslisted and fulfill requirements in other departments and programs, including the Liberal Studies Program. LGBTQ Studies minors are encouraged to take at least one course in a variety of disciplines—film, history, literature, media, performance, philosophy, politics, religion, science, and theory.

Lighting Design (BFA)

The Theatre School's Bachelor of Fine Arts (BFA) degree in Lighting Design is designed to give students the opportunity to explore and expand their artistic and visual expression and provides them the opportunity to practice their craft. The four-year curriculum in many ways simulates a lighting designer's professional experience and process. Designers learn to visualize, create and implement their designs by collaborating with directors, dramaturgs, other designers and technicians, and our professional production staff.

* Students must earn a C- or better in this course.

Notes

Specified required courses within Liberal Studies may have grade minimums (e.g. C- or better). Please consult your advisor or your college and major requirements.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

Notes

Specified required courses within Liberal Studies may have grade minimums (e.g. C- or better). Please consult your advisor or your college and major requirements.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.
Major Requirements

Course Requirements

In addition to BLW 201, MGT 300, MGT 301, and ICS 394 or ICS 395, a student majoring in Management is required to complete the following courses totaling at least 22.0 hours and an additional four courses based on concentration chosen totaling at least 16.0 hours:

- Six required courses:

Open Electives

Open elective credit (8.0 hours) is needed to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Global Business Perspective

If an ICS or MGT course is shared between Global Business Perspective and the Management major, additional hours of Open Elective credit are required. Any ICS or MGT course used toward Global Business Perspective must be passed with C- or higher.

Career Management Course

Students are required to complete the Career Course (250) associated with the major. Students who double major may choose the Career Course (250) associated with either major provided that hours for graduation are satisfied.

Experiential Learning

If either MGT 393 or ICS 350 is completed in the Management major consult with academic advisor regarding options for Experiential Learning.

Graduation Requirements

All Management (MGT) and Business Law (BLW) courses, ICS 394 and/or ICS 395, and any other courses used toward the Management major must be completed with a minimum grade of C- and with a combined GPA of 2.000 or higher.

Concentration Requirements

Concentrations, tracks and specializations provide focus to the major. In addition to any college core requirements, liberal studies requirements and major requirements, students are required to choose one of the following:

- Entrepreneurship
- General Management
- Human Resources
- Leadership and Change Management
- Operations Management
- Sports Management
Entrepreneurship

The Entrepreneurship concentration is characterized by its contemporary, integrative approach to management of emerging firms. It is designed for students who seek to be entrepreneurs in start-up ventures, operate family businesses or work as entrepreneurial change agents within a corporate setting. If a student chooses to pursue this concentration, three courses totaling at least 16.0 hours must be taken.

- Two courses to be chosen from:
  - MGT 370 BUSINESS PLAN DEVELOPMENT
  - MGT 373 CREATIVITY & ENTREPRENEURSHIP
  - MGT 398 SPECIAL TOPICS (when related to Entrepreneurship)

Management Information Systems (BSB)

The program in Management Information Systems is intended for undergraduate business students who plan to start their career as information systems professionals in either information technology producing industries or with the heavy users of such technologies. If they decide to take a minor in MIS, graduates will be able to function as liaisons representing their department or business function in information systems projects. This program is guided by several curriculum principles:

- Designed to educate management-oriented, technically proficient information systems professionals.
- Focused on requirements engineering and other stages of system life cycle requiring heavy involvement of systems analysts rather than on technical implementation stages.
- Complements a thorough understanding of business operations covered in the core undergraduate business curriculum. This combination of competencies is particularly important for systems analysts and makes this program distinct from programs in computer science.
- Designed according to current technological trends and is flexible to accommodate its adjustment as stipulated by rapidly changing and evolving information technologies.
- Includes sufficient training in technology skills in high demand to make graduates easily employable and immediately productive.

In this program, students will acquire:

- A broad understanding of information technologies and their utilization in private and governmental organizations
- An in-depth understanding of information systems life cycle and the nature of related phases and tasks from initial study through post-implementation support
- A thorough understanding of system requirements elicitation, analysis, documentation, validation, and management
- Ability to work with users and builders of information systems
- An understanding of information systems project management
- Ability to develop prototypes using visual programming technology
- Ability to identify organizational data and to design and manipulate databases
- Ability to integrate technical knowledge and understanding of business operations
- Experience working on team projects

Notes

Specified required courses within Liberal Studies may have grade minimums (e.g. C- or better). Please consult your advisor or your college and major requirements.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

All undergraduate students in the Driehaus College of Business complete a course in Business Ethics. It is recommended students take MGT 248 or PHL 248 in Philosophical Inquiry or MGT 228 or REL 228 in Religious Dimensions in the Liberal Studies Program (or University Honors Program) Requirements.

Second Majors and Minors

The addition of a second major or minor may affect the Business Core classes required for a student. Meet with an academic advisor to confirm requirements.

Math Requirements

- A student is expected to complete the business math sequence (MAT 135, MAT 136, and MAT 137) in the first year of study
- MAT 135 and MAT 137 are completed through Liberal Studies requirements
- MAT 135 may be replaced by MAT 150 or MAT 160 or MAT 170
- MAT 136 may be replaced by MAT 151 or MAT 161 or MAT 171
- MAT 135 and MAT 136 may be replaced by the sequence of MAT 147, MAT 148, and MAT 149
- MAT 137 may be replaced by MAT 348 or MAT 351; if done, an additional Scientific Inquiry course must be added to the degree plan

Communication Requirement

Students majoring in Marketing must complete MKT 376 for the Communication requirement.

Global Business Perspective

If a MKT course or ICS 350 is shared between Global Business Perspective and the Marketing major, additional hours of Open Elective credit are required.

Grade Minimum Requirements for Marketing Major

A minimum grade of C- is required for the following: ACC 101, ACC 102, ECO 105, ECO 106, MAT 135, MAT 136, MAT 137, MKT 301, MKT 310, MKT 376, the course used for Professional Writing, and any MKT course used for Global Business Perspective.

Notes

Specified required courses within Liberal Studies may have grade minimums (e.g. C- or better). Please consult your advisor or your college and major requirements.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Major Requirements

Course Requirements

In addition to MKT 301 and MKT 310, a student majoring in Marketing is required to complete the following courses totaling 30.0 hours plus 4.0 hours to be shared with the Business Core (34.0 hours total):

- One required course to be taken for 2.0 hours:
  - MKT 202 QUANTITATIVE METHODS IN MARKETING (or equivalent; 2.0 hours)
- One required career readiness milestone course to be taken Pass/Fail for 0.0 hours:
  - MKT 250 NAVIGATING MARKETING CAREERS
- One required course to be taken in Business Core:
  - MKT 376 EFFECTIVE BUSINESS COMMUNICATION
- One Marketing Concentration of seven courses to be taken for 28.0 hours

Communication Requirement

MKT 376 must be completed by students majoring in Marketing and serves as the Communication requirement in the Business Core.

Concentration Requirements

Students must complete the requirements from one of the following three concentrations: Digital, Sales Leadership or Standard.

Multiple Marketing Concentrations

While a student may complete more than one Marketing concentration, at least 50% of the courses used for the completion of a second concentration must be unique to the completion of that concentration.

Career Management Course

Students are required to complete the Career Course (250) associated with the major. Students who double major may choose the Career Course (250) associated with either major provided that hours for graduation are satisfied.

Global Business Perspective

If an MKT or ICS 350 course is shared between Global Business Perspective and the Marketing major, additional hours of Open Elective credit are required. Any MKT or ICS 350 course used toward the Global Business Perspective requirement must be passed with C- or higher.

Open Electives

Open elective credit (16.0 hours) is also required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.
Graduation Requirements

All Marketing (MKT) courses and any other courses used toward the Marketing major must be completed with a minimum grade of C- and with a combined GPA of 2.000 or higher.

Concentration Requirements

Concentrations, tracks and specializations provide focus to the major. In addition to any college core requirements, liberal studies requirements and major requirements, students are required to choose one of the following:

- Digital Marketing
- Sales Leadership
- Standard

Sales Leadership Concentration

The demand for trained and knowledgeable sales people has never been greater. Sales careers offer independence, ample financial reward, personal growth and opportunities for rapid advancement within the organization. The Sales Leadership Program produces business graduates who can sell by joining traditional classroom education with real-world learning experience. Classes are led by faculty with extensive sales experience and by sales executives from leading corporations. Students experience rigorous classroom learning designed to deliver the knowledge and practical skills they will need to succeed during the first years of their careers including: oral and written communication, selling technique and networking, use of technology in customer strategy and identification, and development of organization leadership in a sales environment. Successful students will enjoy opportunities to visit companies, take paid internships, and interview with leading companies for entry-level positions. A student majoring in Marketing with this concentration must complete the following requirements totaling at least 28.0 hours:

Course Requirements

- Five required courses:
  - MKT 305 INTRODUCTION TO MARKETING RESEARCH
  - MKT 359 ADVANCED MARKETING MANAGEMENT
  - MKT 377 SALES FUNDAMENTALS
  - MKT 378 SALES STRATEGY & TECHNOLOGY
  - MKT 383 ANALYTICAL SALES
- Two electives to be chosen from:
  - MKT 380 SCIENCE OF RETAILING
  - MKT 381 BUILDING FINANCIAL RELATIONSHIPS
  - MKT 382 PRINCIPLES OF CATEGORY MANAGEMENT
  - MKT 384 CASES IN CATEGORY MANAGEMENT
  - MKT 385 INSIDE SALES
  - MKT 386 SOCIAL IMPACT SALES
  - MKT 398 SPECIAL TOPICS (when related)

Category Management Focus

For a specific focus in Category Management, Sales Leadership students should take:

- MKT 380 SCIENCE OF RETAILING
- MKT 382 PRINCIPLES OF CATEGORY MANAGEMENT
- MKT 384 CASES IN CATEGORY MANAGEMENT

Communication Requirement

Driehaus students majoring in Marketing must complete MKT 376 for the Communication requirement in the Business Core.

Multiple Marketing Concentrations

While a student may complete more than one Marketing concentration, at least 50% of the courses used for the completion of a second concentration must be unique to the completion of that concentration.
Graduation Requirements

All Marketing (MKT) courses and any other courses used toward the Marketing major must be completed with a minimum grade of C- and with a combined GPA of 2.000 or higher.

Standard Concentration

The Standard Marketing concentration provides students with the flexibility to tailor their programs to fit a wide array of career interests. Graduates with a marketing major have many career opportunities in the various areas of marketing such as advertising, market research, sales management, or marketing management. The department offers electives that focus in each area. Majors may wish to group their elective courses with a concentration or specific career orientation in mind, although this is not required. A student majoring in Marketing with this concentration must complete the following requirements totaling at least 28.0 hours:

Course Requirements

- Three required courses:
  - MKT 305 INTRODUCTION TO MARKETING RESEARCH
  - MKT 315 STRATEGIC TOOLS FOR MARKETERS
  - MKT 359 ADVANCED MARKETING MANAGEMENT
- Four elective courses to be chosen from:
  - MKT 320 PRINCIPLES OF ADVERTISING
  - MKT 321 SOCIAL MEDIA MARKETING
  - MKT 322 DIGITAL MARKETING COMMUNICATIONS
  - MKT 340 MARKETING ACROSS CULTURES: A CULTURAL PERSPECTIVE ON MULTICULTURAL MARKETS
  - MKT 342 SPORTS SPONSORSHIP MARKETING
  - MKT 352 NEW PRODUCT DEVELOPMENT
  - MKT 360 INTERNATIONAL MARKETING
  - MKT 377 SALES FUNDAMENTALS
  - MKT 378 SALES STRATEGY & TECHNOLOGY
  - MKT 380 SCIENCE OF RETAILING

  - MKT 399 INDEPENDENT STUDY
  - ICS 350 INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS SEMINAR (may be used once)
  - MGT 341 BEHIND THE SCENES WITH CHICAGO SPORTS ORGANIZATIONS
  - MGT 356 INTRODUCTION TO SPORTS MANAGEMENT

Communication Requirement

Driehaus students majoring in Marketing must complete MKT 376 for the Communication requirement in the Business Core.

Multiple Marketing Concentrations

While a student may complete more than one Marketing concentration, at least 50% of the courses used for the completion of a second concentration must be unique to the completion of that concentration.

Global Business Perspective

If a MKT course or ICS 350 is shared between Global Business Perspective and the Marketing major, additional hours of Open Elective credit are required. Any MKT or ICS 350 used for Global Business Perspective course must be passed with C- or higher.

Experiential Learning

Sharing of MKT 393 between Experiential Learning and the Marketing major may be possible; consult with academic advisor.
Graduation Requirements

All Marketing (MKT) courses and any other courses used toward the Marketing major must be completed with a minimum grade of C- and with a combined GPA of 2.000 or higher.

Career Orientations

Advertising and Promotion

Skills that lead to successful careers in Advertising and Promotion include: analysis of market research data; media planning; the creation of persuasive messages; strategic coordination of elements of the marketing communication mix; sales promotion strategies; public relations analysis and tactical management. You may consider the Standard concentration in Marketing to pursue this career path. Marketing elective courses for students interested in a career in advertising and promotion include the following:

- MKT 320 PRINCIPLES OF ADVERTISING
- MKT 321 SOCIAL MEDIA MARKETING
- MKT 395 INTERACTIVE/INTERNET MARKETING

Category Management

Category Management is the practice of managing a group of related products as one category to maximize profitability. Successful companies expect their suppliers to act as partners that will help them grow their businesses, sharing industry expertise and consumer insight. We have partnered with the Category Management Association to develop a unique curriculum that will prepare students for careers in this rapidly growing field and lead to industry certification. You may consider the Sales Leadership concentration in Marketing to pursue this career path. A student interested in category management should take the courses listed below:

- MKT 376 EFFECTIVE BUSINESS COMMUNICATION
- MKT 377 SALES FUNDAMENTALS
- MKT 380 SCIENCE OF RETAILING
- MKT 382 PRINCIPLES OF CATEGORY MANAGEMENT
- MKT 383 ANALYTICAL SALES
- MKT 384 CASES IN CATEGORY MANAGEMENT

International Marketing

The international area of marketing offers students the opportunity to examine the economy and business management of many countries in their political, historical, and socio-cultural context. Students who concentrate on international marketing would develop career opportunities in international sales, international product management, or international marketing management. You may consider the Standard concentration in Marketing to pursue this career path. DePaul Marketing students may combine their majors with either a minor in a commercial language through the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences, or with selected course work in International Studies. Students interested in international marketing benefit by enrolling in the following Marketing courses:

- MKT 320 PRINCIPLES OF ADVERTISING
- MKT 340 MARKETING ACROSS CULTURES: A CULTURAL PERSPECTIVE ON MULTICULTURAL MARKETS
- MKT 352 NEW PRODUCT DEVELOPMENT
- MKT 360 INTERNATIONAL MARKETING
- MKT 390 SERVICE MARKETING

Market Research

Market research encompasses problem formulation, data gathering, data analysis, and communication of findings. An understanding of statistics, psychology and sociology as related to marketing is desirable. You may consider the Standard concentration in Marketing to pursue this career path. A student interested in market research will benefit from the following courses:

- MKT 305 INTRODUCTION TO MARKETING RESEARCH
- MKT 315 STRATEGIC TOOLS FOR MARKETERS
- MKT 320 PRINCIPLES OF ADVERTISING
- MKT 352 NEW PRODUCT DEVELOPMENT

Marketing Management

Many chief executives of top U.S. companies have a background in marketing. Strong marketing provides a key competitive advantage in a dynamic global economy. The marketing management emphasis is appropriate for students with a general interest in planning, development, and introduction of products and services. You may consider the Standard concentration or the IME program in Marketing to pursue this career path. A student interested in marketing management should take the following courses:

- MKT 315 STRATEGIC TOOLS FOR MARKETERS
- MKT 320 PRINCIPLES OF ADVERTISING
- MKT 352 NEW PRODUCT DEVELOPMENT
- MKT 360 INTERNATIONAL MARKETING

Marketing (Minor)

Students majoring outside the Driehaus College of Business may minor in Marketing to learn the foundations of marketing research, product development, advertising and sales.

Prerequisite Requirements

Students must meet the prerequisite of one course in statistics prior to taking the first course in the minor.

The requirement for courses in college algebra and statistics may be satisfied through the completion of LSP 120 (course or LSP 120 Proficiency Exam) and LSP 121 (course or LSP 121 Proficiency Exam).

Course Requirements

A non-Driehaus student minoring in Marketing is required to complete the following courses based on concentration and totaling at least 22.0 hours:

- Five required courses:
  - MKT 202 QUANTITATIVE METHODS IN MARKETING (or equivalent; 2.0 hours)
  - MKT 301 PRINCIPLES OF MARKETING
  - MKT 305 INTRODUCTION TO MARKETING RESEARCH
  - MKT 310 CONSUMER BEHAVIOR
  - MKT 315 STRATEGIC TOOLS FOR MARKETERS

Mathematics and Computer Science (BS)

The BS in Math and Computer Science is a joint degree between the College of Computing and Digital Media and the Department of Mathematics in the College of Science and Health. It provides challenging opportunities to exceptional students with an interest in the highly theoretical nexus of math and computer science. Mathematics is a key element to the theory and practice of computer science and technology:

- Number theory forms the basis for encryption algorithms for messages sent over the Internet.
- Facts from projective geometry and multivariable calculus underlie the computer algorithms that control computer animation.
- Properties of abstract groups are instrumental in correcting transmission errors that occur when information is sent from one computer to another.
- Graph theory and combinatorics are used to create algorithms for Internet search engines and analyze Internet routing protocols.

This program is intended to appeal to academically talented students. It is designed to prepare them for graduate study in various areas of computer science such as theoretical computer science, graphics, data analysis, artificial intelligence, and computational methods and in areas in applied mathematics such as numerical analysis or discrete mathematics. The program is also designed to prepare students to compete for the more theoretically complex jobs found in computer software development.

Students in the program will explore a broad range of fields including:

- Theory of computation
- Computational mathematics
- Artificial intelligence
- Data analysis
- Graphics
- Computer vision
- Research

It is highly recommended that students concentrate on one or two areas for their advanced classes to achieve depth, but they are not required to do so. Faculty advisors are available to assist students in their selection.

College Core Requirements

Modern Language Requirements

Students who intend to graduate with the Bachelor of Arts (BA) degree will be required to demonstrate competence in a modern language equivalent to the proficiency attained from one year of college-level language study. Such competence may be demonstrated in one of several ways:

- completing the last course in the fourth-year high school sequence of any language
- completing the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language
- completing a college course beyond the first-year level in any language
- achieving a satisfactory score on any of the Modern Language placement examinations administered at DePaul
- achieving a satisfactory rating in a proficiency examination accepted by DePaul
- achieving a score of 3 or higher on the Advance Placement (AP) test for any language
- achieving a score of 5 or higher in the Language B assessment from a Standard or Higher Level International Baccalaureate (IB) program
- achieving a satisfactory score on the CLEP examination

For further information regarding satisfactory scores and possible credit from the DePaul placement, AP, CLEP, or IB examinations, please
Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College of Science and Health will abide by the College of Science and Health Modern Language Requirement in place on the effective date of the ICT.

BA students who meet College requirements and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" of the Liberal Studies Program. While Bachelor of Science (BS) students are not required to demonstrate competency in a modern language, the "Modern Language Option" is available to them for language study at any level.

Major Declaration Requirements

All students in the College are required to declare a major field prior to beginning their junior year. After researching College programs, the student should declare a major field by visiting Campus Connection and using the Declarations and Inter-College Transfer tool. The student will then be assigned a faculty advisor or staff advisor in the department or program and should make an appointment to see that advisor at his or her earliest convenience.

To change major fields, or to declare a minor or concentration, the student must use the Declarations and Inter-College Transfer tool described above. However, for the purpose of exploring the possibility of changing a major field, the student should consult an academic advisor in the College or an academic advisor in the Office for Academic Advising Support.

Notes

Students must take one of the following ethics courses: CSC 208 (PI), PHL 248/MGT 248 (PI) or REL 228/MGT 228 (RD)

Specified required courses within Liberal Studies may have grade minimums (e.g. C- or better). Please consult your advisor or your college and major requirements.

Students with a primary major in Mathematics and Computer Science (joint degree) are required to complete one of the following Capstone courses: CSC 394, GPH 395, or MAT 398. Students double majoring or pursuing dual degrees with the primary major or primary degree in Mathematics and Computer Science (joint degree) are also required to complete one of these courses. Mathematics and Computer Science (joint degree) students in the University Honors Program shall take the University Honors Capstone. They are not expected to take both the Honors Capstone and the primary major or primary degree Capstone.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Major Electives

Students must take seven (7) Major Field electives chosen from the grouped list below. Of these, three (3) must be CDM courses and three (3) must be MAT courses, and one (1) could be either a CDM or MAT course.

Students must earn a grade of C- or higher in all major elective courses.

It is recommended that students concentrate on one or two areas for their advanced classes to achieve depth, but they are not required to do so. Students are strongly encouraged to discuss course selection with an advisor. Students may wish to arrange with a professor to take an independent study or a research experience (MAT 399 or CSC 399 or IT 300) in order to explore a subject more deeply than is possible in a scheduled course.

Theory of Computation

The courses in the theory area explore the mathematical and logical foundations of computer science.

• MAT 302 COMBINATORICS
• MAT 303 THEORY OF NUMBERS
• MAT 310 ABSTRACT ALGEBRA I
• MAT 335 REAL ANALYSIS I
• MAT 336 REAL ANALYSIS II
• MAT 351 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS I
• MAT 370 ADVANCED LINEAR ALGEBRA
• MAT 372 LOGIC AND SET THEORY
• CSC 235 PROBLEM SOLVING
• CSC 327 PROBLEM SOLVING FOR CONTESTS
• CSC 333 CRYPTOLOGY
• CSC 344 AUTOMATA THEORY AND FORMAL GRAMMARS
• CSC 347 CONCEPTS OF PROGRAMMING LANGUAGES
• CSC 348 INTRODUCTION TO COMPILER DESIGN
• CSC 358 SYMBOLIC PROGRAMMING
• MAT 387 OPERATIONS RESEARCH: LINEAR PROGRAMMING
• CSC 389 THEORY OF COMPUTATION
Computational Methods

The computational methods area investigates quantitative and computational methods in computer science:

- CSC 331 SCIENTIFIC COMPUTING
- MAT 304 DIFFERENTIAL EQUATIONS
- MAT 330 METHODS OF COMPUTATION AND THEORETICAL PHYSICS I
- MAT 331 METHODS OF COMPUTATION AND THEORETICAL PHYSICS II
- MAT 359 SIMULATION MODELS AND MONTE CARLO METHOD
- MAT 384 MATHEMATICAL MODELING
- MAT 385 NUMERICAL ANALYSIS I
- MAT 386 NUMERICAL ANALYSIS II

Artificial Intelligence

For students with an interest in the computational relations between syntax and semantics:

- CSC 380 FOUNDATIONS OF ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE
- CSC 357 EXPERT SYSTEMS
- CSC 358 SYMBOLIC PROGRAMMING

Data Science Area

For students who are interested in statistical and computational analysis of data. Many of the courses in this area require the student to take MAT 351-353.

- DSC 324 ADVANCED DATA ANALYSIS (FORMERLY CSC 334)
  - or MAT 354 MULTIVARIATE STATISTICS
- DSC 341 FOUNDATIONS OF DATA SCIENCE (FORMERLY CSC 367)
- DSC 333 INTRODUCTION TO BIG DATA PROCESSING
- DSC 345 MACHINE LEARNING
- DSC 365 DATA VISUALIZATION (FORMERLY DSC 350)
- MAT 341 STATISTICAL METHODS USING SAS
- MAT 349 APPLIED PROBABILITY
  - or MAT 351 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS I
- MAT 352 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS II
- MAT 353 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS III
- MAT 354 MULTIVARIATE STATISTICS
- MAT 355 STOCHASTIC PROCESSES
- MAT 356 APPLIED REGRESSION ANALYSIS
  - or DSC 323 DATA ANALYSIS AND REGRESSION (FORMERLY CSC 324)
- MAT 357 NONPARAMETRIC STATISTICS
- MAT 358 APPLIED TIME SERIES AND FORECASTING
- MAT 359 SIMULATION MODELS AND MONTE CARLO METHOD
- MAT 360 GENERALIZED LINEAR MODELS

Computer Vision

Computer vision studies the mathematical and algorithmic underpinnings of image analysis and image processing.

- MAT 261 MULTIVARIABLE CALCULUS II
- MAT 335 REAL ANALYSIS I
- MAT 370 ADVANCED LINEAR ALGEBRA
- MAT 381 FOURIER ANALYSIS AND SPECIAL FUNCTIONS
- MAT 384 MATHEMATICAL MODELING
- MAT 387 OPERATIONS RESEARCH: LINEAR PROGRAMMING
- MAT 388 OPERATIONS RESEARCH: OPTIMIZATION THEORY
- CSC 381 INTRODUCTION TO DIGITAL IMAGE PROCESSING
- CSC 382 APPLIED IMAGE ANALYSIS

Research

- CSC 395 RESEARCH COLLOQUIUM
- CSC 399 INDEPENDENT STUDY
- MAT 390 MATHEMATICS READING AND RESEARCH
- MAT 396 SENIOR THESIS RESEARCH

Open Electives
Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.
See www.cdm.depaul.edu to see sample schedule of course requirements on a year-by-year basis.

Degree Requirements

Students in this degree must meet the following requirements:

- Complete a minimum of 192 credit hours (generally 48 courses)
- Earn a grade of C- or higher in WRD 103, WRD 104, and all Major and Minor courses
- Earn a grade of D or higher in all other Liberal Studies and Open Elective courses
- Maintain a cumulative GPA of 2.0 or higher

Mathematical Sciences (BA)

The Department of Mathematical Sciences offers courses in pure and applied mathematics to help students reach a wide variety of intellectual, academic, and career goals.

Many students come to the department to obtain the mathematical background needed to be successful in programs in the natural sciences, computer science, social sciences, and business. Such students may choose to supplement their major in their home department by obtaining a minor in mathematics.

Other students come to the department seeking a program leading to an undergraduate or graduate degree in one of the mathematical sciences. Undergraduate students majoring in mathematical sciences may choose one of seven areas of concentration:

- Pure Mathematics
- Statistics
- Actuarial Science
- Financial Mathematics
- Quantitative Analysis and Operations Research
- Applied and Computational Mathematics
- In consultation with a mathematics faculty advisor, undergraduate students may also create an individualized program of courses leading to a degree in mathematical sciences.

A thesis option is available to mathematics majors who wish to pursue an extended independent project related to a theoretical or applied focus of the program. Students would work under the guidance of a faculty mentor. At least 4 credits must be completed over one or two quarters prior to the thesis submission. Interested students are strongly encouraged to enroll in MAT 390 during their junior year.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Construct valid logical arguments and analyze the reasoning of others.
- Implement a variety of mathematical structures to model and analyze complex problems.
- Apply general mathematical theory to solve problems in mathematics and in the sciences.
- Communicate mathematical ideas clearly, in verbal and visual form, but using appropriate mathematical terminology and notation.
College Core Requirements

Modern Language Requirements

Students who intend to graduate with the Bachelor of Arts (BA) degree will be required to demonstrate competence in a modern language equivalent to the proficiency attained from one year of college-level language study. Such competence may be demonstrated in one of several ways:

- completing the last course in the fourth-year high school sequence of any language
- completing the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language
- completing a college course beyond the first-year level in any language
- achieving a satisfactory score on any of the Modern Language placement examinations administered at DePaul
- achieving a satisfactory rating in a proficiency examination accepted by DePaul
- achieving a score of 3 or higher on the Advance Placement (AP) test for any language
- achieving a score of 5 or higher in the Language B assessment from a Standard or Higher Level International Baccalaureate (IB) program
- achieving a satisfactory score on the CLEP examination

For further information regarding satisfactory scores and possible credit from the DePaul placement, AP, CLEP, or IB examinations, please contact Student Records.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College of Science and Health will abide by the College of Science and Health Modern Language Requirement in place on the effective date of the ICT.

BA students who meet College requirements and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the “Modern Language Option” of the Liberal Studies Program. While Bachelor of Science (BS) students are not required to demonstrate competency in a modern language, the “Modern Language Option” is available to them for language study at any level.

Major Declaration Requirements

All students in the College are required to declare a major field prior to beginning their junior year. After researching College programs, the student should declare a major field by visiting Campus Connection and using the Declarations and Inter-College Transfer tool. The student will then be assigned a faculty advisor or staff advisor in the department or program and should make an appointment to see that advisor at his or her earliest convenience.

To change major fields, or to declare a minor or concentration, the student must use the Declarations and Inter-College Transfer tool described above. However, for the purpose of exploring the possibility of changing a major field, the student should consult an academic advisor in the College or an academic advisor in the Office for Academic Advising Support.

Notes

Students with a primary major in Mathematics are required to complete the Capstone offered by the Mathematics department. Students double majoring or pursuing dual degrees with the primary major or primary degree in Mathematics are required to complete the Capstone offered by the Mathematics department. Mathematics students in the University Honors Program shall take the University Honors Capstone. They are not expected to take both the Honors Capstone and the primary major or primary degree Capstone.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Concentration Requirements

Students must also complete the requirements from one of the following concentrations: Pure Mathematics; Statistics; Actuarial Science; Financial Mathematics; Quantitative Analysis and Operations Research; Applied and Computational Mathematics; or Individualized.

If the student chooses to declare more than one Mathematical Sciences concentration, then the student must complete the requirements for each concentration, and take at least three additional 300-level courses overall. For example, a student earning two concentrations would have taken at least nine 300-level courses, and a student earning three concentrations would have taken at least twelve 300-level courses.

Concentration Requirements

Concentrations, tracks and specializations provide focus to the major. In addition to any college core requirements, liberal studies requirements and major requirements, students are required to choose one of the following:

- Actuarial Science
- Applied and Computational Mathematics
- Financial Mathematics
- Individualized Concentration
- Pure Mathematics
If the student chooses to declare more than one Mathematical Sciences concentration, then the student must complete the requirements for each concentration, and take at least three additional 300-level courses overall. For example, a student earning two concentrations would have taken at least nine 300-level courses, and a student earning three concentrations would have taken at least twelve 300-level courses.

Actuarial Science Concentration

Actuarial Science uses mathematics, statistics and financial theory to study uncertain future events, especially those that relate to risk management and insurance programs. This concentration prepares students to work for insurance or pension consulting firms, and government.

Course Requirements

- MAT 351 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS I
- MAT 352 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS II
- MAT 353 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS III
- MAT 361 THEORY OF INTEREST
- MAT 362 LIFE CONTINGENCIES I
- MAT 363 LIFE CONTINGENCIES II

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Recommended Mathematics Courses

- MAT 341 STATISTICAL METHODS USING SAS
- MAT 355 STOCHASTIC PROCESSES
- MAT 356 APPLIED REGRESSION ANALYSIS
- MAT 358 APPLIED TIME SERIES AND FORECASTING
- MAT 359 SIMULATION MODELS AND MONTE CARLO METHOD
- MAT 364 LOSS MODELS I
- MAT 367 CREDIBILITY THEORY
- MAT 368 MATHEMATICS FOR FINANCE

Additional Recommended Courses

- ACC 101 INTRODUCTION TO ACCOUNTING I
- ECO 105 PRINCIPLES OF MICROECONOMICS
- ECO 106 PRINCIPLES OF MACROECONOMICS
- FIN 310 INTRODUCTION TO FINANCE
- FIN 311 CORPORATE FINANCE
- FIN 317 PRINCIPLES OF CORPORATE FINANCE FOR ACTUARIES*
- FIN 320 MONEY AND BANKING
- FIN 330 INVESTMENTS: THEORY & PRACTICE
- FIN 335 PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT
- FIN 362 ENTERPRISE RISK MANAGEMENT
- FIN 363 DERIVATIVES: PRICING & APPLICATIONS

* Note that FIN 317 requires permission from the Finance Department.

Applied and Computational Mathematics Concentration

The concentration in Applied and Computational Mathematics is intended for any student who enjoys mathematics, problem solving, and applications to solving practical problems in business, government, and science. The concentration is intended especially for students seeking a career as quantitative analysts, computational scientists, and applied mathematicians, and for those thinking of continuing the study of applied or discrete mathematics at the graduate level.

Course Requirements
• CSC 242 INTRODUCTION TO COMPUTER SCIENCE II or another approved computer science course.
• Three courses chosen from the following list:
  o MAT 302 COMBINATORICS
  o MAT 304 DIFFERENTIAL EQUATIONS
  o MAT 384 MATHEMATICAL MODELING
  o MAT 385 NUMERICAL ANALYSIS I
• Two additional courses chosen from among the above and the following list:
  o MAT 335 REAL ANALYSIS I o MAT 351 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS I o MAT 352 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS II
  o MAT 370 ADVANCED LINEAR ALGEBRA
  o MAT 381 FOURIER ANALYSIS AND SPECIAL FUNCTIONS
  o MAT 386 NUMERICAL ANALYSIS II
• One additional course chosen from among the above and the following list:
  o MAT 303 THEORY OF NUMBERS
  o MAT 310 ABSTRACT ALGEBRA I o MAT 311 ABSTRACT ALGEBRA II
  o MAT 330 METHODS OF COMPUTATION AND THEORETICAL PHYSICS I o MAT 331 METHODS OF COMPUTATION AND THEORETICAL PHYSICS II
  o MAT 336 REAL ANALYSIS II
  o MAT 337 COMPLEX ANALYSIS
  o MAT 340 TOPOLOGY
  o MAT 341 STATISTICAL METHODS USING SAS
  o MAT 353 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS III
  o MAT 355 STOCHASTIC PROCESSES
  o MAT 387 OPERATIONS RESEARCH: LINEAR PROGRAMMING
  o MAT 388 OPERATIONS RESEARCH: OPTIMIZATION THEORY

Students interested in graduate study in applied mathematics are encouraged to take MAT 335 REAL ANALYSIS I and MAT 336 REAL ANALYSIS II, MAT 370 ADVANCED LINEAR ALGEBRA, MAT 385 NUMERICAL ANALYSIS I and MAT 386 NUMERICAL ANALYSIS II.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Financial Mathematics Concentration

Financial mathematics concentration includes the set of courses that constitute the Finance Minor from the Driehaus College of Business. It includes courses that are relevant to contemporary financial mathematical modeling, along with courses in finance and their prerequisites.

Course Requirements

• MAT 304 DIFFERENTIAL EQUATIONS
  or MAT 385 NUMERICAL ANALYSIS I
• MAT 351 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS I
• MAT 352 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS II
• MAT 353 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS III
• MAT 355 STOCHASTIC PROCESSES
• MAT 368 MATHEMATICS FOR FINANCE

Finance Minor Requirements Embedded in the Financial Mathematics Concentration

• ACC 101 INTRODUCTION TO ACCOUNTING I
• ACC 102 INTRODUCTION TO ACCOUNTING II
• ECO 105 PRINCIPLES OF MICROECONOMICS
• ECO 106 PRINCIPLES OF MACROECONOMICS
• FIN 202 QUANTITATIVE REASONING
• FIN 310 INTRODUCTION TO FINANCE
• FIN 311 CORPORATE FINANCE
• FIN 320 MONEY AND BANKING
• FIN 330 INVESTMENTS: THEORY & PRACTICE
• Two electives chosen from the following list:
  o FIN 313 INVESTMENT BANKING
FIN 323 COMMERCIAL BANKING
FIN 333 FINANCIAL STATEMENTS ANALYSIS
FIN 335 PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT
FIN 340 INTERNATIONAL FINANCE
FIN 360 IPOs & VENTURE CAPITAL
FIN 362 ENTERPRISE RISK MANAGEMENT
FIN 363 DERIVATIVES: PRICING & APPLICATIONS
FIN 380 CASES IN FINANCIAL DECISION MAKING
FIN 393 FINANCE INTERNSHIP
FIN 395 INVESTMENT SEMINAR
FIN 398 SPECIAL TOPICS
FIN 399 INDEPENDENT STUDY
RE 350 REAL ESTATE ANALYSIS

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Additional Recommended Courses

- MAT 341 STATISTICAL METHODS USING SAS
- MAT 370 ADVANCED LINEAR ALGEBRA
- MAT 358 APPLIED TIME SERIES AND FORECASTING
- MAT 356 APPLIED REGRESSION ANALYSIS

Individualized Concentration

Advising

Students should consult with a mathematics faculty advisor and the department chair to create an individualized program of study leading to a degree in mathematics.

Course Requirements

An individualized program will normally consist of the Common Core in Mathematics plus six mathematics courses chosen from those included in the other concentrations and approved by the department chair.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Pure Mathematics Concentration

This concentration provides a broad mathematical exposure for students who are interested in studying and/or doing mathematical research at the graduate level.

Course Requirements

- MAT 216 FOUNDATIONS OF ADVANCED MATHEMATICS
- Three courses to be chosen from the following list:
  - MAT 310 ABSTRACT ALGEBRA I
  - MAT 311 ABSTRACT ALGEBRA II
  - MAT 335 REAL ANALYSIS I
  - MAT 336 REAL ANALYSIS II
- Three additional mathematics courses from the following list:
Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Recommended Course Selections

For students interested in graduate study in mathematics:

- MAT 310 ABSTRACT ALGEBRA I
- MAT 311 ABSTRACT ALGEBRA II
- MAT 312 ABSTRACT ALGEBRA III
- MAT 335 REAL ANALYSIS I
- MAT 336 REAL ANALYSIS II
- MAT 337 COMPLEX ANALYSIS

For students interested in graduate study in economics, finance, or statistics:

- MAT 335 REAL ANALYSIS I
- MAT 336 REAL ANALYSIS II
- MAT 351 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS I
- MAT 352 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS II
- MAT 353 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS III

Quantitative Analysis and Operations Research Concentration

This concentration provides students with the mathematical background to work in finance, computer applications, and production scheduling and forecasting.

Course Requirements

- MAT 351 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS I
- MAT 352 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS II
- MAT 353 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS III
- Three courses from the following list:
  - MAT 356 APPLIED REGRESSION ANALYSIS
  - MAT 358 APPLIED TIME SERIES AND FORECASTING
  - MAT 387 OPERATIONS RESEARCH: LINEAR PROGRAMMING
  - MAT 388 OPERATIONS RESEARCH: OPTIMIZATION THEORY

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.
Additional Recommended Courses

- MAT 370 ADVANCED LINEAR ALGEBRA
- MAT 384 MATHEMATICAL MODELING
- MAT 385 NUMERICAL ANALYSIS I
- MAT 386 NUMERICAL ANALYSIS II
- MAT 389 TOPICS IN OPERATIONS RESEARCH
- CSC 389 THEORY OF COMPUTATION

Statistics Concentration

This concentration offers students a solid foundation in probability and statistics. Statisticians are employed by government, industry, marketing research companies, and consulting firms to design surveys and experiments and to analyze statistical data.

Course Requirements

- MAT 326 SAMPLE SURVEY METHODS
  or MAT 328 DESIGN OF EXPERIMENTS
- MAT 341 STATISTICAL METHODS USING SAS
- MAT 351 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS I
- MAT 352 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS II
- MAT 353 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS III
- MAT 356 APPLIED REGRESSION ANALYSIS

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Additional Recommended Courses

- MAT 335 REAL ANALYSIS I
- MAT 336 REAL ANALYSIS II
- MAT 354 MULTIVARIATE STATISTICS
- MAT 355 STOCHASTIC PROCESSES
- MAT 357 NONPARAMETRIC STATISTICS
- MAT 358 APPLIED TIME SERIES AND FORECASTING
- MAT 370 ADVANCED LINEAR ALGEBRA
- MAT 385 NUMERICAL ANALYSIS I
- MAT 386 NUMERICAL ANALYSIS II

Students interested in graduate study in mathematical statistics are encouraged to take the following:

- MAT 335 REAL ANALYSIS I
- MAT 336 REAL ANALYSIS II

Combined Bachelor's/ Master's Degree

The combined Bachelor's/Master's degree programs allow students to complete 12 graduate credit hours while still undergraduates. These 12 graduate credit hours will count toward both the undergraduate and graduate degree programs.

The combined Bachelor's/Master's Degree program offers seven options:

- Mathematical Sciences (BA/BS) / Applied Mathematics (MS)
- Mathematical Sciences (BA/BS) / Applied Statistics (MS)
- Mathematical Sciences (BA/BS) / Pure Mathematics (MS)
- Mathematical Sciences (BA/BS) / Secondary Education Mathematics (MEd)
- DePaul Undergraduate Degree / Applied Mathematics (MS)
- DePaul Undergraduate Degree / Applied Statistics (MS)
- DePaul Undergraduate Degree / Pure Mathematics (MS)
Students apply to one of these programs in spring of their junior year; interested students should meet with the Graduate Program Director. Students accepted into this program take a maximum of twelve graduate credit hours as three courses in their senior year; these graduate courses apply toward both undergraduate and graduate Mathematical Sciences requirements.

Students must apply for undergraduate degree conferral in anticipation of completing their fourth year of study.

Mathematical Sciences (BA) / Secondary Education Mathematics (MEd)

This combined degree program of the College of Science and Health and the College of Education was collaboratively developed, and is governed and taught by faculty from these units. A full description of the Program can be found on the College of Education website in the graduate course catalog.

Mathematical Sciences (BS)

The Department of Mathematical Sciences offers courses in pure and applied mathematics to help students reach a wide variety of intellectual, academic, and career goals.

Many students come to the department to obtain the mathematical background needed to be successful in programs in the natural sciences, computer science, social sciences, and business. Such students may choose to supplement their major in their home department by obtaining a minor in mathematics.

Other students come to the department seeking a program leading to an undergraduate or graduate degree in one of the mathematical sciences. Undergraduate students majoring in mathematical sciences may choose one of seven areas of concentration:

    - MAT 171 CALCULUS FOR LIFE SCIENCES II
    - MAT 149, MAT 152 or MAT 162
  - Sequence Five
    - MAT 155 SUMMER CALCULUS I
    - MAT 156 SUMMER CALCULUS II
  *Note: This Calculus sequence is offered only during the summer, in two 6-credit hour courses. Students successfully completing MAT 131, 147, 150 or 160 should enroll in MAT 155; students who successfully complete MAT 148, 151 or 161 should enroll in MAT 156. Students who successfully complete MAT 155 may enroll in either MAT 151 or MAT 156.

- MAT 260 MULTIVARIABLE CALCULUS I
- MAT 261 MULTIVARIABLE CALCULUS II
- MAT 262 LINEAR ALGEBRA
- MAT 215 INTRODUCTION TO MATHEMATICAL REASONING
- or MAT 140 DISCRETE MATHEMATICS I and MAT 141 DISCRETE MATHEMATICS II
- CSC 241 INTRODUCTION TO COMPUTER SCIENCE I or a more advanced course in any programming language.
- MAT 398 SENIOR CAPSTONE SEMINAR (Liberal Studies Program Capstone)

Students must earn at least 16 quarter hours as four courses from any of the following:

- Natural sciences
  - CSC 233 CODES AND CIPHERS
  - CSC 235 PROBLEM SOLVING
- Game Development:
  - GAM 244 GAME DEVELOPMENT I
  - GAM 245 GAME DEVELOPMENT II
  - GAM 350 PHYSICS FOR GAME DEVELOPERS
  - GAM 353 TOOL PROGRAMMING FOR GAME DEVELOPMENT
  - GAM 368 AUGMENTED REALITY GAME DESIGN AND DEVELOPMENT through GAM 391 GAME PERFORMANCE OPTIMIZATION, except CSC 382
  - GAM 394 GAME DEVELOPMENT PROJECT I - GAM 398 TOPICS IN GAME PROGRAMMING courses may only be accepted with advanced approval from the chair
- Information Technology:
  - IT 223 DATA ANALYSIS
  - IT 278 COMMUNITY-BASED TECHNOLOGY PROJECTS
  - IT 231 WEB DEVELOPMENT I through IT 240 INTRODUCTION TO DATABASES
  - IT 263 APPLIED NETWORKS AND SECURITY
  - IT 313 ADVANCED APPLICATION DEVELOPMENT through IT 373 SYSTEM CONCEPTS
  - IT topics courses may only be accepted with advanced approval from the chair
- Software Engineering:
  - All SE courses may apply.
- GEO 141 GEOGRAPHIC INFORMATION SYSTEMS I: DIGITAL MAPPING, GEO 243 REMOTE SENSING, or GEO 345 PROGRAMMING IN PYTHON FOR GIS.

Concentration Requirements

Students must also complete the requirements from one of the following concentrations: Pure Mathematics; Statistics; Actuarial Science;
Financial Mathematics; Quantitative Analysis and Operations Research; Applied and Computational Mathematics; or Individualized.

If the student chooses to declare more than one Mathematical Sciences concentration, then the student must complete the requirements for each concentration, and take at least three additional 300-level courses overall. For example, a student earning two concentrations would have taken at least nine 300-level courses, and a student earning three concentrations would have taken at least twelve 300-level courses.

Concentration Requirements

Concentrations, tracks and specializations provide focus to the major. In addition to any college core requirements, liberal studies requirements and major requirements, students are required to choose one of the following:

- Actuarial Science
- Applied and Computational Mathematics
- Financial Mathematics
- Individualized
- Pure Mathematics
- Quantitative Analysis and Operations Research
- Statistics

Actuarial Science Concentration

Actuarial Science uses mathematics, statistics and financial theory to study uncertain future events, especially those that relate to risk management and insurance programs. This concentration prepares students to work for insurance or pension consulting firms and government.

Concentration Requirements

- MAT 351 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS I
- MAT 352 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS II
- MAT 353 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS III
- MAT 361 THEORY OF INTEREST
- MAT 362 LIFE CONTINGENCIES I
- MAT 363 LIFE CONTINGENCIES II

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Recommended Mathematics Courses

- MAT 341 STATISTICAL METHODS USING SAS
- MAT 356 APPLIED REGRESSION ANALYSIS
- MAT 358 APPLIED TIME SERIES AND FORECASTING
- MAT 355 STOCHASTIC PROCESSES
- MAT 359 SIMULATION MODELS AND MONTE CARLO METHOD
- MAT 364 LOSS MODELS I
- MAT 367 CREDIBILITY THEORY
- MAT 368 MATHEMATICS FOR FINANCE

Additional Recommended Courses

- ACC 101 INTRODUCTION TO ACCOUNTING I
- ECO 105 PRINCIPLES OF MICROECONOMICS
- ECO 106 PRINCIPLES OF MACROECONOMICS
- FIN 310 INTRODUCTION TO FINANCE
- FIN 311 CORPORATE FINANCE
- FIN 320 MONEY AND BANKING
- FIN 330 INVESTMENTS: THEORY & PRACTICE
- FIN 335 PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT
- FIN 362 ENTERPRISE RISK MANAGEMENT
- FIN 363 DERIVATIVES: PRICING & APPLICATIONS
Applied and Computational Mathematics Concentration

The concentration in Applied and Computational Mathematics is intended for any student who enjoys mathematics, problem solving, and applications to solving practical problems in business, government, and science. The concentration is intended especially for students seeking a career as quantitative analysts, computational scientists, and applied mathematicians, and for those thinking of continuing the study of applied or discrete mathematics at the graduate level.

Course Requirements

- CSC 242 INTRODUCTION TO COMPUTER SCIENCE II or another approved computer science course.
- Three courses chosen from the following list:
  - MAT 302 COMBINATORICS
  - MAT 304 DIFFERENTIAL EQUATIONS
  - MAT 384 MATHEMATICAL MODELING
  - MAT 385 NUMERICAL ANALYSIS I
- Two additional courses chosen from among the above and the following list:
  - MAT 335 REAL ANALYSIS I
  - MAT 351 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS I
  - MAT 352 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS II
  - MAT 370 ADVANCED LINEAR ALGEBRA
  - MAT 381 FOURIER ANALYSIS AND SPECIAL FUNCTIONS
  - MAT 386 NUMERICAL ANALYSIS II
- One additional course chosen from among the above and the following list:
  - MAT 303 THEORY OF NUMBERS
  - MAT 310 ABSTRACT ALGEBRA I
  - MAT 311 ABSTRACT ALGEBRA II
  - MAT 330 METHODS OF COMPUTATION AND THEORETICAL PHYSICS I
  - MAT 331 METHODS OF COMPUTATION AND THEORETICAL PHYSICS II
  - MAT 336 REAL ANALYSIS II
  - MAT 337 COMPLEX ANALYSIS
  - MAT 340 TOPOLOGY
  - MAT 341 STATISTICAL METHODS USING SAS
  - MAT 353 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS III
  - MAT 355 STOCHASTIC PROCESSES
  - MAT 387 OPERATIONS RESEARCH: LINEAR PROGRAMMING
  - MAT 388 OPERATIONS RESEARCH: OPTIMIZATION THEORY

Students interested in graduate study in applied mathematics are encouraged to take MAT 335 and MAT 336, MAT 370, MAT 385 and MAT 386.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Financial Mathematics Concentration

Concentration Requirements

This concentration is a Mathematics Major that includes the set of courses which constitute the Finance Minor. It includes courses that are relevant to contemporary financial mathematical modeling, along with courses in Finance and their prerequisites.

- MAT 351 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS I
- MAT 352 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS II
- MAT 353 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS III
- MAT 355 STOCHASTIC PROCESSES
- MAT 368 MATHEMATICS FOR FINANCE
- MAT 304 DIFFERENTIAL EQUATIONS
  or MAT 385 NUMERICAL ANALYSIS I
Finance Minor Requirements Embedded in the Financial Mathematics Concentration

- ACC 101 INTRODUCTION TO ACCOUNTING I
- ACC 102 INTRODUCTION TO ACCOUNTING II
- ECO 105 PRINCIPLES OF MICROECONOMICS
- ECO 106 PRINCIPLES OF MACROECONOMICS
- FIN 202 QUANTITATIVE REASONING
- FIN 310 INTRODUCTION TO FINANCE
- FIN 311 CORPORATE FINANCE
- FIN 320 MONEY AND BANKING
- FIN 330 INVESTMENTS: THEORY & PRACTICE
- Two electives chosen from the following list:
  - FIN 313 INVESTMENT BANKING
  - FIN 323 COMMERCIAL BANKING
  - FIN 333 FINANCIAL STATEMENTS ANALYSIS
  - FIN 335 PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT
  - FIN 340 INTERNATIONAL FINANCE
  - FIN 360 IPOs & VENTURE CAPITAL
  - FIN 362 ENTERPRISE RISK MANAGEMENT
  - FIN 363 DERIVATIVES: PRICING & APPLICATIONS
  - FIN 380 CASES IN FINANCIAL DECISION MAKING
  - FIN 393 FINANCE INTERNSHIP
  - FIN 395 INVESTMENT SEMINAR
  - FIN 398 SPECIAL TOPICS
  - FIN 399 INDEPENDENT STUDY
  - RE 350 REAL ESTATE ANALYSIS

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Additional Recommended Courses

- MAT 341 STATISTICAL METHODS USING SAS
- MAT 356 APPLIED REGRESSION ANALYSIS
- MAT 358 APPLIED TIME SERIES AND FORECASTING
- MAT 370 ADVANCED LINEAR ALGEBRA

Individualized Concentration

Course Requirements

Students may consult with a mathematics faculty advisor and the department chair to create an individualized program of study leading to a degree in mathematics. Typically, such a program will consist of the Common Core in Mathematics plus six mathematics courses chosen from those included in the other concentrations and approved by the department chair.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Pure Mathematics Concentration

This concentration provides a broad mathematical exposure for students who are interested in studying and/or doing mathematical research at the graduate level.

Concentration Requirements

- MAT 216 FOUNDATIONS OF ADVANCED MATHEMATICS
- Three courses to be chosen from the following list:
  - MAT 310 ABSTRACT ALGEBRA I
• MAT 311 ABSTRACT ALGEBRA II
• MAT 335 REAL ANALYSIS I
• MAT 336 REAL ANALYSIS II
• Three additional mathematics courses from the following list:
  • MAT 301 HISTORY OF MATHEMATICS
  • MAT 302 COMBINATORICS
  • MAT 303 THEORY OF NUMBERS
  • MAT 304 DIFFERENTIAL EQUATIONS
  • MAT 311 ABSTRACT ALGEBRA II
  • MAT 312 ABSTRACT ALGEBRA III
  • MAT 320 GEOMETRY I
  • MAT 321 GEOMETRY II
  • MAT 336 REAL ANALYSIS II
  • MAT 337 COMPLEX ANALYSIS
  • MAT 340 TOPOLOGY
  • MAT 348 APPLIED STATISTICAL METHODS
  • MAT 351 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS I
  • MAT 352 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS II
  • MAT 353 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS III
  • MAT 370 ADVANCED LINEAR ALGEBRA
  • MAT 372 LOGIC AND SET THEORY
  • MAT 384 MATHEMATICAL MODELING
  • MAT 385 NUMERICAL ANALYSIS I
  • MAT 386 NUMERICAL ANALYSIS II

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Recommended Mathematics Courses:

• For students interested in graduate study in mathematics:
  • MAT 310 ABSTRACT ALGEBRA I
  • MAT 311 ABSTRACT ALGEBRA II
  • MAT 312 ABSTRACT ALGEBRA III
  • MAT 335 REAL ANALYSIS I
  • MAT 336 REAL ANALYSIS II
  • MAT 337 COMPLEX ANALYSIS

• For students interested in graduate study in economics, finance, or statistics:
  • MAT 335 REAL ANALYSIS I
  • MAT 336 REAL ANALYSIS II
  • MAT 351 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS I
  • MAT 352 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS II
  • MAT 353 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS III

Quantitative Analysis and Operations Research Concentration

This concentration provides students with the mathematical background to work in finance, computer applications, and production scheduling and forecasting

Course Requirements

• MAT 351 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS I
• MAT 352 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS II
• MAT 353 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS III
• Three courses from the following list:
  • MAT 356 APPLIED REGRESSION ANALYSIS
  • MAT 358 APPLIED TIME SERIES AND FORECASTING
  • MAT 387 OPERATIONS RESEARCH: LINEAR PROGRAMMING
  • MAT 388 OPERATIONS RESEARCH: OPTIMIZATION THEORY

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.
Additional Recommended Courses

- ACC 101 INTRODUCTION TO ACCOUNTING I
- ACC 102 INTRODUCTION TO ACCOUNTING II
- ECO 105 PRINCIPLES OF MICROECONOMICS
- ECO 106 PRINCIPLES OF MACROECONOMICS
- FIN 310 INTRODUCTION TO FINANCE
- FIN 330 INVESTMENTS: THEORY & PRACTICE
- FIN 335 PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT

Statistics Concentration

This concentration offers students a solid foundation in probability and statistics. Statisticians are employed by government, industry, marketing research companies, and consulting firms to design surveys and experiments and to analyze statistical data.

Concentration Requirements

- MAT 341 STATISTICAL METHODS USING SAS
- MAT 351 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS I
- MAT 352 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS II
- MAT 353 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS III
- MAT 356 APPLIED REGRESSION ANALYSIS
- MAT 326 SAMPLE SURVEY METHODS
  or MAT 328 DESIGN OF EXPERIMENTS

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Additional Recommended Courses

- MAT 335 REAL ANALYSIS I
- MAT 336 REAL ANALYSIS II
- MAT 354 MULTIVARIATE STATISTICS
- MAT 355 STOCHASTIC PROCESSES
- MAT 357 NONPARAMETRIC STATISTICS
- MAT 358 APPLIED TIME SERIES AND FORECASTING
- MAT 370 ADVANCED LINEAR ALGEBRA
- MAT 385 NUMERICAL ANALYSIS I
- MAT 386 NUMERICAL ANALYSIS II

Students interested in graduate study in mathematical statistics are encouraged to take the following:

- MAT 335 REAL ANALYSIS I
- MAT 336 REAL ANALYSIS II

Combined Bachelor's/ Master's Degree

The combined Bachelor's/Master's degree programs allow students to complete 12 graduate credit hours while still undergraduates. These 12 graduate credit hours will count toward both the undergraduate and graduate degree programs.

The combined Bachelor's/Master's Degree program offers seven options:

- Mathematical Sciences (BA/BS) / Applied Mathematics (MS)
- Mathematical Sciences (BA/BS) / Applied Statistics (MS)
- Mathematical Sciences (BA/BS) / Pure Mathematics (MS)
- Mathematical Sciences (BA/BS) / Secondary Education Mathematics (MEd)
- DePaul Undergraduate Degree / Applied Mathematics (MS)
- DePaul Undergraduate Degree / Applied Statistics (MS)
- DePaul Undergraduate Degree / Pure Mathematics (MS)
Students apply to one of these programs in spring of their junior year; interested students should meet with the Graduate Program Director of the program. Students accepted into this program take a maximum of twelve graduate credit hours as three courses in their senior year; these graduate courses apply toward both undergraduate and graduate Mathematical Sciences requirements.

Students must apply for undergraduate degree conferral in anticipation of completing their fourth year of study.

Mathematical Sciences (BS)/ Secondary Education Mathematics (MEd)

This combined degree program of the College of Science and Health and the College of Education was collaboratively developed, and is governed and taught by faculty from these units. A full description of the Program can be found on the College of Education website in the graduate course catalog.

Mathematics (Minor)

A minor in Mathematics can be developed to complement a major program in any major, with a focus on pure and applied mathematical theory.

Course Requirements

- Choose one of the following three-course Calculus sequences:
  - Sequence One
    - MAT 150 CALCULUS I
    - MAT 151 CALCULUS II
    - MAT 152 CALCULUS III
  - Sequence Two
    - MAT 147 CALCULUS WITH INTEGRATED PRECALCULUS I
    - MAT 148 CALCULUS WITH INTEGRATED PRECALCULUS II
    - MAT 149 CALCULUS WITH INTEGRATED PRECALCULUS III
  - Sequence Three
    - MAT 160 CALCULUS FOR MATHEMATICS AND SCIENCE MAJORS I
    - MAT 161 CALCULUS FOR MATHEMATICS AND SCIENCE MAJORS II
    - MAT 162 CALCULUS FOR MATHEMATICS AND SCIENCE MAJORS III
  - Sequence Four
    - MAT 170 CALCULUS FOR LIFE SCIENCES I
    - MAT 171 CALCULUS FOR LIFE SCIENCES II
    - MAT 172 CALCULUS III WITH DIFFERENTIAL EQUATIONS
  - Sequence Five *
    - MAT 155 SUMMER CALCULUS I
    - MAT 156 SUMMER CALCULUS II

Note: This Calculus sequence is offered only during the summer, in two 6-credit hour courses. Students successfully completing MAT 131, 147, 150 or 160 should enroll in MAT 155; students who successfully complete MAT 148, 151 or 161 should enroll in MAT 156. Students who successfully complete MAT 155 may enroll in either MAT 151 or MAT 156.

- Choose one of the following options:
  - MAT 215 INTRODUCTION TO MATHEMATICAL REASONING
  - Discrete Mathematics Sequence
    - MAT 140 DISCRETE MATHEMATICS I and
    - MAT 141 DISCRETE MATHEMATICS II
  - Two additional mathematics courses chosen from the 200 or 300-level courses that are admissible for credit as part of the mathematics common core or as part of one of the concentrations in mathematics.

Business students who have an exceptionally strong background in calculus, including calculus of trig functions, may be permitted by the chair to substitute MAT 135 BUSINESS CALCULUS I and MAT 136 BUSINESS CALCULUS II for MAT 150 CALCULUS I.

Students cannot earn a minor in the same academic program as their major.
Mathematics and Computer Science (BS)

The BS in Mathematics and Computer Science is designed to prepare students to compete for the more intellectually demanding jobs in software development or for graduate study in various areas of computer science and applied mathematics such as theoretical computer science, graphics, data analysis, artificial intelligence, and computational methods.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Construct valid, logical arguments and analyze the reasoning of others.
- Model a computation problem, select appropriate algorithms and data structures for a solution, justify the correctness of the algorithm, and implement an application solving the problem.
- Use discrete and continuous mathematical structures to model problems and then solve them using appropriate techniques.
- Analyze the efficiency of a computational solution mathematically, and validate the analysis experimentally.

Liberal Studies Requirements

Honors program requirements can be found in the individual Colleges & Schools section of the University Catalog. Select Academics, followed by Undergraduate, then Honors Program Alternative.

First Year Program

Chicago Quarter

- LSP 110 DISCOVER CHICAGO
  or LSP 111 EXPLORE CHICAGO

Focal Point

- LSP 112 FOCAL POINT SEMINAR

Writing

- WRD 103 COMPOSITION AND RHETORIC I *
- WRD 104 COMPOSITION AND RHETORIC II *

Quantitative Reasoning & Technological Literacy

- Not Required

Sophomore Year

Multiculturalism in the US

- LSP 200 SEMINAR ON MULTICULTURALISM IN THE UNITED STATES

Junior Year

Experiential Learning

- Required
Senior Year

Capstone

- CSC 394 SOFTWARE PROJECTS *
  or MAT 398 SENIOR CAPSTONE SEMINAR *

Learning Domains

Arts and Literature (AL)

- 3 Courses Required

Philosophical Inquiry (PI)

- 2 Courses Required (See note below)

Religious Dimensions (RD)

- 2 Courses Required (See note below)

Scientific Inquiry (SI)

- 1 SWK or Lab Course Required

Social, Cultural, and Behavioral Inquiry (SCBI)

- 3 Courses Required

Understanding the Past (UP)

- 2 Courses Required

* Students must earn a C- or better in this course.

Notes

Students must take one of the following ethics courses: CSC 208 (PI), PHL 248/MGT 248 (PI) or REL 228/MGT 228 (RD)

Specified required courses within Liberal Studies may have grade minimums (e.g. C- or better). Please consult your advisor or your college and major requirements.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or as the Experiential Learning requirement.

Students with a primary major in Mathematics and Computer Science (joint degree) are required to complete one of the following Capstone courses: CSC 394 or MAT 398. Students double majoring or pursuing dual degrees with the primary major or primary degree in Mathematics and Computer Science (joint degree) are also required to complete one of these courses. Mathematics and Computer Science (joint degree) students in the University Honors Program shall take the University Honors Capstone. They are not expected to take both the Honors Capstone and the primary major or primary degree Capstone.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

• MAT 260 MULTIVARIABLE CALCULUS I
• MAT 262 LINEAR ALGEBRA
• Three (3) CDM Major Electives
• Three (3) MAT Major Electives
• One (1) CDM or MAT Major Elective

Note: Students may take CSC 243 PYTHON FOR PROGRAMMERS and one (1) Additional Major Elective in lieu of CSC 241 and CSC 242.

Major Electives

Students must take seven (7) Major Field electives chosen from the grouped list below. Of these, three (3) must be CDM courses and three (3) must be MAT courses, and one (1) could be either a CDM or MAT course.

Students must earn a grade of C- or higher in all major elective courses.

It is recommended that students concentrate on one or two areas for their advanced classes to achieve depth, but they are not required to do so. Students are strongly encouraged to discuss course selection with an advisor. Students may wish to arrange with a professor to take an independent study or a research experience (MAT 399 or CSC 399 or IT 300) in order to explore a subject more deeply than is possible in a scheduled course.

Theory of Computation

The courses in the theory area explore the mathematical and logical foundations of computer science.

• MAT 302 COMBINATORICS
• MAT 303 THEORY OF NUMBERS
• MAT 310 ABSTRACT ALGEBRA I
• MAT 335 REAL ANALYSIS I
• MAT 336 REAL ANALYSIS II
• MAT 351 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS I
• MAT 370 ADVANCED LINEAR ALGEBRA
• MAT 372 LOGIC AND SET THEORY
• CSC 235 PROBLEM SOLVING
• CSC 327 PROBLEM SOLVING FOR CONTESTS
• CSC 333 CRYPTOLOGY
• CSC 344 AUTOMATA THEORY AND FORMAL GRAMMARS
• CSC 347 CONCEPTS OF PROGRAMMING LANGUAGES
• CSC 348 INTRODUCTION TO COMPILER DESIGN
• CSC 358 SYMBOLIC PROGRAMMING
Computational Methods

The computational methods area investigates quantitative and computational methods in computer science.

- CSC 331 SCIENTIFIC COMPUTING
- MAT 304 DIFFERENTIAL EQUATIONS
- MAT 330 METHODS OF COMPUTATION AND THEORETICAL PHYSICS I
- MAT 331 METHODS OF COMPUTATION AND THEORETICAL PHYSICS II
- MAT 359 SIMULATION MODELS AND MONTE CARLO METHOD
- MAT 384 MATHEMATICAL MODELING
- MAT 385 NUMERICAL ANALYSIS I
- MAT 386 NUMERICAL ANALYSIS II

Artificial Intelligence

For students with an interest in the computational relations between syntax and semantics.

- CSC 380 FOUNDATIONS OF ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE
- CSC 357 EXPERT SYSTEMS
- CSC 358 SYMBOLIC PROGRAMMING

Data Science Area

For students who are interested in statistical and computational analysis of data. Many of the courses in this area require the student to take MAT 351-353.

- DSC 324 ADVANCED DATA ANALYSIS (FORMERLY CSC 334)
  - or MAT 354 MULTIVARIATE STATISTICS
- DSC 341 FOUNDATIONS OF DATA SCIENCE (FORMERLY CSC 367)
- DSC 333 INTRODUCTION TO BIG DATA PROCESSING
- DSC 345 MACHINE LEARNING
- DSC 365 DATA VISUALIZATION (FORMERLY DSC 350)
- MAT 341 STATISTICAL METHODS USING SAS
- MAT 349 APPLIED PROBABILITY
  - or MAT 351 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS I
- MAT 352 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS II
- MAT 353 PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS III
- MAT 354 MULTIVARIATE STATISTICS
- MAT 355 STOCHASTIC PROCESSES
- MAT 356 APPLIED REGRESSION ANALYSIS
  - or DSC 323 DATA ANALYSIS AND REGRESSION (FORMERLY CSC 324)
- MAT 357 NONPARAMETRIC STATISTICS
- MAT 358 APPLIED TIME SERIES AND FORECASTING
- MAT 359 SIMULATION MODELS AND MONTE CARLO METHOD
- MAT 360 GENERALIZED LINEAR MODELS

Computer Vision

Computer vision studies the mathematical and algorithmic underpinnings of image analysis and image processing.

- MAT 261 MULTIVARIABLE CALCULUS II
- MAT 335 REAL ANALYSIS I
- MAT 370 ADVANCED LINEAR ALGEBRA
- MAT 381 FOURIER ANALYSIS AND SPECIAL FUNCTIONS
- MAT 384 MATHEMATICAL MODELING
- MAT 387 OPERATIONS RESEARCH: LINEAR PROGRAMMING
- MAT 388 OPERATIONS RESEARCH: OPTIMIZATION THEORY
- CSC 381 INTRODUCTION TO DIGITAL IMAGE PROCESSING
- CSC 382 APPLIED IMAGE ANALYSIS

Research

- CSC 395 RESEARCH COLLOQUIUM
- CSC 399 INDEPENDENT STUDY
- MAT 390 MATHEMATICS READING AND RESEARCH
- MAT 396 SENIOR THESIS RESEARCH
Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours. See www.cdm.depaul.edu to see sample schedule of course requirements on a year-by-year basis.

Degree Requirements

Students in this degree must meet the following requirements:

- Complete a minimum of 192 credit hours (generally 48 courses)
- Earn a grade of C- or higher in WRD 103, WRD 104, and all Major and Minor courses
- Earn a grade of D or higher in all other Liberal Studies and Open Elective courses
- Maintain a cumulative GPA of 2.0 or higher

Combined Bachelor's/ Master's Degree

The combined Bachelor's/Master's degree programs allow students to complete 12 graduate credit hours while still undergraduates. These 12 graduate credit hours will count toward both the undergraduate and graduate degree programs.

Students who meet the admission requirements below may choose to apply to a combined degree program. Interested students should consult their faculty advisor regarding the application procedure. This program allows students to combine many CDM bachelor's degrees with a CDM master's degree following the structure outlined below.

Admission Criteria

- Minimum of 44 quarter hours earned
- Minimum of 12 quarter hours earned at DePaul
- GPA of 3.3 or higher in courses taken at DePaul
- Endorsement of faculty advisor

In order to apply for the combined degree program, your faculty advisor must send an e-mail recommendation to the CDM Academic Success Center. The recommendation should include your full name, student ID number, and the bachelor's and master's degrees you wish to combine.

Bachelor of Arts in Professional Studies with a Major in Computing students who are enrolled via the School for New Learning (SNL) are also eligible for this program. Interested students who meet the admission criteria for a combined degree should contact Kenn Skorupa in SNL for more information

Program Structure

Students in the combined degree program take a maximum of three graduate level courses that count toward both their bachelor's and master's degree requirements. Students may enroll in graduate level coursework in the junior and senior year only. Students in the combined degree program will receive the bachelor's degree after meeting all graduation requirements including the minimum credit hours required for graduation.

To earn the master's degree, the student must earn as many additional graduate credit hours as needed to reach the minimum number of graduate credit hours required in that master's degree.

Only CDM courses can be taken as part of this program. Advanced programs (e.g., J D/MS, MFA, and PhD) are not eligible for the combined degree program.

Maintaining Good Standing

Cumulative GPA and course grades will be reviewed after each Autumn, Winter, and Spring Quarter.

The student and faculty advisor will be notified when the student's cumulative GPA falls below 3.3 or when the students receives less than a C- in graduate level course.

If a student's cumulative GPA falls below 3.3, the student must earn a term GPA of 3.3 or above in the following quarter to stay in good standing. If the student does not achieve a 3.3 term GPA, then the student will be dismissed from the combined program and resume the traditional B.A./B.S./B.F.A.

If dismissed from the combined degree program after graduate courses have been passed, the graduate courses may only apply to the undergraduate degree. Should the student later be admitted to a graduate program, graduate courses applied to the undergraduate degree many not apply to the graduate program and may not be repeated if they are required in the declared graduate curriculum. Other graduate courses may be substituted in this case.

Designing a Course of Study

It is extremely important that the student and faculty advisor work together on a course of study immediately upon admission to the Combined Degree Program.

This course of study should include the graduate courses to be taken and the undergraduate courses that are replaced by the graduate courses. Failure to put together a solid plan can lead to extra coursework and a lengthening of the Combined Degree program.

It is advisable for the student and the faculty advisor to enter the proposed plan of study in the student communication record on the CDM intranet so it is available to the student and CDM faculty and staff.

Registering for Master's Degree Courses

Combined degree students must meet regularly with their faculty advisor. The faculty advisor will initiate the registration process for all graduate level courses taken during the undergraduate career.

Bachelor's Degree to Master's Degree Transition

In order to be fully admitted to the designated master's program, the student must meet all admission requirements for that program. When preparing to complete the undergraduate portion of the combined degree, students must submit the application for degree conferral for the undergraduate degree by the application deadline. At this time, the students should contact the CDM Academic Success Center about the procedure required to be formally admitted to the declared graduate program.

Media and Cinema Studies (BA)

The College of Communication, located at the Loop Campus, offers a variety of courses leading to a Bachelor of Arts degree in Media and Cinema Studies. The BA in Media and Cinema Studies strategically combines faculty expertise, cutting-edge facilities, and a variety of course offerings within Communication, the School of Cinema and Interactive Media (CIM) (e.g., Digital Cinema), and other University units to provide students with the critical frameworks, creative opportunities, and technological expertise to become socially responsible leaders in the growing and converging areas of media studies. The major combines a rich course selection in four areas of study: film, radio, TV, and new media. Coursework combines theory and critical analysis with production courses taught at both the Lincoln Park (e.g., radio) and Loop campuses (e.g., television/video and cinema studies).

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Analyze media texts for their formal and representational meanings, and/or for audience reception practices.
- Examine media representations and access across registers of nation, citizenship, migration, diasporas, class, religion, gender, race, and ethnicity.
- Explain the potential relationships between and/or ethical issues regarding media, social movements, and local, national, and/or global cultures.
- Interpret media cultures within the contexts of technology, economics, and/or industry.
College Core Requirements

All majors in the College of Communication consist of a four-course common core plus an additional combination of program requirements and electives.

Course Requirements

Four core courses are required of all College of Communication students:

- CMN 101 INTRODUCTION TO HUMAN COMMUNICATION
- CMN 102 INTRODUCTION TO MASS COMMUNICATION
- CMN 103 INTERCULTURAL COMMUNICATION
- CMN 104 PUBLIC SPEAKING

Students are encouraged to complete all four prior to taking additional coursework in the major.

Modern Language Requirement

Students who intend to graduate with a Bachelor of Arts degree in the College of Communication will be required to demonstrate a measure of competence in a modern language, as defined by the college. Such competence may be demonstrated in one of several ways:

- completing the last course in a second year high school course work in a modern language or Latin
- completing the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language
- completing a college course beyond the first-year level in any language
- achieving a satisfactory score on any of the Modern Language placement examinations administered at DePaul
- achieving a satisfactory rating in a proficiency examination accepted by DePaul
- achieving a score of 3 or higher on the Advance Placement (AP) test for any language (must be completed during high school)
- achieving a score of 5 or higher in the Language B assessment from a Standard or Higher Level International Baccalaureate (IB) program
- achieving a satisfactory score on the CLEP examination. (Note that CLEP scores may be used only to meet the language requirement. Credit is not awarded in modern languages on the basis of CLEP scores).

Students with some modern language training should consult with the Modern Language Department about the course with which they should begin. Students with little or no previous work in the language will be required to complete the entire three-course introductory sequence.

Modern Language Option

The Modern Language Option is available to all BA students who wish to study a modern language beyond the level necessary to meet the College’s modern language requirement. Students selecting the option may substitute a three-course language sequence for two learning domain courses and one open elective, or two upper-level courses in the same language for two learning domain requirements. Modern Language Option substitutions may not be used to replace the Scientific Inquiry: Lab or Scientific Inquiry: Science as a Way of Knowing requirement.

Any substitutions must be consistent with the principle that students complete at least one course in each learning domain.

Note

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.
Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

Music (BA)

The Bachelor of Arts in Music degree is intended for students who wish to combine the study of music with liberal arts and sciences. In addition to music courses, the program is comprised of a broad range of liberal studies courses, along with a year of modern language. Students also take advanced courses in music, developing research skills, which culminate in a final project or paper. The Bachelor of Arts in Music degree prepares students for a variety of careers related to music.

Learning Outcomes

Core Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Perform with an acceptable tone quality, pitch and rhythmic accuracy, dynamic control, articulation, and expressiveness.
- Participate in a musical ensemble, with appropriate technique and musicality.
- Identify and analyze the elements of music in a given piece, including an understanding of its compositional processes, aesthetic properties, and artistic, social, and historical context.
- Identify significant composers and works in the Western music tradition, and trace the evolution of musical styles through the Medieval, Renaissance, Baroque, Classical, Romantic, and Contemporary periods, as well as in jazz and select world music cultures.
- Hear, notate, analyze, and perform music through aural skills, sight-singing, and keyboard skills.
- Demonstrate basic conducting knowledge and skills for both instrumental and vocal settings.
- Develop an expanded global awareness and cultural understanding through musical study
- Describe basic information about health and safety within the contexts of practice, performing, teaching, and listening; topics will include hearing, vocal, and musculoskeletal health and injury prevention.

Program Specific Outcomes:

Students will be able to:

- Perform solo and ensemble works with appropriate techniques and musicality.
- Identify and analyze the elements of music in a given piece, including an understanding of its compositional processes, aesthetic properties, and artistic, social, and historical contexts for works in the Western music tradition, contemporary periods, jazz, and world music cultures.
- Demonstrate an appropriate level of aural, keyboard, and conducting skills.
- Articulate professional goals and knowledge of resources to further those goals.
- Express deepening knowledge of music and culture in both local and global contexts effectively through creative work, speaking, and writing.
- Conduct independent creative or research project that integrates knowledge from multiple fields and makes use of library, oral/aural, textual, and primary source material.

Music Core Requirements

Course Requirements

All students in the School of Music are required to enroll in the following music courses:

Musicianship (42 credits)

- Music Theory Sequence
  - MUS 110A MUSIC THEORY I
  - MUS 120A MUSIC THEORY II
  - MUS 130A MUSIC THEORY III
  - MUS 212A MUSIC THEORY IV
  - MUS 222A MUSIC THEORY V
  - MUS 232 MUSIC THEORY VI
- Music History Sequence
  - MUS 110B MUSIC HISTORY I
  - MUS 120B MUSIC HISTORY II
  - MUS 130B MUSIC HISTORY III
  - MUS 212B MUSIC HISTORY IV
  - MUS 222B MUSIC HISTORY V
- Aural Training Sequence
  - MUS 111 AURAL TRAINING I
  - MUS 121 AURAL TRAINING II
Additional Courses

- MUS 303 BASIC CONDUCTING PRACTICUM
- MUS 304 BASIC CONDUCTING
- MUS 320 INTRODUCTION TO WORLD MUSIC
- MUS 321 INTRODUCTION TO JAZZ HISTORY
- MUS 322 ADVANCED MUSICIANSHIP

Students in the BS-PAM degree program are not required to take MUS 303 and MUS 304.

Applied Music

Students may enroll in a maximum of 3 credits of applied study per quarter, with a maximum of 36 credits total. The requirements for applied study vary by degree program:

- BM in performance, 36 credits
- BM in jazz studies, 32 credits
- BM in composition, 12 credits
- BM in music education, 18 credits
- BM in performing arts management, 18 credits
- BA in music, 12 credits
- BS in sound recording technology, performance track, 9 credits

The BS in Performing Arts Management degree does not require applied lessons, and the BS in Sound Recording Technology, non-performance track, degree does not require applied lessons.

Except performance majors, students may enroll in additional applied credits, which will count towards music electives.

Modern Language Option

If a music student wishes to study a modern language for a three-course sequence (12 credits), one quarter of language study (4 credits) may be used to replace a course requirement in Arts and Literature, Philosophical Inquiry, or Religious Dimensions. The remaining two quarters of language (8 credits) will be applied towards free electives.

Music Education (BM)

The Bachelor of Music in music education degree prepares students to teach K-12 instrumental and vocal music. The program is comprised of a broad range of courses emphasizing both the theory and practice of music education, taught by a faculty of distinguished music educators. Throughout the junior year, students have the opportunity to refine their skills and knowledge through a partnership with a Chicago Public School. During the senior year, students work with master teachers throughout the Chicagoland area while student teaching. Upon graduation, students are eligible for Illinois music teacher certification.

Liberal Studies Learning Domain Specifications

In the liberal studies learning domains, music education majors enroll in the following courses within the learning domains:

- LSE 380 PHILOSOPHICAL ISSUES IN EDUCATION AND CULTURE fulfills the Philosophical Inquiry requirement
- PSC 120 THE AMERICAN POLITICAL SYSTEM fulfills Self, Society, & the Modern World
- One of the Understanding the Past courses must be in U.S. History.

Music Performance (BM)

The Bachelor of Music in performance degree prepares students for careers in music, combining applied lessons on one's instrument with a variety of ensemble and performing experiences. Students also study literature, pedagogy, and other areas related to musical performance. The faculty is comprised of highly celebrated performers, who are committed to teaching excellence.

Learning Outcomes

Core Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Perform with an acceptable tone quality, pitch and rhythmic accuracy, dynamic control, articulation, and expressiveness.
- Participate in a musical ensemble, with appropriate technique and musicality.
- Identify and analyze the elements of music in a given piece, including an understanding of its compositional processes, aesthetic properties, and artistic, social, and historical context.
- Identify significant composers and works in the Western music tradition, and trace the evolution of musical styles through the Medieval, Renaissance, Baroque, Classical, Romantic, and Contemporary periods, as well as in jazz and select world music cultures.
- Hear, notate, analyze, and perform music through aural skills, sight-singing, and keyboard skills.
- Demonstrate basic conducting knowledge and skills for both instrumental and vocal settings.
- Describe basic information about health and safety within the contexts of practice, performing, teaching, and listening; topics will include hearing, vocal, and musculoskeletal health and injury prevention.

Students will be able to:

- Demonstrate a growing competence in technical aspects of performance, such as tone quality, pitch, consistency, dynamic control, technical agility, accurate rhythmic concepts, and other skills particular to the area of specialization.
- Identify and analyze the elements of music in a given piece, including an understanding of its compositional process, aesthetic properties, and artistic, social, and historical contexts for works in the Western music tradition, Contemporary periods, Jazz, and World Music Cultures.
- Demonstrate an appropriate level of aural, keyboard, and conducting skills.
- Develop an understanding of the pedagogical processes and theories that are foundational to performance practices and instruction on one's primary instrument.
- Demonstrate a growing maturity in musical concepts using tools to performance to create artistic products.
- Demonstrate increasing knowledge of repertoire and growing musical competence through participation in solo, chamber, and large ensemble performances.

Course Requirements

All students in the School of Music are required to enroll in the following music courses:

Musicianship (42 credits)

- Music Theory Sequence
  - MUS 110A MUSIC THEORY I
  - MUS 120A MUSIC THEORY II
  - MUS 130A MUSIC THEORY III
  - MUS 212A MUSIC THEORY IV
  - MUS 222A MUSIC THEORY V
  - MUS 232 MUSIC THEORY VI
- Music History Sequence
  - MUS 110B MUSIC HISTORY I
  - MUS 120B MUSIC HISTORY II
  - MUS 130B MUSIC HISTORY III
  - MUS 212B MUSIC HISTORY IV
  - MUS 222B MUSIC HISTORY V
- Aural Training Sequence
  - MUS 111 AURAL TRAINING I
  - MUS 121 AURAL TRAINING II
  - MUS 131 AURAL TRAINING III
  - MUS 211 AURAL TRAINING IV
  - MUS 221 AURAL TRAINING V
  - MUS 231 AURAL TRAINING VI
- Group Piano Sequence
  - MUS 113 GROUP PIANO I
  - MUS 123 GROUP PIANO II
  - MUS 133 GROUP PIANO III
  - MUS 213 GROUP PIANO IV
  - MUS 223 GROUP PIANO V
Additional Courses

- MUS 303 BASIC CONDUCTING PRACTICUM
- MUS 304 BASIC CONDUCTING
- MUS 320 INTRODUCTION TO WORLD MUSIC
- MUS 321 INTRODUCTION TO JAZZ HISTORY
- MUS 322 ADVANCED MUSICIANSHIP

Students in the BS-PAM degree program are not required to take MUS 303 and MUS 304.

Applied Music

Students may enroll in a maximum of 3 credits of applied study per quarter, with a maximum of 36 credits total. The requirements for applied study vary by degree program:

- BM in performance, 36 credits
- BM in jazz studies, 32 credits
- BM in composition, 12 credits
- BM in music education, 18 credits
- BM in performing arts management, 18 credits
- BA in music, 12 credits
- BS in sound recording technology, performance track, 9 credits

The BS in Performing Arts Management degree does not require applied lessons, and the BS in Sound Recording Technology, non-performance track, degree does not require applied lessons.

Except performance majors, students may enroll in additional applied credits, which will count towards music electives.

Modern Language Option

If a music student wishes to study a modern language for a three-course sequence (12 credits), one quarter of language study (4 credits) may be used to replace a course requirement in Arts and Literature, Philosophical Inquiry, or Religious Dimensions. The remaining two quarters of language (8 credits) will be applied towards free electives.

Liberal Studies Requirements

Honors program requirements can be found in the individual Colleges & Schools section of the University Catalog. Select Academics, followed by Undergraduate, then Honors Program Alternative.

Notes

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

Major Requirements

Program Checkpoints

Undergraduate students in classical performance will perform a checkpoint audition at the end of their sophomore year. Undergraduate Jazz Studies majors will perform this audition at the end of their freshman year. The student's applied instructor and/or area coordinator or director will give students specific information on content and required music. Successful completion of the checkpoint audition is required for continuation in the performance degree.

Course Requirements

- Applied lessons
Concentration Requirements

Additional requirements are determined by the specific performance track that students choose. Students must also complete the requirements from one of the following concentrations: Brass; Guitar; Percussion; Piano; String Bass; Violin, Viola, Cello; Voice; Woodwinds.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

• Describe and demonstrate how data packets are addressed and forwarded through switches, routers, and firewalls.
• Compare and contrast different wide-area network (WAN) technologies to support enterprise network requirements.
• Compare and configure internal gateway routing protocols (RIP, OSPF, EIGRP) that dynamically determine data paths through networks with unreliable components.
• Define and allocate IPv4 and IPv6 address subnets to satisfy network requirements.
• Describe and contrast techniques for making use of multiple redundant paths in switched and routed networks.
• Implement firewall technologies to enforce a given access policy and assess its efficiency.
• Identify and analyze security threats in network implementations, propose remedies and prioritize action plans.

* Students must earn a C- or better in this course.

Students must take one of the following ethics courses: CSC 208 (PI), IT 228 (PI), PHL 248/MGT 248 (PI) or REL 228/MGT 228 (RD)

Specified required courses within Liberal Studies may have grade minimums (e.g. C- or better). Please consult your advisor or your college and major requirements. Courses offered in the student’s primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement. In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student’s major and is cross-listed with a course within the student’s major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

  - Major Electives can be chosen from any 300-level TDC or CNS courses. Students must earn a grade of C- or higher in all major elective courses.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

See www.cdm.depaul.edu to see sample schedule of course requirements on a year-by-year basis.

Degree Requirements
Students in this degree must meet the following requirements:

- Complete a minimum of 192 credit hours (generally 48 courses)
- Earn a grade of C- or higher in WRD 103, WRD 104, and all Major and Minor courses
- Earn a grade of D or higher in all other Liberal Studies and Open Elective courses
- Maintain a cumulative GPA of 2.0 or higher

Combined Bachelor's/ Master's Degree

The combined Bachelor's/Master's degree programs allow students to complete 12 graduate credit hours while still undergraduates. These 12 graduate credit hours will count toward both the undergraduate and graduate degree programs.

Students who meet the admission requirements below may choose to apply to a combined degree program. Interested students should consult their faculty advisor regarding the application procedure. This program allows students to combine many CDM bachelor's degrees with a CDM master's degree following the structure outlined below.

Admission Criteria

- Minimum of 44 quarter hours earned
- Minimum of 12 quarter hours earned at DePaul
- GPA of 3.3 or higher in courses taken at DePaul
- Endorsement of faculty advisor

In order to apply for the combined degree program, your faculty advisor must send an e-mail recommendation to the CDM Academic Success Center. The recommendation should include your full name, student ID number, and the bachelor's and master's degrees you wish to combine.

Bachelor of Arts in Professional Studies with a Major in Computing students who are enrolled via the School for New Learning (SNL) are also eligible for this program. Interested students who meet the admission criteria for a combined degree should contact Kenn Skorupa in SNL for more information

Program Structure

Students in the combined degree program take a maximum of three graduate level courses that count toward both their bachelor's and master's degree requirements. Students may enroll in graduate level coursework in the junior and senior year only. Students in the combined degree program will receive the bachelor's degree after meeting all graduation requirements including the minimum credit hours required for graduation.

To earn the master's degree, the student must earn as many additional graduate credit hours as needed to reach the minimum number of graduate credit hours required in that master's degree.

Only CDM courses can be taken as part of this program. Advanced programs (e.g., JD/MS, MFA, and PhD) are not eligible for the combined degree program.

Maintaining Good Standing

Cumulative GPA and course grades will be reviewed after each Autumn, Winter, and Spring Quarter.

The student and faculty advisor will be notified when the student's cumulative GPA falls below 3.3 or when the students receives less than a C- in graduate level course.

If a student's cumulative GPA falls below 3.3, the student must earn a term GPA of 3.3 or above in the following quarter to stay in good standing. If the student does not achieve a 3.3 term GPA, then the student will be dismissed from the combined program and resume the traditional B.A./B.S./B.F.A.

If dismissed from the combined degree program after graduate courses have been passed, the graduate courses may only apply to the undergraduate degree. Should the student later be admitted to a graduate program, graduate courses applied to the undergraduate degree may not apply to the graduate program and may not be repeated if they are required in the declared graduate curriculum. Other graduate courses may be substituted in this case.

Designing a Course of Study

It is extremely important that the student and faculty advisor work together on a course of study immediately upon admission to the Combined Degree Program.

This course of study should include the graduate courses to be taken and the undergraduate courses that are replaced by the graduate courses. Failure to put together a solid plan can lead to extra coursework and a lengthening of the Combined Degree program.
It is advisable for the student and the faculty advisor to enter the proposed plan of study in the student communication record on the CDM intranet so it is available to the student and CDM faculty and staff.

Registering for Master's Degree Courses

Combined degree students must meet regularly with their faculty advisor. The faculty advisor will initiate the registration process for all graduate level courses taken during the undergraduate career.

Bachelor's Degree to Master's Degree Transition

In order to be fully admitted to the designated master's program, the student must meet all admission requirements for that program. When preparing to complete the undergraduate portion of the combined degree, students must submit the application for degree conferral for the undergraduate degree by the application deadline. At this time, the students should contact the CDM Academic Success Center about the procedure required to be formally admitted to the declared graduate program.

Network Technologies (Minor)

The Network Technology minor gives students a foundation in the theory and practice of designing, deploying and managing both wired and wireless network technologies.

Course Requirements

- IT 263 APPLIED NETWORKS AND SECURITY
- TDC 311 COMPUTERS IN TELECOMMUNICATIONS SYSTEMS
- TDC 362 PRINCIPLES OF DATA COMMUNICATIONS
- TDC 363 INTRODUCTION TO LOCAL AREA NETWORKS
- TDC 365 NETWORK INTERCONNECTION TECHNOLOGIES
- TDC 372 DIGITAL ACCESS SERVICES

Organizational Communication (BA)

The BA in Organizational Communication explores effective and participatory communication across organizational contexts. Students are encouraged to identify and explain theoretical frameworks operative in organizational and group communication; apply multiple theoretical perspectives to a variety of organizational and group contexts and events; express ideas and information competently in written or oral form with clarity and organization; appraise similarities and differences among multicultural and global communication contexts and events; formulate appropriate communicative messages for group and organizational effectiveness.

The curriculum is both deep and broad, enabling students to gain practical expertise in their area of interest while gaining a working knowledge of related areas. The curriculum focuses on ethical practice and the convergence of traditional and new media, preparing students for professional practice in an evolving marketplace. Students learn to express themselves well in oral and written communications, to think critically about communication events all around them, to develop skills valuable in the workplace, and to communicate effectively in a diverse world.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Identify and explain theoretical frameworks operative in organizational and group communication.
- Apply multiple theoretical perspectives to a variety of organizational and group contexts and events.
- Express ideas and information competently in written or oral form with clarity and organization.
- Appraise similarities and differences among multicultural and global communication contexts and events.
- Formulate appropriate communicative messages for group and organizational effectiveness.

College Core Requirements

All majors in the College of Communication consist of a four-course common core plus an additional combination of program requirements and electives.

Course Requirements

Four core courses are required of all College of Communication students:

- CMN 101 INTRODUCTION TO HUMAN COMMUNICATION
- CMN 102 INTRODUCTION TO MASS COMMUNICATION
- CMN 103 INTERCULTURAL COMMUNICATION
- CMN 104 PUBLIC SPEAKING

Students are encouraged to complete all four prior to taking additional coursework in the major.

Modern Language Requirement

Students who intend to graduate with a Bachelor of Arts degree in the College of Communication will be required to demonstrate a measure of competence in a modern language, as defined by the college. Such competence may be demonstrated in one of several ways:

- completing the last course in a second year high school course work in a modern language or Latin
- completing the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language
- completing a college course beyond the first-year level in any language
- achieving a satisfactory score on any of the Modern Language placement examinations administered at DePaul
- achieving a satisfactory rating in a proficiency examination accepted by DePaul
- achieving a score of 3 or higher on the Advance Placement (AP) test for any language (must be completed during high school)
- achieving a score of 5 or higher in the Language B assessment from a Standard or Higher Level International Baccalaureate (IB) program
- achieving a satisfactory score on the CLEP examination. (Note that CLEP scores may be used only to meet the language requirement. Credit is not awarded in modern languages on the basis of CLEP scores).

Students with some modern language training should consult with the Modern Language Department about the course with which they should begin. Students with little or no previous work in the language will be required to complete the entire three-course introductory sequence.

Modern Language Option

The Modern Language Option is available to all BA students who wish to study a modern language beyond the level necessary to meet the College’s modern language requirement. Students selecting the option may substitute a three-course language sequence for two learning domain courses and one open elective, or two upper-level courses in the same language for two learning domain requirements. Modern Language Option substitutions may not be used to replace the Scientific Inquiry: Lab or Scientific Inquiry: Science as a Way of Knowing requirement.

Any substitutions must be consistent with the principle that students complete at least one course in each learning domain.
Major Requirements

Course Requirements

All Organizational Communication majors must complete the four core courses required of all College of Communication students. In addition, they must take two required courses and choose six classes from among the Organizational Communication course offerings. Organizational Communication majors must also take any two electives within the College of Communication. All Organizational Communication majors must complete a total of 14 classes, or 56 credit hours.

- ORGC 251 ORGANIZATIONAL COMMUNICATION
- ORGC 201 BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL COMMUNICATION
- Six courses (24 credits) from the list of offerings below:
  - CMN 394 MAKING THE MOST OF YOUR COMMUNICATION INTERNSHIP
  - CMN 395 COMMUNICATION INTERNSHIP SPECIAL TOPICS
  - CMNS 291 RESEARCH METHODS
  - CMNS 315 HEALTH COMMUNICATION
  - CMNS 344 MINDFULNESS, COMMUNICATION AND ENTREPRENEURSHIP
  - CMNS 355 CONFLICT MANAGEMENT
  - CMNS 360 RELATIONAL, GROUP, AND ORGANIZATIONAL THEORY
  - CMNS 361 GENDER AND COMMUNICATION
  - CMNS 382 QUANTITATIVE RESEARCH METHODS IN COMMUNICATION STUDIES
  - ORGC 212 SMALL GROUP COMMUNICATION
  - ORGC 290 ORGANIZATIONAL COMMUNICATION WORKSHOP (VARIABLE TOPICS) (2 cr.)
  - ORGC 316 COMMUNICATION AND GROUP DECISION-MAKING
  - ORGC 352 COMMUNICATION AND THE CORPORATE CULTURE
  - ORGC 353 COMMUNICATION AND ORGANIZATIONAL CHANGE
  - ORGC 354 EMPLOYMENT INTERVIEWING
  - ORGC 355 DARK SIDE OF ORGANIZATIONAL COMMUNICATION
  - ORGC 356 COMMUNICATION CONSULTING
  - ORGC 357 TOPICS IN GROUP AND ORGANIZATIONAL COMMUNICATION
  - ORGC 358 DIVERSITY, LEADERSHIP, & TEAM BUILDING
  - ORGC 359 VIRTUAL TEAMS
  - ORGC 360 HUMAN RESOURCES COMMUNICATION
  - ORGC 393 ORGANIZATIONAL COMMUNICATION PRACTICUM (2 cr.)
  - PRAD 255 PUBLIC RELATIONS
- Two electives (8 credits) from any College of Communication offerings.

Internship Credit

Students in the major may take CMN 394 MAKING THE MOST OF YOUR COMMUNICATION INTERNSHIP and/or CMN 395 COMMUNICATION INTERNSHIP SPECIAL TOPICS (when work relates to the major). In order to take CMN 394 or CMN 395, students must have completed two of the four communication core classes (CMN 101, CMN 102, CMN 103, CMN 104), two courses in the chosen major and have fulfilled internship program eligibility requirements.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Liberal Studies Requirements

Note

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

Peace, Justice and Conflict Studies (Minor)

The Peace, Justice and Conflict Studies minor is designed to help students engage in critical examination of the origins and root causes of violence, social injustice and conflict; and to foster dialogue about the efficacy of nonviolent approaches to social change and peace-building. Students may develop a specific concentration of study within the minor curriculum.

Course Requirements

Distribution

There is a total of 24 credit hours required for the minor.

- Two core courses from the following list:
  - PAX 210 INTERNATIONAL CONFLICT AND PEACEBUILDING
  - PAX 212 SOCIAL JUSTICE AND SOCIAL CHANGE
  - PAX 214 CONFLICT: INTERVENTION, NEGOTIATION AND ADVOCACY
  - PAX 218 HUMAN RIGHTS: PROMISE AND PROBLEMATICS
  - PAX 220 SOCIAL ENGAGEMENT FOR PEACE AND JUSTICE
- PAX 250 TOPICS: TOOLS FOR SOCIAL CHANGE -- two courses at 2 credit hours each -- or PAX 251 TOPICS: TOOLS TO SUPPORT JUSTICE, HUMAN RIGHTS, AND PEACEBUILDING -- one course at 4 credit hours each
- One Seminar at the 300-level taken from the Seminar list under Major Requirements
- Four credit hours of electives taken from the elective list under Major Requirements, or any PAX courses listed for the Major.
- One course from the following list of PJC program-approved community-based service learning courses or internship courses:
  - PAX 200 COMMUNITIES WORKING FOR SUSTAINABLE JUSTICE AND PEACE: SERVICE IN CHICAGO AND THE U.S.
  - PAX 320 TRANSFORMATIVE JUSTICE: THEORY AND PRACTICE
  - PAX 392 INTERNSHIP IN PEACE, JUSTICE, AND CONFLICT STUDIES

  - WGS 392 INTERNSHIP
Students majoring in Peace, Justice and Conflict Studies (BA) are restricted from earning this minor.

Peace, Justice and Conflict Studies (BA)

The Peace, Justice and Conflict Studies Program offers students a BA major curriculum that is rooted in the values of active and strategic nonviolence. It helps them reflect critically on the origins and causes of conflict and violence, whether direct, cultural, or institutional. It studies social injustice and other forms of systemic violence, introducing nonviolent strategies for resolving interpersonal, communal, and international conflicts in order to promote the common good and the healing needed for community work. The Program invites frank debate about the efficacy of nonviolent in comparison with violent approaches to social change. The inclusion of conflict theory and citizen-led nonviolent intervention at the core of this program is distinctive. The Program emphasizes hands-on, experiential components in the introductory courses, the final seminars and internship, and the workshops, which emphasize skill training.

Students and faculty in Peace, Justice and Conflict Studies question what constitutes a just society and world and how attitudes toward social justice and violence reflect and reveal the values, beliefs, prejudices, assumptions, and perceptions of United States culture and those of other nations. Students are expected to gain competency in dealing with situations of conflict and injustice by mastering the theoretical and intellectual frameworks related to them, by learning to interpret and analyze real life situations in their complexity, by understanding how to build strategies for consensus-building and advocacy, and by understanding various research methodologies and the use of media and creative outlets.

Students majoring in other programs will find it beneficial to double major or minor in Peace, Justice and Conflict Studies, particularly due to its core value of strategic nonviolence. Students can also pursue an LAS or other college double major, such as with Health Sciences in the College of Science and Health, Journalism in the College of Communication, or the 3+3 BA/JD with the College of Law. Students who pursue the major are well prepared for graduate work in the humanities or social sciences, as well as for professional training in law, public service, or business.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Analyze the origins of conflict and violence and the underlying values or different theories that explain them, such as human rights or capacities discourse, and including the various levels where conflict occurs, such as the global, international, intra-national, local, and interpersonal levels.
- Evaluate nonviolent approaches to peace building, conflict resolution, and social change for the common good with the aim of protecting individuals’ rights.
- Explain the theories of justice and its basic forms, such as social, distributive and contributive, environmental, restorative, post-conflict or transitional, and transformational justice, and assess them in relation to real circumstances of individual/direct and structural violence and efforts for social change and a just world.
- Integrate theories with an experientially based understanding of the realities of peace building, conflict resolution, and working for viable social change, by means of a critical recognition of the effectiveness of different intervention strategies.
- Practice effective skills and tools for resolving conflict between individuals and social groups, council circles, disciplinary and interdisciplinary research, narrative and performative approaches, and psychological assessments, to obtain depth in one or two areas of the Peace, Justice, and Conflict Studies curriculum.

College Core Requirements

Study in the Major Field

The student's course of study in the College consists of three parts: Liberal Studies, the major field, and electives. Together these three parts contribute to the liberal education of the student which is the common purpose of all study in the College. By "liberal education" the College understands not only a deep and thorough knowledge of a particular area of study but a knowledge of the diverse areas of study represented by criticism, history, the arts, the behavioral and social sciences, philosophy, religious studies, the natural science, and mathematics.
The major field program generally is built upon a set of core courses and a specialized "concentration." The number of courses required for a major varies by department. Most students go beyond the minimum requirements, electing additional courses which both broaden and deepen their understanding of their chosen discipline.

Because no academic major program is built in isolation, students are required to pursue a number of electives of the student’s choice. The inherent flexibility of this curriculum demands that the student consult an academic advisor at each stage in the total program and at least once prior to each registration. Students will be prompted to visit the College Office for their official graduation check early in their senior year.

Declaration of Major, Minor and Concentration

All students in the College are required to declare a major field prior to beginning their junior year. The student will then be assigned a faculty advisor in the major field department or program and should make an appointment to see that advisor at his or her earliest convenience.

Students must declare or change majors, minors, and concentrations, via Campus Connection. However, for the purpose of exploring the possibility of changing a major field, the student should consult an academic advisor in the Office for Academic Advising Support.

The Modern Language Requirement (MLR)

All students will be required to demonstrate competence in a modern language (i.e., a language other than English) equivalent to the proficiency attained from one year of college-level language study. This Modern Language Requirement (MLR) may be demonstrated by:

- placing into 104 or above on the DePaul language placement exam
- completing the last course or earning AP/IB credit for the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language (e.g. 103 for DePaul language classes)
- completing a college course or earning AP/IB credit for a college course beyond the first-year level in any language (e.g. 104 or above for DePaul language classes)
- completing the final course of a four-year sequence of the same modern language in high school*
- completing a proctored exam by BYU and passing the exam (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)
- completing a proctored Written Proficiency Test (WPT) by Language Testing International (LTI) and achieving a score of Beginner High or above (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)

* Students are strongly encouraged to take the DePaul language placement exam even if they have met the MLR via study of a language in high school. This will ensure continuation of language study at the proper level.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College will abide by this MLR in place on the effective date of the ICT, regardless of when they first matriculated at DePaul.

Students who have met the MLR and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" (MLO) of the Liberal Studies Program (see "Special Programs").

External Credit and Residency

A student who has been admitted to the College begins residency within the college as of the first day of classes of the term in which the student is registered. Students in residence, whether attending on a full-time or part-time basis, may not take courses away from DePaul University without the written permission of the college. Permission must be obtained in advance of registration to avoid loss of credit or residency in the college; see the LAS website for more information.

Notes

A student majoring in Peace, Justice, and Conflict Studies (PAX) is required to complete the Capstone offered by the PAX Program. This is the case even if a student is double majoring (or pursuing a dual degree) and the secondary major (or degree) requires its own Capstone. A PAX major in the University Honors Program shall take the University Honors Capstone and the PAX Capstone. Courses offered in the student’s primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student’s major and is cross-listed with a course within the student’s major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

Major Requirements

Course Requirements

The Peace, Justice and Conflict Studies (PJC) major requires 48 credit hours, as follows:

- PAX 250 TOPICS: TOOLS FOR SOCIAL CHANGE (2 courses at 2 credit hours each) or one PAX 251 TOPICS: TOOLS TO SUPPORT JUSTICE, HUMAN RIGHTS, AND PEACEBUILDING (for 4 credit hours)
- PAX 210 INTERNATIONAL CONFLICT AND PEACEBUILDING
- PAX 212 SOCIAL JUSTICE AND SOCIAL CHANGE
- PAX 214 CONFLICT: INTERVENTION, NEGOTIATION AND ADVOCACY
- PAX 218 HUMAN RIGHTS: PROMISE AND PROBLEMATICS
- PAX 392 INTERNSHIP IN PEACE, JUSTICE, AND CONFLICT STUDIES (taken for Liberal Studies EL requirement)
- 12 credit hours of Seminars at the 300-level from the list below, including any courses crosslisted with them:
  - PAX 300 TOPICS SEMINAR
  - PAX 301 THE THEORY AND PRACTICE OF NONVIOLENT ACTION
  - PAX 304 TOPICS IN MIGRATION AND FORCED MIGRATION
  - PAX 312 TRANSCENDING COEXISTENCE: TRUTH, JUSTICE, AND RECONCILIATION
  - PAX 313 BEYOND CONFLICT RESOLUTION: THE EVOLUTION OF GRASSROOTS PEACEBUILDING
  - PAX 321 PRINCIPLES AND PRACTICES OF RESTORATIVE JUSTICE
  - PAX 330 THE UNIVERSAL DECLARATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS: ORIGINS AND CONTROVERSIES
  - PAX 373 LITERATURE OF WAR IN THE 20TH CENTURY
  - PAX 380 TOPICS IN NONVIOLENCE
  - PAX 381 TOPICS IN PEACE BUILDING
  - PAX 382 TOPICS IN SOCIAL JUSTICE AND SOCIAL CHANGE
  - PAX 383 TOPICS IN CONFLICT INTERVENTION
  - PAX 384 TOPICS IN ACTIVISM AND ADVOCACY
  - PAX 385 TOPICS IN HUMAN RIGHTS
  - REL 351 LIBERATION THEOLOGY
  - WGS 303 GENDER, VIOLENCE AND RESISTANCE
  - WGS 320 TRANSFORMATIVE JUSTICE: THEORY AND PRACTICE
  - WGS 345 WOMEN, WAR AND RESISTANCE
  - WGS 364 POLITICAL AUTOBIOGRAPHY
- Three electives approved by the PJC program (listed below)
- PAX 350 CAPSTONE IN PEACE, JUSTICE & CONFLICT STUDIES (taken for Liberal Studies Capstone requirement).

The four-course sequence PAX 210-212-214-218 forms the foundation of the program and should be completed in the first or second year of study. Courses do not need to be done in sequence. An internship, PAX 392, offered once a year in the fall, should be completed prior to taking PAX 350. If possible, students should take the internship prior to senior year. Seniors should plan to take the capstone, PAX 350, offered once a year, usually in winter. Students will complete either two sections of PAX 250 (for 2 credit hours each) or PAX 251 (for 4 credits hours), ideally prior to senior year.

300-Level Seminars

The courses that can be taken as 300-level seminars are approved by the PJC Program Advisory Board. These do not include all 300-level PAX courses, many of which are crosslisted from other departments. For any questions, check with the Program Director, since new ones are approved now and then.
Senior Capstone

PAX 350 is usually offered in winter quarter. Students doing study abroad during winter quarter of their senior year must do the capstone in their junior year. This is required even for a double-major who must do a capstone in the other major.

Program Approved Electives

Courses cross-listed with any course listed below are accepted as PJC/PAX electives. Check with the PJC Director for topics courses approved as PJC/PAX electives each quarter or to approve a course not on this list. PJC electives also include any courses approved for the PJC minor requirement of a community-based service learning course: See list under the PJC Minor.

3+3 Program (BA/JD)

In the 3 + 3 BA/JD Program, high-achieving first-year undergraduate students are admitted simultaneously to the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences and the College of Law. Students complete their first three years in the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences and their final three years in the College of Law. Students receive the Bachelor of Arts degree after successful completion of their first year of law school. Throughout the program, BA/JD students meet regularly with advisors in both Colleges and have access to a variety of resources to ensure their success.

Key Program Features

- Students earn a law degree (Juris Doctor) in a total of six years (three years undergraduate and three years in law school).
- Students save one year’s worth of tuition, reducing their overall debt load.
- Students benefit from new curricular offerings and collaborative activities created to prepare them for law school.
- Students receive early (conditional) admission to the College of Law.
- Credits earned in the first year of law school apply toward the BA degree.
- Students may opt out of the College of Law segment of the program and continue in the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences during their fourth year.
- If students withdraw after the first semester in the College of Law, they return to the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences for the winter quarter.

Program Requirements

In order to maintain status in the program, students must demonstrate satisfactory progress toward completing their undergraduate coursework in three years, including meeting the Modern Language Requirement and necessary Liberal Studies Program or Honors Program requirements. Students must achieve a cumulative GPA of 3.35 by the end of their second year of study and maintain a cumulative GPA of 3.35 in their third and final year of undergraduate study.

In addition, students must complete a series of two-credit courses, taught by College of Law faculty, prior to matriculation in the College of Law. They are designed to help students understand many aspects of the legal system as well as to complement their undergraduate course of study. The courses are as follows:

- PRELAW 150 THE PRACTICE OF LAW
- PRELAW 151 RECENT CONTROVERSIES IN LAW
- PRELAW 152 THINKING ABOUT THE LAW

In order to matriculate in the College of Law, students will be required to register with the Law School Admissions Council, submit the College of Law’s online application, comply with all character and fitness requirements for admission, and submit an LSAT score. The activities should be completed no later than the end of the Autumn Quarter of the participant’s third undergraduate year. The LSAT score will only be used for consideration of merit scholarships; it will not be a factor in the admission of the participant to the program.

Combined Bachelor’s/Master’s Degree

The combined Bachelor’s/Master’s degree programs allow students to complete 12 graduate credit hours while still completing their undergraduate program. These three graduate level courses will count toward both the undergraduate and graduate degree programs. Each combined degree program has its own application process, which is usually completed during junior year. The graduate courses, taken during senior year, are paid for at the undergraduate tuition rate.

Peace, Justice & Conflict Studies (BA) suggests several options for combined programs. Consult the degree requirements as listed in the catalog under graduate degree programs/combined degrees. Some graduate programs are combinable with any DePaul bachelor’s degree; others are limited. The programs that might be of interest to PJC majors would include the following:
Performance Studies (Minor)

The Performance Studies minor provides an overview of the historical importance of performance for social, cultural and personal expression. Students will gain a critical understanding of performance across a range of disciplines.

Course Requirements

The Performance Studies Minor requires students to complete six courses (24 credits).

- CMNS 230 PERFORMANCE: COMMUNICATION, CREATIVITY AND THE BODY
- Five courses from the following:
  - ACT 290 ACTING AND PERFORMANCE
  - CMNS 308 TOPICS IN INTERCULTURAL COMMUNICATION (department approval required)
  - CMNS 339 PERFORMANCE OF GENDER & SEXUALITY
  - CMNS 334 URBAN COMMUNICATION
  - CMNS 330 TOPICS IN PERFORMANCE
  - CMNS 367 PERFORMANCE FOR SOCIAL CHANGE
  - CMNS 369 PERFORMANCE OF HUMOR

Performing Arts Management (BM)

The Performing Arts Management Programs are comprehensive interdisciplinary programs designed to prepare students for careers in the multi-faceted and extensive industry embracing administration of not-for-profit arts organizations (symphony orchestra, opera, chamber music, dance, theatre), commercial music management (recording industry, artist representation, music publishing and distribution, product merchandising, concert promotion), music licensing, music entrepreneurship, music festival management, and related areas of cultural management and policy.

The programs have been designed to provide students a broad understanding of the performing arts management industry; insight into the theories and principles associated with arts management; and a proficiency in the practical application of necessary business skills.

There are two distinct Performing Arts Management degrees, suited for students with specific backgrounds and career objectives.

- Bachelor of Music (BM) in Performing Arts Management, Minor in Business Administration
- Bachelor of Science (BS) in Performing Arts Management, Minor in Business Administration

Bachelor of Music (BM) in Performing Arts Management, Minor in Business Administration

In addition to the fundamental music curriculum in musicianship, applied music, and ensemble requirements, those in the BM Performing Arts Management program undertake a core sequence of courses focused on the Performing Arts Management industry, as well as courses in Music Business, Music Publishing, Music Festival Management, Legal Issues in Music, and others. Additionally, in cooperation with the Driehaus School of Business, students receive a minor in business administration taking courses in Finance, Marketing, Management, Accounting, Statistics, and Economics, among others. A significant element to the Performing Arts Management Program is an experiential component in the form of Internships at any of the numerous approved companies or organizations. Internships have been completed at such places as Lyric Opera, Chicago Symphony Orchestra, Grant Park Music Festival, Ravinia Festival, Aware Records, Metro Club, Old Town School of Folk Music, ASCAP, Steppenwolf Theatre, and many other arts organizations, music labels, venues and radio stations. This program is suited for students interested in developing their music ability at the highest level and gaining the insight and skills necessary for a career in the music industry.

Learning Outcomes

Core Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Perform with an acceptable tone quality, pitch and rhythmic accuracy, dynamic control, articulation, and expressiveness.
- Participate in a musical ensemble, with appropriate technique and musicality.
- Identify and analyze the elements of music in a given piece, including an understanding of its compositional processes, aesthetic properties, and artistic, social, and historical context.
- Identify significant composers and works in the Western music tradition, and trace the evolution of musical styles through the Medieval, Renaissance, Baroque, Classical, Romantic, and Contemporary periods, as well as in jazz and select world music cultures.
- Hear, notate, analyze, and perform music through aural skills, sight-singing, and keyboard skills.
- Demonstrate basic conducting knowledge and skills for both instrumental and vocal settings.
- Develop an expanded global awareness and cultural understanding through musical study
- Describe basic information about health and safety within the contexts of practice, performing, teaching, and listening; topics will include hearing, vocal, and musculoskeletal health and injury prevention.

Students will be able to:

- Perform solo and ensemble works with appropriate techniques and musicality
- Identify and analyze the elements of music in a given piece, including an understanding of its compositional processes, aesthetic properties, and artistic, social, and historical contexts for works in the Western music tradition, Contemporary periods, Jazz, and World Music Cultures.
- Demonstrate an appropriate level of aural, keyboard, and conducting skills
- Demonstrate an understanding of the theories and principles associated with the performing arts industry such as issues facing arts managers in the areas of leadership, marketing, development, community engagement, arts advocacy, and other skills particular to their area of specialization.
- Understand current music business issues and their impact on artist representation, digital music, distribution, emerging technologies, and marketing.
- Demonstrate proficiency in business skills related to accounting, finance, marketing, management, economics, and ethics.

Music Core Requirements

Course Requirements

All students in the School of Music are required to enroll in the following music courses:

Musicianship (42 credits)

- Music Theory Sequence
  - MUS 110A MUSIC THEORY I
  - MUS 120A MUSIC THEORY II
  - MUS 130A MUSIC THEORY III
  - MUS 212A MUSIC THEORY IV
  - MUS 222A MUSIC THEORY V
  - MUS 232 MUSIC THEORY VI
Music History Sequence
- MUS 110B MUSIC HISTORY I
- MUS 120B MUSIC HISTORY II
- MUS 130B MUSIC HISTORY III
- MUS 212B MUSIC HISTORY IV
- MUS 222B MUSIC HISTORY V

Aural Training Sequence
- MUS 111 AURAL TRAINING I
- MUS 121 AURAL TRAINING II
- MUS 131 AURAL TRAINING III
- MUS 211 AURAL TRAINING IV
- MUS 221 AURAL TRAINING V
- MUS 231 AURAL TRAINING VI

Group Piano Sequence
- MUS 113 GROUP PIANO I
- MUS 123 GROUP PIANO II
- MUS 133 GROUP PIANO III
- MUS 213 GROUP PIANO IV
- MUS 223 GROUP PIANO V
- MUS 233 GROUP PIANO VI

Additional Courses
- MUS 303 BASIC CONDUCTING PRACTICUM
- MUS 304 BASIC CONDUCTING
- MUS 320 INTRODUCTION TO WORLD MUSIC
- MUS 321 INTRODUCTION TO JAZZ HISTORY
- MUS 322 ADVANCED MUSICIANSHIP

Students in the BS-PAM degree program are not required to take MUS 303 and MUS 304.

Applied Music

Students may enroll in a maximum of 3 credits of applied study per quarter, with a maximum of 36 credits total. The requirements for applied study vary by degree program:
- BM in performance, 36 credits
- BM in jazz studies, 32 credits
- BM in composition, 12 credits
- BM in music education, 18 credits
- BM in performing arts management, 18 credits
- BA in music, 12 credits
- BS in sound recording technology, performance track, 9 credits

The BS in Performing Arts Management degree does not require applied lessons, and the BS in Sound Recording Technology, non-performance track, degree does not require applied lessons.

Except performance majors, students may enroll in additional applied credits, which will count towards music electives.

Modern Language Option

If a music student wishes to study a modern language for a three-course sequence (12 credits), one quarter of language study (4 credits) may be used to replace a course requirement in Arts and Literature, Philosophical Inquiry, or Religious Dimensions. The remaining two quarters of language (8 credits) will be applied towards free electives.

Liberal Studies Requirements

Honors program requirements can be found in the individual Colleges & Schools section of the University Catalog. Select Academics, followed by Undergraduate, then Honors Program Alternative.

Notes

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.
Program Checkpoints

Students are admitted to a specialization at their initial enrollment. Students are then allowed to continue in specialization courses on the basis of program checkpoints. The program checkpoints differ for each specialization, and students should contact the department chairs or program directors/coordinators for more information. Students are not permitted to continue to enroll in specialization classes if they have not met the requirements of their program checkpoints.

Liberal Studies Learning Domain Specifications

Performing arts management majors enroll in the following courses within the learning domains:

- MAT 130 PRECALCULUS
- ECO 105 PRINCIPLES OF MICROECONOMICS

Philosophy (BA)

The Department of Philosophy serves the needs of the student who seeks an understanding of philosophical issues for personal enrichment, the student who desires a more fundamental appreciation of philosophy in support of law, medicine, business, and various academic disciplines, and the student who wishes to continue the study of philosophy at the graduate level.

Through its courses and programs, the department acquaints students with various philosophical systems and with basic problems posed by diverse thinkers. Courses have been designed to highlight both the humanistic and technical features of philosophy.

The department also recognizes the important need for skills and training. Its courses in logic and analysis have been designed to help... students become more perceptive in their experiences and more critical in their thinking. Further, the department is aware that, in our age of rapid change, society often tends to neglect the meaning and worth of the person. Courses are therefore offered that investigate and emphasize the dignity of the person. By helping students understand the nature and grounds of ethical judgments, these courses aim to promote an appreciation and ordering of human values.

The department has designed all of its course offerings with the aim of both ensuring that our Liberal Studies courses remain responsive to the needs of the student who does not plan to specialize in philosophy and offering the student who chooses to major or minor in philosophy a rich and diverse curriculum.

The department is particularly proud of its "Philosophy Circle," an undergraduate philosophy club which provides a forum for the exchange of ideas between faculty and students.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Critically discuss philosophical issues (via well-grounded arguments) and questions from the perspectives of multiple methods, traditions, and historical contexts.
- Evaluate philosophical issues, questions, and problems critically and analytically.
- Write an articulate and well-ordered essay presenting philosophical positions in a way that addresses philosophical issues and questions.
- Formulate and evaluate their own understanding of a diverse range of philosophical problems, in both writing and discussion.
- Integrate a critical understanding of central philosophical ideas from the history of philosophy, broadly construed to include more than the Western tradition.

College Core Requirements

Study in the Major Field

The student's course of study in the College consists of three parts: Liberal Studies, the major field, and electives. Together these three parts contribute to the liberal education of the student which is the common purpose of all study in the College. By "liberal education" the College understands not only a deep and thorough knowledge of a particular area of study but a knowledge of the diverse areas of study represented by criticism, history, the arts, the behavioral and social sciences, philosophy, religious studies, the natural science, and mathematics.

The major field program generally is built upon a set of core courses and a specialized "concentration." The number of courses required for a major varies by department. Most students go beyond the minimum requirements, electing additional courses which both broaden and deepen their understanding of their chosen discipline.

Because no academic major program is built in isolation, students are required to pursue a number of electives of the student's choice. The inherent flexibility of this curriculum demands that the student consult an academic advisor at each stage in the total program and at least once prior to each registration. Students will be prompted to visit the College Office for their official graduation check early in their senior year.

Declaration of Major, Minor and Concentration

All students in the College are required to declare a major field prior to beginning their junior year. The student will then be assigned a faculty advisor in the major field department or program and should make an appointment to see that advisor at his or her earliest convenience.

Students must declare or change majors, minors, and concentrations, via Campus Connection. However, for the purpose of exploring the possibility of changing a major field, the student should consult an academic advisor in the Office for Academic Advising Support.

The Modern Language Requirement (MLR)

All students will be required to demonstrate competence in a modern language (i.e., a language other than English) equivalent to the proficiency attained from one year of college-level language study. This Modern Language Requirement (MLR) may be demonstrated by:

- placing into 104 or above on the DePaul language placement exam
- completing the last course or earning AP/IB credit for the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language (e.g. 103 for DePaul language classes)
• completing a college course or earning AP/IB credit for a college course beyond the first-year level in any language (e.g. 104 or above for DePaul language classes)
• completing the final course of a four-year sequence of the same modern language in high school*
• completing a proctored exam by BYU and passing the exam (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)
• completing a proctored Written Proficiency Test (WPT) by Language Testing International (LTI) and achieving a score of Beginner High or above (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)

* Students are strongly encouraged to take the DePaul language placement exam even if they have met the MLR via study of a language in high school. This will ensure continuation of language study at the proper level.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College will abide by this MLR in place on the effective date of the ICT, regardless of when they first matriculated at DePaul.

Students who have met the MLR and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" (MLO) of the Liberal Studies Program (see "Special Programs").

External Credit and Residency

A student who has been admitted to the College begins residency within the college as of the first day of classes of the term in which the student is registered. Students in residence, whether attending on a full-time or part-time basis, may not take courses away from DePaul University without the written permission of the college. Permission must be obtained in advance of registration to avoid loss of credit or residency in the college; see the LAS website for more information.

Notes
A student majoring in Philosophy (PHL) is required to complete the Capstone offered by the PHL Department. This is the case even if a student is double majoring (or pursuing a dual degree) and the secondary major (or degree) requires its own Capstone. A PHL major in the University Honors Program shall take the University Honors Capstone and the PHL Capstone.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Extra-Curricular Activities

The regular program of courses is supplemented by philosophical symposia, departmental colloquia, and mini-courses featuring prominent philosophers. Each student is expected to consult with his or her departmental advisor on course selection. With departmental permission, a senior may take one course selected from the graduate offerings in philosophy. He or she may take this course on a pass/fail basis. Certain courses in other departments are acceptable equivalents for philosophy credit. Seniors who have a superior record in philosophy may petition to do a Senior Thesis. (Please note that PHL 100 or HON 105 is the prerequisite for all 300-level philosophy courses; it is also the prerequisite for all 200 level cognitive skills courses as well as the 200 level history sequence.)

3+3 Program (BA/JD)

In the 3 + 3 BA/JD Program, high-achieving first-year undergraduate students are admitted simultaneously to the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences and the College of Law. Students complete their first three years in the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences and their final three years in the College of Law. Students receive the Bachelor of Arts degree after successful completion of their first year of law school. Throughout the program, BA/JD students meet regularly with advisors in both Colleges and have access to a variety of resources to ensure their success.

Key Program Features

- Students earn a law degree (Juris Doctor) in a total of six years (three years undergraduate and three years in law school).
- Students save one year’s worth of tuition, reducing their overall debt load.
- Students benefit from new curricular offerings and collaborative activities created to prepare them for law school.
- Students receive early (conditional) admission to the College of Law.
- Credits earned in the first year of law school apply toward the BA degree.
- Students may opt out of the College of Law segment of the program and continue in the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences during their fourth year.
- If students withdraw after the first semester in the College of Law, they return to the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences for the winter quarter.

Program Requirements

In order to maintain status in the program, students must demonstrate satisfactory progress toward completing their undergraduate coursework in three years, including meeting the Modern Language Requirement and necessary Liberal Studies Program or Honors Program requirements. Students must achieve a cumulative GPA of 3.35 by the end of their second year of study and maintain a cumulative GPA of 3.35 in their third and final year of undergraduate study.

In addition, students must complete a series of two-credit courses, taught by College of Law faculty, prior to matriculation in the College of Law. They are designed to help students understand many aspects of the legal system as well as to complement their undergraduate course of study. The courses are as follows:

- PRELAW 150 THE PRACTICE OF LAW
- PRELAW 151 RECENT CONTROVERSIES IN LAW
- PRELAW 152 THINKING ABOUT THE LAW

In order to matriculate in the College of Law, students will be required to register with the Law School Admissions Council, submit the College of Law’s online application, comply with all character and fitness requirements for admission, and submit an LSAT score. The activities should be completed no later than the end of the Autumn Quarter of the participant’s third undergraduate year. The LSAT score will only be used for consideration of merit scholarships; it will not be a factor in the admission of the participant to the program.
Philosophy (Minor)

The minor program is designed to complement the majors of other departments. It is designed also for those who, while not wishing to specialize in philosophy, nonetheless seek to pursue enduring questions, appraise contemporary values, and critically discuss topics of general human concern. (If you wish to use this program as an academic minor, check with your Department for permission and with the Department of Philosophy for sample programs.)

Course Requirements

Basic Prerequisite

- PHL 100 INTRODUCTION TO PHILOSOPHY

History Sequence

- PHL 293 ANCIENT PHILOSOPHY
- PHL 294 MEDIEVAL PHILOSOPHY
  or PHL 295 EARLY MODERN PHILOSOPHY
- PHL 296 KANT & 19TH CENTURY PHILOSOPHY
  or PHL 297 20TH CENTURY PHILOSOPHY

Value Studies/ Cognitive Skills

- One PHL 200 Level Course

Philosophy Electives

- Two PHL 300 Level Courses

With permission a student may take PHL 391 SENIOR CAPSTONE SEMINAR for Philosophy Majors as part of his or her minor.

Transfer credit may be recognized. (*Please note that PHL 100 and HON 105 is the prerequisite for all 300-level philosophy courses; it is also the prerequisite for all 200 level cognitive skills courses as well as the 200 level history sequence.)

Students majoring in Philosophy (BA) are restricted from earning this minor.

Photography (Minor)

The minor in photography is a concentrated program of study that lets students design their approaches to the photographic arts. It takes the processes of optical and mechanical reproduction as its starting points and emphasizes the role(s) of photography historically through culture. Six courses are required for a photography minor.

Course Requirements

- Choose two courses from the following list:
  - One of the following:
    - ART 101 DIGITAL FOUNDATIONS
    - ART 105 TWO-DIMENSIONAL FOUNDATIONS
    - ART 114 FOUR DIMENSIONAL FOUNDATIONS
  - One of the following:
    - ART 104 CREATING ART
    - ART 200 ART & ARTISTS IN CONTEMPORARY CULTURE
    - ART 118 THINKING PHOTOGRAPHY
    - HAA 265 HISTORY OF PHOTOGRAPHY

- Choose any four Photography courses from the following list:
  - ART 224 BEGINNING DIGITAL PHOTOGRAPHY
  - ART 225 BEGINNING PHOTOGRAPHY
  - ART 226 VIDEO ART
  - ART 289 EXPERIMENTAL FILM AND VIDEO
Students majoring in Art, Media, and Design (BA) or (BFA) or Art (BA) are restricted from earning this minor.

Physical Education (BSPE)

The Physical Education program will prepare you to pursue a career in teaching Physical Education in schools for grades pre-K through high school. Graduates earn the Bachelor of Science degree and are prepared for K-12 school licensure process.

Students entering the program must be able and willing to devote themselves to a program requiring a minimum of 110 hours of daytime field experiences in schools. These school-based clinical hours are completed in conjunction with methodology courses. In addition, the student must spend a minimum of 10 weeks in full-time student teaching during their last quarter in the program.

The program includes five distinctive features: 1) Becoming a teacher is viewed as a developmental process continuing at least through the first year of teaching; 2) Multiculturalism is infused throughout the curriculum; 3) Field experiences are an integral part of the curriculum; 4) Students are exposed to a variety of educational theories; 5) The program includes a research component as a basis for further professional development.

The program in K-12 education prepares students to teach children in a variety of urban and suburban educational settings, including public and private elementary and high schools. In all cases, appropriate field experience plays an integral role.

Students should meet early and regularly with their advisor to design and monitor their program of study.

Please make sure you consult the Liberal Studies Requirements, Major Requirements, Concentration Requirements, and College Core Requirements for full degree requirements.

Licensure

Illinois Professional Educator License with endorsement in Physical Education (kindergarten-grade 12), an Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) approved program.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Demonstrate an understanding of common and specialized content, and scientific and theoretical foundations for the delivery of an effective Pre K-12 physical education program.
- Use physical literacy to demonstrate skillful performance in physical education content and areas, and health-enhancing levels of fitness.
- Apply content and foundational knowledge to plan and implement developmentally appropriate learning experiences aligned with local, state, and/or SHAPE America National Standards and grade-level outcomes for K-12 Physical Education through an effective use of resources, accommodations and/or modifications, technology, and metacognitive strategies to address the diverse needs of students.
- Engage students in meaningful learning experiences through effective use of pedagogical skills.
  - Use feedback, technology, and instructional and managerial skills to enhance student learning.
• Select and implement appropriate assessments to monitor students' progress and guide decision making related to instruction and learning.
• Demonstrate behaviors essential to becoming effective professionals.
  o Professional ethics and culturally competent practices.
  o Seek opportunities for continued professional development
  o Demonstrate knowledge of promotion/advocacy strategies for physical education and expanded physical activity opportunities that support the development of physically literate individuals.

College Core Requirements

Dispositions

The academic programs within the College of Education have set forth these dispositions as educational and professional expectations for all students. Students should be aware that failing to abide by DePaul University or College of Education policies including, under certain circumstances, these dispositions, could result in adverse consequences for the student, including removal from his or her program, the College of Education, or the University.

The following dispositions apply to Early Childhood Education, Elementary Education, Exercise Science Middle Grades, Physical Education, Secondary Education, and World Language Education majors only:

• Reflects on progress and identifies strengths and weaknesses, including evaluating strategies for success, finding alternatives for inappropriate strategies, and modifying future practices
• Is receptive to faculty feedback and acts meaningfully and professionally upon suggestions
• Values critical thinking, including engaging theoretical and philosophical frameworks and shows evidence of critical thinking through discussion and writing (e.g., journals, response to prompts)
• Understands the importance of and is committed to communicating clearly orally and in writing both in traditional and in new and emerging digital formats
• Values and is committed to continually developing strong content area knowledge and/or knowledge of the professional field, including pedagogical content knowledge
• Takes initiative, uses imagination and creativity, and seeks out information using a variety of human and material resources and technology to inform his or her teaching
• Is aware of the role of classroom environment and uses management procedures that reflect respect and care for learners and concern for their emotional and physical well being
• Takes the time and effort needed to understand how students learn, including discovering their interests and experiences and determining how to shape teaching acts (using technology as appropriate) that engage learners meaningfully and actively
• Values and is committed to using assessment to evaluate and ensure the continuous intellectual, social, emotional, and physical development of the learner
• Respects and considers cultural contexts in order to determine how to be responsive to learners and to proactively promote all students' learning
• Values and is responsive to diverse learners' academic, emotional, and social needs through teaching acts (including careful instructional planning, implementation, and differentiation) and through everyday interactions with students
• Is committed to collaboration with colleagues, families, and communities in order to promote all students' learning and development
• Recognizes and fulfills professional responsibilities and habits of conduct (e.g., dress, language, preparedness, attendance, punctuality, etc.)
• Demonstrates collegiality, honesty, good judgment, courtesy, respect, and diplomacy
• Balances self-confidence and assertiveness with respect for others' perspectives
• Respects the requirements, expectations, and procedures of both the College of Education and of our field partners and appreciates the issues of trust, fairness, and professionalism involved

The following dispositions apply to Special Education majors only:

• Is receptive to faculty feedback and acts meaningfully and professionally upon suggestions
• Reflects on his or her own progress, identifies strengths and weaknesses, and evaluates strategies for success and professional growth
• Takes initiative
• Is open to new ideas and engagement in learning
• Respects diversity and cultural contexts to determine how to be responsive to learners and to proactively promote all students' learning
• Expresses positive attitudes toward individuals with disabilities and a willingness to advocate on their behalf
• Is committed to collaboration with colleagues, families, and communities in order to promote all students' learning and development
• Demonstrates professional ethical and legal behavior as defined by the respective codes of ethics and laws
• Demonstrates consistent professional behavior across all academic settings
• Maintains appropriate interpersonal and professional boundaries
• Accepts personal responsibility for one's behavior
• Expresses feelings and opinions effectively and appropriately
• Upholds confidentiality

Skill Building Courses
Before taking any math or English courses, students must take the DePaul placement tests to determine if skill level is at the college level. If placement indicates skill level in these courses, the courses become part of degree requirements. Consult with your advisor regarding placement test results and any required classes.

Advanced Standing

Students are admitted conditionally to the College of Education. There are additional requirements to reach Advanced Standing in your program in the College of Education. Requirements must be met to progress in the major and take courses in the Advanced Standing category.

Advanced Standing requirements are:

- Maintain a DePaul undergraduate 2.5 GPA
- Pass the Illinois Test of Academic Proficiency (TAP)
- Submit an application for advanced standing form

Students should attempt to complete the Advanced Standing requirements soon after beginning the program. There is no time limit to meet these criteria; however, students will only be able to take pre-education courses until requirements have been met. Students can also take liberal studies or content area courses before or after meeting Advanced Standing requirements.

Modern Language Competence Requirement

Students pursuing a Bachelor of Arts degree in the College of Education will be required to demonstrate a measure of competence in a modern language, as defined by the college. Such competence may be demonstrated in one of several ways:

- completing two years of a language sequence in high school
- completing the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language
- completing a college course beyond the first-year level in any language
- achieving a satisfactory rating in a proficiency examination accepted by DePaul
- achieving a score of 3 or higher on the Advance Placement (AP) test for any language
- achieving a score of 5 or higher in the Language B assessment from a Standard or Higher Level International Baccalaureate (IB) program
- achieving a satisfactory score on the CLEP examination

Please note: The Modern Language Competence Requirement is not required for students in the Early Childhood Education: SNL Joint Program (BAECE) program.

For further information regarding satisfactory scores and possible credit from the DePaul placement, AP, CLEP, or IB examinations, please contact the Office of the University Registrar.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College of Education will abide by the COE Modern Language Requirement in place on the effective date of the ICT.

B.A. students who meet College requirements and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the “Modern Language Option” of the Liberal Studies Program. While B.S. students are not required to demonstrate competency in a modern language, the “Modern Language Option” is available to them for language study at any level.

Licensure Tests

All individuals licensed by the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) are required to complete licensure tests specific to their teaching license.

Field Experiences

Each student seeking licensure from the College of Education/Professional Education Unit must complete supervised field experiences in appropriate settings in conjunction with education courses. The field experiences must include a variety of grade levels, multicultural experiences, and a minimum of 10 hours in special education settings. All field experiences must be completed prior to final approval for student teaching. Field experience hours should be entered by the student into the FEDS system when completing courses with field experience requirements.

Endorsements

An endorsement is a statement appearing on a license that identifies the specific subjects or grade level that the license holder is authorized to teach.

The Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) issues endorsements in various subject areas. To view the full list and requirements, visit the ISBE website.

Please note that the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) may change the state licensure and endorsement requirements at any time and without prior notice. Individuals are bound by the requirements in place when applying for the license or endorsement, not the requirements in effect at the time of initial certification.
in place when beginning the program.

Student Teaching Requirements

Student Teaching is the culminating clinical experience in the student's program. All students in teacher preparation programs must meet the following requirements before applying for student teaching:

Academic Requirements:

- Completion of all Liberal Studies, Pre-Education, Advanced Standing and concentration/content area courses
- Overall cumulative GPA of 2.50 or better
- Cumulative GPA of 2.75 or better in all education courses
- Meet all other program requirements (e.g., modern language and residency requirements)
- Meet designated program standards
- Pass the required Illinois licensure content area test(s)

Clinical Requirements:

- Completion of all required field experiences
- Three satisfactory evaluations in field experiences
- Three satisfactory faculty recommendations
- Attendance at mandatory meeting for student teaching
- Application for student teaching, resume, transcripts, and writing sample (check deadlines)
- Review and approval by Student Teaching Committee of the College of Education

Student Teaching Timeline and Deadlines:

- Attend a Mandatory Meeting approximately 1 year prior to expected quarter of student teaching.
- Submit application for student teaching after attending Mandatory Meeting, approximately 1 year prior to student teaching.
- Academic requirements are due one quarter before expected quarter of student teaching.
- Clinical requirements are completed as course requirements. Field experience hours are entered by the student as coursework is completed.

Online Faculty Evaluations are entered by the instructor of relevant courses. All data must be entered in the Field Experience Documentation System (FEDS) due one month prior to student teaching.

Individual childcare agencies and public and private school districts may have additional requirements (application, training, background check, etc.).

Degree Conferral and Graduation

The awarding of a degree is not automatic. You must submit an application to be considered for the degree. DePaul awards and posts degrees at the end of each regular academic term (autumn, winter, spring, summer).

It is your responsibility to initiate the degree conferral application process by submitting an online application. Submitting an application means you intend to finish your degree requirements by the end of the term for which you have applied.

Undergraduate students must be approved for student teaching and complete student teaching and capstone to be cleared for the degree. Student must submit graduation application for the quarter that matches the quarter you are student teaching.

After you submit the application, you cannot register for any term after the one selected in the application.

To apply for degree conferral, log on to Campus Connection. Select STUDENT CENTER, then MY ACADEMICS. On screen instructions will take you through the application process.

Provided that all requirements and financial obligations are met, degrees are posted 30 days after the official end of the term. Official dates are listed on the Academic Calendar.

DePaul holds one commencement ceremony each year in June. If you intend to participate, you must first apply for degree conferral for the current academic year and then submit a cap and gown order. Honors announced at the ceremony for undergraduates are based on winter quarter GPAs because a final GPA is not available at the time of the ceremony.

Additional information about degree conferral and graduation can be found on the College of Education website at: http://education.depaul.edu/.

Licensure

Requirements for licensure include completion of full bachelor's degree program, all licensure tests (including OPI for world language majors), and awarding of bachelor's degree. A bachelor's degree is required to qualify for licensure and must be awarded before applying for the license.
Individuals must submit an application directly to the Illinois State Board of Education after completion of requirements and after DePaul has submitted notification to ISBE. Application requirements include application form, application fee, official transcripts, and registration fee.

All individuals must meet ISBE requirements in place at the time of application for the license. Requirements are subject to change per the discretion of ISBE. All coursework and requirements pertaining to licensure requirements must be completed before DePaul University can recommend an individual for the license.

Individuals seeking additional endorsements after applying for the licensure must contact ISBE directly for an evaluation request.

All coursework and requirements must be completed before DePaul University can recommend an individual for the license.

Liberal Studies Requirements

Honors program requirements can be found in the individual Colleges & Schools section of the University Catalog. Select Academics, followed by Undergraduate, then Honors Program Alternative.

Learning Domains

Arts and Literature (AL)

- 3 Courses Required
Philosophical Inquiry (PI)

- 2 Courses Required
  - LSE 380 PHILOSOPHICAL ISSUES IN EDUCATION AND CULTURE
  - 1 Additional Course
    (Note: PHL 100 recommended)

Scientific Inquiry (SI)

- 2 Courses Required:
  - 1 CHE/ENV/GEO/PHY
  - 1 SWK Course

Social, Cultural, and Behavioral Inquiry (SCBI)

- 2 Courses Required
  - PSC 120 THE AMERICAN POLITICAL SYSTEM
  - 1 Additional Course

Religious Dimensions (RD)

- 2 Courses Required

Understanding the Past (UP)

- 2 Courses Required
  (Note: One must be US History)

* Students must earn a C- or better in this course.

Notes

Specified required courses within Liberal Studies may have grade minimums (e.g. C- or better). Please consult your advisor or your college and major requirements.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

Major Requirements

Course Requirements

Biology Foundations: 8 quarter hours required

- BIO 201 HUMAN ANATOMY
- BIO 202 HUMAN PHYSIOLOGY

Pre-Education Core: 8 quarter hours required, grade of C or better required

- SCU 207 SOCIAL AND HISTORICAL ISSUES IN EDUCATION
- SCU 336 ADOLESCENT AND ADULT GROWTH AND DEVELOPMENT
Pre-Education Activity Core: 6 quarter hours required, grade of C or better required

- PE 121 SWIMMING (2 quarter hours)
- PE 151 GYMNASTICS (2 quarter hours)
- PE 213 FOLK-SOCIAL DANCE (2 quarter hours)

Pre-Education Activity Electives: 8 quarter hours required, grade of C or better required

Choose four of the following:

- PE 181 FLAG FOOTBALL (2 quarter hours)
- PE 182 VOLLEYBALL (2 quarter hours)
- PE 183 SOCCER (2 quarter hours)
- PE 185 SOFTBALL (2 quarter hours)
- PE 186 TRACK AND FIELD (2 quarter hours)
- PE 187 BASKETBALL (2 quarter hours)
- PE 276 TENNIS (2 quarter hours)
- PE 277 GOLF (2 quarter hours)

Physical Education Core: 18 quarter hours required, grade of C or better required

- PE 311 MOTOR DEVELOPMENT THROUGHOUT THE LIFE SPAN
- PE 206 PERSONAL AND COMMUNITY HEALTH
- PE 302 FIRST AID: RESPONDING TO EMERGENCIES (2 quarter hours)
- PE 303 ATHLETIC INJURIES
- PE 341 HISTORICAL AND PHILOSOPHICAL FOUNDATIONS OF PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Advanced Standing Education Courses: 36 quarter hours required, grade of C or better required

- PE 317 PHYSICAL EDUCATION AND CLASSROOM MANAGEMENT IN THE ELEMENTARY SCHOOL
- PE 325 LANGUAGE AND LITERACY IN THE PHYSICAL EDUCATION SETTING
- PE 372 METHODS AND MATERIALS FOR PHYSICAL EDUCATION CURRICULUM/INSTRUCTION-SECONDARY SCHL
- PE 346 ORGANIZATION/ADMINISTRATION OF PHYSICAL EDUCATION, SPORTS & FITNESS PROGRAMS
- PE 351 KINESIOLOGY
- PE 352 PHYSIOLOGY OF EXERCISE
- PE 360 EDUCATIONAL PSYCHOLOGY AND MEASUREMENT OF LEARNING
- PE 374 ADAPTED PHYSICAL EDUCATION
- PE 390 PSYCHO-SOCIAL ASPECTS OF EXERCISE AND SPORT

Open Electives: 18 quarter hours are required

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours. The following cannot be used to fulfill an open elective: WRD 98, MAT 94, and MAT 95.

Student Teaching: 12 quarter hours required, grade of B- or better required

Registration in student teaching requires completion of all requirements and procedures above. EDU 95 indicates to the Illinois State Board of Education that all field experience hours are complete. All students also take PE 387 during the spring of the senior year (listed in the Liberal Studies section).

- PE 378 PHYSICAL EDUCATION STUDENT TEACHING IN ELEMENTARY EDUCATION (6 quarter hours)
- PE 379 PHYSICAL EDUCATION STUDENT TEACHING IN SECONDARY EDUCATION (6 quarter hours)
- EDU 95 CLINICAL EXPERIENCE WITH CHILDREN AND YOUTH (non-credit, non-tuition, PA grade required)

Licensure Tests

All individuals licensed by the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) are required to complete licensure tests specific to their teaching license. Physical Education majors must complete the following tests:

- Test of Academic Proficiency (TAP) (test #400) - assesses knowledge of reading comprehension, language arts, writing, and math. Test is required to qualify for Advanced Standing. *Check with your advisor about qualifying for a waiver with acceptable ACT or SAT test scores.
- Physical Education Content Area Test (test #144) – assesses knowledge of health-related physical fitness, movement and skill acquisition, the role of physical education in promoting development, and the physical education program in schools. Test is required before Student Teaching (deadlines apply).
- EdTPA - assessment conducted during the student teaching experience including video clips of instruction, lesson plans, student work samples, analysis of student learning and reflective commentaries. Students will submit an electronic portfolio to an outside agency for independent evaluation and a fee will be imposed by that agency as part of the assessment.

Field Experiences

Each student seeking licensure from the College of Education / Professional Education Unit must complete supervised field experiences in appropriate settings in conjunction with education courses. The field experiences must include a variety of grade levels, multicultural experiences, and a minimum of 10 hours in special education settings. All field experiences must be completed prior to final approval for student teaching. Field experience hours should be entered by the student into the FEDS system when completing courses with field experience requirements. For details on requirements, expectations, documentation, & courses in your program that require hours, visit the College of Education website.

Physical Education (Minor)

The Physical Education minor is designed for students interested in adding teaching skills in physical education to their major course of study.

Course Requirements

Theory

- PE 302 FIRST AID: RESPONDING TO EMERGENCIES
- PE 317 PHYSICAL EDUCATION AND CLASSROOM MANAGEMENT IN THE ELEMENTARY SCHOOL
- PE 341 HISTORICAL AND PHILOSOPHICAL FOUNDATIONS OF PHYSICAL EDUCATION
- PE 346 ORGANIZATION/ADMINISTRATION OF PHYSICAL EDUCATION, SPORTS & FITNESS PROGRAMS

Activity

- PE 311 MOTOR DEVELOPMENT THROUGHOUT THE LIFE SPAN
- PE 121 SWIMMING
- PE 151 GYMNASTICS
- Two courses from the following list:
  - PE 181 FLAG FOOTBALL
  - PE 182 VOLLEYBALL
  - PE 183 SOCCER
  - PE 185 SOFTBALL
  - PE 186 TRACK AND FIELD
  - PE 187 BASKETBALL

Physics (BS)

The Department of Physics offers courses and concentrations designed to teach students about the fundamental processes that govern our universe. Students interested in majoring in physics can choose from several concentrations.

The Standard Physics concentration provides a curriculum that highlights the core areas of theoretical and experimental physics. The Computational Physics concentration gives a curriculum that emphasizes the use of computer simulations as a tool to visualize and understand natural phenomena. For students who wish to apply a physics degree to a career outside of physics, the department offers a concentration entitled Interdisciplinary Physics. This concentration combines a major in physics with a minor in a second field of the student's choice with their advisor's consent.

In each concentration, student participation in faculty research is an important component of the program at all levels. This experience prepares students for independent work in industry or graduate study in physics or in applied sciences such as optics, photonics, scientific computing, engineering, or computer science. Participation in research can be pursued either through independent study during the academic year or full-time during the summer quarter.

For students interested in engineering, the department offers a concentration in Engineering Physics. Through a joint program with Illinois Institute of Technology (IIT), students can complete a five-year dual-degree program while remaining full-time DePaul students. This five-year... year program enables students to earn a BS degree in Physics from DePaul and a BS in Engineering from IIT in Mechanical, Aerospace, Electrical/Computer Engineering. Students interested in obtaining a BS in Physics with the Engineering Physics concentration must be accepted into one of these programs at IIT as part of the DePaul-IIT Joint Engineering Program.

Additionally, students interested in engineering, but are not interested in the joint dual-degree program, will have the scientific basis to complete an engineering program at another institution after the first two years of the physics major curriculum at DePaul.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Develop simple mathematical models to describe collected data or observations.
  - Frame arguments to support or discredit the hypothesized model, given a pairing of data set and hypothetical model.
- Apply general principles, such as conservation of energy and momentum, to complex systems that require the use of more than one branch of physics.
- Give oral presentations of problem solutions or research projects that combine formal mathematical material with computer generated graphics and verbal explanations in a manner that makes the topic accessible to their peers.
- Write lab reports that effectively integrate text, data analysis, and graphics into a document that adequately explains the procedures and supports the stated conclusions.
- Chart out and successfully execute the solution to complex problems that require a multi-step process to solve.
- Choose and utilize appropriate formal mathematical techniques in solving problems in physics.
  - Guess appropriate trial solutions when solving initial value problems
  - Effectively use the separation of variables technique when solving boundary value problems.
- Use software packages such as Matlab or Mathematica to solve and visualize more advanced problems in physics. Specifically, they should be able to use two and three-dimensional graphics routines, produce simple animations, and use basic numerical algorithms to solve ordinary differential equations or estimate definite integrals.
- Execute basic laboratory techniques and estimate the precision of the resulting measurements using the appropriate data analysis techniques.
  - Measure voltages and currents in a circuit by choosing the appropriate measurement instrument, connections to the circuit, and instrument settings.
  - Fit measured data to an appropriate theoretical model, and quantitatively characterize the errors in the data points and goodness of fit to the model.
- Differentiate between science and pseudo-science and frame supporting arguments for their conclusions about a particular example.
  - The supporting arguments should include text, analysis, and graphics as appropriate.
- Produce written or oral critiques of articles, films, or political debates related to issues where science impacts society.
  - Identify the viewpoint of the writer or speaker and discuss to what extent this viewpoint may limit the range of information presented by the writer or speaker.
- Defend a particular viewpoint or provide an accessible summary of existing viewpoints for the general public of scientific issues that have environmental, social, or ethical implications.
- Master key laboratory techniques utilized in their projects.
- Master key mathematical and numerical techniques utilized in their projects.
- Work independently on a research problem.
- Develop experimental techniques and numerical algorithms for their projects with limited guidance.
  - Troubleshoot these algorithms when problems arise.
- Produce a written thesis that effectively integrates formal mathematical analysis, graphics, and text into a document that is accessible to their peers.
  - The document should introduce the topic, set the context, and explain the significance of the work as well as describe the particulars of the project.
- Give an oral presentation that explains and summarizes the major aspects of their research project to an audience of peers. The presentation should make effective use of computer graphics, text, and verbal explanations and be well organized.
College Core Requirements

Modern Language Requirements

Students who intend to graduate with the Bachelor of Arts (BA) degree will be required to demonstrate competence in a modern language equivalent to the proficiency attained from one year of college-level language study. Such competence may be demonstrated in one of several ways:

- completing the last course in the fourth-year high school sequence of any language
- completing the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language
- completing a college course beyond the first-year level in any language
- achieving a satisfactory score on any of the Modern Language placement examinations administered at DePaul
- achieving a satisfactory rating in a proficiency examination accepted by DePaul
- achieving a score of 3 or higher on the Advance Placement (AP) test for any language
- achieving a score of 5 or higher in the Language B assessment from a Standard or Higher Level International Baccalaureate (IB) program
- achieving a satisfactory score on the CLEP examination

For further information regarding satisfactory scores and possible credit from the DePaul placement, AP, CLEP, or IB examinations, please contact Student Records.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College of Science and Health will abide by the College of Science and Health Modern Language Requirement in place on the effective date of the ICT.

BA students who meet College requirements and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" of the Liberal Studies Program. While Bachelor of Science (BS) students are not required to demonstrate competency in a modern language, the "Modern Language Option" is available to them for language study at any level.

Major Declaration Requirements

All students in the College are required to declare a major field prior to beginning their junior year. After researching College programs, the student should declare a major field by visiting Campus Connection and using the Declarations and Inter-College Transfer tool. The student will then be assigned a faculty advisor or staff advisor in the department or program and should make an appointment to see that advisor at his or her earliest convenience.

To change major fields, or to declare a minor or concentration, the student must use the Declarations and Inter-College Transfer tool described above. However, for the purpose of exploring the possibility of changing a major field, the student should consult an academic advisor in the College or an academic advisor in the Office for Academic Advising Support.

Notes

Students with a primary major in Physics are required to complete the Capstone offered by the Physics department. Students double majoring or pursuing dual degrees with the primary major or primary degree in Physics are required to complete the Capstone offered by the Physics department. Physics students in the University Honors Program shall take the University Honors Capstone. They are not expected to take both the Honors Capstone and the primary major or primary degree Capstone.

Courses offered in the student’s primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student’s major and is cross-listed with a course within the student’s major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Sequencing of Coursework

Students interested in majoring in physics, applied computational physics, or pre-engineering should enroll in PHY 170 UNIVERSITY PHYSICS I and MAT 160 CALCULUS FOR MATHEMATICS AND SCIENCE MAJORS I in the autumn quarter of their first year, provided they are adequately prepared in mathematics.

The sequences of PHY 170, PHY 171, and PHY 172 and MAT 160, MAT 161, and MAT 162 are prerequisites to PHY 270, PHY 300 and PHY 301, and PHY 370, which should be taken in the sophomore year together with MAT 260 and MAT 261.

It is recommended that students interested in the standard concentration or pre-engineering also take the chemistry sequence (CHE 130 GENERAL CHEMISTRY I, or CHE 120 GENERAL CHEMISTRY I and CHE 131 GENERAL CHEMISTRY I LABORATORY and CHE 132 GENERAL CHEMISTRY II or CHE 122 GENERAL CHEMISTRY II and CHE 133 GENERAL CHEMISTRY LABORATORY II, CHE 134 GENERAL CHEMISTRY III and CHE 135 GENERAL CHEMISTRY LABORATORY III) their first year. Because of the predominance of physics, mathematics, and chemistry sequences in the freshman and sophomore years, it is crucial that Physics and Pre-Engineering majors be advised by Physics faculty upon enrollment at DePaul.

Concentration Requirements

Students must also complete the requirements from one of the following concentrations: Standard, Computational, Engineering, or Interdisciplinary Physics. Students are limited to declaring only one concentration.
Concentration Requirements

Concentrations, tracks and specializations provide focus to the major. In addition to any college core requirements, liberal studies requirements and major requirements, students are required to choose one of the following:

- Standard
- Computational Physics
- Engineering Physics
- Interdisciplinary Physics

Computational Physics Concentration

- MAT 261 MULTIVARIABLE CALCULUS II
- One of the following two course sequences:
  - Programming in Java I–II Sequence
    - CSC 211 PROGRAMMING IN JAVA I
    - CSC 212 PROGRAMMING IN JAVA II
  - Programming in Python I-II Sequence
    - CSC 241 INTRODUCTION TO COMPUTER SCIENCE I
    - CSC 242 INTRODUCTION TO COMPUTER SCIENCE II
- Three 300-level CDM courses as approved by departmental faculty advisor

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Engineering Physics Concentration

DePaul University offers a joint program with Illinois Institute of Technology (IIT) in physics and engineering. This program allows students to enroll in courses at IIT while remaining full-time DePaul students. Students will receive a BS degree in Physics from DePaul University and a BS degree in Mechanical, Aerospace, Electrical, or Computer Engineering from IIT upon completion of the five year program. *

Students interested in Engineering Physics or the joint program should promptly consult with a Physics Department advisor for information about scheduling, requirements, and admission to the joint program.

Course Requirements

- PHY 370 ELECTRONICS (required for Mechanical/Aerospace) or PHY 340 THERMAL PHYSICS (required for Electrical/Computer)
- One of the following two course sequences (Electrical Engineering students should take PHY 320 and PHY 321):
  - Electromagnetism Sequence
    - PHY 320 ELECTRICITY AND MAGNETISM I
    - PHY 321 ELECTRICITY AND MAGNETISM II
  - Quantum Mechanics Sequence
    - PHY 360 QUANTUM MECHANICS I
    - PHY 361 QUANTUM MECHANICS II
- Two additional physics courses at the 300 or 400 level as approved by advisor
Mathematics

- MAT 261 MULTIVARIABLE CALCULUS II

Computer Science

- CSC 241 INTRODUCTION TO COMPUTER SCIENCE
- Electrical/Computer students must also take CSC 242 INTRODUCTION TO COMPUTER SCIENCE II

Chemistry

- CHE 130 GENERAL CHEMISTRY I /CHE 131 GENERAL CHEMISTRY I LABORATORY
- CHE 132 GENERAL CHEMISTRY II /CHE 133 GENERAL CHEMISTRY LABORATORY II

Engineering

- Approved twenty quarter hours at 300/400 level from the Mechanical, Aerospace, Electrical/Computer Engineering program at Illinois Institute of Technology (IIT). Students interested in obtaining a BS in Physics with the Engineering Physics concentration must be accepted into one of these programs at IIT as part of the DePaul-IIT Joint Engineering Program. Note that, in addition to the engineering courses mentioned above, students must take at least four courses at the 200-level and at least 10 additional 300-level and 400-level courses at IIT to earn their engineering degree. (The total number of courses will be determined by IIT). Please contact the Physics Department for details.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

*Courses taken at an external institution such as IIT are excluded from the university's employee tuition waiver benefit program.

Interdisciplinary Physics Concentration

Intended for students who seek to apply their scientific training in a career outside of physics, this concentration allows students to combine a core physics curriculum with a minor from another field. Possible minors include Journalism or Technical Writing for students pursuing a career in science writing, Economics for students interested in business, or Biological Sciences for students interested in biophysics.

Course Requirements

Physics

- Six physics courses, at least three at the 300 level, as approved by a departmental advisor.
- Six courses which constitute a minor in a different discipline, as approved by a departmental advisor.
- Courses from physics with mathematics common core may not be counted toward a math minor.

Open Electives

Open elective credit is also required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Standard Concentration

Course Requirements

- Four courses chosen from the following list:
  - PHY 310 MECHANICS I
  - PHY 311 MECHANICS II
  - PHY 320 ELECTRICITY AND MAGNETISM I
  - PHY 321 ELECTRICITY AND MAGNETISM II
  - PHY 360 QUANTUM MECHANICS I
  - PHY 361 QUANTUM MECHANICS II
  - PHY 370 ELECTRONICS
  - PHY 380 EXPERIMENTAL PHYSICS I or PHY 390 APPLIED COMPUTATIONAL PHYSICS LABORATORY

- Four additional Physics courses, at least two at the 300 level, as approved by a departmental advisor
- MAT 261 MULTIVARIABLE CALCULUS II
- A one year-long sequence of courses in the sciences, mathematics, or computer science, chosen from the following sequences:
  - Biology Sequence
    - BIO 191 GENERAL BIOLOGY I FOR SCIENCE MAJORS
    - BIO 192 GENERAL BIOLOGY II FOR SCIENCE MAJORS
    - BIO 193 GENERAL BIOLOGY III FOR SCIENCE MAJORS
  - Chemistry Sequence
    - CHE 130 GENERAL CHEMISTRY I /CHE 131 GENERAL CHEMISTRY I LABORATORY
    - CHE 132 GENERAL CHEMISTRY II /CHE 133 GENERAL CHEMISTRY LABORATORY II
    - CHE 134 GENERAL CHEMISTRY III /CHE 135 GENERAL CHEMISTRY LABORATORY III
  - Environmental Science Sequence
    - BIO 215 ENV 250 APPLIED ECOLOGY or BIO 215 ECOLOGY
    - ENV 216 EARTH SYSTEM SCIENCE
    - ENV 217 HUMAN IMPACTS ON THE ENVIRONMENT
  - Mathematics Sequence
    - Three 300-level sequenced courses as approved by departmental advisor
  - Computer Science Sequence
    - Any one year-long three-course sequence of CSC courses as approved by departmental faculty advisor

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

---

Combined Bachelor's/ Master's Degree

The combined Bachelor's/Master's degree programs allow students to complete 12 graduate credit hours while still undergraduates. These 12 graduate credit hours will count toward both the undergraduate and graduate degree programs.

Physics (BS)/Secondary Education Physics (MEd)

This combined degree program of the College of Science and Health and the College of Education was collaboratively developed. It is governed and taught by faculty from both of these units. A full description of the Program can be found on the College of Education website in the graduate course catalog.

Physics (Minor)

The Physics minor curriculum focuses on scientific investigation, laboratory experience and research opportunities to give you hands-on experience in the field of physics.

Course Requirements

- Complete one of the following two course sequences:
  - Sequence One
    - PHY 150 GENERAL PHYSICS I
    - PHY 151 GENERAL PHYSICS II
    - PHY 152 GENERAL PHYSICS III
  - Sequence Two
    - PHY 170 UNIVERSITY PHYSICS I
    - PHY 171 UNIVERSITY PHYSICS II
    - PHY 172 UNIVERSITY PHYSICS III
- Three additional physics courses

Students cannot earn a minor in the same academic program as their major.
Playwriting (BFA)

The Theatre School’s Bachelor of Fine Arts (BFA) degree in Playwriting focuses on helping students explore and identify their voice and unique process of working as a writer in a variety of circumstances. The four-year curriculum provides students with the primary tools of dramatic writing and the space and opportunity to use them through a variety of classroom and workshop production experiences.

| Liberal Studies Requirements | 52 hours |

Learning Outcomes

Core Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Identify and describe the historical and theoretical significance of a range of theatrical artists, works, and artistic approaches from antiquity to present.
- Synthesize and apply elements of their education and training to the preparation, rehearsal, and presentation of theatrical productions with discipline, respect, and maturity.
- Identify and explain their theatrical work in the context of the cultural and social impact of the arts.

Program Specific Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Create compelling dramatic texts that explore universal issues through detailed and specific characters and actions.
- Communicate their intentions to collaborators and be able to respond to and incorporate the responses of collaborators from all disciplines.
- Explain how their writing fits into contemporary and historical contexts.

Liberal Studies Requirements

Honors program requirements can be found in the individual Colleges & Schools section of the University Catalog. Select Academics, followed by Undergraduate, then Honors Program Alternative.

* Students must earn a C- or better in this course.

Notes

Specified required courses within Liberal Studies may have grade minimums (e.g. C- or better). Please consult your advisor or your college and major requirements.

Courses offered in the student’s primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student’s major and is cross-listed with a course within the student’s major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Political Science (BA)

Political Science is the study of the organization and behavior of people, groups, and institutions which make up our government and the larger political system. The program is designed to introduce students to questions, perspectives, and arguments about the political forces that shape their lives. As such, the program has value for Liberal Studies students as well as for those who may choose the discipline as a major field of study. Students find the substance and the methods of the discipline useful in the legal, business, civic, communications, governmental, and academic professions, as well as any endeavors that draw them into public service.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Define and discuss core concepts within the field of political science, including but not limited to: power, democracy, representation, authoritarianism, freedom and equality.
  - Describe the key features of the American political system.
  - Compare American institutions to other forms of government found in different countries and regions of the world.
- Analyze a given political issue from a multiplicity of perspectives.
  - Identify, analyze, evaluate, and draw upon a variety of theoretical perspectives to explain particular political phenomenon.
  - Collect, organize, and apply various forms of information to assess statements or hypotheses about political questions.
- Compose clear and well-organized explanations of political phenomenon and support these explanations with evidence.
- Explain and evaluate a sophisticated conception of justice.
  - Identify and describe situations in which justice concerns arise, and take an informed position about the meaning or demands of justice.
  - Recognize and describe the importance of values to political attitudes and behavior, and be able to identify and explain their own values.
- Identify and explain:
  - The key elements of the inter-state system.
  - The nature of globalization.
  - The dynamics of a particular country or region of the world.

College Core Requirements

Study in the Major Field

The student’s course of study in the College consists of three parts: Liberal Studies, the major field, and electives. Together these three parts contribute to the liberal education of the student which is the common purpose of all study in the College. By “liberal education” the College understands not only a deep and thorough knowledge of a particular area of study but a knowledge of the diverse areas of study represented by criticism, history, the arts, the behavioral and social sciences, philosophy, religious studies, the natural science, and mathematics.

The major field program generally is built upon a set of core courses and a specialized “concentration.” The number of courses required for a major varies by department. Most students go beyond the minimum requirements, electing additional courses which both broaden and deepen their understanding of their chosen discipline.

Because no academic major program is built in isolation, students are required to pursue a number of electives of the student’s choice. The inherent flexibility of this curriculum demands that the student consult an academic advisor at each stage in the total program and at least once prior to each registration. Students will be prompted to visit the College Office for their official graduation check early in their senior year.

Declaration of Major, Minor and Concentration

All students in the College are required to declare a major field prior to beginning their junior year. The student will then be assigned a faculty advisor in the major field department or program and should make an appointment to see that advisor at his or her earliest convenience.

Students must declare or change majors, minors, and concentrations, via Campus Connection. However, for the purpose of exploring the possibility of changing a major field, the student should consult an academic advisor in the Office for Academic Advising Support.

The Modern Language Requirement (MLR)

All students will be required to demonstrate competence in a modern language (i.e., a language other than English) equivalent to the proficiency attained from one year of college-level language study. This Modern Language Requirement (MLR) may be demonstrated by:

- placing into 104 or above on the DePaul language placement exam
- completing the last course or earning AP/IB credit for the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language (e.g. 103 for DePaul language classes)
- completing a college course or earning AP/IB credit for a college course beyond the first-year level in any language (e.g. 104 or above for DePaul language classes)
- completing the final course of a four-year sequence of the same modern language in high school*
- completing a proctored exam by BYU and passing the exam (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)
- completing a proctored Written Proficiency Test (WPT) by Language Testing International (LTI) and achieving a score of Beginner High or above (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)

* Students are strongly encouraged to take the DePaul language placement exam even if they have met the MLR via study of a language in high school. This will ensure continuation of language study at the proper level.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College will abide by this MLR in place on the effective date of the ICT, regardless of when they first matriculated at DePaul.

Students who have met the MLR and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the ”Modern Language Option” (MLO) of the Liberal Studies Program (see “Special Programs”).

External Credit and Residency

A student who has been admitted to the College begins residency within the college as of the first day of classes of the term in which the student is registered. Students in residence, whether attending on a full-time or part-time basis, may not take courses away from DePaul University without the written permission of the college. Permission must be obtained in advance of registration to avoid loss of credit or residency in the college; see the LAS website for more information.

Notes

A student whose only major is Political Science is required to complete the Capstone offered by the Political Science Department. A student who is double majoring (or pursuing dual degrees) with the primary major (or primary degree) in Political Science may substitute the Capstone of the secondary major or degree. A Political Science major in the University Honors Program shall take only the University Honors Capstone, not both the Honors Capstone and the Political Science Capstone.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

Major Requirements

Political Science majors must complete the requirements for one of the following four concentrations: Standard, American Politics, International Politics, or Law and Theory.

Open Electives

Open elective credits are required in order to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours. These courses are to be selected in consultation with the student's faculty adviser and may include courses in fields such as economics, history, English, sociology, etc. Students may choose to use their open electives as part of a minor or to complete a double major.

Concentration Requirements

Concentrations, tracks and specializations provide focus to the major. In addition to any college core requirements, liberal studies requirements and major requirements, students are required to choose one of the following:

- American Politics
- International Politics
- Law and Theory
- Standard

American Politics Concentration

A concentration in American Politics focuses on American political institutions and behavior.

Course Requirements

Core courses: 8 quarter hours

- PSC 120 THE AMERICAN POLITICAL SYSTEM
- One of the following courses:
Intermediate Courses: 20 quarter hours

- Three 200-level courses from the following list:
  - PSC 211 POLITICAL PSYCHOLOGY
  - PSC 213 POLITICAL SOCIALIZATION
  - PSC 214 POLITICS AND MULTICULTURALISM
  - PSC 216 AMERICAN POLITICAL CULTURE
  - PSC 217 WOMEN AND POLITICS

  - Comparative Politics (PSC 350 through 359)
  - Public Law (PSC 360 through 369)
  - Civic Engagement (PSC 380 through 389)

PSC electives: 12 quarter hours

- Three additional PSC courses at the 200 or 300 level

Open Electives

Open elective credits are required in order to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours. These courses are to be selected in consultation with the student's faculty adviser and may include courses in fields such as economics, history, English, sociology, etc. Students may choose to use their open electives as part of a minor or to complete a double major.
International Politics Concentration

The concentration in international politics is designed to provide students with an opportunity to focus on comparative and international politics.

Course Requirements

Core courses: 8 quarter hours

- Two courses from the following list:
  - PSC 120 THE AMERICAN POLITICAL SYSTEM
  - PSC 140 INTRODUCTION TO INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS
  - PSC 150 INTRODUCTION TO COMPARATIVE POLITICS

3+3 Program (BA/JD)

In the 3 + 3 BA/JD Program, high-achieving first-year undergraduate students are admitted simultaneously to the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences and the College of Law. Students complete their first three years in the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences and their final three years in the College of Law. Students receive the Bachelor of Arts degree after successful completion of their first year of law school. Throughout the program, BA/JD students meet regularly with advisors in both Colleges and have access to a variety of resources to ensure their success.

Key Program Features

- Students earn a law degree (Juris Doctor) in a total of six years (three years undergraduate and three years in law school).
- Students save one year’s worth of tuition, reducing their overall debt load.
- Students benefit from new curricular offerings and collaborative activities created to prepare them for law school.
- Students receive early (conditional) admission to the College of Law.
- Credits earned in the first year of law school apply toward the BA degree.
- Students may opt out of the College of Law segment of the program and continue in the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences during their fourth year.
- If students withdraw after the first semester in the College of Law, they return to the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences for the winter quarter.

Program Requirements

In order to maintain status in the program, students must demonstrate satisfactory progress toward completing their undergraduate coursework in three years, including meeting the Modern Language Requirement and necessary Liberal Studies Program or Honors Program requirements. Students must achieve a cumulative GPA of 3.35 by the end of their second year of study and maintain a cumulative GPA of 3.35 in their third and final year of undergraduate study.

In addition, students must complete a series of two-credit courses, taught by College of Law faculty, prior to matriculation in the College of Law. They are designed to help students understand many aspects of the legal system as well as to complement their undergraduate course of study. The courses are as follows:

- PRELAW 150 THE PRACTICE OF LAW
- PRELAW 151 RECENT CONTROVERSIES IN LAW
- PRELAW 152 THINKING ABOUT THE LAW

In order to matriculate in the College of Law, students will be required to register with the Law School Admissions Council, submit the College of Law’s online application, comply with all character and fitness requirements for admission, and submit an LSAT score. The activities should be completed no later than the end of the Autumn Quarter of the participant’s third undergraduate year. The LSAT score will only be used for consideration of merit scholarships; it will not be a factor in the admission of the participant to the program.

Combined Bachelor's/ Master's Degree

Political science students may select from a wide array of university-wide bachelor's/master's combined degree programs. These programs allow qualified students to start graduate study in their senior year and count three courses toward both degrees.

Please refer to a program’s graduate admission guidelines for eligibility and admission criteria. Combined degree options in the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences include:

- Critical Ethnic Studies, MA
- International Public Service, MS
- International Studies, MA
- Nonprofit Management, MNM
- Public Administration, MPA
- Public Health, MPH
- Public Policy, MPP
- Sociology, MA
- Sustainable Urban Development, MA
- Writing, Rhetoric, and Discourse, MA
The TEACH Program combines a Liberal Arts and Social Sciences (LAS) undergraduate Social Science major (Anthropology, Economics, Geography, History, Political Science, or Sociology) or a Science and Health (Psychology) major with a graduate level College of Education (COE) master's in Education Program. Students graduate with a BA or BS in their disciplinary major and a MEd in Education with State of Illinois Secondary Social Science licensure.

Students may apply to the Program during the spring of their junior year. They must enroll in the Junior Year Experiential Learning course, TCH 320, and meet other application criteria; these include completion of at least 16 quarter credit hours at DePaul and a 3.0 GPA. During their senior year, students are required to complete a Program capstone course, TCH 390, and three 400-level courses that count toward both their undergraduate and graduate degrees:

- TCH 401 TEACHING AS A PROFESSION IN SECONDARY SCHOOL
- TCH 412 THE NATURE OF HISTORY AND THE SOCIAL SCIENCES
- TCH 422 INQUIRY & APPLICATION IN DEVELOPING SECONDARY HISTORY AND SOCIAL SCIENCES PEDAGOGY

Social Science Content Area (grades of C or better required for licensure):
The following Social Science content area requirements are required. These can be taken as part of the major, liberal studies or open elective requirements:

- HST 298 INTRODUCTION TO HISTORICAL SOURCES AND METHODS
- HST 299 CRAFT OF HISTORY
- 3 United States History courses
- 2 Non-United States History courses
- 6 from the political science major
- Additional licensure requirements: (one course in each area required)
  - Geography (GEO 101 recommended)
  - Economics (ECO 101 recommended)
  - Psychology (PSY 105 recommended)
  - Sociology (SOC 101 recommended)
  - Anthropology (ANT 102 recommended)

The master's year comprises teacher-preparation coursework that culminates with student teaching during Spring quarter. Upon graduation and the fulfilling of State of Illinois licensure requirements (which may require some additional coursework in the student's major and related fields), students are eligible to be licensed to teach Social Sciences at the 6th-12th grade levels.

A full description of the program can be found on the College of Education website in the graduate course catalog. Students interested in the Program should consult with the designated TEACH Program advisor in their home department.

Professional Writing (Minor)

The Minor in Professional Writing, offered by the Department of Writing, Rhetoric, & Discourse (WRD), is available to any undergraduate student in the university. The department understands the term professional writing to refer broadly to the kinds of literate activities taken up by well-educated individuals whose work is creative, intellectually challenging, and ethically grounded. Core courses in the program are designed to prepare students as effective writers for any context in which writing is a key competency. Because nearly all professional writing today takes place in digital environments, digital writing—the combination of alphabetic text with other modes, such as sound and image—is central to the program core and an element of many electives.

The breadth of choices within the Minor in Professional Writing makes it an excellent complement to any major and a fine choice for students pursuing graduate school in any discipline, including law. The Professional Writing Minor allows a wide range of choices: you may take courses in which your own writing—in various genres and contexts—is the focus, or you may study theories of language, rhetoric (how to make effective choices as writers), and discourse (the way writing structures human activity) to develop an understanding of the role of the individual writer within communities of writers.

The program comprises two required core courses and sixteen hours of electives, which may be chosen from among all of the department's undergraduate offerings numbered 205 and 207-399.

Course Requirements

- WRD 201 DIGITAL WRITING
- WRD 206 PROFESSIONAL WRITING
- Sixteen additional credit hours from WRD courses numbered 203-205 and 207-399

Students majoring in Writing, Rhetoric and Discourse (BA) are restricted from earning this minor.

Professional Writing Minor Online
The required courses in the Professional Writing minor and many WRD electives are also offered online. Interested students may therefore complete the Professional Writing minor entirely online.

Psychology (BA)

The goal of the Department of Psychology is to provide students with an understanding of the methods and content of scientific and applied psychology.

The primary means of attaining our mission is classroom instruction. We offer courses across a wide range of disciplines within psychology; some of our courses also include laboratories that focus on experimental and statistical work. Some of these courses are beginning to be offered as fully online and as hybrid courses (partially online and partially in the classroom). Further learning opportunities are made available through field work, the Honors Program, Experiential Learning, Independent Study, and Internships. Our Internship Program consists of supervised work placements for which students earn academic credit; potential sites include human service organizations as well as community and industrial settings.

Bachelor of Arts Psychology majors must select one of the six B.A. concentrations: Standard, Human Development, Human Services, Industrial/Organizational, Community, or Comprehensive Evening Program. Students are limited to only declaring one concentration.

There is an option to complete the BA in Psychology online, with no face-to-face classes on DePaul Campuses (see "Special Programs" for prerequisites). Students who qualify and wish to pursue the BA in Psychology online may complete either the Standard or Human Development concentrations.

After completing any one of the concentrations, a psychology major should be able to understand key concepts, principles, and overarching themes in psychology, read and understand behavioral science data, design and conduct rudimentary psychological research studies, and apply research findings to everyday situations. These skills are applicable to a wide variety of occupations and professions. Psychology as a major provides excellent opportunities for students planning to go to graduate or professional school. Psychology as a minor provides a flexible complement to other majors.

College Core Requirements

Modern Language Requirements

Students who intend to graduate with the Bachelor of Arts (BA) degree will be required to demonstrate competence in a modern language equivalent to the proficiency attained from one year of college-level language study. Such competence may be demonstrated in one of several ways:

- completing the last course in the fourth-year high school sequence of any language
- completing the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language
- completing a college course beyond the first-year level in any language
- achieving a satisfactory score on any of the Modern Language placement examinations administered at DePaul
- achieving a satisfactory rating in a proficiency examination accepted by DePaul
- achieving a score of 3 or higher on the Advance Placement (AP) test for any language
- achieving a score of 5 or higher in the Language B assessment from a Standard or Higher Level International Baccalaureate (IB) program
- achieving a satisfactory score on the CLEP examination

For further information regarding satisfactory scores and possible credit from the DePaul placement, AP, CLEP, or IB examinations, please contact Student Records.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College of Science and Health will abide by the College of Science and Health Modern Language Requirement in place on the effective date of the ICT.
BA students who meet College requirements and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" of the Liberal Studies Program. While Bachelor of Science (BS) students are not required to demonstrate competency in a modern language, the "Modern Language Option" is available to them for language study at any level.

Major Declaration Requirements

All students in the College are required to declare a major field prior to beginning their junior year. After researching College programs, the student should declare a major field by visiting Campus Connection and using the Declarations and Inter-College Transfer tool. The student will then be assigned a faculty advisor or staff advisor in the department or program and should make an appointment to see that advisor at his or her earliest convenience.

To change major fields, or to declare a minor or concentration, the student must use the Declarations and Inter-College Transfer tool described above. However, for the purpose of exploring the possibility of changing a major field, the student should consult an academic advisor in the College or an academic advisor in the Office for Academic Advising Support.

Liberal Studies Requirements

Honors program requirements can be found in the individual Colleges & Schools section of the University Catalog. Select Academics, followed by Undergraduate, then Honors Program Alternative.

First Year Program

Chicago Quarter

- LSP 110 DISCOVER CHICAGO
  or LSP 111 EXPLORE CHICAGO

Arts and Literature (AL)
- 3 Courses Required

Philosophical Inquiry (PI)
- 2 Courses Required

Scientific Inquiry (SI)
- 2 Courses Required
  [1 SWK Course or 1 Lab Course, and 1 Additional Course]

Social, Cultural, and Behavioral Inquiry (SCBI)
- 1 Course Required

Religious Dimensions (RD)
- 2 Courses Required

Understanding the Past (UP)
- 2 Courses Required
* Students must earn a C- or better in this course.

Notes

Students with a primary major in Psychology are required to complete the Capstone offered by the Psychology department. Students double majoring or pursuing dual degrees with the primary major or primary degree in Psychology are required to complete the Capstone offered by the Psychology department. Psychology students in the University Honors Program shall take the University Honors Capstone. They are not expected to take both the Honors Capstone and the primary major or primary degree Capstone.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Psychology BS Healthcare

The BS healthcare concentration requires a different set of Liberal Studies Program requirements. Please refer to the healthcare concentration requirements for details.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.
Major Requirements

The program consists of the common core plus eight additional courses in a concentration area. Bachelor of Arts students are required to take fourteen general electives which may be psychology and/or other department courses. Students may choose to complete a minor or double-major. Bachelor of Arts students must fulfill the Modern Language requirement.

Common Core

- PSY 105 INTRODUCTORY PSYCHOLOGY I
- PSY 106 INTRODUCTORY PSYCHOLOGY II
- PSY 240 STATISTICS I
- PSY 241 RESEARCH METHODS I
- PSY 242 RESEARCH METHODS II
- PSY 361 HISTORY AND SYSTEMS OF PSYCHOLOGY (Liberal Studies Program Capstone*)

*University Honors students are not required to complete the capstone in PSY, however it is recommended as a psychology elective for them.

Upon faculty approval psychology majors may register for the following psychology courses as psychology electives: PSY 390 INDEPENDENT RESEARCH IN PSYCHOLOGY, PSY 391 DEPARTMENT HONORS THESIS, PSY 396 HONORS IN PSYCHOLOGY, PSY 397 EXPERIENTIAL LEARNING/PSYCHOLOGY RESEARCH, PSY 398 TUTORING AND MENTORING IN PSYCHOLOGY, and PSY 399 INDEPENDENT STUDY.

PSY 105 and PSY 106 are not sequential, i.e., one is not a prerequisite for the other. They may be taken in either order.

For the research sequence, PSY 240 STATISTICS I must be taken first; PSY 241 and PSY 242 may be taken in either order. A special note: PSY 340 STATISTICS II, an elective course, may be taken immediately after the completion of PSY 240 STATISTICS I.

Concentration Requirements

Students must complete the requirements from one of the following concentrations: Standard; Human Development; Human Services; Industrial/Organizational; Community; or Comprehensive Evening Program. Students are limited to only declaring one concentration.

Concentration Requirements

Concentrations, tracks and specializations provide focus to the major. In addition to any college core requirements, liberal studies requirements and major requirements, students are required to choose one of the following:

- Community
- Comprehensive Evening Program
- Human Development
- Human Services
- Industrial/Organizational Psychology
- Standard

Community Concentration

Course Requirements

- PSY 354 COMMUNITY PSYCHOLOGY (take prior to PSY 356)
- PSY 356 PRINCIPLES OF FIELD RESEARCH AND ACTION (spring/junior year)
- PSY 359 FIELD WORK IN COMMUNITY RESEARCH AND ACTION (taken twice: autumn/senior year and winter/senior year)
- There are general areas that community psychology covers: social bases of behavior, social justice, diversity, human development, and public policy. We encourage you to keep these in mind when selecting the final four electives. Make sure to reach out to your advisor as soon as possible to help you plan your curriculum.
- Students interested in trauma studies are highly encouraged to take: PSY 372 PSYCHOLOGY OF DISASTER AND CRISIS INTERVENTION and PSY 378 PSYCHOLOGY OF Trauma as two of the four of their psychology electives.

Open Electives
Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Comprehensive Evening Program

Course Requirements

- Two courses from the following list:
  - PSY 355 GROUPS AND ORGANIZATIONS
  - PSY 380 INDUSTRIAL AND ORGANIZATIONAL PSYCHOLOGY
  - PSY 381 PERSONNEL PSYCHOLOGY
  - PSY 382 ORGANIZATIONAL BEHAVIOR
  - PSY 385 TRAINING AND DEVELOPMENT IN ORGANIZATIONS
- Two courses from the following list:
  - PSY 302 PERSONAL ADJUSTMENT AND MENTAL HEALTH
  - PSY 351 THEORIES OF PERSONALITY
  - PSY 353 ABNORMAL PSYCHOLOGY
- Two courses from the following list:
  - PSY 303 HUMAN DEVELOPMENT
  - PSY 347 SOCIAL PSYCHOLOGY
  - PSY 360 THEORIES OF LEARNING AND COGNITION
- Two electives from the remaining above courses

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Human Development Concentration

Course Requirements

- PSY 333 CHILD PSYCHOLOGY
- PSY 334 ADOLESCENT PSYCHOLOGY
- PSY 347 SOCIAL PSYCHOLOGY
- Five additional Psychology courses. Psychology courses must be numbered PSY 317 PSYCHOLOGY OF INTERPERSONAL RELATIONSHIP and above to count toward major field.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Human Services Concentration

Course Requirements

- PSY 333 CHILD PSYCHOLOGY
- PSY 347 SOCIAL PSYCHOLOGY
- PSY 353 ABNORMAL PSYCHOLOGY
- PSY 357 APPLIED PSYCHOLOGY I (winter quarter/junior year)
- PSY 358 APPLIED PSYCHOLOGY II (spring quarter/junior year)
- PSY 395 FIELD WORK/INTERNSHIP, taken three times in the student’s senior year

Open Electives
Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Industrial/ Organizational Psychology Concentration

Course Requirements

- PSY 380 INDUSTRIAL AND ORGANIZATIONAL PSYCHOLOGY
- Two courses from the following list:
  - PSY 355 GROUPS AND ORGANIZATIONS
  - PSY 381 PERSONNEL PSYCHOLOGY
  - PSY 382 ORGANIZATIONAL BEHAVIOR
  - PSY 385 TRAINING AND DEVELOPMENT IN ORGANIZATIONS
  - PSY 388 TOPICAL SEMINAR IN INDUSTRIAL - ORGANIZATIONAL PSYCHOLOGY
- PSY 343 INTRODUCTION TO PSYCHOLOGICAL MEASUREMENT
  or PSY 340 STATISTICS II
- Four additional Psychology courses. Psychology courses must be numbered PSY 317 PSYCHOLOGY OF INTERPERSONAL RELATIONSHIP and above to count toward major field.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Standard Concentration

Course Requirements

- One course from the following list:
  - PSY 340 STATISTICS II
  - PSY 342 RESEARCH METHODS III
  - PSY 343 INTRODUCTION TO PSYCHOLOGICAL MEASUREMENT
- PSY 347 SOCIAL PSYCHOLOGY
- PSY 351 THEORIES OF PERSONALITY
  or PSY 360 THEORIES OF LEARNING AND COGNITION
- PSY 377 PHYSIOLOGICAL PSYCHOLOGY
- Four additional Psychology courses. Psychology courses must be numbered PSY 317 and above to count toward major field.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Combined Bachelor's/ Master's Degree

The combined Bachelor's/Master's degree programs allow students to complete 12 graduate credit hours while still undergraduates. These 12 graduate credit hours will count toward both the undergraduate and graduate degree programs.

The Psychology (BA) offers several options:

- Psychology (BA) Industrial and Organizational concentration only/ Psychology (MS) Industrial and Organizational
- Psychology (BA)/ Communication and Media (MA) - contact College of Communication for more information.

Psychology (BA) Industrial and Organizational concentration/ Psychology (MS) Industrial and Organizational

This program was designed and approved by DePaul University in the late 1980's as a way to give qualified DePaul undergraduates the opportunity to earn both a BA and an MS degree in the field of Industrial and Organizational Psychology. Only students who are pursuing an undergraduate degree at DePaul are eligible to apply for this program. The program leads to a terminal MS degree, and should not be seen as an intermediate step towards a doctoral degree. Students who are interested in pursuing a PhD should speak to their advisor regarding the
The combined program requires completion of 39 four-credit courses (156 credit hours) by the end of the student's junior year. Note that this requirement is three courses higher than the typical 36 that a student would earn by taking four classes per quarter.

The undergraduate component of this program includes the following:

- All Liberal Studies or Honors Program requirements
- Five Psychology core courses:
  - PSY 105 INTRODUCTORY PSYCHOLOGY I
  - PSY 106 INTRODUCTORY PSYCHOLOGY II
  - PSY 240 STATISTICS I
  - PSY 241 RESEARCH METHODS I
  - PSY 242 RESEARCH METHODS II
- PSY 380 INDUSTRIAL AND ORGANIZATIONAL PSYCHOLOGY
- PSY 340 STATISTICS II
- or PSY 343 INTRODUCTION TO PSYCHOLOGICAL MEASUREMENT
- Three additional psychology elective courses. Students are strongly encouraged to choose these courses from the following:
  - PSY 347 SOCIAL PSYCHOLOGY
  - PSY 351 THEORIES OF PERSONALITY
  - PSY 360 THEORIES OF LEARNING AND COGNITION
  - PSY 340 STATISTICS II
- or PSY 343 INTRODUCTION TO PSYCHOLOGICAL MEASUREMENT (whichever course was not already taken)
- General elective courses to reach a total of 156 credits

Students should work with their I/O advisor or I/O Program Director beginning as early as possible, ideally no later than their sophomore year. Applications for the combined program are due by June 1 of their junior year, and they can be found on the CSH Office of Advising and Student Services website. At the time of application, the student should have completed the undergraduate requirements with a grade point average of 3.2 or higher; a strong GPA of at least 3.5 is preferred. Supplemental application forms can be obtained from the I/O Program Director, and they must be submitted to the I/O Program Director together with the student's Unofficial Transcript from DePaul, statement of goals, and General Graduate Record Examination (GRE) scores. Applications will be evaluated by DePaul's Office of Graduate Admission and the Department of Psychology's I/O Admissions Committee. Typically, applicants are informed of the admission decision by mid-June of the same year.

Students accepted into the graduate portion of the program take three courses per quarter during year four and an additional three courses per quarter during year five. The requirement of nine classes during year five cannot be reduced by taking additional classes during year four; and given the demands of graduate-level coursework, students are strongly discouraged from attempting to take more than three classes at a time. The nine courses taken during year four carry 36 credit hours; these 36 credit hours are added to the completed 156 credit hours to produce 192 credit hours, which meets the minimum requirement for conferral of the BA degree.

The MS degree requires an additional 36 credit hours of graduate coursework earned after conferral of the BA. The required 18 courses taken during years four and five include the following courses:

Statistics and Methodology

- PSY 410 ADVANCED STATISTICS I
- PSY 411 ADVANCED STATISTICS II
- Choose one of the following courses:
  - PSY 420 QUANTITATIVE RESEARCH DESIGN

Research

PSY 597 MASTER'S THESIS RESEARCH

Elective Courses

Six additional four-credit courses (24 total credit hours).

In addition to enrolling in four credit hours of PSY 597 Master's Thesis Research, students are required to complete a master's thesis to confer the MS degree. The thesis is a project that allows the student to focus on a particular area of interest within the I/O field. There are three options available for the MS thesis:

1. An empirical research project, involving the collection and analysis of data and the writing of the thesis paper in APA style.
2. A library research paper, where the student reviews work already done on a topic, and writes a paper describing and summarizing that work and making recommendations for theory, research or practice.
3. An applied thesis, based on work the student is doing at an internship site.

After choosing one of the above options, the student is required to form a thesis committee consisting of a DePaul I/O faculty member who will serve as the committee chair, and a DePaul Psychology faculty member who will serve as a reader; both faculty must hold doctoral degrees. The thesis committee must approve of the student's thesis proposal, which may also need to be approved by the Institutional Review Board before the student may begin work.

Students in the combined program are not required to have a minor area of graduate study. However, the areas of specialization listed for the MA/PhD program are also available to students in the combined program, should they choose to select one.

Students in this program may apply a maximum of twelve graduate credit hours as three courses in their senior year toward both the undergraduate and graduate psychology requirements. The required application for degree conferral for the MS is separate from the required application for degree conferral for the BA. Students must apply for undergraduate degree conferral in anticipation of completing their fourth year of study.

Psychology (BS)

The goal of the Department of Psychology is to provide students with an understanding of the methods and content of scientific and applied psychology.

The primary means of attaining our mission is classroom instruction. We offer courses across a wide range of disciplines within psychology; some of our courses also include laboratories that focus on experimental and statistical work. Some of these courses are beginning to be offered as fully online and as hybrid courses (partially online and partially in the classroom). Further learning opportunities are made available through field work, the Honors Program, Experiential Learning, Independent Study, and Internships. Our Internship Program consists of supervised work placements for which students earn academic credit; potential sites include human service organizations as well as community and industrial settings.

Bachelor of Science Psychology majors must select one of the three Bachelor of Science concentrations: General, Cognitive Neuroscience or Healthcare. Students are limited to only declaring one concentration.

After completing any of the concentrations, a psychology major should understand key concepts, principles, and overarching themes in psychology and be able to read and understand behavioral science data, design and conduct rudimentary psychological research studies, and apply research findings to everyday situations. These skills are applicable to a wide variety of occupations and professions. Psychology as a major provides excellent opportunities for students planning to go to graduate or professional school. Psychology as a minor provides a flexible complement to other majors.

DePaul University  Autumn 2018-2019  Page 512 of 2604
Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Describe key concepts, principles, themes, and applications across a variety of content domains in psychology.
- Use scientific reasoning and critical thinking to interpret psychological phenomena.
- Design, conduct, and interpret, basic psychological research, accounting for sociocultural factors (where relevant).
- Design, conduct, and interpret basic psychological research, accounting for biological and/or quantitative factors.
- Apply ethical standards to evaluate psychological science and practice.
- Write a paper applying a cogent scientific argument that includes presenting information using a scientific approach, discussing psychological concepts, explaining the ideas of others, and expressing their own ideas with clarity.

College Core Requirements

Modern Language Requirements

Students who intend to graduate with the Bachelor of Arts (BA) degree will be required to demonstrate competence in a modern language equivalent to the proficiency attained from one year of college-level language study. Such competence may be demonstrated in one of several ways:

- completing the last course in the fourth-year high school sequence of any language
- completing the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language
- completing a college course beyond the first-year level in any language
- achieving a satisfactory score on any of the Modern Language placement examinations administered at DePaul
- achieving a satisfactory rating in a proficiency examination accepted by DePaul
- achieving a score of 3 or higher on the Advance Placement (AP) test for any language
- achieving a score of 5 or higher in the Language B assessment from a Standard or Higher Level International Baccalaureate (IB) program
- achieving a satisfactory score on the CLEP examination

For further information regarding satisfactory scores and possible credit from the DePaul placement, AP, CLEP, or IB examinations, please contact Student Records.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College of Science and Health will abide by the College of Science and Health Modern Language Requirement in place on the effective date of the ICT.

BA students who meet College requirements and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" of the Liberal Studies Program. While Bachelor of Science (BS) students are not required to demonstrate competency in a modern language, the "Modern Language Option" is available to them for language study at any level.

Major Declaration Requirements

All students in the College are required to declare a major field prior to beginning their junior year. After researching College programs, the student should declare a major field by visiting Campus Connection and using the Declarations and Inter-College Transfer tool. The student will then be assigned a faculty advisor or staff advisor in the department or program and should make an appointment to see that advisor at his or her earliest convenience.

To change major fields, or to declare a minor or concentration, the student must use the Declarations and Inter-College Transfer tool described above. However, for the purpose of exploring the possibility of changing a major field, the student should consult an academic advisor in the College or an academic advisor in the Office for Academic Advising Support.

* Students must earn a C- or better in this course.

Notes

Students with a primary major in Psychology are required to complete the Capstone offered by the Psychology department. Students double majoring or pursuing dual degrees with the primary major or primary degree in Psychology are required to complete the Capstone offered by the Psychology department. Psychology students in the University Honors Program shall take the University Honors Capstone. They are not expected to take both the Honors Capstone and the primary major or primary degree Capstone.

Courses offered in the student’s primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student’s major and is cross-listed with a course within the student’s major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Psychology BS Healthcare

The BS healthcare concentration requires a different set of Liberal Studies Program requirements. Please refer to the healthcare concentration requirements for details.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

Major Requirements

Course Requirements

Common Core

- PSY 105 INTRODUCTORY PSYCHOLOGY I
- PSY 106 INTRODUCTORY PSYCHOLOGY II
- PSY 240 STATISTICS I
- PSY 241 RESEARCH METHODS I
- PSY 242 RESEARCH METHODS II
- PSY 361 HISTORY AND SYSTEMS OF PSYCHOLOGY (Liberal Studies Program Capstone*)

*University Honors students are not required to complete the capstone in PSY, however it is recommended as an open elective for them.

PSY 105 and PSY 106 are not sequential, i.e., one is not a prerequisite for the other. They may be taken in either order. For the research sequence, PSY 240 STATISTICS I must be taken first; PSY 241 RESEARCH METHODS I and PSY 242 RESEARCH METHODS II may be taken in either order. A special note: PSY 340 STATISTICS II, an elective course, may be taken immediately after the completion of PSY 240 STATISTICS I.

Concentration Requirements
Students must complete the requirements for one of the following three concentrations: General, Cognitive Neuroscience or Healthcare. Students are limited to only declaring one concentration.

Concentration Requirements

Concentrations, tracks and specializations provide focus to the major. In addition to any college core requirements, liberal studies requirements and major requirements, students are required to choose one of the following:

- General
- Cognitive Neuroscience
- Healthcare

Cognitive Neuroscience Concentration

Course Requirements

Psychology

- PSY 340 STATISTICS II (this course may be taken immediately after the completion of PSY 240 STATISTICS I)
- PSY 342 RESEARCH METHODS III
- PSY 343 INTRODUCTION TO PSYCHOLOGICAL MEASUREMENT
- PSY 360 THEORIES OF LEARNING AND COGNITION
- PSY 377 PHYSIOLOGICAL PSYCHOLOGY or PSY 379 COGNITIVE NEUROSCIENCE
- Three additional psychology electives from the following list:
  - PSY 348 SOCIAL COGNITION
  - PSY 353 ABNORMAL PSYCHOLOGY
  - PSY 363 ALCOHOLISM, DRUG ADDICTION AND RECOVERY
  - PSY 364 HEALTH PSYCHOLOGY
  - PSY 373 HAPPINESS, JUDGMENT AND DECISION MAKING
- BIO 191 GENERAL BIOLOGY I FOR SCIENCE MAJORS
- BIO 192 GENERAL BIOLOGY II FOR SCIENCE MAJORS
- BIO 193 GENERAL BIOLOGY III FOR SCIENCE MAJORS (required for higher level BIO).
- Three additional major-level BIO courses chosen in consultation with faculty advisor.

- Eight general (open) electives

* PSY 377 is a prerequisite to some BIO courses so it is recommended that this course be taken after the completion of the PSY core. MAT 130 is a prerequisite for BIO 191.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

General Concentration

Course Requirements

Psychology

- PSY 340 STATISTICS II (this course may be taken immediately after the completion of PSY 240 STATISTICS I)
- PSY 342 RESEARCH METHODS III
- PSY 343 INTRODUCTION TO PSYCHOLOGICAL MEASUREMENT
- PSY 360 THEORIES OF LEARNING AND COGNITION
- PSY 377 PHYSIOLOGICAL PSYCHOLOGY or PSY 379 COGNITIVE NEUROSCIENCE
- Three additional major-level psychology courses numbered PSY 317 PSYCHOLOGY OF INTERPERSONAL RELATIONSHIP and above
- Twenty quarter hours in major-level biology and/or mathematics are required. This requirement is to be developed in consultation with the departmental advisor.
Nine general (open) electives

Note: An exceptional student who has completed the required courses in Psychological Science may, upon consent of his advisor and the chair, be admitted in the senior year to certain 400-level courses described in the Graduate Catalog for Psychology. Any 400-level courses will only apply toward the B.S. degree.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

The student is urged to devote some general elective hours to courses in disciplines other than his/her major. Note: MAT 130 PRECALCULUS is a prerequisite for major level BIO and MAT courses.

In addition, all psychology majors are encouraged to engage in individual research projects with the supervision of faculty. Upon faculty approval psychology majors may register for the following psychology courses: PSY 390 INDEPENDENT RESEARCH IN PSYCHOLOGY, PSY 396 HONORS IN PSYCHOLOGY, PSY 397 EXPERIENTIAL LEARNING/PSYCHOLOGY RESEARCH, PSY 398 TUTORING AND MENTORING IN PSYCHOLOGY, and PSY 399 INDEPENDENT STUDY.

Notes

Students with a primary major in Psychology are required to complete the Capstone offered by the Psychology department. Students double majoring or pursuing dual degrees with the primary major or primary degree in Psychology are required to complete the Capstone offered by the Psychology department. Psychology students in the University Honors Program shall take the University Honors Capstone. They are not expected to take both the Honors Capstone and the primary major or primary degree Capstone.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or as the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

General Psychology (Minor)

The General Psychology minor enables students to select courses in psychology tailored to their particular interests or career goals. This minor allows students maximum flexibility to complement a variety of majors and areas of interest.

This minor is only for non-psychology majors and a maximum of one psychology minor may be earned by a student.

Students cannot earn a minor in the same academic program as their major.

Six psychology courses are required, including:

• PSY 105 INTRODUCTORY PSYCHOLOGY I
• PSY 106 INTRODUCTORY PSYCHOLOGY II
• Four psychology classes, at least two of which must be numbered PSY 317 PSYCHOLOGY OF INTERPERSONAL RELATIONSHIP and above.

Public Law and Political Thought (Minor)

This minor provides the non-major with an introduction to the study of law and its foundation in political thought.

Course Requirements

• PSC 260 LAW AND THE POLITICAL SYSTEM
• One course from the following list:
  • PSC 261 FIRST AMENDMENT RIGHTS
  • PSC 262 RIGHTS OF DEFENDANTS
  • PSC 263 EQUAL PROTECTION OF THE LAWS
• Two courses from the following list:
  • PSC 230 CLASSICAL POLITICAL THOUGHT
  • PSC 231 MODERN POLITICAL THOUGHT
  • PSC 232 LIBERALISM, CONSERVATISM, AND DEMOCRACY
  • PSC 233 POLITICAL IDEAS AND IDEOLOGIES
  • PSC 234 FREEDOM AND EMPOWERMENT
  • PSC 235 EQUALITY AND SOCIAL JUSTICE
  • PSC 236 LEGITIMACY AND CRISIS
Public Policy (BA)

Public policy is a discipline that explores the role and impact of decision-making by governments. The discipline includes knowledge of both process and substance of a particular policy area. Thus, a student in public policy must have both generalist and specialist skills to apply to a particular public problem. In terms of political process, the study of public policy examines questions of how public policy is formulated, implemented, and evaluated over time. It also explores notions of agenda-setting and framing of issues that lead to a problem gaining the attention of the government. Public policy specialists and analysts are hired by all levels of government. During the past several years in addition to the government sector, the nonprofit and private sectors have sought public policy analysts for employment. Therefore, the curriculum prepares students for being public policy specialists in both the private and nonprofit sectors in addition to the public sector. The curriculum also is tailored to prepare students who would like to continue their education in graduate programs or law schools. The faculty members of the department work closely with students to place them in internships, and when possible, employment positions.

The Public Policy Studies Department (PPS) offers an undergraduate degree (BA). Students take a common core of courses dealing with public policy theories, processes, methods of public policy analysis, and important environmental and urban policy issues. In addition, a data analysis course is required that the student selects from a list of approved courses. Microeconomics or statistics is strongly encouraged.

A capstone course reconvenes the students at the end of their curriculum to study a public policy problem in-depth under the direction of a public policy professor. The capstone changes approximately every three years, to reflect a current issue on the public policy agenda.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Identify the historical and interdisciplinary aspects of public policy.
  - Differentiate public policy problems from interdisciplinary integrative solution.
  - Recognize the complexities and dynamics of contemporary societies within the context of making policy.
- Describe how significant contextual factors such as race, gender, religion, culture, ideology, economics and politics affect policy making.
  - Describe from multiple perspectives the potential social, economic, political, and environmental consequences of such policy.
- Identify and explain the professional ethics of policy analysts and problems through a socially responsible framework.
  - Evaluate and critique decision-making processes from an ethical perspective that is relevant to changing environments.

PSC 120 THE AMERICAN POLITICAL SYSTEM, is recommended, in addition to the above courses, for students who lack a background in American politics.

Students majoring in Political Science (BA) or minoring in American Politics or International Politics are restricted from earning this minor.
College Core Requirements

Study in the Major Field

The student's course of study in the College consists of three parts: Liberal Studies, the major field, and electives. Together these three parts contribute to the liberal education of the student which is the common purpose of all study in the College. By "liberal education" the College understands not only a deep and thorough knowledge of a particular area of study but a knowledge of the diverse areas of study represented by criticism, history, the arts, the behavioral and social sciences, philosophy, religious studies, the natural science, and mathematics.

The major field program generally is built upon a set of core courses and a specialized "concentration." The number of courses required for a major varies by department. Most students go beyond the minimum requirements, electing additional courses which both broaden and deepen their understanding of their chosen discipline.

Because no academic major program is built in isolation, students are required to pursue a number of electives of the student's choice. The inherent flexibility of this curriculum demands that the student consult an academic advisor at each stage in the total program and at least once prior to each registration. Students will be prompted to visit the College Office for their official graduation check early in their senior year.

Declaration of Major, Minor and Concentration

All students in the College are required to declare a major field prior to beginning their junior year. The student will then be assigned a faculty advisor in the major field department or program and should make an appointment to see that advisor at his or her earliest convenience.

Students must declare or change majors, minors, and concentrations, via Campus Connection. However, for the purpose of exploring the possibility of changing a major field, the student should consult an academic advisor in the Office for Academic Advising Support.

The Modern Language Requirement (MLR)

All students will be required to demonstrate competence in a modern language (i.e., a language other than English) equivalent to the proficiency attained from one year of college-level language study. This Modern Language Requirement (MLR) may be demonstrated by:

- placing into 104 or above on the DePaul language placement exam
- completing the last course or earning AP/IB credit for the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language (e.g. 103 for DePaul language classes)
- completing a college course or earning AP/IB credit for a college course beyond the first-year level in any language (e.g. 104 or above for DePaul language classes)
- completing the final course of a four-year sequence of the same modern language in high school*
- completing a proctored exam by BYU and passing the exam (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)
- completing a proctored Written Proficiency Test (WPT) by Language Testing International (LTI) and achieving a score of Beginner High or above (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)

* Students are strongly encouraged to take the DePaul language placement exam even if they have met the MLR via study of a language in high school. This will ensure continuation of language study at the proper level.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College will abide by this MLR in place on the effective date of the ICT, regardless of when they first matriculated at DePaul.

Students who have met the MLR and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" (MLO) of the Liberal Studies Program (see "Special Programs").

External Credit and Residency

A student who has been admitted to the College begins residency within the college as of the first day of classes of the term in which the student is registered. Students in residence, whether attending on a full-time or part-time basis, may not take courses away from DePaul University without the written permission of the college. Permission must be obtained in advance of registration to avoid loss of credit or

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Public Policy Studies (Minor)

The Public Policy minor is designed to help you learn the foundations of basic policy theory and research methods, as well as how to develop and analyze public policies and understand how they integrate with your major course of study.

Course Requirements

- PPS 200 Introduction to Public Policy
- Five additional PPS courses
Students majoring in Public Policy Studies (BA) are restricted from earning this minor.

Public Relations and Advertising (BA)

The College of Communication offers a variety of courses leading to a Bachelor of Arts degree in Public Relations and Advertising. The program examines theories and practices in the related fields of public relations and advertising, and considers advertising and public relations processes, products and effects from cultural, ethical, organizational, historical, creative and methodological perspectives. Students in Public Relations and Advertising studies learn to think critically and analytically, to develop ideas clearly, and to speak and write effectively. Within the broad context of human communication and the liberal arts, students explore the relationship of public relations and advertising activities to other aspects of human endeavor. Graduates are prepared for entry-level positions within the public and private sectors, or for continuing their education in academic or professional graduate programs.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Identify, explain and apply conceptual and historical foundations of public communication disciplines as they relate to information and persuasion theories, concepts and models.
- Construct and analyze audience research and environmental scanning
- Apply measurement and evaluation techniques to products, projects and programs.
- Develop and demonstrate strategic plans and planning methods, issues management techniques, and message development practices in a variety of settings and applications.
- Classify and analyze the elements of ethical decision making to hypothetical and real world settings.
- Articulate the ethical, legal and social responsibilities of public communications professionals.
- Demonstrate facility with writing, speaking and production of media materials to inform, persuade and problem solve.

College Core Requirements

All majors in the College of Communication consist of a four-course common core plus an additional combination of program requirements and electives.

Course Requirements

Four core courses are required of all College of Communication students:

- CMN 101 INTRODUCTION TO HUMAN COMMUNICATION
- CMN 102 INTRODUCTION TO MASS COMMUNICATION
- CMN 103 INTERCULTURAL COMMUNICATION
- CMN 104 PUBLIC SPEAKING

Students are encouraged to complete all four prior to taking additional coursework in the major.

Modern Language Requirement

Students who intend to graduate with a Bachelor of Arts degree in the College of Communication will be required to demonstrate a measure of competence in a modern language, as defined by the college. Such competence may be demonstrated in one of several ways:

- completing the last course in a second year high school course work in a modern language or Latin
- completing the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language
- completing a college course beyond the first-year level in any language
- achieving a satisfactory score on any of the Modern Language placement examinations administered at DePaul
• achieving a satisfactory rating in a proficiency examination accepted by DePaul
• achieving a score of 3 or higher on the Advance Placement (AP) test for any language (must be completed during high school)
• achieving a score of 5 or higher in the Language B assessment from a Standard or Higher Level International Baccalaureate (IB) program
• achieving a satisfactory score on the CLEP examination. (Note that CLEP scores may be used only to meet the language requirement. Credit is not awarded in modern languages on the basis of CLEP scores).

Students with some modern language training should consult with the Modern Language Department about the course with which they should begin. Students with little or no previous work in the language will be required to complete the entire three-course introductory sequence.

Modern Language Option

The Modern Language Option is available to all BA students who wish to study a modern language beyond the level necessary to meet the College's modern language requirement. Students selecting the option may substitute a three-course language sequence for two learning domain courses and one open elective, or two upper-level courses in the same language for two learning domain requirements. Modern Language Option substitutions may not be used to replace the Scientific Inquiry: Lab or Scientific Inquiry: Science as a Way of Knowing requirement.
Any substitutions must be consistent with the principle that students complete at least one course in each learning domain.

Liberal Studies Requirements

Honors program requirements can be found in the individual Colleges & Schools section of the University Catalog. Select Academics, followed by Undergraduate, then Honors Program Alternative.

* Students must earn a C- or better in this course.

Note
Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

Major Requirements

Course Requirements
In addition to the four core College of Communication courses, students take seven required classes, three Public Relations and Advertising electives, and two additional electives from the College of Communication. All Public Relations and Advertising majors must complete a total of 16 classes, or 64 credit hours.

Real Estate (BSB)

The undergraduate division of the Department of Real Estate provides a curriculum which enables all students in the Driehaus College of Business to work and excel in the real estate community at the local and national levels, and to adapt to future changes in the industry. It provides a strong foundation for students with career goals in real estate as the demand for qualified professionals in all areas of the industry continues to escalate with changing economic factors that drive the real estate market. Competence in real estate today, and the future, requires an understanding of a wide variety of professional disciplines and their interactions. As a result, the program reaches across academic boundaries of departments and colleges to provide a truly interdisciplinary degree housed within the college. The DePaul real estate major requires finance and real estate law courses, and provides choices in economics, architecture history, public service management, geography, sociology, history and anthropology.

Students who complete the program will:

- Develop a comprehensive body of knowledge that will strengthen financial and analytical skills, including risk analysis, portfolio construction and management, cash flow analysis, and investment strategy
- Understand the organizational structure of financial institutions and the impact of capital markets on real estate
- Understand the basic laws and regulations governing land use and real estate decisions
- Be able to clearly articulate a site development strategy to all parties and agencies
- Understand the historical development of real estate and its impact on present and future development patterns
- Understand how architectural and urban history provide insights into real estate analysis and valuation

Employment opportunities exist everywhere across the spectrum: ownership, brokerage, appraisal, design, insurance, inspection, leasing, management, and construction are a few. Property sectors include office, industrial, multi-family, retail, and hospitality and entertainment. Expanding the definition of real estate to consider the financial services side of real estate yields an additional list of career opportunities (mortgage lenders, mortgage brokers, underwriters, services, researchers, and others). The Real Estate Center assists students in finding employment in many of these diverse areas and industries in the associated supporting professions.

Courses with variable topics (such as HSP 398 or PPS 359) must be approved for use in the Real Estate major by the Department of Real Estate.

The department enforces all course prerequisites, without exception.

Students are encouraged to seek an internship with a Chicago-area business during the summer preceding either their junior or senior year, but the Real Estate major does not offer or accept a for-credit internship course.

Career Management Course

Students are required to complete the Career Course (250) associated with the major. Students who double major may choose the Career Course (250) associated with either major provided that hours for graduation are satisfied.

Open Electives

Open elective credit (16.0 hours) is needed to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Graduation Requirements

All Real Estate (RE) courses and any courses used toward the Real Estate major must be completed with a minimum grade of C- and with a combined GPA of 2.000 or higher.

Recommended Courses

Students majoring in real estate are encouraged to complete courses from the list below to further explore topics relevant to real estate. These courses are approved for use in the Liberal Studies Program Learning Domains as indicated. PPS 301 may be used as a Real Estate Elective and for the Self, Society and the Modern World requirement only if Real Estate is being completed as a second major or minor. No other courses from this list are approved for use as Real Estate Electives in the major or minor.

Real Estate (Minor)

Available to students in the Driehaus College of Business and non-business programs at DePaul, a minor in Real Estate provides students with a general understanding of the real estate business and in-depth exploration of a specific topic in real estate, such as law, policy, valuation, investment, or finance.

Course Requirements

A student minoring in Real Estate is required to complete Real Estate courses totaling at least 20.0 hours:

- One required course to be chosen from:
  - FIN 290 FINANCE FOR NON-BUSINESS MAJORS
  - FIN 300 FOUNDATIONS OF FINANCE
  - FIN 310 INTRODUCTION TO FINANCE

- One required course:
  - RE 350 REAL ESTATE ANALYSIS

- Three elective courses to be chosen from:
  - RE 300 REAL ESTATE LAW
  - RE 320 URBAN PLANNING AND PUBLIC POLICY
  - RE 325 PROJECT MANAGEMENT: DESIGN & CONSTRUCTION
  - RE 352 REAL ESTATE FINANCE
  - RE 353 REAL ESTATE INVESTMENT
  - RE 354 REAL ESTATE VALUATION
  - RE 398 SPECIAL TOPICS (multiple topics may be used)

The department enforces all course prerequisites, without exception.

Students are encouraged to seek an internship with a Chicago-area business during the summer preceding either their junior or senior year, but the Real Estate minor does not offer or accept a for-credit internship course.

Graduation Requirements

All Real Estate (RE) courses and any courses used toward the Real Estate minor must be completed with a minimum grade of C- and with a combined GPA of 2.000 or higher.

Sound Recording Technology (BS)

The Bachelor of Science degree with an emphasis in Sound Recording Technology (SRT) prepares students for careers in the audio industry. The SRT program includes coursework in classical and popular recording, music production, surround sound audio for film and multimedia, as well as physics, electronics, and mathematics. The faculty is comprised of experienced recording engineers, dedicated to teaching excellence. Drawing upon the resources of the city, students have the opportunity to work and study at Chicago area recording studios and live performance venues.

- Demonstrate an appropriate level of aural, keyboard, and conducting skills.
- Possess a thorough knowledge of the physics of sound and acoustics through understanding of microphones and microphone techniques.
- Possess a thorough knowledge of analog and digital equipment and be able to use that knowledge creatively to produce and market music.
- Possess a fundamental knowledge of digital electronics and the ability to operate contemporary audio and video recording, editing, and processing software.

Music Core Requirements

Course Requirements

All students in the School of Music are required to enroll in the following music courses:

Musicianship (42 credits)

- Music Theory Sequence
  - MUS 110A MUSIC THEORY I
  - MUS 120A MUSIC THEORY II
  - MUS 130A MUSIC THEORY III
  - MUS 212A MUSIC THEORY IV
  - MUS 222A MUSIC THEORY V
  - MUS 232 MUSIC THEORY VI

  - MUS 212B MUSIC HISTORY IV
  - MUS 222B MUSIC HISTORY V
- Aural Training Sequence
  - MUS 111 AURAL TRAINING I
  - MUS 121 AURAL TRAINING II
  - MUS 131 AURAL TRAINING III
  - MUS 211 AURAL TRAINING IV
Additional Courses

- MUS 303 BASIC CONDUCTING PRACTICUM
- MUS 304 BASIC CONDUCTING
- MUS 320 INTRODUCTION TO WORLD MUSIC
- MUS 321 INTRODUCTION TO JAZZ HISTORY
- MUS 322 ADVANCED MUSICIANSHIP

Students in the BS-PAM degree program are not required to take MUS 303 and MUS 304.

Applied Music

Students may enroll in a maximum of 3 credits of applied study per quarter, with a maximum of 36 credits total. The requirements for applied study vary by degree program:

- BM in performance, 36 credits
- BM in jazz studies, 32 credits
- BM in composition, 12 credits
- BM in music education, 18 credits
- BM in performing arts management, 18 credits
- BA in music, 12 credits
- BS in sound recording technology, performance track, 9 credits

The BS in Performing Arts Management degree does not require applied lessons, and the BS in Sound Recording Technology, non-performance track, degree does not require applied lessons.

Except performance majors, students may enroll in additional applied credits, which will count towards music electives.

Modern Language Option

If a music student wishes to study a modern language for a three-course sequence (12 credits), one quarter of language study (4 credits) may be used to replace a course requirement in Arts and Literature, Philosophical Inquiry, or Religious Dimensions. The remaining two quarters of language (8 credits) will be applied towards free electives.

This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Program Checkpoints

Students are admitted to a specialization at their initial enrollment. Students are then allowed to continue in specialization courses on the basis of program checkpoints. The program checkpoints differ for each specialization, and students should contact the department chairs or program directors/coordinators for more information. Students are not permitted to continue to enroll in specialization classes if they have not met the requirements of their program checkpoint.

Religious Studies (BA)

The Department of Religious Studies offers DePaul students the opportunity to engage in the academic study of religion. The study of religion includes not only the traditional areas of sacred texts, myths, rituals, mystical experiences and doctrines, but also the ways in which political, social and economic forces shape these phenomena for religious communities. Drawing on a host of academic disciplines, religious studies challenges students to encounter the traditions of the world in all their rich diversity. Given the complexity of the subject matter, members of the department draw upon several other academic disciplines -- anthropology, art history, biblical studies, economics, environmental studies, ethics, gender studies, history, linguistics, literature and literary criticism, political science, philosophy, psychology, sociology, and theology -- as they do their work.

Beyond work with texts, students may also study religion through the media of film and video, music, the visual and dramatic arts, and the internet. Students can go beyond their course work with further learning opportunities, such as the senior thesis, independent study, study abroad and internships, and service learning, both locally and internationally.

A religious studies major or minor is positioned to pursue a wide variety of careers. A bridge between the specialist's perspectives on religion and a wider world that is often in need of these perspectives, religious studies majors have worked in the fields of law, social work, regional and international business, governmental and non-governmental service, secondary school teaching, and service in religious communities. A religious studies major is also well-prepared for further studies in graduate programs leading to careers in academia.

The Department encourages students in all major concentrations and minors to engage various questions related to the study of religion, such as (but not limited to):

- What is religion?
- How do religious communities come into being and define themselves?
- How do religious communities form worldviews, doctrines, and practices, and how does the study of religion help us to understand their change over time?
- How do sacred texts come into being, and what do they communicate to us?
- How does religion shape culture, and how does the wider culture define religion?
- What is the role of religion in the contemporary world?
- How do religion or religious sensibilities help us to relate (or hinder us from relating) to each other?
- How can an informed student of religion evaluate the rival claims to truth and moral rightness of different religious and secular ideologies?
- How do religious traditions and texts treat issues of sexuality and gender, race and class?
- How have religious traditions interacted with each other in the past, and how do they continue to do so today?

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Identify, analyze, and critically compare some significant elements of religion - such as myth and narrative, symbol, ritual, sacred texts, law and doctrine, ethics, experience, and systems of cosmic, social, and individual order - as they are manifested in religious traditions across culture, time, ethnicity, race, or gender.
- Apply to religious phenomena various theories, methodological perspectives, and experiential approaches.
- Evaluate the relationship between religion and other elements of culture and society regarding such issues as the relation between religion and other elements of culture and society regarding such issues as the relation between religion and moral values, religion and power, and religion and personal transformation.
- Identify and apply scholarly resources and/or field methodologies from religious studies in a research paper.
- Support and defend in writing an integrated vision of the field of religious studies expressed in a focus on the student's area(s) of interest.
College Core Requirements

Study in the Major Field

The student's course of study in the College consists of three parts: Liberal Studies, the major field, and electives. Together these three parts contribute to the liberal education of the student which is the common purpose of all study in the College. By "liberal education" the College understands not only a deep and thorough knowledge of a particular area of study but a knowledge of the diverse areas of study represented by criticism, history, the arts, the behavioral and social sciences, philosophy, religious studies, the natural science, and mathematics.

The major field program generally is built upon a set of core courses and a specialized "concentration." The number of courses required for a major varies by department. Most students go beyond the minimum requirements, electing additional courses which both broaden and deepen their understanding of their chosen discipline.

Because no academic major program is built in isolation, students are required to pursue a number of electives of the student's choice. The inherent flexibility of this curriculum demands that the student consult an academic advisor at each stage in the total program and at least once prior to each registration. Students will be prompted to visit the College Office for their official graduation check early in their senior year.

Declaration of Major, Minor and Concentration

All students in the College are required to declare a major field prior to beginning their junior year. The student will then be assigned a faculty advisor in the major field department or program and should make an appointment to see that advisor at his or her earliest convenience.

Students must declare or change majors, minors, and concentrations, via Campus Connection. However, for the purpose of exploring the possibility of changing a major field, the student should consult an academic advisor in the Office for Academic Advising Support.

The Modern Language Requirement (MLR)

All students will be required to demonstrate competence in a modern language (i.e., a language other than English) equivalent to the proficiency attained from one year of college-level language study. This Modern Language Requirement (MLR) may be demonstrated by:

- placing into 104 or above on the DePaul language placement exam
- completing the last course or earning AP/IB credit for the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language (e.g. 103 for DePaul language classes)
- completing a college course or earning AP/IB credit for a college course beyond the first-year level in any language (e.g. 104 or above for DePaul language classes)
- completing the final course of a four-year sequence of the same modern language in high school*
- completing a proctored exam by BYU and passing the exam (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)
- completing a proctored Written Proficiency Test (WPT) by Language Testing International (LTI) and achieving a score of Beginner High or above (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)

* Students are strongly encouraged to take the DePaul language placement exam even if they have met the MLR via study of a language in high school. This will ensure continuation of language study at the proper level.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College will abide by this MLR in place on the effective date of the ICT, regardless of when they first matriculated at DePaul.

Students who have met the MLR and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" (MLO) of the Liberal Studies Program (see "Special Programs").

External Credit and Residency

A student who has been admitted to the College begins residency within the college as of the first day of classes of the term in which the student is registered. Students in residence, whether attending on a full-time or part-time basis, may not take courses away from DePaul University without the written permission of the college. Permission must be obtained in advance of registration to avoid loss of credit or residency in the college; see the LAS website for more information.

Notes
A student majoring in Religious Studies (REL) is required to complete the Capstone offered by the REL Department. This is the case even if a student is double majoring (or pursuing a dual degree) and the secondary major (or degree) requires its own Capstone. An REL major in the University Honors Program shall take the University Honors Capstone and the REL Capstone.

Courses offered in the student’s primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the experiential learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student’s major and is cross-listed with a course within the student’s major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy
Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

Major Requirements

Course Requirements
The Religious Studies major requires all students to take 13 courses (52 credit hours), of which at least six courses (24 credit hours) must be at the 300-level.

The following five Core Courses are required:
- REL 103 RELIGIOUS WORLDS IN COMPARATIVE PERSPECTIVE (HON 104 can substitute for REL 103)
- REL 298 METHODS AND APPROACHES IN THE STUDY OF RELIGION
- REL 300 THEORIES OF CULTURE AND RELIGION
- REL 302 THEORIES OF RELIGION AND ETHICS
- REL 390 INTEGRATING SEMINAR (taken for Liberal Studies Capstone requirement)

Students need to take eight additional courses (32 credit hours), at least three of which must be at the 300-level (12 credit hours) and the remaining at the 200-level.

Students interested in the specialized study of Catholicism or Islam should consult the Department of Catholic Studies or the Islamic World Studies Program.

3+3 Program (BA/ JD)
In the 3 + 3 BA/JD Program, high-achieving first-year undergraduate students are admitted simultaneously to the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences and the College of Law. Students complete their first three years in the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences and their final three years in the College of Law. Students receive the Bachelor of Arts degree after successful completion of their first year of law school. Throughout the program, BA/JD students meet regularly with advisors in both Colleges and have access to a variety of resources to ensure their success.
Key Program Features

- Students earn a law degree (Juris Doctor) in a total of six years (three years undergraduate and three years in law school).
- Students save one year’s worth of tuition, reducing their overall debt load.
- Students benefit from new curricular offerings and collaborative activities created to prepare them for law school.
- Students receive early (conditional) admission to the College of Law.
- Credits earned in the first year of law school apply toward the BA degree.
- Students may opt out of the College of Law segment of the program and continue in the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences during their fourth year.
- If students withdraw after the first semester in the College of Law, they return to the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences for the winter quarter.

Program Requirements

In order to maintain status in the program, students must demonstrate satisfactory progress toward completing their undergraduate coursework in three years, including meeting the Modern Language Requirement and necessary Liberal Studies Program or Honors Program requirements. Students must achieve a cumulative GPA of 3.35 by the end of their second year of study and maintain a cumulative GPA of 3.35 in their third and final year of undergraduate study.

In addition, students must complete a series of two-credit courses, taught by College of Law faculty, prior to matriculation in the College of Law. They are designed to help students understand many aspects of the legal system as well as to complement their undergraduate course of study. The courses are as follows:

- PRELAW 150 THE PRACTICE OF LAW
- PRELAW 151 RECENT CONTROVERSIES IN LAW
- PRELAW 152 THINKING ABOUT THE LAW

In order to matriculate in the College of Law, students will be required to register with the Law School Admissions Council, submit the College of Law’s online application, comply with all character and fitness requirements for admission, and submit an LSAT score. The activities should be completed no later than the end of the Autumn Quarter of the participant’s third undergraduate year. The LSAT score will only be used for consideration of merit scholarships; it will not be a factor in the admission of the participant to the program.

Religious Studies (Minor)

The minor in Religious Studies exposes students to a variety of religious issues.

Course Requirements

The Minor in Religious Studies requires all students to take any 6 courses (24 credit hours) in Religious Studies at the 100-, 200-, and/or 300-level:

- REL 103 RELIGIOUS WORLDS IN COMPARATIVE PERSPECTIVE
- REL 107 JUDAISM IN HISTORY: FROM THE BIBLE TO 1492

- REL 237 GODS IN THE ROMAN EMPIRE
- REL 238 THE HISTORICAL JESUS
- REL 242 HINDU THOUGHT AND CULTURE
- REL 243 BUDDHIST THOUGHT IN CULTURAL CONTEXT
- REL 257 DEATH AND ITS BEYOND: EXPERIENCE, MYTH AND RITUALS
- REL 269 JUDAISM IN ANTIQUITY

Rhetoric (Minor)

The Rhetoric minor helps you acquire the skills to understand and analyze the history, theory, and criticism of political discourse and public speaking.

Course Requirements

A minor in Rhetoric requires students to complete six courses (24 credits). To complete the minor, students must take:

- CMN 103 INTERCULTURAL COMMUNICATION
- CMN 104 PUBLIC SPEAKING
  or CMNS 230 PERFORMANCE: COMMUNICATION, CREATIVITY AND THE BODY
- Four more courses from:
  - CMNS 307 TOPICS IN POLITICAL AND SOCIAL COMMUNICATION (Rhetoric Topics)
  - CMNS 308 TOPICS IN INTERCULTURAL COMMUNICATION (Rhetoric Topics)
  - CMNS 310 DISCOURSE ANALYSIS
  - CMNS 321 CULTURAL AND SYMBOLIC CRITICISM
  - CMNS 323 SOCIAL MOVEMENTS
  - CMNS 324 CULTURE OF CONSUMPTION
  - CMNS 326 ENVIRONMENTAL POLITICS AND RHETORIC

  - CMNS 367 PERFORMANCE FOR SOCIAL CHANGE
  - CMN 394 MAKING THE MOST OF YOUR COMMUNICATION INTERNSHIP
  - CMN 395 COMMUNICATION INTERNSHIP SPECIAL TOPICS
Russian Language (Minor)

DePaul's Russian Language minor will help students acquire a solid proficiency in speaking, reading and writing Russian, one of the world's most important global languages.

The minor consists of a total of 5 courses in Russian language at the 200/300-level.

Students minoring in Russian Studies are restricted from earning this minor.

Russian Studies (Minor)

The Russian Studies minor offers an interdisciplinary focus on the history, culture, art and politics of Russia, along with a grounding in the Russian language.

Course Requirements

- Three quarters of college-level Russian language study (at any level).
- Five additional courses from at least two different disciplines, chosen in consultation with an advisor or faculty member, from the current approved Russian Studies Allied Course List.

Scene Design (BFA)

The Theatre School’s Bachelor of Fine Art (BFA) degree in Scenic Design is designed to give students the opportunity to explore and expand their artistic and visual expression and provides them the opportunity to practice their craft. The four-year curriculum in many ways simulates a scenic designer’s professional experience and process. Designers learn to visualize and create the physical world of plays by collaborating with directors, dramaturgs, other designers and technicians and our professional scene shop staff who build the sets they design.

Learning Outcomes

Core Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Identify and describe the historical and theoretical significance of a range of theatrical artists, works and artistic approaches from antiquity to the present, encompassing a broad range of periods, cultures, and styles.
- Synthesize and apply elements of their education and training in classes, rehearsals, and productions.
- Participate in theatrical production in a professional manner, with discipline, respect, and maturity.
- Demonstrate the role of the theatre practitioner as an active member of society and of the cultural and social impact of the arts.

Program Specific Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Apply General knowledge of theatre history, dramatic literature covering a broad range of historical periods, cultures, and styles, and major theatre artists on both a national and international level.
- Utilize the principles and vocabulary of performance, directing, design, and a thorough grounding in the theory of their particular area of specialization.
- Write with competency in a variety of writing styles from casual to formal.
- Fully engage with knowledge through the ability to access, analyze, and evaluate information and ideas from multiple sources in order to identify underlying arguments and assumptions and to formulate conclusions.
- Utilize existing knowledge to generate and synthesize ideas in original, creative, and imaginative ways.
- Articulate clearly the process of transforming the written text into the theatrical event.
- Design, develop, and execute a noteworthy intellectual and/or creative project.
- Develop a profound understanding of the role of the artist in society.
Develop an understanding of the cultural and sociopolitical context of theatre from the perspective of both historical and contemporary practice.
Develop strong self-discipline, self-motivation, and an ability to work independently.
Work collaboratively and effectively within a group process and with creative artists from all theatrical disciplines.
Understand the interrelationship of what it means to be human and what it means to be a theatre artist.
Evaluate ethical issues with respect to theatrical analysis, concept, and practice.
Contribute artistically to communities through socially responsible engagement and leadership.
Develop an understanding of and a respect for a multiplicity of cultural and artistic perspectives that may be different from their own.
Understand the availability and/or scarcity of global resources for a sustainable future.
Set goals for future work that are the result of rigorous self-appraisal and reflection.
Articulate their skills and knowledge as they represent themselves to external audiences.
Work both independently and collaboratively.
Use technology to create, communicate, and synthesize their ideas.

  - DES 285 MEDIA FOR DESIGNERS
  - DES 286 FIGURE DRAWING FOR THEATRE
  - DES 484 PHOTOSHOP FOR DESIGNERS
  - DES 486 PORTFOLIO PREPARATION

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Concentration Requirements

Concentrations, tracks and specializations provide focus to the major. In addition to any college core requirements, liberal studies requirements and major requirements, students are required to choose one of the following:

- Production Design Concentration

Production Design Concentration

The Production Design Concentration is open to students in the Scene Design major at The Theatre School. Six classes or 24 credits are required. The concentration builds on the traditional curriculum for the Scene Design major, and adds 6 classes from School of Cinematic Arts (SCA), which can either be added onto the full curriculum, or can be substituted for the required design electives, or 1 of the drawing/rendering electives. Students take requirements and electives from the following list of SCA classes, or other classes can be considered and approved by advisor. Students may start the sequence in their second year of the Scene Design major. Students must notify their advisor of their intention to pursue this concentration and must receive advisor approval to do so.

Required Courses:

- DC 210 DIGITAL CINEMA PRODUCTION I
- DC 275 CINEMATOGRAPHY I
- DC 321 PRODUCTION DESIGN
- DC 376 VISUAL DESIGN
- DC 379 PRE-PRODUCTION WORKSHOP or DC 331 ADVANCED PRODUCTION DESIGN

Secondary Education Biology (BS)

The Bachelor of Science program in Secondary Education Biology prepares students to teach 6th through 12th grade in a variety of urban and suburban education settings, including public and private middle schools and high schools.

Students learn educational theories and effective teaching practices, participate in field experiences, which require observation and participation in teaching activities at multiple schools, and student teaching. Students should meet early and regularly with their advisor to design and monitor their program of study.

The program combines theoretical principles of education and field work with the student's choice of major. Students follow a general pattern of study for middle school and high school levels. In all cases, appropriate field experience plays an integral role.

In addition to completing the requirements for licensure in Illinois, and in aligning with a commitment to preparing students with a global mindset, teacher candidates will also complete the requirements to gain a certificate in Teaching and Learning from the International Baccalaureate Organization. The IB Certificate in Teaching and Learning for the Middle Years Program (MYP) and the Diploma Program (DP) provides teacher candidates the background and expertise to teach in an IB school. The IB Certificate in Teaching and Learning expands the opportunities for teacher candidates and training in IB open expands the vision of inquiry and reflective practice.

Students entering the program must be able and willing to devote themselves to a program requiring a minimum of 100 hours of daytime field experiences in schools. These school-based clinical hours are completed in conjunction with methodology courses that require students to spend a half-day each week in a school. As students will be completing requirements to earn the IB Certificate, a majority of the 100-110 hours will be completed in International Baccalaureate Schools. In addition, the student must spend a minimum of 11 weeks in full-time student teaching.

Please make sure you consult the Liberal Studies Requirements, Major Requirements, and College Core Requirements for full degree requirements.
NOTE: Secondary Education students now have the option to double major in Secondary Education and Biological Sciences. With the double major, students will graduate with a Bachelor of Science degree with a major in Secondary Education and a major in Biological Sciences. Students should declare Secondary Education as their primary major (see Secondary Education BA/BS for degree requirements) and Biological Sciences (see Biological Sciences BS for degree requirements) as their secondary major. If you have already begun the Secondary Education Biology major and want to switch to the Secondary Education Major and Biological Sciences double major, you should contact your academic advisor because the double major may require additional coursework. Students who pursue the Bachelor of Science degree with a major in Secondary Education Biology do not have the option to double major in Biological Sciences.

Licensure

Illinois Professional Educator License with endorsement in Secondary Education Science-Biology (grades 6-12), an Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) approved program.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Use knowledge of adolescent learners to create safe, equitable, and meaningful learning environments and collaborative classrooms.
- Demonstrate and apply disciplinary content and pedagogical content knowledge with an emphasis on developing students’ conceptual understanding and disciplinary literacy.
- Plan and deliver instruction that demonstrates knowledge of adolescent learners and content.
- Implement assessment practices to evaluate student learning and inform instruction.
- Exhibit professionalism, pursue professional growth, and advocate for adolescent learners and their communities.

College Core Requirements

Dispositions

The academic programs within the College of Education have set forth these dispositions as educational and professional expectations for all students. Students should be aware that failing to abide by DePaul University or College of Education policies including, under certain circumstances, these dispositions, could result in adverse consequences for the student, including removal from his or her program, the College of Education, or the University.

The following dispositions apply to Early Childhood Education, Elementary Education, Exercise Science Middle Grades, Physical Education, Secondary Education, and World Language Education majors only:

- Reflects on progress and identifies strengths and weaknesses, including evaluating strategies for success, finding alternatives for inappropriate strategies, and modifying future practices
- Is receptive to faculty feedback and acts meaningfully and professionally upon suggestions
- Values critical thinking, including engaging theoretical and philosophical frameworks and shows evidence of critical thinking through discussion and writing (e.g., journals, response to prompts)
- Understands the importance of and is committed to communicating clearly orally and in writing both in traditional and in new and emerging digital formats
- Values and is committed to continually developing strong content area knowledge and/or knowledge of the professional field, including pedagogical content knowledge
- Takes initiative, uses imagination and creativity, and seeks out information using a variety of human and material resources and technology to inform his or her teaching
- Is aware of the role of classroom environment and uses management procedures that reflect respect and care for learners and concern for their emotional and physical well being
- Takes the time and effort needed to understand how students learn, including discovering their interests and experiences and determining how to shape teaching acts (using technology as appropriate) that engage learners meaningfully and actively
- Values and is committed to using assessment to evaluate and ensure the continuous intellectual, social, emotional, and physical development of the learner
- Respects and considers cultural contexts in order to determine how to be responsive to learners and to proactively promote all students’ learning
- Values and is responsive to diverse learners' academic, emotional, and social needs through teaching acts (including careful instructional planning, implementation, and differentiation) and through everyday interactions with students
- Is committed to collaboration with colleagues, families, and communities in order to promote all students' learning and development
Recognizes and fulfills professional responsibilities and habits of conduct (e.g., dress, language, preparedness, attendance, punctuality, etc.)
Demonstrates collegiality, honesty, good judgment, courtesy, respect, and diplomacy
Balances self-confidence and assertiveness with respect for others’ perspectives
Respects the requirements, expectations, and procedures of both the College of Education and of our field partners and appreciates the issues of trust, fairness, and professionalism involved

The following dispositions apply to Special Education majors only:

- Is receptive to faculty feedback and acts meaningfully and professionally upon suggestions
- Reflects on his or her own progress, identifies strengths and weaknesses, and evaluates strategies for success and professional growth
- Takes initiative
- Is open to new ideas and engagement in learning
- Respects diversity and cultural contexts to determine how to be responsive to learners and to proactively promote all students’ learning
- Expresses positive attitudes toward individuals with disabilities and a willingness to advocate on their behalf
- Is committed to collaboration with colleagues, families, and communities in order to promote all students’ learning and development
- Demonstrates professional ethical and legal behavior as defined by the respective codes of ethics and laws
- Demonstrates consistent professional behavior across all academic settings
- Maintains appropriate interpersonal and professional boundaries
- Accepts personal responsibility for one's behavior
- Expresses feelings and opinions effectively and appropriately
- Upholds confidentiality

Skill Building Courses

Before taking any math or English courses, students must take the DePaul placement tests to determine if skill level is at the college level. If placement indicates skill level in these courses, the courses become part of degree requirements. Consult with your advisor regarding placement test results and any required classes.

Advanced Standing

Students are admitted conditionally to the College of Education. There are additional requirements to reach Advanced Standing in your program in the College of Education. Requirements must be met to progress in the major and take courses in the Advanced Standing category.

Advanced Standing requirements are:

- Maintain a DePaul undergraduate 2.5 GPA
- Pass the Illinois Test of Academic Proficiency (TAP)
- Submit an application for advanced standing form

Students should attempt to complete the Advanced Standing requirements soon after beginning the program. There is no time limit to meet these criteria; however, students will only be able to take pre-education courses until requirements have been met. Students can also take liberal studies or content area courses before or after meeting Advanced Standing requirements.

Modern Language Competence Requirement

Students pursuing a Bachelor of Arts degree in the College of Education will be required to demonstrate a measure of competence in a modern language, as defined by the college. Such competence may be demonstrated in one of several ways:

- completing two years of a language sequence in high school
- completing the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language
- completing a college course beyond the first-year level in any language
- achieving a satisfactory score on any of the Modern Language placement examinations administered at DePaul
- achieving a satisfactory rating in a proficiency examination accepted by DePaul
- achieving a score of 3 or higher on the Advance Placement (AP) test for any language
- achieving a score of 5 or higher in the Language B assessment from a Standard or Higher Level International Baccalaureate (IB) program
- achieving a satisfactory score on the CLEP examination

Please note: The Modern Language Competence Requirement is not required for students in the Early Childhood Education: SNL Joint Program (BAECE) program.

For further information regarding satisfactory scores and possible credit from the DePaul placement, AP, CLEP, or IB examinations, please contact the Office of the University Registrar.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College of Education will abide by the COE Modern Language Requirement in place on the effective date of the ICT.

B.A. students who meet College requirements and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" of the Liberal Studies Program. While B.S. students are not required to demonstrate competency in a modern language, the "Modern Language Option" is available to them for language study at any level.
Licensure Tests

All individuals licensed by the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) are required to complete licensure tests specific to their teaching license.

Field Experiences

Each student seeking licensure from the College of Education/Professional Education Unit must complete supervised field experiences in appropriate settings in conjunction with education courses. The field experiences must include a variety of grade levels, multicultural experiences, and a minimum of 10 hours in special education settings. All field experiences must be completed prior to final approval for student teaching. Field experience hours should be entered by the student into the FEDS system when completing courses with field experience requirements.

Endorsements

An endorsement is a statement appearing on a license that identifies the specific subjects or grade level that the license holder is authorized to teach.

The Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) issues endorsements in various subject areas. To view the full list and requirements, visit the ISBE website.

Please note that the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) may change the state licensure and endorsement requirements at any time and without prior notice. Individuals are bound by the requirements in place when applying for the license or endorsement, not the requirements in place when beginning the program.

Student Teaching Requirements

Student Teaching is the culminating clinical experience in the student's program. All students in teacher preparation programs must meet the following requirements before applying for student teaching:

Academic Requirements:

- Completion of all Liberal Studies, Pre-Education, Advanced Standing and concentration/content area courses
- Overall cumulative GPA of 2.50 or better
- Cumulative GPA of 2.75 or better in all education courses
- Meet all other program requirements (e.g., modern language and residency requirements)
- Meet designated program standards
- Pass the required Illinois licensure content area test(s)

Clinical Requirements:

- Completion of all required field experiences
- Three satisfactory evaluations in field experiences
- Three satisfactory faculty recommendations
- Attendance at mandatory meeting for student teaching
- Application for student teaching, resume, transcripts, and writing sample (check deadlines)
- Review and approval by Student Teaching Committee of the College of Education

Student Teaching Timeline and Deadlines:

- Attend a Mandatory Meeting approximately 1 year prior to expected quarter of student teaching.
- Submit application for student teaching after attending Mandatory Meeting, approximately 1 year prior to student teaching.
- Academic requirements are due one quarter before expected quarter of student teaching.
- Clinical requirements are completed as course requirements. Field experience hours are entered by the student as coursework is completed.

Online Faculty Evaluations are entered by the instructor of relevant courses. All data must be entered in the Field Experience Documentation System (FEDS) due one month prior to student teaching.

Individual childcare agencies and public and private school districts may have additional requirements (application, training, background check, etc.).

Degree Conferral and Graduation

The awarding of a degree is not automatic. You must submit an application to be considered for the degree. DePaul awards and posts degrees at the end of each regular academic term (autumn, winter, spring, summer).

It is your responsibility to initiate the degree conferral application process by submitting an online application. Submitting an application... means you intend to finish your degree requirements by the end of the term for which you have applied.

Undergraduate students must be approved for student teaching and complete student teaching and capstone to be cleared for the degree. Student must submit graduation application for the quarter that matches the quarter you are student teaching.

After you submit the application, you cannot register for any term after the one selected in the application.

To apply for degree conferral, log on to Campus Connection. Select STUDENT CENTER, then MY ACADEMICS. On screen instructions will take you through the application process.

Provided that all requirements and financial obligations are met, degrees are posted 30 days after the official end of the term. Official dates are listed on the Academic Calendar.

DePaul holds one commencement ceremony each year in June. If you intend to participate, you must first apply for degree conferral for the current academic year and then submit a cap and gown order. Honors announced at the ceremony for undergraduates are based on winter quarter GPAs because a final GPA is not available at the time of the ceremony.

Additional information about degree conferral and graduation can be found on the College of Education website at: http://education.depaul.edu/.

Licensure

Requirements for licensure include completion of full bachelor’s degree program, all licensure tests (including OPI for world language majors), and awarding of bachelor’s degree. A bachelor's degree is required to qualify for licensure and must be awarded before applying for the license.

Individuals must submit an application directly to the Illinois State Board of Education after completion of requirements and after DePaul has submitted notification to ISBE. Application requirements include application form, application fee, official transcripts, and registration fee.

All individuals must meet ISBE requirements in place at the time of application for the license. Requirements are subject to change per the discretion of ISBE. All coursework and requirements pertaining to licensure requirements must be completed before DePaul University can recommend an individual for the license.

Individuals seeking additional endorsements after applying for the licensure must contact ISBE directly for an evaluation request.

All coursework and requirements must be completed before DePaul University can recommend an individual for the license.

Liberal Studies Requirements

Honors program requirements can be found in the individual Colleges & Schools section of the University Catalog. Select Academics, followed by Undergraduate, then Honors Program Alternative.

Notes

Specified required courses within Liberal Studies may have grade minimums (e.g. C- or better). Please consult your advisor or your college and major requirements.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy
Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

Major Requirements

Course Requirements

Content Area Courses

Biology Core: 28 quarter hours required, grade of C or better required

- BIO 191 GENERAL BIOLOGY I FOR SCIENCE MAJORS

- BIO 309 PLANT PHYSIOLOGY
  - or BIO 310 VERTEBRATE PHYSIOLOGY

Biology Electives: 12 quarter hours required, grade of C or better required

Biology electives cannot include courses designated as scientific inquiry. A minimum of 2 lab courses are required.

- BIO elective course
- BIO elective course with lab
- BIO elective course with lab

Mathematics Core: 8 quarter hours required, grade of C or better required

- Choose one of the following:
  - MAT 130 PRECALCULUS
  - MAT 147 CALCULUS WITH INTEGRATED PRECALCULUS I (6 credit hours)
  - MAT 150 CALCULUS I
  - MAT 160 CALCULUS FOR MATHEMATICS AND SCIENCE MAJORS I (5 credit hours)
  - MAT 170 CALCULUS FOR LIFE SCIENCES I (5 credit hours)

- Choose one of the following:
  - MAT 131 TRIGONOMETRY
  - MAT 148 CALCULUS WITH INTEGRATED PRECALCULUS II (6 credit hours)
  - MAT 151 CALCULUS II
  - MAT 161 CALCULUS FOR MATHEMATICS AND SCIENCE MAJORS II (5 credit hours)
  - MAT 171 CALCULUS FOR LIFE SCIENCES II (5 credit hours)

General Chemistry Core: 12 quarter hours required, grade of C or better required

- CHE 130 GENERAL CHEMISTRY I (3 credit hours) and CHE 131 GENERAL CHEMISTRY I LABORATORY (1 credit hour)
- CHE 132 GENERAL CHEMISTRY II (3 credit hours) and CHE 133 GENERAL CHEMISTRY LABORATORY II (1 credit hour)
- CHE 134 GENERAL CHEMISTRY III (3 credit hours) and CHE 135 GENERAL CHEMISTRY LABORATORY III (1 credit hour)

Organic Chemistry or Physics Series Core: 12 quarter hours required, grade of C- or better required

- CHE 230 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY I (3 credit hours) and CHE 231 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY LABORATORY I (1 credit hour)
- or PHY 150 GENERAL PHYSICS I
- CHE 232 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY II (3 credit hours) and CHE 233 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY LABORATORY II (1 credit hour)
- or PHY 151 GENERAL PHYSICS II
- CHE 234 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY III (3 credit hours) and CHE 235 ORGANIC CHEMISTRY LABORATORY III (1 credit hour)
- or PHY 152 GENERAL PHYSICS III

Pre-Education Introductory Courses: 20 quarter hours required, grade of C or better required
Advanced Standing Education Courses: 28 quarter hours required, grade of C or better required

- SCU 207 SOCIAL AND HISTORICAL ISSUES IN EDUCATION
- SEC 364 METHODS: CURRICULUM AND INSTRUCTION IN SECONDARY SCHOOLS
- SEC 314 THE NATURE OF SCIENCE
- SEC 324 INQUIRY & APPLICATION IN DEVELOPING SECONDARY SCIENCE PEDAGOGY
- SCU 336 ADOLESCENT AND ADULT GROWTH AND DEVELOPMENT
  or SCU 337 HUMAN GROWTH AND DEVELOPMENT

Student Teaching: 10 quarter hours required, grade of B- or better required

Registration in student teaching requires completion of all requirements and procedures in the college core section. EDU 95 indicates to the Illinois State Board of Education that all field experience hours are complete. All students also take SEC 387, Capstone Seminar with student teaching (listed in the Liberal Studies section).

- SEC 390 SECONDARY STUDENT TEACHING (10 credit hours)
- EDU 95 CLINICAL EXPERIENCE WITH CHILDREN AND YOUTH (non-credit, non-tuition, PA grade required)

Licensure Tests

All individuals licensed by the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) are required to complete licensure tests specific to their teaching license. Secondary Education Biology majors must complete the following tests:

- Test of Academic Proficiency (TAP) (test #400) - assesses knowledge of reading comprehension, language arts, writing, and math. Test is required to qualify for Advanced Standing. *Check with your advisor about qualifying for a waiver with acceptable ACT or SAT test scores.
- Science: Biology Content Area Test (test #105) – assesses knowledge of both biological science and physical science. Test is required before Student Teaching (deadlines apply).
- EdTPA – assessment conducted during the student teaching experience including video clips of instruction, lesson plans, student work samples, analysis of student learning and reflective commentaries. Students will submit an electronic portfolio to an outside agency for independent evaluation and a fee will be imposed by that agency as part of the assessment.

- Takes initiative, uses imagination and creativity, and seeks out information using a variety of human and material resources and technology to inform his or her teaching
- Is aware of the role of classroom environment and uses management procedures that reflect respect and care for learners and concern for their emotional and physical well being
- Takes the time and effort needed to understand how students learn, including discovering their interests and experiences and determining how to shape teaching acts (using technology as appropriate) that engage learners meaningfully and actively
- Values and is committed to using assessment to evaluate and ensure the continuous intellectual, social, emotional, and physical development of the learner
- Respects and considers cultural contexts in order to determine how to be responsive to learners and to proactively promote all students’ learning
Values and is responsive to diverse learners' academic, emotional, and social needs through teaching acts (including careful instructional planning, implementation, and differentiation) and through everyday interactions with students
Is committed to collaboration with colleagues, families, and communities in order to promote all students' learning and development
Recognizes and fulfills professional responsibilities and habits of conduct (e.g., dress, language, preparedness, attendance, punctuality, etc.)
Demonstrates collegiality, honesty, good judgment, courtesy, respect, and diplomacy
Balances self-confidence and assertiveness with respect for others' perspectives
Respects the requirements, expectations, and procedures of both the College of Education and of our field partners and appreciates the issues of trust, fairness, and professionalism involved

The following dispositions apply to Special Education majors only:

- Is receptive to faculty feedback and acts meaningfully and professionally upon suggestions
- Reflects on his or her own progress, identifies strengths and weaknesses, and evaluates strategies for success and professional growth
- Takes initiative
- Is open to new ideas and engagement in learning
- Respects diversity and cultural contexts to determine how to be responsive to learners and to proactively promote all students' learning
- Expresses positive attitudes toward individuals with disabilities and a willingness to advocate on their behalf
- Is committed to collaboration with colleagues, families, and communities in order to promote all students' learning and development
- Demonstrates professional ethical and legal behavior as defined by the respective codes of ethics and laws
- Demonstrates consistent professional behavior across all academic settings
- Maintains appropriate interpersonal and professional boundaries
- Accepts personal responsibility for one's behavior
- Expresses feelings and opinions effectively and appropriately
- Upholds confidentiality

Skill Building Courses

Before taking any math or English courses, students must take the DePaul placement tests to determine if skill level is at the college level. If placement indicates skill level in these courses, the courses become part of degree requirements. Consult with your advisor regarding placement test results and any required classes.

Advanced Standing

Students are admitted conditionally to the College of Education. There are additional requirements to reach Advanced Standing in your program in the College of Education. Requirements must be met to progress in the major and take courses in the Advanced Standing category.

Advanced Standing requirements are:

- Maintain a DePaul undergraduate 2.5 GPA
- Pass the Illinois Test of Academic Proficiency (TAP)
- Submit an application for advanced standing form

Students should attempt to complete the Advanced Standing requirements soon after beginning the program. There is no time limit to meet these criteria; however, students will only be able to take pre-education courses until requirements have been met. Students can also take liberal studies or content area courses before or after meeting Advanced Standing requirements.

Modern Language Competence Requirement

Students pursuing a Bachelor of Arts degree in the College of Education will be required to demonstrate a measure of competence in a modern language, as defined by the college. Such competence may be demonstrated in one of several ways:

- completing two years of a language sequence in high school
- completing the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language
- completing a college course beyond the first-year level in any language
- achieving a satisfactory score on any of the Modern Language placement examinations administered at DePaul
- achieving a satisfactory rating in a proficiency examination accepted by DePaul
- achieving a score of 3 or higher on the Advance Placement (AP) test for any language
- achieving a score of 5 or higher in the Language B assessment from a Standard or Higher Level International Baccalaureate (IB) program
- achieving a satisfactory score on the CLEP examination

Please note: The Modern Language Competence Requirement is not required for students in the Early Childhood Education: SNL Joint Program (BAECE) program.

For further information regarding satisfactory scores and possible credit from the DePaul placement, AP, CLEP, or IB examinations, please contact the Office of the University Registrar.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College of Education will abide by the COE Modern Language Requirement in place on the effective date of the ICT.
B.A. students who meet College requirements and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" of the Liberal Studies Program. While B.S. students are not required to demonstrate competency in a modern language, the "Modern Language Option" is available to them for language study at any level.

Licensure Tests

All individuals licensed by the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) are required to complete licensure tests specific to their teaching license.

Field Experiences

Each student seeking licensure from the College of Education/Professional Education Unit must complete supervised field experiences in appropriate settings in conjunction with education courses. The field experiences must include a variety of grade levels, multicultural experiences, and a minimum of 10 hours in special education settings. All field experiences must be completed prior to final approval for student teaching. Field experience hours should be entered by the student into the FEDS system when completing courses with field experience requirements.

Endorsements

An endorsement is a statement appearing on a license that identifies the specific subjects or grade level that the license holder is authorized to teach.

The Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) issues endorsements in various subject areas. To view the full list and requirements, visit the ISBE website.

Please note that the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) may change the state licensure and endorsement requirements at any time and without prior notice. Individuals are bound by the requirements in place when applying for the license or endorsement, not the requirements in place when beginning the program.

Student Teaching Requirements

Student Teaching is the culminating clinical experience in the student's program. All students in teacher preparation programs must meet the following requirements before applying for student teaching:

Academic Requirements:

- Completion of all Liberal Studies, Pre-Education, Advanced Standing and concentration/content area courses
- Overall cumulative GPA of 2.50 or better
- Cumulative GPA of 2.75 or better in all education courses
- Meet all other program requirements (e.g., modern language and residency requirements)
- Meet designated program standards
- Pass the required Illinois licensure content area test(s)

Clinical Requirements:

- Completion of all required field experiences
- Three satisfactory evaluations in field experiences
- Three satisfactory faculty recommendations
- Attendance at mandatory meeting for student teaching
- Application for student teaching, resume, transcripts, and writing sample (check deadlines)
- Review and approval by Student Teaching Committee of the College of Education

Student Teaching Timeline and Deadlines:

- Attend a Mandatory Meeting approximately 1 year prior to expected quarter of student teaching.
- Submit application for student teaching after attending Mandatory Meeting, approximately 1 year prior to student teaching.
- Academic requirements are due one quarter before expected quarter of student teaching.
- Clinical requirements are completed as course requirements. Field experience hours are entered by the student as coursework is completed.

Online Faculty Evaluations are entered by the instructor of relevant courses. All data must be entered in the Field Experience Documentation System (FEDS) due one month prior to student teaching.

Individual childcare agencies and public and private school districts may have additional requirements (application, training, background check, etc.).

Degree Conferral and Graduation
The awarding of a degree is not automatic. You must submit an application to be considered for the degree. DePaul awards and posts degrees at the end of each regular academic term (autumn, winter, spring, summer).

It is your responsibility to initiate the degree conferral application process by submitting an online application. Submitting an application means you intend to finish your degree requirements by the end of the term for which you have applied.

Undergraduate students must be approved for student teaching and complete student teaching and capstone to be cleared for the degree. Student must submit graduation application for the quarter that matches the quarter you are student teaching.

After you submit the application, you cannot register for any term after the one selected in the application.

To apply for degree conferral, log on to Campus Connection. Select STUDENT CENTER, then MY ACADEMICS. On screen instructions will take you through the application process.

Provided that all requirements and financial obligations are met, degrees are posted 30 days after the official end of the term. Official dates are listed on the Academic Calendar.

DePaul holds one commencement ceremony each year in June. If you intend to participate, you must first apply for degree conferral for the current academic year and then submit a cap and gown order. Honors announced at the ceremony for undergraduates are based on winter quarter GPAs because a final GPA is not available at the time of the ceremony.

Additional information about degree conferral and graduation can be found on the College of Education website at: http://education.depaul.edu/.

Licensure

Requirements for licensure include completion of full bachelor's degree program, all licensure tests (including OPI for world language majors), and awarding of bachelor’s degree. A bachelor's degree is required to qualify for licensure and must be awarded before applying for the license.

Individuals must submit an application directly to the Illinois State Board of Education after completion of requirements and after DePaul has submitted notification to ISBE. Application requirements include application form, application fee, official transcripts, and registration fee.

All individuals must meet ISBE requirements in place at the time of application for the license. Requirements are subject to change per the discretion of ISBE. All coursework and requirements pertaining to licensure requirements must be completed before DePaul University can recommend an individual for the license.

Individuals seeking additional endorsements after applying for the licensure must contact ISBE directly for an evaluation request.

All coursework and requirements must be completed before DePaul University can recommend an individual for the license.

Licensure Tests

All individuals licensed by the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) are required to complete licensure tests specific to their teaching license. Secondary Education Chemistry majors must complete the following tests:

- Test of Academic Proficiency (test #400) - assesses knowledge of reading comprehension, language arts, writing, and math. Test is required to qualify for Advanced Standing. *Check with your advisor about qualifying for a waiver with acceptable ACT or SAT test scores.
- Science: Chemistry Content Area Test (test #106) – assesses knowledge of both geological and chemical science. Test is required before Student Teaching (deadlines apply)
- EdTPA - assessment conducted during the student teaching experience including video clips of instruction, lesson plans, student work samples, analysis of student learning and reflective commentaries. Students will submit an electronic portfolio to an outside agency for independent evaluation and a fee will be imposed by that agency as part of the assessment.

Secondary Education English (BA)

The Bachelor of Arts program in Secondary Education English prepares students to teach 6th through 12th grade in a variety of urban and suburban education settings, including public and private middle schools and high schools.

Students learn educational theories and effective teaching practices, participate in field experiences, which require observation and participation in teaching activities at multiple schools, and student teaching. Students should meet early and regularly with their advisor to design and monitor their program of study.

The program combines theoretical principles of education and field work with the student's choice of major. Students follow a general pattern of study for middle school and high school levels. In all cases, appropriate field experience plays an integral role.

In addition to completing the requirements for licensure in Illinois, and in aligning with a commitment to preparing students with a global mindset, teacher candidates will also complete the requirements to gain a certificate in Teaching and Learning from the International Baccalaureate Organization. The IB Certificate in Teaching and Learning for the Middle Years Program (MYP) and the Diploma Program (DP) provides teacher candidates the background and expertise to teach in an IB school. The IB Certificate in Teaching and Learning expands the opportunities for teacher candidates and training in IB open expands the vision of inquiry and reflective practice.

Students entering the program must be able and willing to devote themselves to a program requiring a minimum of 100 hours of daytime field experiences in schools. These school-based clinical hours are completed in conjunction with methodology courses that require students to spend a half-day each week in a school. As students will be completing requirements to earn the IB Certificate, a majority of the 100-110 hours will be completed in International Baccalaureate Schools. In addition, the student must spend a minimum of 11 weeks in full-time student teaching.

Please make sure you consult the Liberal Studies Requirements, Major Requirements, and College Core Requirements for full degree requirements.

NOTE: Secondary Education students now have the option to double major in Secondary Education and English. With the double major, students will graduate with a Bachelor of Arts degree with a major in Secondary Education and a major in English. Students should declare Secondary Education as their primary major (see Secondary Education BA/BS for degree requirements) and English (see English BA for degree requirements) as their secondary major. If you have already begun the Secondary Education English major and want to switch to the Secondary Education Major and English double major, you should contact your academic advisor because the double major may require additional coursework. Students who pursue the Bachelor of Arts degree with a major in Secondary Education English do not have the option to double major in English.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Use knowledge of adolescent learners to create safe, equitable, and meaningful learning environments and collaborative classrooms.
- Demonstrate and apply disciplinary content and pedagogical content knowledge with an emphasis on developing students' conceptual understanding and disciplinary literacy.
- Plan and deliver instruction that demonstrates knowledge of adolescent learners and content.
- Implement assessment practices to evaluate student learning and inform instruction.
- Exhibit professionalism, pursue professional growth, and advocate for adolescent learners and their communities.

College Core Requirements

Dispositions

The academic programs within the College of Education have set forth these dispositions as educational and professional expectations for all students. Students should be aware that failing to abide by DePaul University or College of Education policies including, under certain circumstances, these dispositions, could result in adverse consequences for the student, including removal from his or her program, the College of Education, or the University.

The following dispositions apply to Early Childhood Education, Elementary Education, Exercise Science Middle Grades, Physical Education, Secondary Education, and World Language Education majors only:

- Reflects on progress and identifies strengths and weaknesses, including evaluating strategies for success, finding alternatives for inappropriate strategies, and modifying future practices
- Is receptive to faculty feedback and acts meaningfully and professionally upon suggestions
- Values critical thinking, including engaging theoretical and philosophical frameworks and shows evidence of critical thinking through discussion and writing (e.g., journals, response to prompts)
- Understands the importance of and is committed to communicating clearly orally and in writing both in traditional and in new and emerging digital formats
- Values and is committed to continually developing strong content area knowledge and/or knowledge of the professional field, including pedagogical content knowledge
- Takes initiative, uses imagination and creativity, and seeks out information using a variety of human and material resources and technology to inform his or her teaching
- Is aware of the role of classroom environment and uses management procedures that reflect respect and care for learners and concern for their emotional and physical well being
- Takes the time and effort needed to understand how students learn, including discovering their interests and experiences and determining how to shape teaching acts (using technology as appropriate) that engage learners meaningfully and actively
- Values and is committed to using assessment to evaluate and ensure the continuous intellectual, social, emotional, and physical development of the learner
- Respects and considers cultural contexts in order to determine how to be responsive to learners and to proactively promote all students' learning
- Values and is responsive to diverse learners' academic, emotional, and social needs through teaching acts (including careful instructional planning, implementation, and differentiation) and through everyday interactions with students
- Is committed to collaboration with colleagues, families, and communities in order to promote all students' learning and development
- Recognizes and fulfills professional responsibilities and habits of conduct (e.g., dress, language, preparedness, attendance, punctuality, etc.)

Notes

Specified required courses within Liberal Studies may have grade minimums (e.g. C- or better). Please consult your advisor or your college and major requirements.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

- BBE 301 TEACHING ADOLESCENT ENGLISH LANGUAGE LEARNERS AND DIALECT SPEAKERS ACROSS THE CURRICULUM
Open Electives: 4 quarter hours are required

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours. The following cannot be used to fulfill an open elective: WRD 98, MAT 94, and MAT 95.

Student Teaching: 10 quarter hours required, grade of B- or better required

Registration in student teaching requires completion of all requirements and procedures indicated in the college core section. EDU 95 indicates to the Illinois State Board of Education that all field experience hours are complete. All students also take SEC 387, Capstone Seminar with student teaching (listed in the Liberal Studies section).

- SEC 390 SECONDARY STUDENT TEACHING (10 credit hours)
- EDU 95 CLINICAL EXPERIENCE WITH CHILDREN AND YOUTH (non-credit, non-tuition, PA grade required)

Licensure Tests

All individuals licensed by the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) are required to complete licensure tests specific to their teaching license. Secondary Education English majors must complete the following tests:

- Test of Academic Proficiency (TAP) (test #400) - assesses knowledge of reading comprehension, language arts, writing, and math. Test is required to qualify for Advanced Standing. *Check with your advisor about qualifying for a waiver with acceptable ACT or SAT test scores.
- English Language Arts Content Area Test (test #207) – assesses reading, writing and research, speaking and listening, and literature. Test is required before Student Teaching (deadlines apply).
- EdTPA - assessment conducted during the student teaching experience including video clips of instruction, lesson plans, student work samples, analysis of student learning and reflective commentaries. Students will submit an electronic portfolio to an outside agency for independent evaluation and a fee will be imposed by that agency as part of the assessment.

Secondary Education Environmental Science (BS)

The Bachelor of Science program in Secondary Education Environmental Science prepares students to teach 6th through 12th grade in a variety of urban and suburban education settings, including public and private middle schools and high schools.

Students learn educational theories and effective teaching practices, participate in field experiences, which require observation and participation in teaching activities at multiple schools, and student teaching. Students should meet early and regularly with their advisor to design and monitor their program of study.

The program combines theoretical principles of education and field work with the student's choice of major. Students follow a general pattern of study for middle school and high school levels. In all cases, appropriate field experience plays an integral role.

In addition to completing the requirements for licensure in Illinois, and in aligning with a commitment to preparing students with a global mindset, teacher candidates will also complete the requirements to gain a certificate in Teaching and Learning from the International Baccalaureate Organization. The IB Certificate in Teaching and Learning for the Middle Years Program (MYP) and the Diploma Program (DP) provides teacher candidates the background and expertise to teach in an IB school. The IB Certificate in Teaching and Learning expands the opportunities for teacher candidates and training in IB open expands the vision of inquiry and reflective practice.

Students entering the program must be able and willing to devote themselves to a program requiring a minimum of 100 hours of daytime field experiences in schools. These school-based clinical hours are completed in conjunction with methodology courses that require students to spend a half-day each week in a school. As students will be completing requirements to earn the IB Certificate, a majority of the 100-110 hours will be completed in International Baccalaureate Schools. In addition, the student must spend a minimum of 11 weeks in full-time student teaching.

Please make sure you consult the Liberal Studies Requirements, Major Requirements, and College Core Requirements for full degree requirements.

NOTE: Secondary Education students now have the option to double major in Secondary Education and Environmental Science. With the double major, students will graduate with a Bachelor of Science degree with a major in Secondary Education and a major in Environmental Science. Students should declare Secondary Education as their primary major (see Secondary Education BA/BS for degree requirements) and Environmental Science (see Environmental Science BS for degree requirements) as their secondary major. If you have already begun the Secondary Education Environmental Science major and want to switch to the Secondary Education Major and Environmental Science double major, you should contact your academic advisor because the double major may require additional coursework. Students who pursue the Bachelor of Science degree with a major in Secondary Education Environmental Science do not have the option to double major in Environmental Science.
Licensure

Illinois Professional Educator License with endorsement in Secondary Education Science-Environmental Science (grades 6-12), an Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) approved program.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Use knowledge of adolescent learners to create safe, equitable, and meaningful learning environments and collaborative classrooms.
- Demonstrate and apply disciplinary content and pedagogical content knowledge with an emphasis on developing students' conceptual understanding and disciplinary literacy.
- Plan and deliver instruction that demonstrates knowledge of adolescent learners and content.
- Implement assessment practices to evaluate student learning and inform instruction.
- Exhibit professionalism, pursue professional growth, and advocate for adolescent learners and their communities.

College Core Requirements

Dispositions

The academic programs within the College of Education have set forth these dispositions as educational and professional expectations for all students. Students should be aware that failing to abide by DePaul University or College of Education policies including, under certain circumstances, these dispositions, could result in adverse consequences for the student, including removal from his or her program, the College of Education, or the University.

The following dispositions apply to Early Childhood Education, Elementary Education, Exercise Science Middle Grades, Physical Education, Secondary Education, and World Language Education majors only:

- Reflects on progress and identifies strengths and weaknesses, including evaluating strategies for success, finding alternatives for inappropriate strategies, and modifying future practices
- Is receptive to faculty feedback and acts meaningfully and professionally upon suggestions
- Values critical thinking, including engaging theoretical and philosophical frameworks and shows evidence of critical thinking through discussion and writing (e.g., journals, response to prompts)
- Understands the importance of and is committed to communicating clearly orally and in writing both in traditional and in new and emerging digital formats
- Values and is committed to continually developing strong content area knowledge and/or knowledge of the professional field, including pedagogical content knowledge
- Takes initiative, uses imagination and creativity, and seeks out information using a variety of human and material resources and technology to inform his or her teaching
- Is aware of the role of classroom environment and uses management procedures that reflect respect and care for learners and concern for their emotional and physical well being
- Takes the time and effort needed to understand how students learn, including discovering their interests and experiences and determining how to shape teaching acts (using technology as appropriate) that engage learners meaningfully and actively
- Values and is committed to using assessment to evaluate and ensure the continuous intellectual, social, emotional, and physical development of the learner
- Respects and considers cultural contexts in order to determine how to be responsive to learners and to proactively promote all students' learning
- Values and is responsive to diverse learners' academic, emotional, and social needs through teaching acts (including careful instructional planning, implementation, and differentiation) and through everyday interactions with students
- Is committed to collaboration with colleagues, families, and communities in order to promote all students' learning and development
- Recognizes and fulfills professional responsibilities and habits of conduct (e.g., dress, language, preparedness, attendance, punctuality, etc.)
- Demonstrates collegiality, honesty, good judgment, courtesy, respect, and diplomacy
- Balances self-confidence and assertiveness with respect for others' perspectives
- Respects the requirements, expectations, and procedures of both the College of Education and of our field partners and appreciates the issues of trust, fairness, and professionalism involved
The following dispositions apply to Special Education majors only:

- Is receptive to faculty feedback and acts meaningfully and professionally upon suggestions
- Reflects on his or her own progress, identifies strengths and weaknesses, and evaluates strategies for success and professional growth
- Takes initiative
- Is open to new ideas and engagement in learning
- Respects diversity and cultural contexts to determine how to be responsive to learners and to proactively promote all students' learning
- Expresses positive attitudes toward individuals with disabilities and a willingness to advocate on their behalf
- Is committed to collaboration with colleagues, families, and communities in order to promote all students' learning and development
- Demonstrates professional ethical and legal behavior as defined by the respective codes of ethics and laws
- Demonstrates consistent professional behavior across all academic settings
- Maintains appropriate interpersonal and professional boundaries
- Accepts personal responsibility for one's behavior
- Expresses feelings and opinions effectively and appropriately
- Upholds confidentiality

Skill Building Courses

Before taking any math or English courses, students must take the DePaul placement tests to determine if skill level is at the college level. If placement indicates skill level in these courses, the courses become part of degree requirements. Consult with your advisor regarding placement test results and any required classes.

Advanced Standing

Students are admitted conditionally to the College of Education. There are additional requirements to reach Advanced Standing in your program in the College of Education. Requirements must be met to progress in the major and take courses in the Advanced Standing category.

Advanced Standing requirements are:

- Maintain a DePaul undergraduate 2.5 GPA
- Pass the Illinois Test of Academic Proficiency (TAP)
- Submit an application for advanced standing form

Students should attempt to complete the Advanced Standing requirements soon after beginning the program. There is no time limit to meet these criteria; however, students will only be able to take pre-education courses until requirements have been met. Students can also take liberal studies or content area courses before or after meeting Advanced Standing requirements.

Modern Language Competence Requirement

Students pursuing a Bachelor of Arts degree in the College of Education will be required to demonstrate a measure of competence in a modern language, as defined by the college. Such competence may be demonstrated in one of several ways:

- Completing two years of a language sequence in high school
- Completing the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language
- Completing a college course beyond the first-year level in any language
- Achieving a satisfactory score on any of the Modern Language placement examinations administered at DePaul
- Achieving a satisfactory rating in a proficiency examination accepted by DePaul
- Achieving a score of 3 or higher on the Advance Placement (AP) test for any language
- Achieving a score of 5 or higher in the Language B assessment from a Standard or Higher Level International Baccalaureate (IB) program
- Achieving a satisfactory score on the CLEP examination

Please note: The Modern Language Competence Requirement is not required for students in the Early Childhood Education: SNL Joint Program (BAECE) program.

For further information regarding satisfactory scores and possible credit from the DePaul placement, AP, CLEP, or IB examinations, please contact the Office of the University Registrar.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College of Education will abide by the COE Modern Language Requirement in place on the effective date of the ICT.

B.A. students who meet College requirements and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" of the Liberal Studies Program. While B.S. students are not required to demonstrate competency in a modern language, the "Modern Language Option" is available to them for language study at any level.

Licensure Tests

All individuals licensed by the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) are required to complete licensure tests specific to their teaching license.
Field Experiences

Each student seeking licensure from the College of Education/Professional Education Unit must complete supervised field experiences in appropriate settings in conjunction with education courses. The field experiences must include a variety of grade levels, multicultural experiences, and a minimum of 10 hours in special education settings. All field experiences must be completed prior to final approval for student teaching. Field experience hours should be entered by the student into the FEDS system when completing courses with field experience requirements.

Endorsements

An endorsement is a statement appearing on a license that identifies the specific subjects or grade level that the license holder is authorized to teach.

The Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) issues endorsements in various subject areas. To view the full list and requirements, visit the ISBE website.

Please note that the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) may change the state licensure and endorsement requirements at any time and without prior notice. Individuals are bound by the requirements in place when applying for the license or endorsement, not the requirements in place when beginning the program.

Student Teaching Requirements

Student Teaching is the culminating clinical experience in the student's program. All students in teacher preparation programs must meet the following requirements before applying for student teaching:

Academic Requirements:

- Completion of all Liberal Studies, Pre-Education, Advanced Standing and concentration/content area courses
- Overall cumulative GPA of 2.50 or better
- Cumulative GPA of 2.75 or better in all education courses
- Meet all other program requirements (e.g., modern language and residency requirements)
- Meet designated program standards
- Pass the required Illinois licensure content area test(s)

Clinical Requirements:

- Completion of all required field experiences
- Three satisfactory evaluations in field experiences
- Three satisfactory faculty recommendations
- Attendance at mandatory meeting for student teaching
- Application for student teaching, resume, transcripts, and writing sample (check deadlines)
- Review and approval by Student Teaching Committee of the College of Education

Student Teaching Timeline and Deadlines:

- Attend a Mandatory Meeting approximately 1 year prior to expected quarter of student teaching.
- Submit application for student teaching after attending Mandatory Meeting, approximately 1 year prior to student teaching.
- Academic requirements are due one quarter before expected quarter of student teaching.
- Clinical requirements are completed as course requirements. Field experience hours are entered by the student as coursework is completed.

Online Faculty Evaluations are entered by the instructor of relevant courses. All data must be entered in the Field Experience Documentation System (FEDS) due one month prior to student teaching.

Individual childcare agencies and public and private school districts may have additional requirements (application, training, background check, etc.).

Degree Conferral and Graduation

The awarding of a degree is not automatic. You must submit an application to be considered for the degree. DePaul awards and posts degrees at the end of each regular academic term (autumn, winter, spring, summer).

It is your responsibility to initiate the degree conferral application process by submitting an online application. Submitting an application means you intend to finish your degree requirements by the end of the term for which you have applied.

Undergraduate students must be approved for student teaching and complete student teaching and capstone to be cleared for the degree. Student must submit graduation application for the quarter that matches the quarter you are student teaching.

After you submit the application, you cannot register for any term after the one selected in the application.
To apply for degree conferral, log on to Campus Connection. Select STUDENT CENTER, then MY ACADEMICS. On screen instructions will take you through the application process.

Provided that all requirements and financial obligations are met, degrees are posted 30 days after the official end of the term. Official dates are listed on the Academic Calendar.

DePaul holds one commencement ceremony each year in June. If you intend to participate, you must first apply for degree conferral for the current academic year and then submit a cap and gown order. Honors announced at the ceremony for undergraduates are based on winter quarter GPAs because a final GPA is not available at the time of the ceremony.

Additional information about degree conferral and graduation can be found on the College of Education website at: http://education.depaul.edu/.

Licensure

Requirements for licensure include completion of full bachelor’s degree program, all licensure tests (including OPI for world language majors), and awarding of bachelor’s degree. A bachelor’s degree is required to qualify for licensure and must be awarded before applying for the license.

Individuals must submit an application directly to the Illinois State Board of Education after completion of requirements and after DePaul has submitted notification to ISBE. Application requirements include application form, application fee, official transcripts, and registration fee.

All individuals must meet ISBE requirements in place at the time of application for the license. Requirements are subject to change per the discretion of ISBE. All coursework and requirements pertaining to licensure requirements must be completed before DePaul University can recommend an individual for the license.

Individuals seeking additional endorsements after applying for the licensure must contact ISBE directly for an evaluation request.

All coursework and requirements must be completed before DePaul University can recommend an individual for the license.

Liberal Studies Requirements

Honors program requirements can be found in the individual Colleges & Schools section of the University Catalog. Select Academics, followed by Undergraduate, then Honors Program Alternative.

- Use knowledge of adolescent learners to create safe, equitable, and meaningful learning environments and collaborative classrooms.
- Demonstrate and apply disciplinary content and pedagogical content knowledge with an emphasis on developing students' conceptual understanding and disciplinary literacy.
- Plan and deliver instruction that demonstrates knowledge of adolescent learners and content.
- Implement assessment practices to evaluate student learning and inform instruction.
- Exhibit professionalism, pursue professional growth, and advocate for adolescent learners and their communities.

College Core Requirements

Dispositions

The academic programs within the College of Education have set forth these dispositions as educational and professional expectations for all students. Students should be aware that failing to abide by DePaul University or College of Education policies including, under certain circumstances, these dispositions, could result in adverse consequences for the student, including removal from his or her program, the College of Education, or the University.

The following dispositions apply to Early Childhood Education, Elementary Education, Exercise Science Middle Grades, Physical Education, Secondary Education, and World Language Education majors only:

- Reflects on progress and identifies strengths and weaknesses, including evaluating strategies for success, finding alternatives for inappropriate strategies, and modifying future practices
- Is receptive to faculty feedback and acts meaningfully and professionally upon suggestions
- Values critical thinking, including engaging theoretical and philosophical frameworks and shows evidence of critical thinking through discussion and writing (e.g., journals, response to prompts)
- Understands the importance of and is committed to communicating clearly orally and in writing both in traditional and in new and emerging digital formats
- Values and is committed to continually developing strong content area knowledge and/or knowledge of the professional field, including pedagogical content knowledge
- Takes initiative, uses imagination and creativity, and seeks out information using a variety of human and material resources and technology to inform his or her teaching
- Is aware of the role of classroom environment and uses management procedures that reflect respect and care for learners and concern for their emotional and physical well being
- Takes the time and effort needed to understand how students learn, including discovering their interests and experiences and determining how to shape teaching acts (using technology as appropriate) that engage learners meaningfully and actively
- Values and is committed to using assessment to evaluate and ensure the continuous intellectual, social, emotional, and physical development of the learner
- Respects and considers cultural contexts in order to determine how to be responsive to learners and to proactively promote all students' learning
- Values and is responsive to diverse learners' academic, emotional, and social needs through teaching acts (including careful instructional planning, implementation, and differentiation) and through everyday interactions with students
- Is committed to collaboration with colleagues, families, and communities in order to promote all students' learning and development
- Recognizes and fulfills professional responsibilities and habits of conduct (e.g., dress, language, preparedness, attendance, punctuality, etc.)
- Demonstrates collegiality, honesty, good judgment, courtesy, respect, and diplomacy
- Balances self-confidence and assertiveness with respect for others' perspectives
- Respects the requirements, expectations, and procedures of both the College of Education and of our field partners and appreciates the issues of trust, fairness, and professionalism involved

The following dispositions apply to Special Education majors only:

- Is receptive to faculty feedback and acts meaningfully and professionally upon suggestions
- Reflects on his or her own progress, identifies strengths and weaknesses, and evaluates strategies for success and professional growth
- Takes initiative
- Is open to new ideas and engagement in learning
- Respects diversity and cultural contexts to determine how to be responsive to learners and to proactively promote all students' learning
- Expresses positive attitudes toward individuals with disabilities and a willingness to advocate on their behalf
- Is committed to collaboration with colleagues, families, and communities in order to promote all students' learning and development
• Demonstrates professional ethical and legal behavior as defined by the respective codes of ethics and laws
• Demonstrates consistent professional behavior across all academic settings
• Maintains appropriate interpersonal and professional boundaries
• Accepts personal responsibility for one's behavior
• Expresses feelings and opinions effectively and appropriately
• Upholds confidentiality

Skill Building Courses

Before taking any math or English courses, students must take the DePaul placement tests to determine if skill level is at the college level. If placement indicates skill level in these courses, the courses become part of degree requirements. Consult with your advisor regarding placement test results and any required classes.

Advanced Standing

Students are admitted conditionally to the College of Education. There are additional requirements to reach Advanced Standing in your program in the College of Education. Requirements must be met to progress in the major and take courses in the Advanced Standing category.

Advanced Standing requirements are:

• Maintain a DePaul undergraduate 2.5 GPA
• Pass the Illinois Test of Academic Proficiency (TAP)
• Submit an application for advanced standing form

Students should attempt to complete the Advanced Standing requirements soon after beginning the program. There is no time limit to meet these criteria; however, students will only be able to take pre-education courses until requirements have been met. Students can also take liberal studies or content area courses before or after meeting Advanced Standing requirements.

Modern Language Competence Requirement

Students pursuing a Bachelor of Arts degree in the College of Education will be required to demonstrate a measure of competence in a modern language, as defined by the college. Such competence may be demonstrated in one of several ways:

• completing two years of a language sequence in high school
• completing the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language
• completing a college course beyond the first-year level in any language
• achieving a satisfactory score on any of the Modern Language placement examinations administered at DePaul
• achieving a satisfactory rating in a proficiency examination accepted by DePaul
• achieving a score of 3 or higher on the Advance Placement (AP) test for any language
• achieving a score of 5 or higher in the Language B assessment from a Standard or Higher Level International Baccalaureate (IB) program
• achieving a satisfactory score on the CLEP examination

Please note: The Modern Language Competence Requirement is not required for students in the Early Childhood Education: SNL Joint Program (BAECE) program.

For further information regarding satisfactory scores and possible credit from the DePaul placement, AP, CLEP, or IB examinations, please contact the Office of the University Registrar.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College of Education will abide by the COE Modern Language Requirement in place on the effective date of the ICT.

B.A. students who meet College requirements and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" of the Liberal Studies Program. While B.S. students are not required to demonstrate competency in a modern language, the "Modern Language Option" is available to them for language study at any level.

Licensure Tests

All individuals licensed by the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) are required to complete licensure tests specific to their teaching license.

Field Experiences

Each student seeking licensure from the College of Education/Professional Education Unit must complete supervised field experiences in appropriate settings in conjunction with education courses. The field experiences must include a variety of grade levels, multicultural experiences, and a minimum of 10 hours in special education settings. All field experiences must be completed prior to final approval for student teaching. Field experience hours should be entered by the student into the FEDS system when completing courses with field experience requirements.

Endorsements
An endorsement is a statement appearing on a license that identifies the specific subjects or grade level that the license holder is authorized to teach.

The Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) issues endorsements in various subject areas. To view the full list and requirements, visit the ISBE website.

Please note that the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) may change the state licensure and endorsement requirements at any time and without prior notice. Individuals are bound by the requirements in place when applying for the license or endorsement, not the requirements in place when beginning the program.

Student Teaching Requirements

Student Teaching is the culminating clinical experience in the student's program. All students in teacher preparation programs must meet the following requirements before applying for student teaching:

Academic Requirements:
- Completion of all Liberal Studies, Pre-Education, Advanced Standing and concentration/content area courses
- Overall cumulative GPA of 2.50 or better
- Cumulative GPA of 2.75 or better in all education courses
- Meet all other program requirements (e.g., modern language and residency requirements)
- Meet designated program standards
- Pass the required Illinois licensure content area test(s)

Clinical Requirements:
- Completion of all required field experiences
- Three satisfactory evaluations in field experiences
- Three satisfactory faculty recommendations
- Attendance at mandatory meeting for student teaching
- Application for student teaching, resume, transcripts, and writing sample (check deadlines)
- Review and approval by Student Teaching Committee of the College of Education

Student Teaching Timeline and Deadlines:
- Attend a Mandatory Meeting approximately 1 year prior to expected quarter of student teaching.
- Submit application for student teaching after attending Mandatory Meeting, approximately 1 year prior to student teaching.
- Academic requirements are due one quarter before expected quarter of student teaching.
- Clinical requirements are completed as course requirements. Field experience hours are entered by the student as coursework is completed.

Online Faculty Evaluations are entered by the instructor of relevant courses. All data must be entered in the Field Experience Documentation System (FEDS) due one month prior to student teaching.

Individual childcare agencies and public and private school districts may have additional requirements (application, training, background check, etc.).

Degree Conferral and Graduation

The awarding of a degree is not automatic. You must submit an application to be considered for the degree. DePaul awards and posts degrees at the end of each regular academic term (autumn, winter, spring, summer).

It is your responsibility to initiate the degree conferral application process by submitting an online application. Submitting an application means you intend to finish your degree requirements by the end of the term for which you have applied.

Undergraduate students must be approved for student teaching and complete student teaching and capstone to be cleared for the degree. Student must submit graduation application for the quarter that matches the quarter you are student teaching.

After you submit the application, you cannot register for any term after the one selected in the application.

To apply for degree conferral, log on to Campus Connection. Select STUDENT CENTER, then MY ACADEMICS. On screen instructions will take you through the application process.

Provided that all requirements and financial obligations are met, degrees are posted 30 days after the official end of the term. Official dates are listed on the Academic Calendar.

DePaul holds one commencement ceremony each year in June. If you intend to participate, you must first apply for degree conferral for the current academic year and then submit a cap and gown order. Honors announced at the ceremony for undergraduates are based on winter quarter GPAs because a final GPA is not available at the time of the ceremony.
Licensure

Requirements for licensure include completion of a full bachelor’s degree program, all licensure tests (including OPI for world language majors), and awarding of bachelor’s degree. A bachelor’s degree is required to qualify for licensure and must be awarded before applying for the license.

Individuals must submit an application directly to the Illinois State Board of Education after completion of requirements and after DePaul has submitted notification to ISBE. Application requirements include application form, application fee, official transcripts, and registration fee.

All individuals must meet ISBE requirements in place at the time of application for the license. Requirements are subject to change per the discretion of ISBE. All coursework and requirements pertaining to licensure requirements must be completed before DePaul University can recommend an individual for the license.

Individuals seeking additional endorsements after applying for the license must contact ISBE directly for an evaluation request.

All coursework and requirements must be completed before DePaul University can recommend an individual for the license.

Liberal Studies Requirements

Honors program requirements can be found in the individual Colleges & Schools section of the University Catalog. Select Academics, followed by Undergraduate, then Honors Program Alternative.

Notes

Specified required courses within Liberal Studies may have grade minimums (e.g. C- or better). Please consult your advisor or your college and major requirements.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

- SEC 395 ASSESSMENT ISSUES IN SECONDARY EDUCATION
- BBE 301 TEACHING ADOLESCENT ENGLISH LANGUAGE LEARNERS AND DIALECT SPEAKERS ACROSS THE CURRICULUM

Student Teaching: 10 quarter hours required, grade of B- or better required

Registration in student teaching requires completion of all requirements and procedures listed in the college core requirements. EDU 95 indicates to the Illinois State Board of Education that all field experience hours are complete. All students also take SEC 387, Capstone Seminar with student teaching (listed in the Liberal Studies section).

- SEC 390 SECONDARY STUDENT TEACHING (10 credit hours)
- EDU 95 CLINICAL EXPERIENCE WITH CHILDREN AND YOUTH (non-credit, non-tuition, PA grade required)

Licensure Tests
All individuals licensed by the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) are required to complete licensure tests specific to their teaching license. Secondary Education History majors must complete the following tests:

- Test of Academic Proficiency (TAP) (test #400) - assesses knowledge of reading comprehension, language arts, writing, and math. Test is required to qualify for Advanced Standing. *Check with your advisor about qualifying for a waiver with acceptable ACT or SAT test scores.
- Social Science: History Content Area Test (test #246) – assesses and measures the candidate's core knowledge across history and social science fields. Test is required before Student Teaching (deadlines apply).
- EdTPA - assessment conducted during the student teaching experience including video clips of instruction, lesson plans, student work samples, analysis of student learning and reflective commentaries. Students will submit an electronic portfolio to an outside agency for independent evaluation and a fee will be imposed by that agency as part of the assessment.

Secondary Education Mathematics (BA)

The Bachelor of Arts program in Secondary Education Mathematics prepares students to teach 6th through 12th grade in a variety of urban and suburban education settings, including public and private middle schools and high schools.

Students learn educational theories and effective teaching practices, participate in field experiences, which require observation and participation in teaching activities at multiple schools, and student teaching. Students should meet early and regularly with their advisor to design and monitor their program of study.

The program combines theoretical principles of education and field work with the student's choice of major. Students follow a general pattern of study for middle school and high school levels. In all cases, appropriate field experience plays an integral role.

In addition to completing the requirements for licensure in Illinois, and in aligning with a commitment to preparing students with a global mindset, teacher candidates will also complete the requirements to gain a certificate in Teaching and Learning from the International Baccalaureate Organization. The IB Certificate in Teaching and Learning for the Middle Years Program (MYP) and the Diploma Program (DP) provides teacher candidates the background and expertise to teach in an IB school. The IB Certificate in Teaching and Learning expands the opportunities for teacher candidates and training in IB open expands the vision of inquiry and reflective practice.

Students entering the program must be able and willing to devote themselves to a program requiring a minimum of 100 hours of daytime field experiences in schools. These school-based clinical hours are completed in conjunction with methodology courses that require students to spend a half-day each week in a school. As students will be completing requirements to earn the IB Certificate, a majority of the 100-110 hours will be completed in International Baccalaureate Schools. In addition, the student must spend a minimum of 11 weeks in full-time student teaching.

Please make sure you consult the Liberal Studies Requirements, Major Requirements, and College Core Requirements for full degree requirements.

Note: Secondary Education students now have the option to double major in Secondary Education and Mathematical Sciences. With the double major, students will graduate with a Bachelor of Arts degree with a major in Secondary Education and a major in Mathematical Sciences. Students should declare Secondary Education as their primary major (see Secondary Education BA/BS for degree requirements) and Mathematical Sciences (see Mathematical Sciences BA for degree requirements) as their secondary major. If you have already begun the Secondary Education Mathematics major and want to switch to the Secondary Education Major and Mathematical Sciences double major, you should contact your academic advisor because the double major may require additional coursework. Students who pursue the Bachelor of Science degree with a major in Secondary Education Mathematics do not have the option to double major in Mathematical Sciences.

Licensure

Illinois Professional Educator License with endorsement in Secondary Education Mathematics (grades 6-12), an Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) approved program.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Use knowledge of adolescent learners to create safe, equitable, and meaningful learning environments and collaborative classrooms.
- Demonstrate and apply disciplinary content and pedagogical content knowledge with an emphasis on developing students' conceptual understanding and disciplinary literacy.
- Plan and deliver instruction that demonstrates knowledge of adolescent learners and content.
- Implement assessment practices to evaluate student learning and inform instruction.
- Exhibit professionalism, pursue professional growth, and advocate for adolescent learners and their communities.

College Core Requirements

Dispositions

The academic programs within the College of Education have set forth these dispositions as educational and professional expectations for all students. Students should be aware that failing to abide by DePaul University or College of Education policies including, under certain circumstances, these dispositions, could result in adverse consequences for the student, including removal from his or her program, the College of Education, or the University.

The following dispositions apply to Early Childhood Education, Elementary Education, Exercise Science Middle Grades, Physical Education, Secondary Education, and World Language Education majors only:

- Reflects on progress and identifies strengths and weaknesses, including evaluating strategies for success, finding alternatives for inappropriate strategies, and modifying future practices
- Is receptive to faculty feedback and acts meaningfully and professionally upon suggestions
- Values critical thinking, including engaging theoretical and philosophical frameworks and shows evidence of critical thinking through discussion and writing (e.g., journals, response to prompts)
- Understands the importance of and is committed to communicating clearly orally and in writing both in traditional and in new and emerging digital formats
- Values and is committed to continually developing strong content area knowledge and/or knowledge of the professional field, including pedagogical content knowledge
- Takes initiative, uses imagination and creativity, and seeks out information using a variety of human and material resources and technology to inform his or her teaching
- Is aware of the role of classroom environment and uses management procedures that reflect respect and care for learners and concern for their emotional and physical well being
- Takes the time and effort needed to understand how students learn, including discovering their interests and experiences and determining how to shape teaching acts (using technology as appropriate) that engage learners meaningfully and actively
- Values and is committed to using assessment to evaluate and ensure the continuous intellectual, social, emotional, and physical development of the learner
- Respects and considers cultural contexts in order to determine how to be responsive to learners and to proactively promote all students' learning
- Values and is responsive to diverse learners' academic, emotional, and social needs through teaching acts (including careful instructional planning, implementation, and differentiation) and through everyday interactions with students
- Is committed to collaboration with colleagues, families, and communities in order to promote all students' learning and development
- Recognizes and fulfills professional responsibilities and habits of conduct (e.g., dress, language, preparedness, attendance, punctuality, etc.)
- Demonstrates collegiality, honesty, good judgment, courtesy, respect, and diplomacy
- Balances self-confidence and assertiveness with respect for others' perspectives
- Respects the requirements, expectations, and procedures of both the College of Education and of our field partners and appreciates the issues of trust, fairness, and professionalism involved

The following dispositions apply to Special Education majors only:

- Is receptive to faculty feedback and acts meaningfully and professionally upon suggestions
- Reflects on his or her own progress, identifies strengths and weaknesses, and evaluates strategies for success and professional growth
- Takes initiative
- Is open to new ideas and engagement in learning
- Respects diversity and cultural contexts to determine how to be responsive to learners and to proactively promote all students' learning
- Expresses positive attitudes toward individuals with disabilities and a willingness to advocate on their behalf
- Is committed to collaboration with colleagues, families, and communities in order to promote all students' learning and development
- Demonstrates professional ethical and legal behavior as defined by the respective codes of ethics and laws
- Demonstrates consistent professional behavior across all academic settings
Maintains appropriate interpersonal and professional boundaries
Accepts personal responsibility for one's behavior
Expresses feelings and opinions effectively and appropriately
Upholds confidentiality

Skill Building Courses

Before taking any math or English courses, students must take the DePaul placement tests to determine if skill level is at the college level. If placement indicates skill level in these courses, the courses become part of degree requirements. Consult with your advisor regarding placement test results and any required classes.

Advanced Standing

Students are admitted conditionally to the College of Education. There are additional requirements to reach Advanced Standing in your program in the College of Education. Requirements must be met to progress in the major and take courses in the Advanced Standing category.

Advanced Standing requirements are:

- Maintain a DePaul undergraduate 2.5 GPA
- Pass the Illinois Test of Academic Proficiency (TAP)
- Submit an application for advanced standing form

Students should attempt to complete the Advanced Standing requirements soon after beginning the program. There is no time limit to meet these criteria; however, students will only be able to take pre-education courses until requirements have been met. Students can also take liberal studies or content area courses before or after meeting Advanced Standing requirements.

Modern Language Competence Requirement

Students pursuing a Bachelor of Arts degree in the College of Education will be required to demonstrate a measure of competence in a modern language, as defined by the college. Such competence may be demonstrated in one of several ways:

- completing two years of a language sequence in high school
- completing the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language
- completing a college course beyond the first-year level in any language
- achieving a satisfactory score on any of the Modern Language placement examinations administered at DePaul
- achieving a satisfactory rating in a proficiency examination accepted by DePaul
- achieving a score of 3 or higher on the Advance Placement (AP) test for any language
- achieving a score of 5 or higher in the Language B assessment from a Standard or Higher Level International Baccalaureate (IB) program
- achieving a satisfactory score on the CLEP examination

Please note: The Modern Language Competence Requirement is not required for students in the Early Childhood Education: SNL Joint Program (BAECE) program.

For further information regarding satisfactory scores and possible credit from the DePaul placement, AP, CLEP, or IB examinations, please contact the Office of the University Registrar.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College of Education will abide by the COE Modern Language Requirement in place on the effective date of the ICT.

B.A. students who meet College requirements and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" of the Liberal Studies Program. While B.S. students are not required to demonstrate competency in a modern language, the "Modern Language Option" is available to them for language study at any level.

Licensure Tests

All individuals licensed by the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) are required to complete licensure tests specific to their teaching license.

Field Experiences

Each student seeking licensure from the College of Education/Professional Education Unit must complete supervised field experiences in appropriate settings in conjunction with education courses. The field experiences must include a variety of grade levels, multicultural experiences, and a minimum of 10 hours in special education settings. All field experiences must be completed prior to final approval for student teaching. Field experience hours should be entered by the student into the FEDS system when completing courses with field experience requirements.

Endorsements

An endorsement is a statement appearing on a license that identifies the specific subjects or grade level that the license holder is authorized to
The Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) issues endorsements in various subject areas. To view the full list and requirements, visit the ISBE website.

Please note that the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) may change the state licensure and endorsement requirements at any time and without prior notice. Individuals are bound by the requirements in place when applying for the license or endorsement, not the requirements in place when beginning the program.

Student Teaching Requirements

Student Teaching is the culminating clinical experience in the student's program. All students in teacher preparation programs must meet the following requirements before applying for student teaching:

Academic Requirements:
- Completion of all Liberal Studies, Pre-Education, Advanced Standing and concentration/content area courses
- Overall cumulative GPA of 2.50 or better
- Cumulative GPA of 2.75 or better in all education courses
- Meet all other program requirements (e.g., modern language and residency requirements)
- Meet designated program standards
- Pass the required Illinois licensure content area test(s)

Clinical Requirements:
- Completion of all required field experiences
- Three satisfactory evaluations in field experiences
- Three satisfactory faculty recommendations
- Attendance at mandatory meeting for student teaching
- Application for student teaching, resume, transcripts, and writing sample (check deadlines)
- Review and approval by Student Teaching Committee of the College of Education

Student Teaching Timeline and Deadlines:
- Attend a Mandatory Meeting approximately 1 year prior to expected quarter of student teaching.
- Submit application for student teaching after attending Mandatory Meeting, approximately 1 year prior to student teaching.
- Academic requirements are due one quarter before expected quarter of student teaching.
- Clinical requirements are completed as course requirements. Field experience hours are entered by the student as coursework is completed.
- Online Faculty Evaluations are entered by the instructor of relevant courses. All data must be entered in the Field Experience Documentation System (FEDS) due one month prior to student teaching.

Individual childcare agencies and public and private school districts may have additional requirements (application, training, background check, etc.).

Degree Conferral and Graduation

The awarding of a degree is not automatic. You must submit an application to be considered for the degree. DePaul awards and posts degrees at the end of each regular academic term (autumn, winter, spring, summer).

It is your responsibility to initiate the degree conferral application process by submitting an online application. Submitting an application means you intend to finish your degree requirements by the end of the term for which you have applied.

Undergraduate students must be approved for student teaching and complete student teaching and capstone to be cleared for the degree. Student must submit graduation application for the quarter that matches the quarter you are student teaching.

After you submit the application, you cannot register for any term after the one selected in the application.

To apply for degree conferral, log on to Campus Connection. Select STUDENT CENTER, then MY ACADEMICS. On screen instructions will take you through the application process.

Provided that all requirements and financial obligations are met, degrees are posted 30 days after the official end of the term. Official dates are listed on the Academic Calendar.

DePaul holds one commencement ceremony each year in June. If you intend to participate, you must first apply for degree conferral for the current academic year and then submit a cap and gown order. Honors announced at the ceremony for undergraduates are based on winter quarter GPAs because a final GPA is not available at the time of the ceremony.

Additional information about degree conferral and graduation can be found on the College of Education website at:
Licensure

Requirements for licensure include completion of full bachelor's degree program, all licensure tests (including OPI for world language majors), and awarding of bachelor's degree. A bachelor's degree is required to qualify for licensure and must be awarded before applying for the license.

Individuals must submit an application directly to the Illinois State Board of Education after completion of requirements and after DePaul has submitted notification to ISBE. Application requirements include application form, application fee, official transcripts, and registration fee.

All individuals must meet ISBE requirements in place at the time of application for the license. Requirements are subject to change per the discretion of ISBE. All coursework and requirements pertaining to licensure requirements must be completed before DePaul University can recommend an individual for the license.

Individuals seeking additional endorsements after applying for the licensure must contact ISBE directly for an evaluation request.

All coursework and requirements must be completed before DePaul University can recommend an individual for the license.

Bachelor of Science Requirements

To qualify for the Bachelor of Science degree, complete 4 quarter hours in natural or computer science beyond the requirements for the Bachelor of Arts degree. Please consult your advisor for approval of appropriate natural and computer science courses.

Open Electives: 4 quarter hours are required

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours. The following cannot be used to fulfill an open elective: WRD 98, MAT 94, and MAT 95.
Student Teaching: 10 quarter hours required, grade of B- or better required

Registration in student teaching requires completion of all requirements and procedures indicated in the college core section. EDU 95 indicates to the Illinois State Board of Education that all field experience hours are complete. All students also take SEC 387, Capstone Seminar with student teaching (listed in the Liberal Studies section).

- SEC 390 SECONDARY STUDENT TEACHING (10 credit hours)
- EDU 95 CLINICAL EXPERIENCE WITH CHILDREN AND YOUTH (non-credit, non-tuition, PA grade required)

Licensure Tests

All individuals licensed by the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) are required to complete licensure tests specific to their teaching license. Secondary Education Mathematics majors must complete the following tests:

- Test of Academic Proficiency (TAP) (test #400) - assesses knowledge of reading comprehension, language arts, writing, and math. Test is required to qualify for Advanced Standing. *Check with your advisor about qualifying for a waiver with acceptable ACT or SAT test scores.
- Mathematics Content Area Test (test #208) – assesses knowledge of both the processes and applications of mathematics. Test is required before Student Teaching (deadlines apply).
- EdTPA - assessment conducted during the student teaching experience including video clips of instruction, lesson plans, student work samples, analysis of student learning and reflective commentaries. Students will submit an electronic portfolio to an outside agency for independent evaluation and a fee will be imposed by that agency as part of the assessment.

Secondary Education Mathematics (BS)

The Bachelor of Science program in Secondary Education Mathematics prepares students to teach 6th through 12th grade in a variety of urban and suburban education settings, including public and private middle schools and high schools.

Students learn educational theories and effective teaching practices, participate in field experiences, which require observation and participation in teaching activities at multiple schools, and student teaching. Students should meet early and regularly with their advisor to design and monitor their program of study.

The program combines theoretical principles of education and field work with the student's choice of major. Students follow a general pattern of study for middle school and high school levels. In all cases, appropriate field experience plays an integral role.

In addition to completing the requirements for licensure in Illinois, and in aligning with a commitment to preparing students with a global mindset, teacher candidates will also complete the requirements to gain a certificate in Teaching and Learning from the International Baccalaureate Organization. The IB Certificate in Teaching and Learning for the Middle Years Program (MYP) and the Diploma Program (DP) provides teacher candidates the background and expertise to teach in an IB school. The IB Certificate in Teaching and Learning expands the opportunities for teacher candidates and training in IB open expands the vision of inquiry and reflective practice.

Students entering the program must be able and willing to devote themselves to a program requiring a minimum of 100 hours of daytime field experiences in schools. These school-based clinical hours are completed in conjunction with methodology courses that require students to spend a half-day each week in a school. As students will be completing requirements to earn the IB Certificate, a majority of the 100-110 hours will be completed in International Baccalaureate Schools. In addition, the student must spend a minimum of 11 weeks in full-time student teaching.

Please make sure you consult the Liberal Studies Requirements, Major Requirements, and College Core Requirements for full degree requirements.

NOTE: Secondary Education students now have the option to double major in Secondary Education and Mathematical Sciences. With the double major, students will graduate with a Bachelor of Science degree with a major in Secondary Education and a major in Mathematical Sciences. Students should declare Secondary Education as their primary major (see Secondary Education BA/BS for degree requirements) and Mathematical Sciences (see Mathematical Sciences BS for degree requirements) as their secondary major. If you have already begun the Secondary Education Mathematics major and want to switch to the Secondary Education Major and Mathematical Sciences double major, you should contact your academic advisor because the double major may require additional coursework. Students who pursue the Bachelor of Science degree with a major in Secondary Education Mathematics do not have the option to double major in Mathematical Sciences.

Licensure

Illinois Professional Educator License with endorsement in Secondary Education Mathematics (grades 6-12), an Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) approved program.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Use knowledge of adolescent learners to create safe, equitable, and meaningful learning environments and collaborative classrooms.
- Demonstrate and apply disciplinary content and pedagogical content knowledge with an emphasis on developing students' conceptual understanding and disciplinary literacy.
- Plan and deliver instruction that demonstrates knowledge of adolescent learners and content.
- Implement assessment practices to evaluate student learning and inform instruction.
- Exhibit professionalism, pursue professional growth, and advocate for adolescent learners and their communities.

College Core Requirements

Dispositions

The academic programs within the College of Education have set forth these dispositions as educational and professional expectations for all students. Students should be aware that failing to abide by DePaul University or College of Education policies including, under certain circumstances, these dispositions, could result in adverse consequences for the student, including removal from his or her program, the College of Education, or the University.

The following dispositions apply to Early Childhood Education, Elementary Education, Exercise Science Middle Grades, Physical Education, Secondary Education, and World Language Education majors only:

- Reflects on progress and identifies strengths and weaknesses, including evaluating strategies for success, finding alternatives for inappropriate strategies, and modifying future practices
- Is receptive to faculty feedback and acts meaningfully and professionally upon suggestions
- Values critical thinking, including engaging theoretical and philosophical frameworks and shows evidence of critical thinking through discussion and writing (e.g., journals, response to prompts)
- Understands the importance of and is committed to communicating clearly orally and in writing both in traditional and in new and emerging digital formats
- Values and is committed to continually developing strong content area knowledge and/or knowledge of the professional field, including pedagogical content knowledge
- Takes initiative, uses imagination and creativity, and seeks out information using a variety of human and material resources and technology to inform his or her teaching
- Is aware of the role of classroom environment and uses management procedures that reflect respect and care for learners and concern for their emotional and physical well being
- Takes the time and effort needed to understand how students learn, including discovering their interests and experiences and determining how to shape teaching acts (using technology as appropriate) that engage learners meaningfully and actively
- Values and is committed to using assessment to evaluate and ensure the continuous intellectual, social, emotional, and physical development of the learner
- Respects and considers cultural contexts in order to determine how to be responsive to learners and to proactively promote all students' learning
- Values and is responsive to diverse learners' academic, emotional, and social needs through teaching acts (including careful instructional planning, implementation, and differentiation) and through everyday interactions with students
- Is committed to collaboration with colleagues, families, and communities in order to promote all students' learning and development
- Recognizes and fulfills professional responsibilities and habits of conduct (e.g., dress, language, preparedness, attendance, punctuality, etc.)
- Demonstrates collegiality, honesty, good judgment, courtesy, respect, and diplomacy
- Balances self-confidence and assertiveness with respect for others' perspectives
- Respects the requirements, expectations, and procedures of both the College of Education and of our field partners and appreciates the issues of trust, fairness, and professionalism involved

The following dispositions apply to Special Education majors only:

- Is receptive to faculty feedback and acts meaningfully and professionally upon suggestions
- Reflects on his or her own progress, identifies strengths and weaknesses, and evaluates strategies for success and professional growth
- Takes initiative
- Is open to new ideas and engagement in learning
- Respects diversity and cultural contexts to determine how to be responsive to learners and to proactively promote all students' learning
- Expresses positive attitudes toward individuals with disabilities and a willingness to advocate on their behalf
- Is committed to collaboration with colleagues, families, and communities in order to promote all students' learning and development
- Demonstrates professional ethical and legal behavior as defined by the respective codes of ethics and laws
- Demonstrates consistent professional behavior across all academic settings
- Maintains appropriate interpersonal and professional boundaries
- Accepts personal responsibility for one's behavior
- Expresses feelings and opinions effectively and appropriately
- Upholds confidentiality

Skill Building Courses

Before taking any math or English courses, students must take the DePaul placement tests to determine if skill level is at the college level. If placement indicates skill level in these courses, the courses become part of degree requirements. Consult with your advisor regarding placement test results and any required classes.

Advanced Standing

Students are admitted conditionally to the College of Education. There are additional requirements to reach Advanced Standing in your program in the College of Education. Requirements must be met to progress in the major and take courses in the Advanced Standing category.

Advanced Standing requirements are:

- Maintain a DePaul undergraduate 2.5 GPA
- Pass the Illinois Test of Academic Proficiency (TAP)
- Submit an application for advanced standing form

Students should attempt to complete the Advanced Standing requirements soon after beginning the program. There is no time limit to meet these criteria; however, students will only be able to take pre-education courses until requirements have been met. Students can also take liberal studies or content area courses before or after meeting Advanced Standing requirements.

Modern Language Competence Requirement

Students pursuing a Bachelor of Arts degree in the College of Education will be required to demonstrate a measure of competence in a modern language, as defined by the college. Such competence may be demonstrated in one of several ways:

- completing two years of a language sequence in high school
- completing the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language
- completing a college course beyond the first-year level in any language
- achieving a satisfactory score on any of the Modern Language placement examinations administered at DePaul
- achieving a satisfactory rating in a proficiency examination accepted by DePaul
- achieving a score of 3 or higher on the Advance Placement (AP) test for any language
- achieving a score of 5 or higher in the Language B assessment from a Standard or Higher Level International Baccalaureate (IB) program
- achieving a satisfactory score on the CLEP examination

Please note: The Modern Language Competence Requirement is not required for students in the Early Childhood Education: SNL Joint Program (BAECE) program.

For further information regarding satisfactory scores and possible credit from the DePaul placement, AP, CLEP, or IB examinations, please contact the Office of the University Registrar.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College of Education will abide by the COE Modern Language Requirement in place on the effective date of the ICT.

B.A. students who meet College requirements and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" of the Liberal Studies Program. While B.S. students are not required to demonstrate competency in a modern language, the "Modern Language Option" is available to them for language study at any level.

Licensure Tests

All individuals licensed by the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) are required to complete licensure tests specific to their teaching license.

Field Experiences

Each student seeking licensure from the College of Education/Professional Education Unit must complete supervised field experiences in appropriate settings in conjunction with education courses. The field experiences must include a variety of grade levels, multicultural experiences, and a minimum of 10 hours in special education settings. All field experiences must be completed prior to final approval for student teaching. Field experience hours should be entered by the student into the FEDS system when completing courses with field experience requirements.
Endorsements

An endorsement is a statement appearing on a license that identifies the specific subjects or grade level that the license holder is authorized to teach.

The Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) issues endorsements in various subject areas. To view the full list and requirements, visit the ISBE website.

Please note that the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) may change the state licensure and endorsement requirements at any time and without prior notice. Individuals are bound by the requirements in place when applying for the license or endorsement, not the requirements in place when beginning the program.

Student Teaching Requirements

Student Teaching is the culminating clinical experience in the student's program. All students in teacher preparation programs must meet the following requirements before applying for student teaching:

Academic Requirements:
- Completion of all Liberal Studies, Pre-Education, Advanced Standing and concentration/content area courses
- Overall cumulative GPA of 2.50 or better
- Cumulative GPA of 2.75 or better in all education courses
- Meet all other program requirements (e.g., modern language and residency requirements)
- Meet designated program standards
- Pass the required Illinois licensure content area test(s)

Clinical Requirements:
- Completion of all required field experiences
- Three satisfactory evaluations in field experiences
- Three satisfactory faculty recommendations
- Attendance at mandatory meeting for student teaching
- Application for student teaching, resume, transcripts, and writing sample (check deadlines)
- Review and approval by Student Teaching Committee of the College of Education

Student Teaching Timeline and Deadlines:
- Attend a Mandatory Meeting approximately 1 year prior to expected quarter of student teaching.
- Submit application for student teaching after attending Mandatory Meeting, approximately 1 year prior to student teaching.
- Academic requirements are due one quarter before expected quarter of student teaching.
- Clinical requirements are completed as course requirements. Field experience hours are entered by the student as coursework is completed.

Online Faculty Evaluations are entered by the instructor of relevant courses. All data must be entered in the Field Experience Documentation System (FEDS) due one month prior to student teaching.

Individual childcare agencies and public and private school districts may have additional requirements (application, training, background check, etc.).

Degree Conferral and Graduation

The awarding of a degree is not automatic. You must submit an application to be considered for the degree. DePaul awards and posts degrees at the end of each regular academic term (autumn, winter, spring, summer).

It is your responsibility to initiate the degree conferral application process by submitting an online application. Submitting an application means you intend to finish your degree requirements by the end of the term for which you have applied.

Undergraduate students must be approved for student teaching and complete student teaching and capstone to be cleared for the degree. Student must submit graduation application for the quarter that matches the quarter you are student teaching.

After you submit the application, you cannot register for any term after the one selected in the application.

To apply for degree conferral, log on to Campus Connection. Select STUDENT CENTER, then MY ACADEMICS. On screen instructions will take you through the application process.

Provided that all requirements and financial obligations are met, degrees are posted 30 days after the official end of the term. Official dates are listed on the Academic Calendar.

DePaul holds one commencement ceremony each year in June. If you intend to participate, you must first apply for degree conferral for the current academic year and then submit a cap and gown order. Honors announced at the ceremony for undergraduates are based on winter quarter GPAs because a final GPA is not available at the time of the ceremony.

Additional information about degree conferral and graduation can be found on the College of Education website at: http://education.depaul.edu/.

Licensure

Requirements for licensure include completion of full bachelor’s degree program, all licensure tests (including OPI for world language majors), and awarding of bachelor’s degree. A bachelor's degree is required to qualify for licensure and must be awarded before applying for the license.

Individuals must submit an application directly to the Illinois State Board of Education after completion of requirements and after DePaul has submitted notification to ISBE. Application requirements include application form, application fee, official transcripts, and registration fee.

All individuals must meet ISBE requirements in place at the time of application for the license. Requirements are subject to change per the discretion of ISBE. All coursework and requirements pertaining to licensure requirements must be completed before DePaul University can recommend an individual for the license.

Individuals seeking additional endorsements after applying for the licensure must contact ISBE directly for an evaluation request.

All coursework and requirements must be completed before DePaul University can recommend an individual for the license.

* Students must earn a C- or better in this course.

Notes

Specified required courses within Liberal Studies may have grade minimums (e.g. C- or better). Please consult your advisor or your college and major requirements.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

- 4 additional quarter hours in natural or computer science. Please consult your advisor for approval of appropriate natural and computer science courses.

Open Electives: 4 quarter hours are required

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours. The following cannot be used to fulfill an open elective: WRD 98, MAT 94, and MAT 95.

Student Teaching: 10 quarter hours required, grade of B- or better required

Registration in student teaching requires completion of all requirements and procedures listed in the college core section. EDU 95 indicates to the Illinois State Board of Education that all field experience hours are complete. All students also take SEC 387, Capstone Seminar with student teaching (listed in the Liberal Studies section).

- SEC 390 SECONDARY STUDENT TEACHING (10 credit hours)
- EDU 95 CLINICAL EXPERIENCE WITH CHILDREN AND YOUTH (non-credit, non-tuition, PA grade required)

Licensure Tests

All individuals licensed by the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) are required to complete licensure tests specific to their teaching license. Secondary Education Mathematics majors must complete the following tests:

- Basic Skills (test #096) or TAP (test #300, or #400) - assesses knowledge of reading comprehension, language arts, and math. Test is required to qualify for Advanced Standing.
- Mathematics Content Area Test (test #208) – assesses knowledge of both the processes and applications of mathematics. Test is required before Student Teaching (deadlines apply).
- EdTPA - assessment conducted during the student teaching experience including video clips of instruction, lesson plans, student work samples, analysis of student learning and reflective commentaries. Students will submit an electronic portfolio to an outside agency for independent evaluation and a fee will be imposed by that agency as part of the assessment.

Secondary Education Physics (BS)

The Bachelor of Science program in Secondary Education Physics prepares students to teach 6th through 12th grade in a variety of urban and suburban education settings, including public and private middle schools and high schools.

Students learn educational theories and effective teaching practices, participate in field experiences, which require observation and participation in teaching activities at multiple schools, and student teaching. Students should meet early and regularly with their advisor to design and monitor their program of study.

The program combines theoretical principles of education and field work with the student’s choice of major. Students follow a general pattern of study for middle school and high school levels. In all cases, appropriate field experience plays an integral role.

In addition to completing the requirements for licensure in Illinois, and in aligning with a commitment to preparing students with a global mindset, teacher candidates will also complete the requirements to gain a certificate in Teaching and Learning from the International Baccalaureate Organization. The IB Certificate in Teaching and Learning for the Middle Years Program (MYP) and the Diploma Program (DP) provides teacher candidates the background and expertise to teach in an IB school. The IB Certificate in Teaching and Learning expands the opportunities for teacher candidates and training in IB expands the vision of inquiry and reflective practice.

Students entering the program must be able and willing to devote themselves to a program requiring a minimum of 100 hours of daytime field experiences in schools. Please make sure you consult the Liberal Studies Requirements, Major Requirements, and College Core Requirements for full degree requirements.

NOTE: Secondary Education students now have the option to double major in Secondary Education and Physics. With the double major, students will graduate with a Bachelor of Science degree with a major in Secondary Education and a major in Physics. Students should declare Secondary Education as their primary major (see Secondary Education BA/BS for degree requirements) and Physics (see Physics BS for degree requirements) as their secondary major. If you have already begun the Secondary Education Physics major and want to switch to the Secondary Education Major and Physics Major double major, you should contact your academic advisor because the double major may require additional coursework. Students who pursue the Bachelor of Science degree with a major in Secondary Education Physics do not have the option to double major in Physics.

Licensure

Illinois Professional Educator License with endorsement in Secondary Education Science-Physics (grades 6-12), an Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) approved program.
Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Use knowledge of adolescent learners to create safe, equitable, and meaningful learning environments and collaborative classrooms.
- Demonstrate and apply disciplinary content and pedagogical content knowledge with an emphasis on developing students' conceptual understanding and disciplinary literacy.
- Plan and deliver instruction that demonstrates knowledge of adolescent learners and content.
- Implement assessment practices to evaluate student learning and inform instruction.
- Exhibit professionalism, pursue professional growth, and advocate for adolescent learners and their communities.

College Core Requirements

Dispositions

The academic programs within the College of Education have set forth these dispositions as educational and professional expectations for all students. Students should be aware that failing to abide by DePaul University or College of Education policies including, under certain circumstances, these dispositions, could result in adverse consequences for the student, including removal from his or her program, the College of Education, or the University.

The following dispositions apply to Early Childhood Education, Elementary Education, Exercise Science Middle Grades, Physical Education, Secondary Education, and World Language Education majors only:

- Reflects on progress and identifies strengths and weaknesses, including evaluating strategies for success, finding alternatives for inappropriate strategies, and modifying future practices
- Is receptive to faculty feedback and acts meaningfully and professionally upon suggestions
- Values critical thinking, including engaging theoretical and philosophical frameworks and shows evidence of critical thinking through discussion and writing (e.g., journals, response to prompts)
- Understands the importance of and is committed to communicating clearly orally and in writing both in traditional and in new and emerging digital formats
- Values and is committed to continually developing strong content area knowledge and/or knowledge of the professional field, including pedagogical content knowledge
- Takes initiative, uses imagination and creativity, and seeks out information using a variety of human and material resources and technology to inform his or her teaching
- Is aware of the role of classroom environment and uses management procedures that reflect respect and care for learners and concern for their emotional and physical well being
- Takes the time and effort needed to understand how students learn, including discovering their interests and experiences and determining how to shape teaching acts (using technology as appropriate) that engage learners meaningfully and actively
- Values and is committed to using assessment to evaluate and ensure the continuous intellectual, social, emotional, and physical development of the learner
- Respects and considers cultural contexts in order to determine how to be responsive to learners and to proactively promote all students' learning
- Values and is responsive to diverse learners' academic, emotional, and social needs through teaching acts (including careful instructional planning, implementation, and differentiation) and through everyday interactions with students
- Is committed to collaboration with colleagues, families, and communities in order to promote all students' learning and development
- Recognizes and fulfills professional responsibilities and habits of conduct (e.g., dress, language, preparedness, attendance, punctuality, etc.)
- Demonstrates collegiality, honesty, good judgment, courtesy, respect, and diplomacy
- Balances self-confidence and assertiveness with respect for others' perspectives
- Respects the requirements, expectations, and procedures of both the College of Education and of our field partners and appreciates the issues of trust, fairness, and professionalism involved

The following dispositions apply to Special Education majors only:

- Is receptive to faculty feedback and acts meaningfully and professionally upon suggestions
- Reflects on his or her own progress, identifies strengths and weaknesses, and evaluates strategies for success and professional growth
- Takes initiative
- Is open to new ideas and engagement in learning
- Respects diversity and cultural contexts to determine how to be responsive to learners and to proactively promote all students' learning
Expresses positive attitudes toward individuals with disabilities and a willingness to advocate on their behalf
Is committed to collaboration with colleagues, families, and communities in order to promote all students' learning and development
Demonstrates professional ethical and legal behavior as defined by the respective codes of ethics and laws
Demonstrates consistent professional behavior across all academic settings
Maintains appropriate interpersonal and professional boundaries
Accepts personal responsibility for one's behavior
Expresses feelings and opinions effectively and appropriately
Upholds confidentiality

Skill Building Courses

Before taking any math or English courses, students must take the DePaul placement tests to determine if skill level is at the college level. If placement indicates skill level in these courses, the courses become part of degree requirements. Consult with your advisor regarding placement test results and any required classes.

Advanced Standing

Students are admitted conditionally to the College of Education. There are additional requirements to reach Advanced Standing in your program in the College of Education. Requirements must be met to progress in the major and take courses in the Advanced Standing category.

Advanced Standing requirements are:

- Maintain a DePaul undergraduate 2.5 GPA
- Pass the Illinois Test of Academic Proficiency (TAP)
- Submit an application for advanced standing form

Students should attempt to complete the Advanced Standing requirements soon after beginning the program. There is no time limit to meet these criteria; however, students will only be able to take pre-education courses until requirements have been met. Students can also take liberal studies or content area courses before or after meeting Advanced Standing requirements.

Modern Language Competence Requirement

Students pursuing a Bachelor of Arts degree in the College of Education will be required to demonstrate a measure of competence in a modern language, as defined by the college. Such competence may be demonstrated in one of several ways:

- completing two years of a language sequence in high school
- completing the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language
- completing a college course beyond the first-year level in any language
- achieving a satisfactory score on any of the Modern Language placement examinations administered at DePaul
- achieving a satisfactory rating in a proficiency examination accepted by DePaul
- achieving a score of 3 or higher on the Advance Placement (AP) test for any language
- achieving a score of 5 or higher in the Language B assessment from a Standard or Higher Level International Baccalaureate (IB) program
- achieving a satisfactory score on the CLEP examination

Please note: The Modern Language Competence Requirement is not required for students in the Early Childhood Education: SNL Joint Program (BAECE) program.

For further information regarding satisfactory scores and possible credit from the DePaul placement, AP, CLEP, or IB examinations, please contact the Office of the University Registrar.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College of Education will abide by the COE Modern Language Requirement in place on the effective date of the ICT.

B.A. students who meet College requirements and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" of the Liberal Studies Program. While B.S. students are not required to demonstrate competency in a modern language, the "Modern Language Option" is available to them for language study at any level.

Licensure Tests

All individuals licensed by the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) are required to complete licensure tests specific to their teaching license.

Field Experiences

Each student seeking licensure from the College of Education/Professional Education Unit must complete supervised field experiences in appropriate settings in conjunction with education courses. The field experiences must include a variety of grade levels, multicultural experiences, and a minimum of 10 hours in special education settings. All field experiences must be completed prior to final approval for student teaching. Field experience hours should be entered by the student into the FEDS system when completing courses with field experience requirements.
Endorsements

An endorsement is a statement appearing on a license that identifies the specific subjects or grade level that the license holder is authorized to teach.

The Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) issues endorsements in various subject areas. To view the full list and requirements, visit the ISBE website.

Please note that the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) may change the state licensure and endorsement requirements at any time and without prior notice. Individuals are bound by the requirements in place when applying for the license or endorsement, not the requirements in place when beginning the program.

Student Teaching Requirements

Student Teaching is the culminating clinical experience in the student's program. All students in teacher preparation programs must meet the following requirements before applying for student teaching:

Academic Requirements:
- Completion of all Liberal Studies, Pre-Education, Advanced Standing and concentration/content area courses
- Overall cumulative GPA of 2.50 or better
- Cumulative GPA of 2.75 or better in all education courses
- Meet all other program requirements (e.g., modern language and residency requirements)
- Meet designated program standards
- Pass the required Illinois licensure content area test(s)

Clinical Requirements:
- Completion of all required field experiences
- Three satisfactory evaluations in field experiences
- Three satisfactory faculty recommendations
- Attendance at mandatory meeting for student teaching
- Application for student teaching, resume, transcripts, and writing sample (check deadlines)
- Review and approval by Student Teaching Committee of the College of Education

Student Teaching Timeline and Deadlines:
- Attend a Mandatory Meeting approximately 1 year prior to expected quarter of student teaching.
- Submit application for student teaching after attending Mandatory Meeting, approximately 1 year prior to student teaching.
- Academic requirements are due one quarter before expected quarter of student teaching.
- Clinical requirements are completed as course requirements. Field experience hours are entered by the student as coursework is completed.
- Online Faculty Evaluations are entered by the instructor of relevant courses. All data must be entered in the Field Experience Documentation System (FEDS) due one month prior to student teaching.

Student Teaching Timeline and Deadlines:
- Individual childcare agencies and public and private school districts may have additional requirements (application, training, background check, etc.).

Degree Conferral and Graduation

The awarding of a degree is not automatic. You must submit an application to be considered for the degree. DePaul awards and posts degrees at the end of each regular academic term (autumn, winter, spring, summer).

It is your responsibility to initiate the degree conferral application process by submitting an online application. Submitting an application means you intend to finish your degree requirements by the end of the term for which you have applied.

Undergraduate students must be approved for student teaching and complete student teaching and capstone to be cleared for the degree. Student must submit graduation application for the quarter that matches the quarter you are student teaching.

After you submit the application, you cannot register for any term after the one selected in the application.

To apply for degree conferral, log on to Campus Connection. Select STUDENT CENTER, then MY ACADEMICS. On screen instructions will take you through the application process.

Provided that all requirements and financial obligations are met, degrees are posted 30 days after the official end of the term. Official dates are listed on the Academic Calendar.

DePaul holds one commencement ceremony each year in June. If you intend to participate, you must first apply for degree conferral for the current academic year and then submit a cap and gown order. Honors announced at the ceremony for undergraduates are based on winter quarter GPAs because a final GPA is not available at the time of the ceremony.

Additional information about degree conferral and graduation can be found on the College of Education website at: http://education.depaul.edu/.

Licensure

Requirements for licensure include completion of full bachelor’s degree program, all licensure tests (including OPI for world language majors), and awarding of bachelor’s degree. A bachelor's degree is required to qualify for licensure and must be awarded before applying for the license.

Individuals must submit an application directly to the Illinois State Board of Education after completion of requirements and after DePaul has submitted notification to ISBE. Application requirements include application form, application fee, official transcripts, and registration fee.

All individuals must meet ISBE requirements in place at the time of application for the license. Requirements are subject to change per the discretion of ISBE. All coursework and requirements pertaining to licensure requirements must be completed before DePaul University can recommend an individual for the license.

Individuals seeking additional endorsements after applying for the licensure must contact ISBE directly for an evaluation request.

All coursework and requirements must be completed before DePaul University can recommend an individual for the license.

Liberal Studies Requirements

Honors program requirements can be found in the individual Colleges & Schools section of the University Catalog. Select Academics, followed by Undergraduate, then Honors Program Alternative.

Notes

Specified required courses within Liberal Studies may have grade minimums (e.g. C- or better). Please consult your advisor or your college and major requirements.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Course Requirements

Content Area Courses

Physics Core: 28 quarter hours required, grade of C or better required
- PHY 170 UNIVERSITY PHYSICS I
- PHY 171 UNIVERSITY PHYSICS II
- PHY 172 UNIVERSITY PHYSICS III
- PHY 270 UNIVERSITY PHYSICS IV
The following courses fulfill the required courses for the degree in Physics and Education:

PHY 300 METHODS OF COMPUTATIONAL AND THEORETICAL PHYSICS I
PHY 301 METHODS OF COMPUTATIONAL AND THEORETICAL PHYSICS II
PHY 310 MECHANICS I

Physics Electives: 16 quarter hours required, grade of C or better required

Physics Electives should be chosen in consultation with the Physics faculty content advisor.

- PHY elective course 1
- PHY elective course 2
- PHY elective course 3
- PHY elective course 4

Math Core: 20 quarter hours required, grade of C or better required

- MAT 160 CALCULUS FOR MATHEMATICS AND SCIENCE MAJORS I (5qh)
- MAT 161 CALCULUS FOR MATHEMATICS AND SCIENCE MAJORS II (5qh)
- MAT 162 CALCULUS FOR MATHEMATICS AND SCIENCE MAJORS III (5qh)
- MAT 260 MULTIVARIABLE CALCULUS I
- MAT 261 MULTIVARIABLE CALCULUS II

Chemistry Core: 12 quarter hours required, grade of C or better required

- CHE 130 GENERAL CHEMISTRY I (3qh) and CHE 131 GENERAL CHEMISTRY I LABORATORY (1qh)
- CHE 132 GENERAL CHEMISTRY II (3qh) and CHE 133 GENERAL CHEMISTRY LABORATORY II (1qh)
- CHE 134 GENERAL CHEMISTRY III (3qh) and CHE 135 GENERAL CHEMISTRY LABORATORY III (1qh)

Pre-Education Introductory Courses: 20 quarter hours required, grade of C or better required

- SCU 207 SOCIAL AND HISTORICAL ISSUES IN EDUCATION
- SEC 364 METHODS: CURRICULUM AND INSTRUCTION IN SECONDARY SCHOOLS
- SEC 314 THE NATURE OF SCIENCE

- SCU 336 ADOLESCENT AND ADULT GROWTH AND DEVELOPMENT
  or SCU 337 HUMAN GROWTH AND DEVELOPMENT

Advanced Standing Education Courses: 28 quarter hours required, grade of C or better required

- SER 346 STRATEGIES FOR MAINSTREAMING AND INCLUSION
- SEC 325 LITERACY IN THE CONTENT AREAS
- SEC 374 TEACHING THE SCIENCES IN THE HIGH SCHOOL 1
- SEC 385 TEACHING THE SCIENCES IN THE HIGH SCHOOL 2
- SCU 351 DOING CRITICAL PRACTITIONER RESEARCH IN EDUCATION  (Taken in conjunction with SEC 385)
- SEC 395 ASSESSMENT ISSUES IN SECONDARY EDUCATION
- BBE 301 TEACHING ADOLESCENT ENGLISH LANGUAGE LEARNERS AND DIALECT SPEAKERS ACROSS THE CURRICULUM

Student Teaching: 10 quarter hours required, grade of B- or better required

Registration in student teaching requires completion of all requirements and procedures indicated in the college core section. EDU 95 indicates to the Illinois State Board of Education that all field experience hours are complete. All students also take SEC 387, Capstone Seminar with student teaching (listed in the Liberal Studies section).

- SEC 390 SECONDARY STUDENT TEACHING (10 credit hours)
- EDU 95 CLINICAL EXPERIENCE WITH CHILDREN AND YOUTH (non-credit, non-tuition, PA grade required)

Licensure Tests

All individuals licensed by the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) are required to complete licensure tests specific to their teaching license. Secondary Education Physics majors must complete the following tests:

- Test of Academic Proficiency (TAP) (test #400) - assesses knowledge of reading comprehension, language arts, writing, and math. Test is required to qualify for Advanced Standing. *Check with your advisor about qualifying for a waiver with acceptable ACT or SAT test scores.
- Science: Physics Content Area Test (test #116) – assesses knowledge of both life and physical science, including Earth systems, technology, and the universe. Test is required before Student Teaching (deadlines apply).
- EdTPA - assessment conducted during the student teaching experience including video clips of instruction, lesson plans, student work samples, analysis of student learning and reflective commentaries. Students will submit an electronic portfolio to an outside agency for independent evaluation and a fee will be imposed by that agency as part of the assessment.

Secondary Education Social Science (BA)

The Bachelor of Arts program in Secondary Education Social Science prepares students to teach 6th through 12th grade in a variety of urban and suburban education settings, including public and private middle schools and high schools.

Students learn educational theories and effective teaching practices, participate in field experiences, which require observation and participation in teaching activities at multiple schools, and student teaching. Students should meet early and regularly with their advisor to design and monitor their program of study.

The program combines theoretical principles of education and field work with the student's choice of major. Students follow a general pattern of study for middle school and high school levels. In all cases, appropriate field experience plays an integral role.

In addition to completing the requirements for licensure in Illinois, and in aligning with a commitment to preparing students with a global mindset, teacher candidates will also complete the requirements to gain a certificate in Teaching and Learning from the International Baccalaureate Organization. The IB Certificate in Teaching and Learning for the Middle Years Program (MYP) and the Diploma Program (DP) provides teacher candidates the background and expertise to teach in an IB school. The IB Certificate in Teaching and Learning expands the opportunities for teacher candidates and training in IB open expands the vision of inquiry and reflective practice.

Students entering the program must be able and willing to devote themselves to a program requiring a minimum of 100 hours of daytime field experiences in schools. These school-based clinical hours are completed in conjunction with methodology courses that require students to spend a half-day each week in a school. As students will be completing requirements to earn the IB Certificate, a majority of the 100-110 hours will be completed in International Baccalaureate Schools. In addition, the student must spend a minimum of 11 weeks in full-time student teaching.

Please make sure you consult the Liberal Studies Requirements, Major Requirements, and College Core Requirements for full degree requirements.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Use knowledge of adolescent learners to create safe, equitable, and meaningful learning environments and collaborative classrooms.
- Demonstrate and apply disciplinary content and pedagogical content knowledge with an emphasis on developing students' conceptual understanding and disciplinary literacy.
- Plan and deliver instruction that demonstrates knowledge of adolescent learners and content.
- Implement assessment practices to evaluate student learning and inform instruction.
- Exhibit professionalism, pursue professional growth, and advocate for adolescent learners and their communities.

College Core Requirements

Dispositions

The academic programs within the College of Education have set forth these dispositions as educational and professional expectations for all students. Students should be aware that failing to abide by DePaul University or College of Education policies including, under certain circumstances, these dispositions, could result in adverse consequences for the student, including removal from his or her program, the College of Education, or the University.
The following dispositions apply to Early Childhood Education, Elementary Education, Exercise Science Middle Grades, Physical Education, Secondary Education, and World Language Education majors only:

- Reflects on progress and identifies strengths and weaknesses, including evaluating strategies for success, finding alternatives for inappropriate strategies, and modifying future practices
- Is receptive to faculty feedback and acts meaningfully and professionally upon suggestions
- Values critical thinking, including engaging theoretical and philosophical frameworks and shows evidence of critical thinking through discussion and writing (e.g., journals, response to prompts)
- Understands the importance of and is committed to communicating clearly orally and in writing both in traditional and in new and emerging digital formats
- Values and is committed to continually developing strong content area knowledge and/or knowledge of the professional field, including pedagogical content knowledge
- Takes initiative, uses imagination and creativity, and seeks out information using a variety of human and material resources and technology to inform his or her teaching
- Is aware of the role of classroom environment and uses management procedures that reflect respect and care for learners and concern for their emotional and physical well being
- Takes the time and effort needed to understand how students learn, including discovering their interests and experiences and determining how to shape teaching acts (using technology as appropriate) that engage learners meaningfully and actively
- Values and is committed to using assessment to evaluate and ensure the continuous intellectual, social, emotional, and physical development of the learner
- Respects and considers cultural contexts in order to determine how to be responsive to learners and to proactively promote all students' learning
- Values and is responsive to diverse learners' academic, emotional, and social needs through teaching acts (including careful instructional planning, implementation, and differentiation) and through everyday interactions with students
- Is committed to collaboration with colleagues, families, and communities in order to promote all students' learning and development
- Recognizes and fulfills professional responsibilities and habits of conduct (e.g., dress, language, preparedness, attendance, punctuality, etc.)
- Demonstrates collegiality, honesty, good judgment, courtesy, respect, and diplomacy
- Balances self-confidence and assertiveness with respect for others' perspectives
- Respects the requirements, expectations, and procedures of both the College of Education and of our field partners and appreciates the issues of trust, fairness, and professionalism involved

The following dispositions apply to Special Education majors only:

- Is receptive to faculty feedback and acts meaningfully and professionally upon suggestions
- Reflects on his or her own progress, identifies strengths and weaknesses, and evaluates strategies for success and professional growth
- Takes initiative
- Is open to new ideas and engagement in learning
- Respects diversity and cultural contexts to determine how to be responsive to learners and to proactively promote all students' learning
- Expresses positive attitudes toward individuals with disabilities and a willingness to advocate on their behalf
- Is committed to collaboration with colleagues, families, and communities in order to promote all students' learning and development
- Demonstrates professional ethical and legal behavior as defined by the respective codes of ethics and laws
- Demonstrates consistent professional behavior across all academic settings
- Maintains appropriate interpersonal and professional boundaries
- Accepts personal responsibility for one's behavior
- Expresses feelings and opinions effectively and appropriately
- Upholds confidentiality

Skill Building Courses

Before taking any math or English courses, students must take the DePaul placement tests to determine if skill level is at the college level. If placement indicates skill level in these courses, the courses become part of degree requirements. Consult with your advisor regarding placement test results and any required classes.

Advanced Standing

Students are admitted conditionally to the College of Education. There are additional requirements to reach Advanced Standing in your program in the College of Education. Requirements must be met to progress in the major and take courses in the Advanced Standing category.

Advanced Standing requirements are:

- Maintain a DePaul undergraduate 2.5 GPA
- Pass the Illinois Test of Academic Proficiency (TAP)
- Submit an application for advanced standing form

Students should attempt to complete the Advanced Standing requirements soon after beginning the program. There is no time limit to meet these criteria; however, students will only be able to take pre-education courses until requirements have been met. Students can also take liberal studies or content area courses before or after meeting Advanced Standing requirements.
Modern Language Competence Requirement

Students pursuing a Bachelor of Arts degree in the College of Education will be required to demonstrate a measure of competence in a modern language, as defined by the college. Such competence may be demonstrated in one of several ways:

- completing two years of a language sequence in high school
- completing the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language
- completing a college course beyond the first-year level in any language
- achieving a satisfactory score on any of the Modern Language placement examinations administered at DePaul
- achieving a satisfactory rating in a proficiency examination accepted by DePaul
- achieving a score of 3 or higher on the Advance Placement (AP) test for any language
- achieving a score of 5 or higher in the Language B assessment from a Standard or Higher Level International Baccalaureate (IB) program
- achieving a satisfactory score on the CLEP examination

Please note: The Modern Language Competence Requirement is not required for students in the Early Childhood Education: SNL Joint Program (BAECE) program.

For further information regarding satisfactory scores and possible credit from the DePaul placement, AP, CLEP, or IB examinations, please contact the Office of the University Registrar.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College of Education will abide by the COE Modern Language Requirement in place on the effective date of the ICT.

B.A. students who meet College requirements and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the “Modern Language Option” of the Liberal Studies Program. While B.S. students are not required to demonstrate competency in a modern language, the “Modern Language Option” is available to them for language study at any level.

Licensure Tests

All individuals licensed by the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) are required to complete licensure tests specific to their teaching license.

Field Experiences

Each student seeking licensure from the College of Education/Professional Education Unit must complete supervised field experiences in appropriate settings in conjunction with education courses. The field experiences must include a variety of grade levels, multicultural experiences, and a minimum of 10 hours in special education settings. All field experiences must be completed prior to final approval for student teaching. Field experience hours should be entered by the student into the FEDS system when completing courses with field experience requirements.

Endorsements

An endorsement is a statement appearing on a license that identifies the specific subjects or grade level that the license holder is authorized to teach.

The Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) issues endorsements in various subject areas. To view the full list and requirements, visit the ISBE website.

Please note that the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) may change the state licensure and endorsement requirements at any time and without prior notice. Individuals are bound by the requirements in place when applying for the license or endorsement, not the requirements in place when beginning the program.

Student Teaching Requirements

Student Teaching is the culminating clinical experience in the student’s program. All students in teacher preparation programs must meet the following requirements before applying for student teaching:

Academic Requirements:

- Completion of all Liberal Studies, Pre-Education, Advanced Standing and concentration/content area courses
- Overall cumulative GPA of 2.50 or better
- Cumulative GPA of 2.75 or better in all education courses
- Meet all other program requirements (e.g., modern language and residency requirements)
- Meet designated program standards
- Pass the required Illinois licensure content area test(s)

Clinical Requirements:

- Completion of all required field experiences
Three satisfactory evaluations in field experiences
Three satisfactory faculty recommendations
Attendance at mandatory meeting for student teaching
Application for student teaching, resume, transcripts, and writing sample (check deadlines)
Review and approval by Student Teaching Committee of the College of Education

Student Teaching Timeline and Deadlines:

- Attend a Mandatory Meeting approximately 1 year prior to expected quarter of student teaching.
- Submit application for student teaching after attending Mandatory Meeting, approximately 1 year prior to student teaching.
- Academic requirements are due one quarter before expected quarter of student teaching.
- Clinical requirements are completed as course requirements. Field experience hours are entered by the student as coursework is completed.

Online Faculty Evaluations are entered by the instructor of relevant courses. All data must be entered in the Field Experience Documentation System (FEDS) due one month prior to student teaching.

Individual childcare agencies and public and private school districts may have additional requirements (application, training, background check, etc.).

Degree Conferral and Graduation

The awarding of a degree is not automatic. You must submit an application to be considered for the degree. DePaul awards and posts degrees at the end of each regular academic term (autumn, winter, spring, summer).

It is your responsibility to initiate the degree conferral application process by submitting an online application. Submitting an application means you intend to finish your degree requirements by the end of the term for which you have applied.

Undergraduate students must be approved for student teaching and complete student teaching and capstone to be cleared for the degree. Student must submit graduation application for the quarter that matches the quarter you are student teaching.

After you submit the application, you cannot register for any term after the one selected in the application.

To apply for degree conferral, log on to Campus Connection. Select STUDENT CENTER, then MY ACADEMICS. On screen instructions will take you through the application process.

Provided that all requirements and financial obligations are met, degrees are posted 30 days after the official end of the term. Official dates are listed on the Academic Calendar.

DePaul holds one commencement ceremony each year in June. If you intend to participate, you must first apply for degree conferral for the current academic year and then submit a cap and gown order. Honors announced at the ceremony for undergraduates are based on winter quarter GPAs because a final GPA is not available at the time of the ceremony.

Additional information about degree conferral and graduation can be found on the College of Education website at: http://education.depaul.edu/.

Licensure

Requirements for licensure include completion of full bachelor’s degree program, all licensure tests (including OPI for world language majors), and awarding of bachelor’s degree. A bachelor’s degree is required to qualify for licensure and must be awarded before applying for the license.

Individuals must submit an application directly to the Illinois State Board of Education after completion of requirements and after DePaul has submitted notification to ISBE. Application requirements include application form, application fee, official transcripts, and registration fee.

All individuals must meet ISBE requirements in place at the time of application for the license. Requirements are subject to change per the discretion of ISBE. All coursework and requirements pertaining to licensure requirements must be completed before DePaul University can recommend an individual for the license.

Individuals seeking additional endorsements after applying for the licensure must contact ISBE directly for an evaluation request.

All coursework and requirements must be completed before DePaul University can recommend an individual for the license.
Liberal Studies Requirements

Honors program requirements can be found in the individual Colleges & Schools section of the University Catalog. Select Academics, followed by Undergraduate, then Honors Program Alternative.

Notes

Specified required courses within Liberal Studies may have grade minimums (e.g. C- or better). Please consult your advisor or your college and major requirements.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

- SEC 390 SECONDARY STUDENT TEACHING (10 credit hours)
- EDU 95 CLINICAL EXPERIENCE WITH CHILDREN AND YOUTH (non-credit, non-tuition, PA grade required)

Licensure Tests

All individuals licensed by the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) are required to complete licensure tests specific to their teaching license. Secondary Education Social Science majors must complete the following tests:

- Test of Academic Proficiency (TAP) (test #400) - assesses knowledge of reading comprehension, language arts, writing, and math. Test is required to qualify for Advanced Standing. *Check with your advisor about qualifying for a waiver with acceptable ACT or SAT test scores.
- Social Science: History Content Area Test (test #246) – assesses and measures the candidate's core knowledge across history and social science fields. Test is required before Student Teaching (deadlines apply).
- EdTPA - assessment conducted during the student teaching experience including video clips of instruction, lesson plans, student work samples, analysis of student learning and reflective commentaries. Students will submit an electronic portfolio to an outside agency for independent evaluation and a fee will be imposed by that agency as part of the assessment.

Secondary Education Visual Art (BA)

The Bachelor of Arts program in Secondary Education Visual Art prepares students to teach 6th through 12th grade in a variety of urban and suburban education settings, including public and private middle schools and high schools.

Students learn educational theories and effective teaching practices, participate in field experiences, which require observation and participation in teaching activities at multiple schools, and student teaching. Students should meet early and regularly with their advisor to design and monitor their program of study.

The program combines theoretical principles of education and field work with the student's choice of major. Students follow a general pattern of study for middle school and high school levels. In all cases, appropriate field experience plays an integral role.

In addition to completing the requirements for licensure in Illinois, and in aligning with a commitment to preparing students with a global mindset, teacher candidates will also complete the requirements to gain a certificate in Teaching and Learning from the International Baccalaureate Organization. The IB Certificate in Teaching and Learning for the Middle Years Program (MYP) and the Diploma Program (DP) provides teacher candidates the background and expertise to teach in an IB school. The IB Certificate in Teaching and Learning expands the opportunities for teacher candidates and training in IB open expands the vision of inquiry and reflective practice.

Students entering the program must be able and willing to devote themselves to a program requiring a minimum of 100 hours of daytime field experiences in schools. These school-based clinical hours are completed in conjunction with methodology courses that require students to spend a half-day each week in a school. As students will be completing requirements to earn the IB Certificate, a majority of the 100-110 hours will be completed in International Baccalaureate Schools. In addition, the student must spend a minimum of 11 weeks in full-time student teaching.

Please make sure you consult the Liberal Studies Requirements, Major Requirements, and College Core Requirements for full degree requirements.

NOTE: Secondary Education students now have the option to double major in Secondary Education and Art, Media, and Design. With the double major, students will graduate with a Bachelor of Arts degree with a major in Secondary Education and a major in Art, Media, and Design. Students should declare Secondary Education as their primary major (see Secondary Education BA/BS for degree requirements) and Art, Media, and Design (see Art, Media, and Design BA for degree requirements) as their secondary major. If you have already begun the Secondary Education Visual Arts major and want to switch to the Secondary Education Major and Art, Media, and Design double major, you should contact your academic advisor because the double major may require additional coursework. Students who pursue the Bachelor of Arts degree with a major in Secondary Education Visual Arts do not have the option to double major in Art Media and Design.

Licensure

Illinois Professional Educator License with an endorsement in Secondary Education Visual Art (grades 6-12), an Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) approved program.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Use knowledge of adolescent learners to create safe, equitable, and meaningful learning environments and collaborative classrooms.
- Demonstrate and apply disciplinary content and pedagogical content knowledge with an emphasis on developing students' conceptual understanding and disciplinary literacy.
- Plan and deliver instruction that demonstrates knowledge of adolescent learners and content.
- Implement assessment practices to evaluate student learning and inform instruction.
- Exhibit professionalism, pursue professional growth, and advocate for adolescent learners and their communities.

College Core Requirements

Dispositions

The academic programs within the College of Education have set forth these dispositions as educational and professional expectations for all students. Students should be aware that failing to abide by DePaul University or College of Education policies including, under certain circumstances, these dispositions, could result in adverse consequences for the student, including removal from his or her program, the College of Education, or the University.

The following dispositions apply to Early Childhood Education, Elementary Education, Exercise Science Middle Grades, Physical Education, Secondary Education, and World Language Education majors only:

- Reflects on progress and identifies strengths and weaknesses, including evaluating strategies for success, finding alternatives for inappropriate strategies, and modifying future practices
- Is receptive to faculty feedback and acts meaningfully and professionally upon suggestions
Values critical thinking, including engaging theoretical and philosophical frameworks and shows evidence of critical thinking through discussion and writing (e.g., journals, response to prompts)
- Understands the importance of and is committed to communicating clearly orally and in writing both in traditional and in new and emerging digital formats
- Values and is committed to continually developing strong content area knowledge and/or knowledge of the professional field, including pedagogical content knowledge
- Takes initiative, uses imagination and creativity, and seeks out information using a variety of human and material resources and technology to inform his or her teaching
- Is aware of the role of classroom environment and uses management procedures that reflect respect and care for learners and concern for their emotional and physical well being
- Takes the time and effort needed to understand how students learn, including discovering their interests and experiences and determining how to shape teaching acts (using technology as appropriate) that engage learners meaningfully and actively
- Values and is committed to using assessment to evaluate and ensure the continuous intellectual, social, emotional, and physical development of the learner
- Respects and considers cultural contexts in order to determine how to be responsive to learners and to proactively promote all students' learning
- Values and is responsive to diverse learners' academic, emotional, and social needs through teaching acts (including careful instructional planning, implementation, and differentiation) and through everyday interactions with students
- Recognizes and fulfills professional responsibilities and habits of conduct (e.g., dress, language, preparedness, attendance, punctuality, etc.)
- Demonstrates collegiality, honesty, good judgment, courtesy, respect, and diplomacy
- Balances self-confidence and assertiveness with respect for others' perspectives
- Respects the requirements, expectations, and procedures of both the College of Education and of our field partners and appreciates the issues of trust, fairness, and professionalism involved

The following dispositions apply to Special Education majors only:
- Is receptive to faculty feedback and acts meaningfully and professionally upon suggestions
- Reflects on his or her own progress, identifies strengths and weaknesses, and evaluates strategies for success and professional growth
- Takes initiative
- Is open to new ideas and engagement in learning
- Respects diversity and cultural contexts to determine how to be responsive to learners and to proactively promote all students' learning
- Expresses positive attitudes toward individuals with disabilities and a willingness to advocate on their behalf
- Is committed to collaboration with colleagues, families, and communities in order to promote all students' learning and development
- Demonstrates professional ethical and legal behavior as defined by the respective codes of ethics and laws
- Demonstrates consistent professional behavior across all academic settings
- Maintains appropriate interpersonal and professional boundaries
- Accepts personal responsibility for one's behavior
- Expresses feelings and opinions effectively and appropriately
- Upholds confidentiality

Skill Building Courses

Before taking any math or English courses, students must take the DePaul placement tests to determine if skill level is at the college level. If placement indicates skill level in these courses, the courses become part of degree requirements. Consult with your advisor regarding placement test results and any required classes.

Advanced Standing

Students are admitted conditionally to the College of Education. There are additional requirements to reach Advanced Standing in your program in the College of Education. Requirements must be met to progress in the major and take courses in the Advanced Standing category.

Advanced Standing requirements are:
- Maintain a DePaul undergraduate 2.5 GPA
- Pass the Illinois Test of Academic Proficiency (TAP)
- Submit an application for advanced standing form

Students should attempt to complete the Advanced Standing requirements soon after beginning the program. There is no time limit to meet these criteria; however, students will only be able to take pre-education courses until requirements have been met. Students can also take liberal studies or content area courses before or after meeting Advanced Standing requirements.

Modern Language Competence Requirement

Students pursuing a Bachelor of Arts degree in the College of Education will be required to demonstrate a measure of competence in a modern language, as defined by the college. Such competence may be demonstrated in one of several ways:
- completing two years of a language sequence in high school
• completing the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language
• completing a college course beyond the first-year level in any language
• achieving a satisfactory score on any of the Modern Language placement examinations administered at DePaul
• achieving a satisfactory rating in a proficiency examination accepted by DePaul
• achieving a score of 3 or higher on the Advance Placement (AP) test for any language
• achieving a score of 5 or higher in the Language B assessment from a Standard or Higher Level International Baccalaureate (IB) program
• achieving a satisfactory score on the CLEP examination

Please note: The Modern Language Competence Requirement is not required for students in the Early Childhood Education: SNL Joint Program (BAECE) program.

For further information regarding satisfactory scores and possible credit from the DePaul placement, AP, CLEP, or IB examinations, please contact the Office of the University Registrar.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College of Education will abide by the COE Modern Language Requirement in place on the effective date of the ICT.

B.A. students who meet College requirements and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" of the Liberal Studies Program. While B.S. students are not required to demonstrate competency in a modern language, the "Modern Language Option" is available to them for language study at any level.

Licensure Tests

All individuals licensed by the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) are required to complete licensure tests specific to their teaching license.

Field Experiences

Each student seeking licensure from the College of Education/Professional Education Unit must complete supervised field experiences in appropriate settings in conjunction with education courses. The field experiences must include a variety of grade levels, multicultural experiences, and a minimum of 10 hours in special education settings. All field experiences must be completed prior to final approval for student teaching. Field experience hours should be entered by the student into the FEDS system when completing courses with field experience requirements.

Endorsements

An endorsement is a statement appearing on a license that identifies the specific subjects or grade level that the license holder is authorized to teach.

The Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) issues endorsements in various subject areas. To view the full list and requirements, visit the ISBE website.

Please note that the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) may change the state licensure and endorsement requirements at any time and without prior notice. Individuals are bound by the requirements in place when applying for the license or endorsement, not the requirements in place when beginning the program.

Student Teaching Requirements

Student Teaching is the culminating clinical experience in the student's program. All students in teacher preparation programs must meet the following requirements before applying for student teaching:

Academic Requirements:

• Completion of all Liberal Studies, Pre-Education, Advanced Standing and concentration/content area courses
• Overall cumulative GPA of 2.50 or better
• Cumulative GPA of 2.75 or better in all education courses
• Meet all other program requirements (e.g., modern language and residency requirements)
• Meet designated program standards
• Pass the required Illinois licensure content area test(s)

Clinical Requirements:

• Completion of all required field experiences
• Three satisfactory evaluations in field experiences
• Three satisfactory faculty recommendations
• Attendance at mandatory meeting for student teaching
• Application for student teaching, resume, transcripts, and writing sample (check deadlines)
• Review and approval by Student Teaching Committee of the College of Education
Student Teaching Timeline and Deadlines:

- Attend a Mandatory Meeting approximately 1 year prior to expected quarter of student teaching.
- Submit application for student teaching after attending Mandatory Meeting, approximately 1 year prior to student teaching.
- Academic requirements are due one quarter before expected quarter of student teaching.
- Clinical requirements are completed as course requirements. Field experience hours are entered by the student as coursework is completed.

Online Faculty Evaluations are entered by the instructor of relevant courses. All data must be entered in the Field Experience Documentation System (FEDS) due one month prior to student teaching.

Individual childcare agencies and public and private school districts may have additional requirements (application, training, background check, etc.).

Degree Conferral and Graduation

The awarding of a degree is not automatic. You must submit an application to be considered for the degree. DePaul awards and posts degrees at the end of each regular academic term (autumn, winter, spring, summer).

It is your responsibility to initiate the degree conferral application process by submitting an online application. Submitting an application means you intend to finish your degree requirements by the end of the term for which you have applied.

Undergraduate students must be approved for student teaching and complete student teaching and capstone to be cleared for the degree. Student must submit graduation application for the quarter that matches the quarter you are student teaching.

After you submit the application, you cannot register for any term after the one selected in the application.

To apply for degree conferral, log on to Campus Connection. Select STUDENT CENTER, then MY ACADEMICS. On screen instructions will take you through the application process.

Provided that all requirements and financial obligations are met, degrees are posted 30 days after the official end of the term. Official dates are listed on the Academic Calendar.

DePaul holds one commencement ceremony each year in June. If you intend to participate, you must first apply for degree conferral for the current academic year and then submit a cap and gown order. Honors announced at the ceremony for undergraduates are based on winter quarter GPAs because a final GPA is not available at the time of the ceremony.

Additional information about degree conferral and graduation can be found on the College of Education website at: http://education.depaul.edu/.

Licensure

Requirements for licensure include completion of full bachelor's degree program, all licensure tests (including OPI for world language majors), and awarding of bachelor's degree. A bachelor's degree is required to qualify for licensure and must be awarded before applying for the license.

Individuals must submit an application directly to the Illinois State Board of Education after completion of requirements and after DePaul has submitted notification to ISBE. Application requirements include application form, application fee, official transcripts, and registration fee.

All individuals must meet ISBE requirements in place at the time of application for the license. Requirements are subject to change per the discretion of ISBE. All coursework and requirements pertaining to licensure requirements must be completed before DePaul University can recommend an individual for the license.

Individuals seeking additional endorsements after applying for the licensure must contact ISBE directly for an evaluation request.

All coursework and requirements must be completed before DePaul University can recommend an individual for the license.

Notes

Specified required courses within Liberal Studies may have grade minimums (e.g. C- or better). Please consult your advisor or your college and major requirements.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

Major Requirements

Course Requirements

Content Area Courses

Core: 20 quarter hours required, grade of C or better required

- SEC 395 ASSESSMENT ISSUES IN SECONDARY EDUCATION
- BBE 301 TEACHING ADOLESCENT ENGLISH LANGUAGE LEARNERS AND DIALECT SPEAKERS ACROSS THE CURRICULUM

Open Electives: 8 quarter hours are required

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours. The following cannot be used to fulfill an open elective: WRD 98, MAT 94, and MAT 95.

Student Teaching: 10 quarter hours required, grade of B- or better required

Registration in student teaching requires completion of all requirements and procedures indicated in the college core section. EDU 95 indicates to the Illinois State Board of Education that all field experience hours are complete. All students also take SEC 387, Capstone Seminar with student teaching (listed in the Liberal Studies section).

- SEC 390 SECONDARY STUDENT TEACHING (10 credit hours)
- EDU 95 CLINICAL EXPERIENCE WITH CHILDREN AND YOUTH (non-credit, non-tuition, PA grade required)

Licensure Tests

All individuals licensed by the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) are required to complete licensure tests specific to their teaching license. Secondary Education Visual Art majors must complete the following tests:

- Test of Academic Proficiency (TAP) (test #400) - assesses knowledge of reading comprehension, language arts, writing, and math. Test is required to qualify for Advanced Standing.  *Check with your advisor about qualifying for a waiver with acceptable ACT or SAT test scores.
- Visual Art Content Area Test (test #145) – assesses elements, principles, and expressive features of the visual arts; creating and producing works of visual art; analyzing and evaluating works of visual art; and the role of the visual arts.  Test is required before Student Teaching (deadlines apply).
- EdTPA - assessment conducted during the student teaching experience including video clips of instruction, lesson plans, student work samples, analysis of student learning and reflective commentaries. Students will submit an electronic portfolio to an outside agency for independent evaluation and a fee will be imposed by that agency as part of the assessment.

Sociology (BA)

Sociology is the study of groups, societies, social processes, and institutions. To study these, the department provides a program that focuses on sociological methods (how we know) and sociological theory (how we explain). The curriculum provides students with a basis for understanding and participation in their own communities and enables them to pursue careers and occupations in professions related to sociological knowledge and training.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Apply and explain the sociological perspective (including the history of the discipline and its major theorists) to different levels of analysis of social contexts including:
  - Families.
  - Communities.
  - Cities.
  - Regions.
  - Organizations.
  - Societies at the national and global levels.
- Recognize and use basic qualitative and quantitative research methods, concepts, and procedures for the social sciences.
- Describe the historical context of sociology as a discipline, identify major classical and contemporary theorists, and critically examine key concepts of sociology such as social structures, inequality, deviance, social control, power and authority, complex organizations, and culture related to society and individual behaviors.
- Apply sociological perspectives and skills into the construction of a socially inclusive and just society while also planning a purposeful career path that satisfied personal interests, values, and beliefs.

College Core Requirements

Study in the Major Field

The student's course of study in the College consists of three parts: Liberal Studies, the major field, and electives. Together these three parts contribute to the liberal education of the student which is the common purpose of all study in the College. By "liberal education" the College understands not only a deep and thorough knowledge of a particular area of study but a knowledge of the diverse areas of study represented by criticism, history, the arts, the behavioral and social sciences, philosophy, religious studies, the natural science, and mathematics.

The major field program generally is built upon a set of core courses and a specialized "concentration." The number of courses required for a major varies by department. Most students go beyond the minimum requirements, electing additional courses which both broaden and deepen their understanding of their chosen discipline.

Because no academic major program is built in isolation, students are required to pursue a number of electives of the student’s choice. The inherent flexibility of this curriculum demands that the student consult an academic advisor at each stage in the total program and at least once prior to each registration. Students will be prompted to visit the College Office for their official graduation check early in their senior year.

Declaration of Major, Minor and Concentration

All students in the College are required to declare a major field prior to beginning their junior year. The student will then be assigned a faculty advisor in the major field department or program and should make an appointment to see that advisor at his or her earliest convenience.

Students must declare or change majors, minors, and concentrations, via Campus Connection. However, for the purpose of exploring the possibility of changing a major field, the student should consult an academic advisor in the Office for Academic Advising Support.

The Modern Language Requirement (MLR)

All students will be required to demonstrate competence in a modern language (i.e., a language other than English) equivalent to the proficiency attained from one year of college-level language study. This Modern Language Requirement (MLR) may be demonstrated by:

- placing into 104 or above on the DePaul language placement exam
- completing the last course or earning AP/IB credit for the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language (e.g. 103 for DePaul language classes)
- completing a college course or earning AP/IB credit for a college course beyond the first-year level in any language (e.g. 104 or above for DePaul language classes)
- completing the final course of a four-year sequence of the same modern language in high school*
- completing a proctored exam by BYU and passing the exam (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)
- completing a proctored Written Proficiency Test (WPT) by Language Testing International (LTI) and achieving a score of Beginner High or above (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)

* Students are strongly encouraged to take the DePaul language placement exam even if they have met the MLR via study of a language in high school. This will ensure continuation of language study at the proper level.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College will abide by this MLR in place on the effective date of the ICT, regardless of when they first matriculated at DePaul.

Students who have met the MLR and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the “Modern Language Option” (MLO) of the Liberal Studies Program (see “Special Programs”).

External Credit and Residency

A student who has been admitted to the College begins residency within the college as of the first day of classes of the term in which the student is registered. Students in residence, whether attending on a full-time or part-time basis, may not take courses away from DePaul University without the written permission of the college. Permission must be obtained in advance of registration to avoid loss of credit or residency in the college; see the LAS website for more information.

Notes
A student whose only major is Sociology is required to complete the Capstone offered by the Sociology Department. A student who is double majoring (or pursuing dual degrees) with the primary major (or primary degree) in Sociology may substitute the Capstone of the secondary major or degree. A Sociology major in the University Honors Program shall take only the University Honors Capstone, not both the Honors Capstone and the Sociology Capstone.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the experiential learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. - SOC 215 WORKPLACE ENVIRONMENTS AND CAREER DEVELOPMENT IN SOCIOLOGY (2.0 hours)
- SOC 279 INTRO STATS FOR THE SOCIAL SCIENCES *
- SOC 331 SOCIOLOGICAL THEORY
Concentration Requirements

Students must complete 8 additional courses from one of the following concentrations: Standard; Sociology of Culture; Health and Human Services; Law, Crime, and Criminology; or Cities, Action, Power, and Practice (CAPP).

*The statistics requirement may also be fulfilled by PSY 240 STATISTICS I, MAT 137 BUSINESS STATISTICS, or MAT 242 ELEMENTS OF STATISTICS.

NOTE: A maximum of 8 credits of SOC 398 INTERNSHIP can be counted toward major field credit. Additional SOC 398 credit may be earned but it will count for open elective credit or Experiential Learning (EL) credit, if applicable.

Cities, Action, Power, and Practice (CAPP) Concentration

This concentration equips students to work for change in developing sustainable local communities. Concentrators will explore social, political, economic, and environmental aspects of communities in the United States and around the world. Topics include the critical analysis of the historical development and current conditions of downtown centers, residential neighborhoods, and suburban areas. Students will investigate the interrelated issues of poverty, housing, education, and crime in phenomena like public housing and gentrification. As they do, they will also consider the activists, organizations, and policy efforts that mobilize around these issues. Collaborations with community organizations will provide the student with a familiarity of urban issues and institutions. Cross-cutting sociological subjects such as work, race/ethnicity, gender, immigration, policing and law, and community activism are central to the work of the concentration. CAPP prepares students to work with community-centered non-profit organizations of various types or within government. It serves as an excellent preparation for graduate study in public policy, public administration, social work, urban planning, and law. In addition to the core sociology course requirements, students will complete eight additional courses from the concentration list below:

Course Requirements

Two 200-level CAPP Courses

- One Foundation Course
  - SOC 245 URBAN SOCIOLOGY
- One 200-level CAPP Sociology Elective course from the following list:

One 300-level Elective course in Sociology

- Any 300-level Sociology course (including those listed above)

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Combined Bachelor's/Master's Degree

Students with a Cities, Action, Power, and Practice (CAPP) concentration will have the following three courses substituted for three 400-level courses, which will count toward both undergraduate and graduate degree programs:

- One CAPP Practice course
Health and Human Services Concentration

This concentration addresses policies and issues of health and public welfare in the U.S. and abroad. Students develop an understanding of the social factors that create disparities in health and illness, health care delivery systems, and other social resources. Students interested in careers in health care, health policy, public health, nursing, and social work should consider this concentration. We strongly suggest that students in this concentration take SOC 221 INTRODUCTION TO THE U.S HEALTH CARE SYSTEM. In addition to the core sociology course requirements, students will complete eight additional courses from the concentration list below:

Course Requirements

- Two 200-level courses from the following list:
  - SOC 200 SOCIAL WORK AND SOCIAL WELFARE
  - SOC 221 INTRODUCTION TO THE U.S. HEALTH CARE SYSTEM
  - SOC 223 SOCIOLOGY OF HEALTH AND ILLNESS
  - SOC 235 ADOLESCENT HEALTH
  - SOC 236 IMMIGRATION, HEALTH AND ILLNESS
- Three 300-level courses from the following list:
  - SOC 307 SOCIOLOGY OF SUBSTANCE USE AND ABUSE
  - SOC 321 HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICE ORGANIZATIONS
  - SOC 323 THE SOCIAL WELFARE INSTITUTION
  - SOC 326 AGING AND THE LIFE COURSE
  - SOC 351 HEALTH DISPARITIES
  - SOC 353 SOCIOLOGY OF MENTAL ILLNESS
  - SOC 365 HEALTH AND GLOBALIZATION
  - SOC 370 PEOPLE, PLACES, AND FOOD
  - SOC 373 PUBLIC HEALTH AND HIGH RISK BEHAVIOR
  - SOC 390 SEMINAR IN SOCIOLOGY (with approval)
  - SOC 394 COMMUNITY BASED SOCIOLOGY (with approval)
  - SOC 398 INTERNSHIP (with approval)
- Two 300-level electives in Sociology, which may include those courses listed above.
- One additional 200/300-level elective in Sociology, which may include those courses listed above.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Combined Bachelor's/ Master's Degree

Students with a Health and Human Services concentration will have the following three courses substituted for three 400-level courses, which will count toward both undergraduate and graduate degree programs:

- Two 300 level electives in Sociology
- One additional 200 or 300 level elective in Sociology

Law, Crime, and Criminology Concentration

This concentration spans topics of criminalization, the legal system, and criminal justice systems, paying particular attention to the way these affect marginalized segments of the population and work to maintain interlocking systems of oppression. Students in this concentration will learn about the cultural and structural forces that work to define deviance, inform the construction and interpretation of the law, and delimit the experiences of people affected by the criminal justice system. This concentration prepares students for careers in law, non-profit social justice work, social work, or youth services. We strongly suggest that students in this concentration take SOC 220 THEORIES OF CRIME AND DELinquency. In addition to the core sociology course requirements, students will complete eight additional courses from the concentration list below:

Course Requirements
• Two 200-level courses from the following list:
  o SOC 207 YOUTH AND SOCIETY
  o SOC 208 LAW AND SOCIETY
  o SOC 214 POLICE AND THE URBAN COMMUNITY
  o SOC 220 THEORIES OF CRIME AND DELINQUENCY
  o SOC 248 WHITE RACISM
• Three 300-level courses from the following list:
  o SOC 301 THE JUVENILE COURT SYSTEM: ITS OPERATIONS
  o SOC 304 SOCIAL DEVIANCE
  o SOC 305 POWER, DEVIANCE AND SOCIAL CONTROL
  o SOC 307 SOCIOLOGY OF SUBSTANCE USE AND ABUSE
  o SOC 310 CRIMINAL-LEGAL SYSTEM: CRITICAL PERSPECTIVES
  o SOC 315 LAW, POWER AND RESISTANCE
  o SOC 316 STREET GANGS
  o SOC 317 GENDER, CRIME AND JUSTICE
  o SOC 322 TREATMENT AND PREVENTION OF DELINQUENCY
  o SOC 323 THEORETICAL CRIMINOLOGY
  o SOC 330 POWER, DEVIANCE AND SOCIAL CONTROL
  o SOC 350 COMMUNITY BASED SOCIOLOGY
  o SOC 351 CRIMINAL-LEGAL SYSTEM: CRITICAL PERSPECTIVES
  o SOC 352 THEORETICAL CRIMINOLOGY
  o SOC 353 SOCIAL DEVIANCE
  o SOC 354 POWER, DEVIANCE AND SOCIAL CONTROL
  o SOC 355 SUBSTANCE USE AND ABUSE
  o SOC 356 CRIME AND JUSTICE
  o SOC 357 TREATMENT AND PREVENTION OF DELINQUENCY
  o SOC 358 THEORETICAL CRIMINOLOGY
  o SOC 359 SOCIAL DEVIANCE
  o SOC 360 POWER, DEVIANCE AND SOCIAL CONTROL
  o SOC 361 SUBSTANCE USE AND ABUSE
  o SOC 362 CRIME AND JUSTICE
  o SOC 363 TREATMENT AND PREVENTION OF DELINQUENCY
  o SOC 364 THEORETICAL CRIMINOLOGY
• Two 300 level electives in Sociology, which may include those courses listed above.
• One additional 200 or 300 level elective in Sociology, which may include those courses listed above.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Combined Bachelor’s/ Master’s Degree

Students with a Law, Crime and Criminology concentration will have the following three courses substituted for three 400-level courses, which will count toward both undergraduate and graduate degree programs:

• Two 300 level electives in Sociology
• One additional 200 or 300 level elective in Sociology

Sociology of Culture Concentration

This concentration focuses on popular culture, the media, technology, and the arts, as well as cultural diversity in post-industrial society. Students in this concentration will take a critical look at how the culture of everyday life is linked to the economy, state, family, education, and politics. Students interested in pursuing careers in communications, advertising, cultural criticism, market research and journalism should consider this concentration. We strongly suggest that students in this concentration take SOC 280 MASS MEDIA AND CULTURE. In addition to the core sociology course requirements, students will complete eight additional courses from the concentration list below:

Course Requirements

• Two 200-level courses from the following list:
  o SOC 205 SELF AND SOCIETY
  o SOC 207 YOUTH AND SOCIETY
  o SOC 209 SOCIOLOGY OF WOMEN
  o SOC 233 SOCIOLOGY OF SPORT
  o SOC 280 MASS MEDIA AND CULTURE
  o SOC 281 SOCIOLOGY OF ROCK MUSIC
• Three 300-level courses from the following list:
  o SOC 309 SOCIOLOGY OF SEXUALITY
  o SOC 330 THEMES IN SOCIAL THOUGHT o SOC 382 QUALITATIVE METHODS
  o SOC 383 VISUAL SOCIOLOGY
  o SOC 384 ETHNOGRAPHIC DOCUMENTARY FILM PRODUCTION
Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Combined Bachelor's/ Master's Degree

Students with a Health and Human Services concentration will have the following three courses substituted for three 400-level courses, which will count toward both undergraduate and graduate degree programs:

- Two 300 level electives in Sociology
- One additional 200 or 300 level elective in Sociology

Standard Concentration

This concentration is for students who want a broad and generalized course of study. Students in this concentration may take a broad array of 200 and 300 level courses. This concentration is excellent preparation for graduate work in sociology and other disciplines, as well as careers in many different areas.

Course Requirements

- Five 300-level Sociology courses
- Three additional Sociology courses at the 200 or 300-level

Students should select these courses in consultation with their advisor.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Combined Bachelor's/ Master's Degree

Students with a Standard concentration will have the following three courses substituted for three 400-level courses, which will count toward both undergraduate and graduate degree programs:

- Three Sociology elective courses at the 200 or 300-level

Combined Bachelor's/ Master's Degree

The combined Bachelor's/Master of Arts degree programs allow students to complete 12 graduate credit hours while still enrolled as undergraduates. This option is available to Sociology majors as well as any undergraduate major at DePaul University. These 12 graduate credit hours can count as elective courses in their senior year as an undergraduate and they comprise the first year of the MA degree in Sociology. Combined degree participants will be awarded their bachelor's degrees upon completion of their undergraduate degree requirements. The MA degree will be awarded upon completion of the graduate degree requirements.

The Sociology BA/MA has three enrollment options:
Sociology BA/ Sociology MA

Students apply to this program in spring of their junior year; interested students should meet with the Director of the program. Students in this program take twelve graduate credit hours in their senior year; these graduate courses apply toward both undergraduate and graduate Sociology requirements. An application to the Sociology BA/Sociology MA program is required. Students accepted to the Sociology BA/Sociology MA program must register for graduate classes in consultation with the Graduate Program Director.

Students with a Standard concentration will have the following three courses substituted for three 400-level courses, which will count toward both undergraduate and graduate degree programs:

- Three Sociology elective courses at the 200 or 300-level

Students with a Sociology of Culture concentration will have the following three courses substituted for three 400-level courses, which will count toward both undergraduate and graduate degree programs:

- Two 300 level electives in Sociology
- One additional 200 or 300 level elective in Sociology

Students with a Law, Crime and Criminology concentration will have the following three courses substituted for three 400-level courses, which will count toward both undergraduate and graduate degree programs:

- Two 300 level electives in Sociology
- One additional 200 or 300 level elective in Sociology

Students with a Health and Human Services concentration will have the following three courses substituted for three 400-level courses, which will count toward both undergraduate and graduate degree programs:

- Two 300 level electives in Sociology
- One additional 200 or 300 level elective in Sociology

Students with a Cities, Action, Power, and Practice (CAPP) concentration will have the following three courses substituted for three 400-level courses, which will count toward both undergraduate and graduate degree programs:

- One CAPP Practice course
- One 200-level CAPP Elective from the CAPP Sociology Elective course list
- One 300-level Sociology Elective course

DePaul Undergraduate Degree/ Sociology MA

Current DePaul undergraduate students with junior status (at least 88 credit hours) and a cumulative DePaul grade point average of 3.00 are eligible to apply to the Combined Bachelor's/MA program in Sociology. The application must be submitted no later than the end of the spring quarter of the junior year. Students will take three graduate elective courses in their senior year as an undergraduate; these courses comprise the first year of the MA degree program in Sociology. Students who did not take a bachelor's-level statistics course are strongly recommended to take SOC 402 STATISTICS FOR THE SOCIAL SCIENCES, as one of their electives taken during their senior year as an undergraduate.

The MA degree requirements are found here.

Sociology BA/ Secondary Education Social Science MEd

The TEACH Program combines a Liberal Arts and Social Sciences (LAS) undergraduate Social Science major (Anthropology, Economics, Geography, History, Political Science, or Sociology) or a Science and Health (Psychology) major with a graduate level College of Education (COE) Master’s in Education Program. Students graduate with a BA or BS in their disciplinary major and a MEd in Education with State of Illinois Secondary Social Science licensure.

Students may apply to the Program during the spring of their junior year. They must enroll in the Junior Year Experiential Learning course, TCH 320 EXPLORING TEACHING IN THE URBAN HIGH SCHOOL, and meet other application criteria; these include completion of at least 16 quarter credit hours at DePaul and a 3.0 grade point average. During their senior year, students are required to complete a Program capstone course, TCH 390 CAPSTONE: INTEGRATING EDUCATION & DISCIPLINARY FOUNDATIONS, and three 400-level courses that count toward both their undergraduate and graduate degrees:

- TCH 401 TEACHING AS A PROFESSION IN SECONDARY SCHOOL
- TCH 412 THE NATURE OF HISTORY AND THE SOCIAL SCIENCES
- TCH 422 INQUIRY & APPLICATION IN DEVELOPING SECONDARY HISTORY AND SOCIAL SCIENCES PEDAGOGY

Social Science Content Area (grades of C or better required for licensure):

The following Social Science content area requirements are required. These can be taken as part of the major, liberal studies or open elective requirements:

- HST 298 INTRODUCTION TO HISTORICAL SOURCES AND METHODS
- HST 299 CRAFT OF HISTORY
- 3 United States History courses
- 2 Non-United States History courses
- 6 from the sociology major
- Additional licensure requirements: (one course in each area required)
  - Geography (GEO 101 recommended)
  - Economics (ECO 101 recommended)
  - Political Science (PSC 120 recommended)
  - Psychology (PSY 105 recommended)
  - Anthropology (ANT 102 recommended)

The master’s year comprises teacher-preparation coursework that culminates with student teaching during Spring quarter. Upon graduation and the fulfilling of State of Illinois licensure requirements (which may require some additional course work in the student’s major and related fields), students are eligible to be licensed to teach Social Sciences at the 6th-12th grade levels.

A full description of the program can be found on the College of Education website in the graduate course catalog. Students interested in the program should consult with the designated TEACH Program advisor in their home department.

Sociology (Minor)

The Sociology minor is designed to provide you with the critical thinking skills needed to effectively observe people in social groups and institutions. The program offers an overview of sociological research and theory.

Course Requirements

- SOC 101 INTRODUCTION TO SOCIOLOGY or SOC 102 INTRODUCTION TO CRIMINOLOGY or SOC 105 SOCIAL PROBLEMS
- Four courses from the 200/300-level SOC course offerings.

Courses in theory, research methods, and statistics are recommended, but not required.

Students are now able to complete the Sociology minor in an online/hybrid format. Online/hybrid courses currently include SOC 101 INTRODUCTION TO SOCIOLOGY, SOC 205 SELF AND SOCIETY, SOC 207 YOUTH AND SOCIETY, SOC 235 ADOLESCENT HEALTH, and SOC 245 URBAN SOCIOLOGY. Additional online classes are being developed.

Students majoring in Sociology are restricted from earning this minor.

Sound Design - CDM (Minor)

The minor in Sound Design provides you with the basic skills to edit, record and compose sound for film, television, games and more. You will use the hardware and software used by professionals in the field.

Course Requirements

- DC 215 INTRODUCTION TO SOUND DESIGN
- DC 312 SCORING FOR FILM AND VIDEO
- DC 313 PRODUCTION SOUND
- DC 315 POST-PRODUCTION SOUND DESIGN
- Three (3) courses from the following list:
  - ANI 315 AUDIO FOR ANIMATION
  - GAM 250 GAME SOUND DESIGN I
  - DC 317 SOUND MIXING I
  - DC 318 SOUND MIXING II
  - DC 319 ADVANCED SOUND RECORDING AND EDITING
  - DC 113 AUDIO FOR PODCASTS AND OTHER MEDIA
Sound Design (BFA)

The Theatre School's Bachelor of Fine Arts (BFA) degree in Sound Design trains students to be successful sound designers and engineers in all levels of the theatre and entertainment industries. Sound design students learn techniques for sound editing, recording and composition using the hardware and software that are the standard tools of the industry. Students collaborate with directors, other designers and our professional production staff to get practical experience designing and rigging sound as part of our production program.

Liberal Studies Requirements 52 hours
Major Requirements 143 hours
Total Hours Required 195 hours

Learning Outcomes

Core Outcomes

Notes

Specified required courses within Liberal Studies may have grade minimums (e.g. C- or better). Please consult your advisor or your college and major requirements.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

Spanish (BA)

In DePaul’s Spanish program, students will study Spanish language, literature and culture. Spanish is one of the most widely spoken languages in the world and one of the official languages of the United Nations and the European Union. Because Spanish is becoming more widely used in the United States, having the ability to speak and understand the Spanish language will provide students with many professional opportunities.

Courses in the Spanish major cover a variety of topics, including:

- Business
- Cinema
- Culture
- Language
- Linguistics
- Literature
- Translation

As Spanish majors, students are encouraged to participate in one of DePaul’s Study Abroad programs in order to grow linguistically and expand their cultural understanding of Spanish-speaking societies. DePaul sponsors programs in Argentina, Chile, Mexico, Peru, Puerto Rico and Spain.

Chicago is a diverse city that—through its festivals, neighborhoods, restaurants, museums, and other cultural institutions—provides students with many opportunities to practice their Spanish and explore the cultures of the Spanish-speaking world.

- Acquire basic notion of the theory and practice of translation and interpretation.

College Core Requirements

Study in the Major Field

The student’s course of study in the College consists of three parts: Liberal Studies, the major field, and electives. Together these three parts contribute to the liberal education of the student which is the common purpose of all study in the College. By "liberal education" the College understands not only a deep and thorough knowledge of a particular area of study but a knowledge of the diverse areas of study represented by criticism, history, the arts, the behavioral and social sciences, philosophy, religious studies, the natural science, and mathematics.

The major field program generally is built upon a set of core courses and a specialized "concentration." The number of courses required for a major varies by department. Most students go beyond the minimum requirements, electing additional courses which both broaden and deepen their understanding of their chosen discipline.

Because no academic major program is built in isolation, students are required to pursue a number of electives of the student's choice. The inherent flexibility of this curriculum demands that the student consult an academic advisor at each stage in the total program and at least once prior to each registration. Students will be prompted to visit the College Office for their official graduation check early in their senior year.

Declaration of Major, Minor and Concentration

All students in the College are required to declare a major field prior to beginning their junior year. The student will then be assigned a faculty advisor in the major field department or program and should make an appointment to see that advisor at his or her earliest convenience.

Students must declare or change majors, minors, and concentrations, via Campus Connection. However, for the purpose of exploring the possibility of changing a major field, the student should consult an academic advisor in the Office for Academic Advising Support.

The Modern Language Requirement (MLR)

All students will be required to demonstrate competence in a modern language (i.e., a language other than English) equivalent to the proficiency attained from one year of college-level language study. This Modern Language Requirement (MLR) may be demonstrated by:

- placing into 104 or above on the DePaul language placement exam
- completing the last course or earning AP/IB credit for the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language (e.g. 103 for DePaul language classes)
- completing a college course or earning AP/IB credit for a college course beyond the first-year level in any language (e.g. 104 or above for DePaul language classes)
- completing the final course of a four-year sequence of the same modern language in high school*
- completing a proctored exam by BYU and passing the exam (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)
- completing a proctored Written Proficiency Test (WPT) by Language Testing International (LTI) and achieving a score of Beginner High or above (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)

* Students are strongly encouraged to take the DePaul language placement exam even if they have met the MLR via study of a language in high school. This will ensure continuation of language study at the proper level.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College will abide by this MLR in place on the effective date of the ICT, regardless of when they first matriculated at DePaul.
Students who have met the MLR and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" (MLO) of the Liberal Studies Program (see "Special Programs").

External Credit and Residency

A student who has been admitted to the College begins residency within the college as of the first day of classes of the term in which the student is registered. Students in residence, whether attending on a full-time or part-time basis, may not take courses away from DePaul University without the written permission of the college. Permission must be obtained in advance of registration to avoid loss of credit or residency in the college; see the LAS website for more information.

Notes
A student whose only major is in Modern Languages is required to complete the Capstone offered by the Department of Modern Languages (MOL). A student who is double majoring (or pursuing dual degrees) with the primary major (or primary degree) in MOL may substitute the Capstone of the secondary major or degree. An MOL major in the University Honors Program shall take only the University Honors Capstone, not both the Honors Capstone and the MOL Capstone.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the Experiential Learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy
Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

Major Requirements

Course Requirements
- SPN 201 ADVANCED GRAMMAR AND COMMUNICATION
- SPN 202 ADVANCED COMPOSITION AND COMMUNICATION

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.
Spanish (Minor)

The Spanish language, spoken by over 30 million people in the United States, is one of the world's major languages. DePaul's minor in Spanish offers a basic proficiency in writing, reading and speaking Spanish, which can open the door to several career opportunities.

The minor consists of a total of 5 courses in Spanish language at the 200/300-level.

Students majoring in Spanish (BA) or minoring in Commercial Spanish are restricted from earning this minor.

Stage Management (BFA)

The Theatre School's Bachelor of Fine Arts (BFA) degree in Stage Management is a blend of training in management, design and technical skills. The four-year curriculum in many ways simulates a stage managers professional experience and process. Students learn to communicate with and manage all areas of production. Students collaborate with directors, designers, actors, administration and our professional production staff as part of our production program.

*Note: This Calculus sequence is offered only during the summer, in two 6-credit hour courses. Students successfully completing MAT 131, 147, 150 or 160 should enroll in MAT 155; students who successfully complete MAT 148, 151 or 161 should enroll in MAT 156. Students who successfully complete MAT 155 may enroll in either MAT 151 or MAT 156.

- MAT 348 APPLIED STATISTICAL METHODS
- MAT 349 APPLIED PROBABILITY
- One course from the following list
  - MAT 326 SAMPLE SURVEY METHODS
  - MAT 328 DESIGN OF EXPERIMENTS
  - MAT 356 APPLIED REGRESSION ANALYSIS
  - MAT 357 NONPARAMETRIC STATISTICS

Business students who have an exceptionally strong background in calculus, including calculus of trig functions, may be permitted by the chair to substitute MAT 135 BUSINESS CALCULUS I and MAT 136 BUSINESS CALCULUS II for MAT 150 CALCULUS I.

In case course offerings are not available, certain alternative substitutions can be made in consultation with the academic advisor and the chair.

Students cannot earn a minor in the same academic program as their major.

Studio Art (Minor)

Theatre Arts (BFA)

The Theatre School's Bachelor of Fine Arts (BFA) degree in Theatre Arts is our most flexible program and allows students to study and get experience in a variety of theatrical disciplines. The program is tailored toward students interested in pursuing careers in areas as diverse as directing, arts writing, educational outreach, literary management, arts administration or law.

Newly admitted Theatre Arts majors are automatically placed in the standard Theatre Arts curriculum, which includes all core and elective requirements for the BFA degree in Theatre Arts. After completing a minimum of two quarters of study at The Theatre School, students have the option of adding a concentration in either Theatre for Young Audiences (TYA) or Directing.

With respect to the core and elective requirements, students who do not declare a concentration remain in the standard Theatre Arts curriculum, which includes successful completion of all core requirements plus six elective courses in theatre (24 credit hours), chosen in consultation with the student's advisor. The requirements for those students who declare a concentration in either TYA or Directing include successful completion of all core requirements plus eight courses (or 32 credit hours) to fulfill the requirements of the concentration.

Concentration Requirements

Concentration in Theatre for Young Audiences

The concentration in Theatre for Young Audiences (TYA) focuses on the theoretical knowledge and practical skills necessary for continuing work in this field. The concentration requires 8 courses or 32 credit hours of coursework. The breakdown of this coursework includes the three-term Dramaturgy I sequence (12 credit hours), a minimum of three terms (12 credit hours) of Production Practice assignments in The Theatre School's Playworks Series and/or a TYA Internship—in which the student serves as assistant director, dramaturg, or assistant dramaturg, and two additional courses (8 credit hours) as approved by the student's advisor, as follows:

- Dramaturgy Sequence I
  - THE 234 DRAMATURGY I: INTRODUCTION TO DRAMATURGY
  - THE 235 DRAMATURGY I: INTRODUCTION TO PRODUCTION DRAMATURGY
  - THE 236 DRAMATURGY I: TYA AND PLAYWORKS DRAMATURGY
- Three (3) courses from among the following:
  - THE 271 THEATRE STUDIES PRODUCTION PRACTICE I
  - THE 272 THEATRE STUDIES PRODUCTION PRACTICE I

  - THE 471 THEATRE STUDIES PRODUCTION PRACTICE III
  - THE 472 THEATRE STUDIES PRODUCTION PRACTICE III
  - THE 473 THEATRE STUDIES PRODUCTION PRACTICE III
  - THE 490 THEATRE STUDIES INTERNSHIP
- Two additional courses as approved by the advisor.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours. Courses should be chosen in consultation with the student's advisor. Students are strongly encouraged to utilize these courses to pursue a minor or second major.

Concentration in Directing

The concentration in Directing focuses on the theoretical knowledge and practical skills necessary for continuing work in this field. The concentration requires 8 courses or 32 credit hours of coursework that includes the first two quarters of the Dramaturgy I sequence (8 credit hours), two courses chosen from a corpus of four, depending on the student's directorial focus and interests (8 credit hours), a combination of two production practices and/or internship (8 credit hours), and two additional courses approved in consultation with the student's advisor. The breakdown of this coursework is as follows:

- The first two quarters of the Dramaturgy I sequence
  - THE 234 DRAMATURGY I: INTRODUCTION TO DRAMATURGY
  - THE 235 DRAMATURGY I: INTRODUCTION TO PRODUCTION DRAMATURGY
- Two courses from the following:
  - THE 236 DRAMATURGY I: TYA AND PLAYWORKS DRAMATURGY
  - THE 334 DRAMATURGY II: CIVIC DRAMATURGY
  - THE 335 DRAMATURGY II: NEW PLAY DRAMATURGY
  - PRF 418 NEW PLAY WORKSHOP
  - PRF 419 NEW PLAY WORKSHOP
- Two courses from the following:
  - THE 271 THEATRE STUDIES PRODUCTION PRACTICE I
  - THE 272 THEATRE STUDIES PRODUCTION PRACTICE I
  - THE 273 THEATRE STUDIES PRODUCTION PRACTICE I
  - THE 371 THEATRE STUDIES PRODUCTION PRACTICE II
  - THE 372 THEATRE STUDIES PRODUCTION PRACTICE II
  - THE 373 THEATRE STUDIES PRODUCTION PRACTICE II
  - THE 471 THEATRE STUDIES PRODUCTION PRACTICE III
  - THE 472 THEATRE STUDIES PRODUCTION PRACTICE III
  - THE 473 THEATRE STUDIES PRODUCTION PRACTICE III
  - THE 490 THEATRE STUDIES INTERNSHIP
- Two additional courses as approved by the advisor.

Open Electives
Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours. Courses should be chosen in consultation with the student's advisor. Students are strongly encouraged to utilize these courses to pursue a minor or second major.

Theatre Management (BFA)

The Theatre School's Bachelor of Fine Arts (BFA) degree in Theatre Management program teaches students both the art and business of theatre while preparing them for careers in the extensive and growing performing arts industry. With a focus on both non-profit arts administration and the commercial theatre, the Theatre Management program uses the theatrical community in Chicago as a laboratory where students interview arts leaders, discover best practices through research, and participate in the art form through internships and production practice assignments.

The Theatre Management curriculum combines Theatre Arts courses from The Theatre School with courses from the Liberal Studies program and The Driehaus College of Business. In alternating years the program offers the New York City Intensive, a one week independent study in New York City, America's commercial theatre capital. Theatre Management faculty members are industry professionals allowing you a first-hand experience.

Upon completion of the Theatre Management program you will earn a Bachelor of Fine Arts (BFA) in Theatre Management at The Theatre School and, with the addition of a single course, a minor in Management through The Driehaus College of Business.

Theatre Studies (Minor)

The Theatre School offers a minor as a way for DePaul University students in other colleges to engage and explore their interest in the theatre through a broad range of theatre coursework. Theatre School students are not eligible to declare a minor in Theatre Studies.

Course Requirements

A minor in Theatre Studies requires the completion of 24 Theatre School credits of the student's choosing, based on the list below. Students from outside The Theatre School may take the following classes at their home college tuition rate:

- ACT 290 ACTING AND PERFORMANCE
- ACT 380 ADVANCED ACTING AND PERFORMANCE
- ACT 100 POLITICS, POP CULTURE, AND THE STAGE
- ACT 200 MAKING PLAYS: THEATER AND THE ART OF PRODUCTION
- ACT 209 SKETCH COMEDY
- ACT 213 SCI-FI AND OTHER GENRE FICTION IN THEATRE
- ACT 215 PLAYS ABOUT SPORTS
- ACT 216 SCREEN TO STAGE
- ACT 217 THE ART OF STORYTELLING
- ACT 223 INTRODUCTION TO IMPROVISATION
- ACT 230 ARE WE STILL FABULOUS?: QUEER IDENTITY IN CONTEMPORARY DRAMA
- ACT 242 STAGE DIRECTION FOR NON-MAJORS
- ACT 244 DRAMATIC WRITING FOR NON-MAJORS

- ACT 255 THEATRE FOR YOUNG AUDIENCES DRAMATIC LITERATURE
- THE 256 SEMINAR: TOPICS IN DRAMATIC LITERATURE
- THE 301 SEMINAR: TOPICS IN DRAMATIC LITERATURE
- THE 302 SEMINAR: TOPICS IN DRAMATIC LITERATURE

All courses are offered on an as needed basis. On occasion, Theatre Studies minors may take Theatre Studies (THE) classes not listed above.* Availability of those courses is dependent on space available in the class, completion of appropriate prerequisites and permission of the instructor, which the student must obtain in order to enroll. Classes in the acting program (PRF) are not open to students pursuing a minor.

Students pursuing a minor who are approved to take Theatre School courses not on this list will be charged the part-time, per-credit Theatre School tuition rate for those classes.

*If approved by instructor, any Theatre Studies (THE) course may be applied towards completion of the minor.

Theatre Technology (BFA)

The Theatre School's Bachelor of Fine Arts (BFA) degree in Theatre Technology trains students in the execution and realization of a designer's vision. Theatre Technology majors collaborate with the Scenic, Lighting, and Sound Designers, and other technicians to create the set, props, light and sound for theatre and entertainment productions.

- DC 325 COLOR CORRECTION
- VFX 200 INTRODUCTION TO VISUAL EFFECTS
- VFX 374 DIGITAL COMPOSITING I
- VFX 378 DIGITAL COMPOSITING II
Women's and Gender Studies (BA)

The Department of Women's and Gender Studies provides students with a strong educational foundation for life-long learning. It nurtures students' abilities to think critically and to examine social and cultural circumstances that too often remain unquestioned. The curriculum also emphasizes the development of strong written & oral communication skills.

A thirteen-course major is offered, consisting of a six-course common core, four courses in a concentration, and three electives.

As a Women's and Gender Studies major, you will take courses such as:

- Women and Film
- Women in the Middle East
- Feminist Theories
- Gender and Education
- Deconstructing the Diva
- Gender, Community, & Activism: Community-Based Learning in WGS
- Growing Up Female in the U.S.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Identify the meanings and historical constructions of gender and/or women's experiences in transnational contexts.
- Explain the connections between scholarship and activism in the interdisciplinary field of Women's and Gender Studies.
- Differentiate among a variety of theoretical frameworks central to the interdisciplinary field of Women's and Gender Studies.
- Make use of concepts of intersectionality in their written and/or experiential work.
- Evaluate the utility of a variety of interdisciplinary methodologies central to scholarship and/or creative work in the interdisciplinary field of Women's and Gender Studies.
- Articulate the relationship between individual experiences - their own and others' - and broader systemic inequalities.
- Create knowledge of gender and/or women's experiences in a context of ethically responsible social justice and/or social transformation.

College Core Requirements

Study in the Major Field

The student's course of study in the College consists of three parts: Liberal Studies, the major field, and electives. Together these three parts contribute to the liberal education of the student which is the common purpose of all study in the College. By "liberal education" the College understands not only a deep and thorough knowledge of a particular area of study but a knowledge of the diverse areas of study represented by criticism, history, the arts, the behavioral and social sciences, philosophy, religious studies, the natural science, and mathematics.

The major field program generally is built upon a set of core courses and a specialized "concentration." The number of courses required for a major varies by department. Most students go beyond the minimum requirements, electing additional courses which both broaden and deepen their understanding of their chosen discipline.

Because no academic major program is built in isolation, students are required to pursue a number of electives of the student's choice. The inherent flexibility of this curriculum demands that the student consult an academic advisor at each stage in the total program and at least once prior to each registration. Students will be prompted to visit the College Office for their official graduation check early in their senior
Declaration of Major, Minor and Concentration

All students in the College are required to declare a major field prior to beginning their junior year. The student will then be assigned a faculty advisor in the major field department or program and should make an appointment to see that advisor at his or her earliest convenience.

Students must declare or change majors, minors, and concentrations, via Campus Connection. However, for the purpose of exploring the possibility of changing a major field, the student should consult an academic advisor in the Office for Academic Advising Support.

The Modern Language Requirement (MLR)

All students will be required to demonstrate competence in a modern language (i.e., a language other than English) equivalent to the proficiency attained from one year of college-level language study. This Modern Language Requirement (MLR) may be demonstrated by:

- placing into 104 or above on the DePaul language placement exam
- completing the last course or earning AP/IB credit for the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language (e.g. 103 for DePaul language classes)
- completing a college course or earning AP/IB credit for a college course beyond the first-year level in any language (e.g. 104 or above for DePaul language classes)
- completing the final course of a four-year sequence of the same modern language in high school*
- completing a proctored exam by BYU and passing the exam (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)
- completing a proctored Written Proficiency Test (WPT) by Language Testing International (LTI) and achieving a score of Beginner High or above (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)

* Students are strongly encouraged to take the DePaul language placement exam even if they have met the MLR via study of a language in high school. This will ensure continuation of language study at the proper level.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College will abide by this MLR in place on the effective date of the ICT, regardless of when they first matriculated at DePaul.

Students who have met the MLR and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" (MLO) of the Liberal Studies Program (see “Special Programs”).

External Credit and Residency

A student who has been admitted to the College begins residency within the college as of the first day of classes of the term in which the student is registered. Students in residence, whether attending on a full-time or part-time basis, may not take courses away from DePaul University without the written permission of the college. Permission must be obtained in advance of registration to avoid loss of credit or residency in the college; see the LAS website for more information.

Notes

A student majoring in Women's and Gender Studies (WGS) is required to complete the Capstone offered by the WGS Department. This is the case even if a student is double majoring (or pursuing a dual degree) and the secondary major (or degree) requires its own Capstone. A WGS major in the University Honors Program shall take the University Honors Capstone and the WGS Capstone.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the experiential learning requirement.
In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student’s major and is cross-listed with a course within the student’s major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

Combined Bachelor's/ Master's Degree

The combined Bachelor's/Master's degree programs allow students to complete 12 graduate credit hours while still undergraduates. These 12 graduate credit hours will count toward both the undergraduate and graduate degree programs.

Women’s and Gender Studies (BA) / Women’s and Gender Studies (MA)

Students apply to this program in spring of their junior year; interested students should contact the WGS graduate director. Students in this program take twelve graduate credit hours in their senior year; these graduate courses apply toward both undergraduate and graduate Women's and Gender Studies requirements.

In the senior year students complete:

- WGS 400 FEMINIST THEORIES
- WGS 465 GLOBALIZATION, TRANSNATIONALISM, AND GENDER
- WGS graduate elective

Once the student has graduated with their undergraduate BA in Women's and Gender Studies, they will matriculate into the MA Program. As MA Students, the students take the remaining 9 courses toward the MA degree – usually students will take 3 graduate courses per quarter in order to complete the MA in the one additional year. This will include two of the required graduate courses:

- WGS 415 CONTENTIONS IN FEMINIST AND GENDER THEORIZING: NEW DIRECTIONS
- WGS 485 WOMEN, GENDER, AGENCY, AND SOCIAL CHANGE

Also:

- 4-5 electives, depending on the Final Project selected.
- 1-2 courses of WGS 493 FINAL PROJECT INDEPENDENT RESEARCH (taken with Chair of MA Final Project Committee)

Elective courses will be chosen by the student in conjunction with a faculty advisor in order to tailor a coherent program of study to the individual student's particular academic and/or professional objectives while ensuring that the student sustains strong interdisciplinary focus at the graduate level. Elective courses may be offered by Women's and Gender Studies or approved courses offered by other departments/programs at DePaul. A list of courses approved by WGS are circulated prior to registration for each quarter.
Capstone/Final Project Requirements

All students must complete an MA Final Project, selecting one of the following options:

Thesis Project

The Thesis Option requires that the student plan, execute, and defend an independent and original analytical research project that makes a contribution to current scholarship in the field of women's and gender studies and related subfields. The thesis should show accomplishment in methods of research, critical judgment, and, if appropriate, praxis that characterizes feminist research. Thesis research must be grounded in interdisciplinary scholarship as well as feminist and/or gender theories, and must reflect considerable engagement with relevant literature and methodology in the field. The thesis consists of approximately 50 pages of text with a substantial bibliography.

Students who select the Thesis option will complete, in addition to required Core Courses in the MA Program, a five-course elective focus, and two courses of WGS 493 Final Project Independent Research focused on researching and writing the thesis. You are required to present and defend the thesis to an MA Final Project Committee. The student is also required to present their final project to a public audience at a WGS Graduate Student Final Project Presentation event.

Practical Project

The Practical Project Option requires that the student plan, develop, and defend a practical project that is grounded in interdisciplinary scholarship, feminist and/or gender theories, and that has a direct and practical application to community service, advocacy, and/or education. Practical projects take a variety of forms; for instance, it could be a participatory action research project with an organization, or a curriculum to be taught in community-based or educational setting, or a public policy or human rights related educational or advocacy project, or any project created for implementation with a broader community. In general, the MA Practical Project in WGS consists of the project itself (e.g., the curriculum, the participatory action research report) and a Framing Paper (minimum 25 pages) in which you frame the mission, goals, methods, components, and expected outcomes of the project you have undertaken.

Students who select the Practical Project option will complete, in addition to required Core Courses in the MA Program, a five-course elective focus, plus an additional two courses (total of 8 credit hours) of WGS 493 Final Project Independent Research. They will also be required to present and defend the Practical Project to an MA Final Project Committee. The student is also required to present their final project to a public audience at a WGS Graduate Student Final Project Presentation event.

Creative Project

The Creative Project Option requires students to create an artistic and/or literary project that gives voice to issues or questions in Women's and Gender Studies. It should be informed by feminist theory and scholarship, and it should address a significant theme or question within the field. A Creative Project may be a play, an art exhibit, a memoir, a novel, a collection of short stories, a collection of non-fiction essays, a mixed-media work, a dance or musical performance, a film, a website—to name just a few of the multiple possibilities open to students choosing this option. In general, the MA Creative Project in WGS consists of the creative project itself and a Creative Project Framing Paper (minimum 25 pages) in which you describe and frame the creative project.

Students who select the Creative Project Option will complete, in addition to required Core Courses in the MA Program, a five-course elective focus, plus an additional two courses of independent study and research. You will also be required to present and defend the creative project to an MA Final Project Committee. The student is also required to present their final project to a public audience at a WGS Graduate Student Final Project Presentation event.

Portfolio Project

The Portfolio Final Project Option requires that the student conduct a comprehensive analysis of their learning while a graduate student in WGS. The student must prepare and submit (1) a collection of at least six seminar papers, practical or creative projects, and/or other research products that are the outcomes of core and elective courses; and (2) a Portfolio Essay (minimum 25 pages) that offers a reflective and critical analysis of how the papers/projects reflect the students intellectual, creative, and analytical development over the course of their graduate studies.

Students who select the Portfolio Option will complete, in addition to required Core Courses in the MA Program, a six-course elective focus, plus an additional course WGS 493—Final Project Independent Research during which they will write the Portfolio Essay. They will also be required to present and defend the portfolio project to the Chair of their Final Project and one additional faculty member, who must both be appointed in the Department of Women's and Gender Studies at DePaul. The student is also required to present their final project to a public audience at a WGS Graduate Student Final Project Presentation event.

Women's and Gender Studies (Minor)

Similar to the major, the Women's and Gender Studies minor includes three basic social analysis courses aimed at providing students with a gendered lens through which to see social, cultural, and political issues. Students are encouraged to expand their view of their personal lives to include a framework that promotes resilient responses to all forms of oppression. To complete the minor, students take three additional courses to be chosen from the approved course list from the Women's and Gender Studies Department.
Students wishing to attain the Women's and Gender Studies minor are required to successfully complete 24 credit hours (six classes): the three core classes listed below and three general electives approved for the Women's and Gender Studies major.

Course Requirements

- WGS 100 WOMEN’S LIVES: RACE/CLASS/GENDER
- WGS 200 WOMEN’S STUDIES IN TRANSNATIONAL CONTEXTS
- WGS 250 FEMINIST FRAMEWORKS

Students majoring in Women’s and Gender Studies (BA) are restricted from earning this minor.

World Language Education Chinese (BA)

The Bachelor of Arts program in World Language Education Chinese prepares students to teach Kindergarten through 12th grade in a variety of urban and suburban education settings, including public and private elementary and high schools.

Students learn educational theories and effective teaching practices, participate in field experiences, which require observation and participation in teaching activities at multiple schools, and student teaching. Students should meet early and regularly with their advisor to design and monitor their program of study.

The program combines theoretical principles of education and field work with the student's choice of major. Students follow a general pattern of study for middle school and high school levels. In all cases, appropriate field experience plays an integral role.

Students entering the program must be able and willing to devote themselves to a program requiring a minimum of 130-135 hours of daytime field experiences in schools. These school-based clinical hours are completed in conjunction with methodology courses that require students to spend a half-day each week in a school. In addition, the student must spend a minimum of 11 weeks in full-time student teaching.

Please make sure you consult the Liberal Studies Requirements, Major Requirements, and College Core Requirements for full degree requirements.

Licensure

Illinois Professional Educator License with endorsement in Foreign Language Chinese (kindergarten-grade 12), an Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) approved program.

Skill Building Courses

Before taking any math or English courses, students must take the DePaul placement tests to determine if skill level is at the college level. If placement indicates skill level in these courses, the courses become part of degree requirements. Consult with your advisor regarding placement test results and any required classes.

Advanced Standing

Students are admitted conditionally to the College of Education. There are additional requirements to reach Advanced Standing in your program in the College of Education. Requirements must be met to progress in the major and take courses in the Advanced Standing category.

Advanced Standing requirements are:

- Maintain a DePaul undergraduate 2.5 GPA
- Pass the Illinois Test of Academic Proficiency (TAP)
- Submit an application for advanced standing form

Students should attempt to complete the Advanced Standing requirements soon after beginning the program. There is no time limit to meet these criteria; however, students will only be able to take pre-education courses until requirements have been met. Students can also take
Modern Language Competence Requirement

Students pursuing a Bachelor of Arts degree in the College of Education will be required to demonstrate a measure of competence in a modern language, as defined by the college. Such competence may be demonstrated in one of several ways:

- completing two years of a language sequence in high school
- completing the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language
- completing a college course beyond the first-year level in any language
- achieving a satisfactory score on any of the Modern Language placement examinations administered at DePaul
- achieving a satisfactory rating in a proficiency examination accepted by DePaul
- achieving a score of 3 or higher on the Advance Placement (AP) test for any language
- achieving a score of 5 or higher in the Language B assessment from a Standard or Higher Level International Baccalaureate (IB) program
- achieving a satisfactory score on the CLEP examination

Please note: The Modern Language Competence Requirement is not required for students in the Early Childhood Education: SNL Joint Program (BAECE) program.

For further information regarding satisfactory scores and possible credit from the DePaul placement, AP, CLEP, or IB examinations, please contact the Office of the University Registrar.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College of Education will abide by the COE Modern Language Requirement in place on the effective date of the ICT.

B.A. students who meet College requirements and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" of the Liberal Studies Program. While B.S. students are not required to demonstrate competency in a modern language, the "Modern Language Option" is available to them for language study at any level.

Licensure Tests

All individuals licensed by the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) are required to complete licensure tests specific to their teaching license.

Field Experiences

Each student seeking licensure from the College of Education/Professional Education Unit must complete supervised field experiences in appropriate settings in conjunction with education courses. The field experiences must include a variety of grade levels, multicultural experiences, and a minimum of 10 hours in special education settings. All field experiences must be completed prior to final approval for student teaching. Field experience hours should be entered by the student into the FEDS system when completing courses with field experience requirements.

Endorsements

An endorsement is a statement appearing on a license that identifies the specific subjects or grade level that the license holder is authorized to teach.

The Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) issues endorsements in various subject areas. To view the full list and requirements, visit the ISBE website.

Please note that the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) may change the state licensure and endorsement requirements at any time and without prior notice. Individuals are bound by the requirements in place when applying for the license or endorsement, not the requirements in place when beginning the program.

Student Teaching Requirements

Student Teaching is the culminating clinical experience in the student's program. All students in teacher preparation programs must meet the following requirements before applying for student teaching:

Academic Requirements:

- Completion of all Liberal Studies, Pre-Education, Advanced Standing and concentration/content area courses
- Overall cumulative GPA of 2.50 or better
- Cumulative GPA of 2.75 or better in all education courses
- Meet all other program requirements (e.g., modern language and residency requirements)
- Meet designated program standards
- Pass the required Illinois licensure content area test(s)

Clinical Requirements:
Completion of all required field experiences
Three satisfactory evaluations in field experiences
Three satisfactory faculty recommendations
Attendance at mandatory meeting for student teaching
Application for student teaching, resume, transcripts, and writing sample (check deadlines)
Review and approval by Student Teaching Committee of the College of Education

Student Teaching Timeline and Deadlines:

- Attend a Mandatory Meeting approximately 1 year prior to expected quarter of student teaching.
- Submit application for student teaching after attending Mandatory Meeting, approximately 1 year prior to student teaching.
- Academic requirements are due one quarter before expected quarter of student teaching.
- Clinical requirements are completed as course requirements. Field experience hours are entered by the student as coursework is completed.

Online Faculty Evaluations are entered by the instructor of relevant courses. All data must be entered in the Field Experience Documentation System (FEDS) due one month prior to student teaching.

Individual childcare agencies and public and private school districts may have additional requirements (application, training, background check, etc.).

Degree Conferral and Graduation

The awarding of a degree is not automatic. You must submit an application to be considered for the degree. DePaul awards and posts degrees at the end of each regular academic term (autumn, winter, spring, summer).

It is your responsibility to initiate the degree conferral application process by submitting an online application. Submitting an application means you intend to finish your degree requirements by the end of the term for which you have applied.

Undergraduate students must be approved for student teaching and complete student teaching and capstone to be cleared for the degree. Student must submit graduation application for the quarter that matches the quarter you are student teaching.

After you submit the application, you cannot register for any term after the one selected in the application.

To apply for degree conferral, log on to Campus Connection. Select STUDENT CENTER, then MY ACADEMICS. On screen instructions will take you through the application process.

Provided that all requirements and financial obligations are met, degrees are posted 30 days after the official end of the term. Official dates are listed on the Academic Calendar.

DePaul holds one commencement ceremony each year in June. If you intend to participate, you must first apply for degree conferral for the current academic year and then submit a cap and gown order. Honors announced at the ceremony for undergraduates are based on winter quarter GPAs because a final GPA is not available at the time of the ceremony.

Additional information about degree conferral and graduation can be found on the College of Education website at: http://education.depaul.edu/.

Licensure

Requirements for licensure include completion of full bachelor's degree program, all licensure tests (including OPI for world language majors), and awarding of bachelor’s degree. A bachelor's degree is required to qualify for licensure and must be awarded before applying for the license.

Individuals must submit an application directly to the Illinois State Board of Education after completion of requirements and after DePaul has submitted notification to ISBE. Application requirements include application form, application fee, official transcripts, and registration fee.

All individuals must meet ISBE requirements in place at the time of application for the license. Requirements are subject to change per the discretion of ISBE. All coursework and requirements pertaining to licensure requirements must be completed before DePaul University can recommend an individual for the license.

Individuals seeking additional endorsements after applying for the licensure must contact ISBE directly for an evaluation request.

All coursework and requirements must be completed before DePaul University can recommend an individual for the license.
Liberal Studies Requirements

Honors program requirements can be found in the individual Colleges & Schools section of the University Catalog. Select Academics, followed by Undergraduate, then Honors Program Alternative.

Notes

Specified required courses within Liberal Studies may have grade minimums (e.g. C- or better). Please consult your advisor or your college and major requirements.

Courses offered in the student’s primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student’s major and is cross-listed with a course within the student’s major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

Pursuing certification in the teaching of a world language (Chinese, French, German, Italian, Japanese, or Spanish) requires the oral proficiency test – an Interview – before you begin student teaching. You must earn a rating of "intermediate high" or better on the test.

Open Electives: 8 quarter hours are required

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours. The following cannot be used to fulfill an open elective: WRD 98, MAT 94, and MAT 95. EE 281 recommended as open elective course. Electives must be approved by the WLE Program director.

Student Teaching: 12 quarter hours required, grade of B- or better required

Registration in student teaching requires completion of all requirements and procedures indicated in the college core section. EDU 95 indicates to the Illinois State Board of Education that all field experience hours are complete. All students also take WLE 384 with student teaching (listed in the Liberal Studies section).
- WLE 385 STUDENT TEACHING IN WORLD LANGUAGES (12 credit hours)
- EDU 95 CLINICAL EXPERIENCE WITH CHILDREN AND YOUTH (non-credit, non-tuition, PA grade required)

Licensure Tests

All individuals licensed by the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) are required to complete licensure tests specific to their teaching license. World Language Education Chinese majors must complete the following tests:
- Test of Academic Proficiency (TAP) (test #400) - assesses knowledge of reading comprehension, language arts, writing, and math. It is recommended to be taken during the first or second quarter in the program. Test is required before Student Teaching (deadlines apply). *Check with your advisor about qualifying for a waiver with acceptable ACT or SAT test scores.

- Chinese Content Area Test (test #126) – assesses knowledge of the Chinese language and culture. Test is required before Student Teaching (deadlines apply).
- OPI Test (see above).
- EdTPA - assessment conducted during the student teaching experience including video clips of instruction, lesson plans, student work samples, analysis of student learning and reflective commentaries. Students will submit an electronic portfolio to an outside agency for independent evaluation and a fee will be imposed by that agency as part of the assessment.

Students should be aware that failing to abide by DePaul University or College of Education policies including, under certain circumstances, these dispositions, could result in adverse consequences for the student, including removal from his or her program, the College of Education, or the University.
The following dispositions apply to Early Childhood Education, Elementary Education, Exercise Science Middle Grades, Physical Education, Secondary Education, and World Language Education majors only:

- Reflects on progress and identifies strengths and weaknesses, including evaluating strategies for success, finding alternatives for inappropriate strategies, and modifying future practices
- Is receptive to faculty feedback and acts meaningfully and professionally upon suggestions
- Values critical thinking, including engaging theoretical and philosophical frameworks and shows evidence of critical thinking through discussion and writing (e.g., journals, response to prompts)
- Understands the importance of and is committed to communicating clearly orally and in writing both in traditional and in new and emerging digital formats
- Values and is committed to continually developing strong content area knowledge and/or knowledge of the professional field, including pedagogical content knowledge
- Takes initiative, uses imagination and creativity, and seeks out information using a variety of human and material resources and technology to inform his or her teaching
- Is aware of the role of classroom environment and uses management procedures that reflect respect and care for learners and concern for their emotional and physical well being
- Takes the time and effort needed to understand how students learn, including discovering their interests and experiences and determining how to shape teaching acts (using technology as appropriate) that engage learners meaningfully and actively
- Values and is committed to using assessment to evaluate and ensure the continuous intellectual, social, emotional, and physical development of the learner
- Respects and considers cultural contexts in order to determine how to be responsive to learners and to proactively promote all students' learning
- Values and is responsive to diverse learners' academic, emotional, and social needs through teaching acts (including careful instructional planning, implementation, and differentiation) and through everyday interactions with students
- Is committed to collaboration with colleagues, families, and communities in order to promote all students' learning and development
- Recognizes and fulfills professional responsibilities and habits of conduct (e.g., dress, language, preparedness, attendance, punctuality, etc.)
- Demonstrates collegiality, honesty, good judgment, courtesy, respect, and diplomacy
- Balances self-confidence and assertiveness with respect for others' perspectives
- Respects the requirements, expectations, and procedures of both the College of Education and of our field partners and appreciates the issues of trust, fairness, and professionalism involved

The following dispositions apply to Special Education majors only:

- Is receptive to faculty feedback and acts meaningfully and professionally upon suggestions
- Reflects on his or her own progress, identifies strengths and weaknesses, and evaluates strategies for success and professional growth
- Takes initiative
- Is open to new ideas and engagement in learning
- Respects diversity and cultural contexts to determine how to be responsive to learners and to proactively promote all students' learning
- Expresses positive attitudes toward individuals with disabilities and a willingness to advocate on their behalf
- Is committed to collaboration with colleagues, families, and communities in order to promote all students' learning and development
- Demonstrates professional ethical and legal behavior as defined by the respective codes of ethics and laws
- Demonstrates consistent professional behavior across all academic settings
- Maintains appropriate interpersonal and professional boundaries
- Accepts personal responsibility for one's behavior
- Expresses feelings and opinions effectively and appropriately
- Upholds confidentiality

Skill Building Courses

Before taking any math or English courses, students must take the DePaul placement tests to determine if skill level is at the college level. If placement indicates skill level in these courses, the courses become part of degree requirements. Consult with your advisor regarding placement test results and any required classes.

Advanced Standing

Students are admitted conditionally to the College of Education. There are additional requirements to reach Advanced Standing in your program in the College of Education. Requirements must be met to progress in the major and take courses in the Advanced Standing category.

Advanced Standing requirements are:

- Maintain a DePaul undergraduate 2.5 GPA
- Pass the Illinois Test of Academic Proficiency (TAP)
- Submit an application for advanced standing form

Students should attempt to complete the Advanced Standing requirements soon after beginning the program. There is no time limit to meet these criteria; however, students will only be able to take pre-education courses until requirements have been met. Students can also take liberal studies or content area courses before or after meeting Advanced Standing requirements.
Modern Language Competence Requirement

Students pursuing a Bachelor of Arts degree in the College of Education will be required to demonstrate a measure of competence in a modern language, as defined by the college. Such competence may be demonstrated in one of several ways:

- completing two years of a language sequence in high school
- completing the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language
- completing a college course beyond the first-year level in any language
- achieving a satisfactory score on any of the Modern Language placement examinations administered at DePaul
- achieving a satisfactory rating in a proficiency examination accepted by DePaul
- achieving a score of 3 or higher on the Advance Placement (AP) test for any language
- achieving a score of 5 or higher in the Language B assessment from a Standard or Higher Level International Baccalaureate (IB) program
- achieving a satisfactory score on the CLEP examination

Please note: The Modern Language Competence Requirement is not required for students in the Early Childhood Education: SNL Joint Program (BAECE) program.

For further information regarding satisfactory scores and possible credit from the DePaul placement, AP, CLEP, or IB examinations, please contact the Office of the University Registrar.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College of Education will abide by the COE Modern Language Requirement in place on the effective date of the ICT.

B.A. students who meet College requirements and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" of the Liberal Studies Program. While B.S. students are not required to demonstrate competency in a modern language, the "Modern Language Option" is available to them for language study at any level.

Licensure Tests

All individuals licensed by the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) are required to complete licensure tests specific to their teaching license.

Field Experiences

Each student seeking licensure from the College of Education/Professional Education Unit must complete supervised field experiences in appropriate settings in conjunction with education courses. The field experiences must include a variety of grade levels, multicultural experiences, and a minimum of 10 hours in special education settings. All field experiences must be completed prior to final approval for student teaching. Field experience hours should be entered by the student into the FEDS system when completing courses with field experience requirements.

Endorsements

An endorsement is a statement appearing on a license that identifies the specific subjects or grade level that the license holder is authorized to teach.

The Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) issues endorsements in various subject areas. To view the full list and requirements, visit the ISBE website.

Please note that the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) may change the state licensure and endorsement requirements at any time and without prior notice. Individuals are bound by the requirements in place when applying for the license or endorsement, not the requirements in place when beginning the program.

Student Teaching Requirements

Student Teaching is the culminating clinical experience in the student's program. All students in teacher preparation programs must meet the following requirements before applying for student teaching:

Academic Requirements:

- Completion of all Liberal Studies, Pre-Education, Advanced Standing and concentration/content area courses
- Overall cumulative GPA of 2.50 or better
- Cumulative GPA of 2.75 or better in all education courses
- Meet all other program requirements (e.g., modern language and residency requirements)
- Meet designated program standards
- Pass the required Illinois licensure content area test(s)

Clinical Requirements:

- Completion of all required field experiences
● Three satisfactory evaluations in field experiences
● Three satisfactory faculty recommendations
● Attendance at mandatory meeting for student teaching
● Application for student teaching, resume, transcripts, and writing sample (check deadlines)
● Review and approval by Student Teaching Committee of the College of Education

Student Teaching Timeline and Deadlines:

● Attend a Mandatory Meeting approximately 1 year prior to expected quarter of student teaching.
● Submit application for student teaching after attending Mandatory Meeting, approximately 1 year prior to student teaching.
● Academic requirements are due one quarter before expected quarter of student teaching.
● Clinical requirements are completed as course requirements. Field experience hours are entered by the student as coursework is completed.

Online Faculty Evaluations are entered by the instructor of relevant courses. All data must be entered in the Field Experience Documentation System (FEDS) due one month prior to student teaching.

Individual childcare agencies and public and private school districts may have additional requirements (application, training, background check, etc.).

Degree Conferral and Graduation

The awarding of a degree is not automatic. You must submit an application to be considered for the degree. DePaul awards and posts degrees at the end of each regular academic term (autumn, winter, spring, summer).

It is your responsibility to initiate the degree conferral application process by submitting an online application. Submitting an application means you intend to finish your degree requirements by the end of the term for which you have applied.

Undergraduate students must be approved for student teaching and complete student teaching and capstone to be cleared for the degree. Student must submit graduation application for the quarter that matches the quarter you are student teaching.

After you submit the application, you cannot register for any term after the one selected in the application.

To apply for degree conferral, log on to Campus Connection. Select STUDENT CENTER, then MY ACADEMICS. On screen instructions will take you through the application process.

Provided that all requirements and financial obligations are met, degrees are posted 30 days after the official end of the term. Official dates are listed on the Academic Calendar.

DePaul holds one commencement ceremony each year in June. If you intend to participate, you must first apply for degree conferral for the current academic year and then submit a cap and gown order. Honors announced at the ceremony for undergraduates are based on winter quarter GPAs because a final GPA is not available at the time of the ceremony.

Additional information about degree conferral and graduation can be found on the College of Education website at: http://education.depaul.edu/.

Licensure

Requirements for licensure include completion of full bachelor’s degree program, all licensure tests (including OPI for world language majors), and awarding of bachelor’s degree. A bachelor’s degree is required to qualify for licensure and must be awarded before applying for the license.

Individuals must submit an application directly to the Illinois State Board of Education after completion of requirements and after DePaul has submitted notification to ISBE. Application requirements include application form, application fee, official transcripts, and registration fee.

All individuals must meet ISBE requirements in place at the time of application for the license. Requirements are subject to change per the discretion of ISBE. All coursework and requirements pertaining to licensure requirements must be completed before DePaul University can recommend an individual for the license.

Individuals seeking additional endorsements after applying for the licensure must contact ISBE directly for an evaluation request.

All coursework and requirements must be completed before DePaul University can recommend an individual for the license.
Liberal Studies Requirements

Honors program requirements can be found in the individual Colleges & Schools section of the University Catalog. Select Academics, followed by Undergraduate, then Honors Program Alternative.

Notes

Specified required courses within Liberal Studies may have grade minimums (e.g. C- or better). Please consult your advisor or your college and major requirements.

Courses offered in the student’s primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student’s major and is cross-listed with a course within the student’s major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

Major Requirements

Course Requirements

Content Area Courses

Note: Language courses begin at the Advanced level for the major. A placement test in the language is required to determine skill level and appropriate level to begin the language. Beginning and Intermediate language courses are in addition to the content area requirements but can fulfill open elective requirements.

Advanced Language Core: 12 quarter hours required, grade of C or better required

- FCH 201 ADVANCED COMMUNICATION I
- FCH 202 ADVANCED COMMUNICATION II
- FCH 203 ADVANCED COMMUNICATION III
  or FCH 204 ADVANCED COMMUNICATION IV

  or SCU 339 PHILOSOPHY AND PSYCHOLOGY OF YOUTH AND MIDDLE LEVEL EDUCATION

Oral Proficiency Interview (OPI) Test

Pursuing certification in the teaching of a world language (Chinese, French, German, Italian, Japanese, or Spanish) requires the oral proficiency test – an Interview – before you begin student teaching. You must earn a rating of "intermediate high" or better on the test.

Open Electives: 8 quarter hours are required

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours. The following cannot be used to fulfill an open elective: WRD 98, MAT 94, and MAT 95. EE 281 recommended as open elective course. Electives must be approved by the WLE Program director.

Student Teaching: 12 quarter hours required, grade of B- or better required

Registration in student teaching requires completion of all requirements and procedures indicated in the college core section. EDU 95 indicates to the Illinois State Board of Education that all field experience hours are complete. All students also take WLE 384 with student teaching (listed in the Liberal Studies section).

- WLE 385 STUDENT TEACHING IN WORLD LANGUAGES (12 credit hours)
- EDU 95 CLINICAL EXPERIENCE WITH CHILDREN AND YOUTH (non-credit, non-tuition, PA grade required)

Licensure Tests

All individuals licensed by the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) are required to complete licensure tests specific to their teaching license. World Language Education French majors must complete the following tests:

- Test of Academic Proficiency (TAP) (test #400) - assesses knowledge of reading comprehension, language arts, writing, and math. It is recommended to be taken during the first or second quarter in the program. Test is required before Student Teaching (deadlines apply). *Check with your advisor about qualifying for a waiver with acceptable ACT or SAT test scores.
- French Content Area Test (test #252) – assesses knowledge of the French language and culture. Test is required before Student Teaching (deadlines apply).
- OPI Test (see above).
- EdTPA - assessment conducted during the student teaching experience including video clips of instruction, lesson plans, student work samples, analysis of student learning and reflective commentaries. Students will submit an electronic portfolio to an outside agency for independent evaluation and a fee will be imposed by that agency as part of the assessment.
World Language Education German (BA)

The Bachelor of Arts program in World Language Education German prepares students to teach Kindergarten through 12th grade in a variety of urban and suburban education settings, including public and private elementary and high schools.

Students learn educational theories and effective teaching practices, participate in field experiences, which require observation and participation in teaching activities at multiple schools, and student teaching. Students should meet early and regularly with their advisor to design and monitor their program of study.

The program combines theoretical principles of education and field work with the student's choice of major. Students follow a general pattern of study for middle school and high school levels. In all cases, appropriate field experience plays an integral role.

Students entering the program must be able and willing to devote themselves to a program requiring a minimum of 130-135 hours of daytime field experiences in schools. These school-based clinical hours are completed in conjunction with methodology courses that require students to spend a half-day each week in a school. In addition, the student must spend a minimum of 11 weeks in full-time student teaching.

Please make sure you consult the Liberal Studies Requirements, Major Requirements, and College Core Requirements for full degree requirements.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Apply theoretical foundations of language education to develop sound instruction and teaching approaches for language learners.
- Integrate theory and research on second language acquisition into practice for language learners.
- Evaluate history and policies of language education and how historical and policy context affect the education of language learners.
- Analyze various assessment issues that affect language learners, such as accountability, reliability, validity, bias, special education.

College Core Requirements

Dispositions

The academic programs within the College of Education have set forth these dispositions as educational and professional expectations for all students. Students should be aware that failing to abide by DePaul University or College of Education policies including, under certain circumstances, these dispositions, could result in adverse consequences for the student, including removal from his or her program, the College of Education, or the University.

The following dispositions apply to Early Childhood Education, Elementary Education, Exercise Science Middle Grades, Physical Education, Secondary Education, and World Language Education majors only:

- Reflects on progress and identifies strengths and weaknesses, including evaluating strategies for success, finding alternatives for inappropriate strategies, and modifying future practices
- Is receptive to faculty feedback and acts meaningfully and professionally upon suggestions
- Values critical thinking, including engaging theoretical and philosophical frameworks and shows evidence of critical thinking through discussion and writing (e.g., journals, response to prompts)
- Understands the importance of and is committed to communicating clearly orally and in writing both in traditional and in new and emerging digital formats

- Values and is committed to continually developing strong content area knowledge and/or knowledge of the professional field, including pedagogical content knowledge
- Takes initiative, uses imagination and creativity, and seeks out information using a variety of human and material resources and technology to inform his or her teaching
- Is aware of the role of classroom environment and uses management procedures that reflect respect and care for learners and concern for their emotional and physical well being
- Takes the time and effort needed to understand how students learn, including discovering their interests and experiences and determining how to shape teaching acts (using technology as appropriate) that engage learners meaningfully and actively
- Values and is committed to using assessment to evaluate and ensure the continuous intellectual, social, emotional, and physical development of the learner
- Respects and considers cultural contexts in order to determine how to be responsive to learners and to proactively promote all students' learning
- Values and is responsive to diverse learners' academic, emotional, and social needs through teaching acts (including careful instructional planning, implementation, and differentiation) and through everyday interactions with students
- Is committed to collaboration with colleagues, families, and communities in order to promote all students' learning and development
- Recognizes and fulfills professional responsibilities and habits of conduct (e.g., dress, language, preparedness, attendance, punctuality, etc.)
- Demonstrates collegiality, honesty, good judgment, courtesy, respect, and diplomacy

- Demonstrates professional ethical and legal behavior as defined by the respective codes of ethics and laws
- Demonstrates consistent professional behavior across all academic settings
- Maintains appropriate interpersonal and professional boundaries
- Accepts personal responsibility for one's behavior
- Expresses feelings and opinions effectively and appropriately
- Upholds confidentiality

Skill Building Courses

Before taking any math or English courses, students must take the DePaul placement tests to determine if skill level is at the college level. If placement indicates skill level in these courses, the courses become part of degree requirements. Consult with your advisor regarding placement test results and any required classes.

Advanced Standing

Students are admitted conditionally to the College of Education. There are additional requirements to reach Advanced Standing in your program in the College of Education. Requirements must be met to progress in the major and take courses in the Advanced Standing category.

Advanced Standing requirements are:

- Maintain a DePaul undergraduate 2.5 GPA
- Pass the Illinois Test of Academic Proficiency (TAP)
- Submit an application for advanced standing form

Students should attempt to complete the Advanced Standing requirements soon after beginning the program. There is no time limit to meet these criteria; however, students will only be able to take pre-education courses until requirements have been met. Students can also take liberal studies or content area courses before or after meeting Advanced Standing requirements.

Modern Language Competence Requirement

Students pursuing a Bachelor of Arts degree in the College of Education will be required to demonstrate a measure of competence in a modern language, as defined by the college. Such competence may be demonstrated in one of several ways:

- completing two years of a language sequence in high school
- completing the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language
- completing a college course beyond the first-year level in any language
- achieving a satisfactory score on any of the Modern Language placement examinations administered at DePaul
● achieving a satisfactory rating in a proficiency examination accepted by DePaul
● achieving a score of 3 or higher on the Advance Placement (AP) test for any language
● achieving a score of 5 or higher in the Language B assessment from a Standard or Higher Level International Baccalaureate (IB) program
● achieving a satisfactory score on the CLEP examination

For further information regarding satisfactory scores and possible credit from the DePaul placement, AP, CLEP, or IB examinations, please contact the Office of the University Registrar.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College of Education will abide by the COE Modern Language Requirement in place on the effective date of the ICT.

B.A. students who meet College requirements and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option” of the Liberal Studies Program. While B.S. students are not required to demonstrate competency in a modern language, the "Modern Language Option” is available to them for language study at any level.

Licensure Tests

All individuals licensed by the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) are required to complete licensure tests specific to their teaching license.

Field Experiences

Each student seeking licensure from the College of Education/Professional Education Unit must complete supervised field experiences in appropriate settings in conjunction with education courses. The field experiences must include a variety of grade levels, multicultural experiences, and a minimum of 10 hours in special education settings. All field experiences must be completed prior to final approval for student teaching. Field experience hours should be entered by the student into the FEDS system when completing courses with field experience requirements.

Endorsements

An endorsement is a statement appearing on a license that identifies the specific subjects or grade level that the license holder is authorized to teach.

The Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) issues endorsements in various subject areas. To view the full list and requirements, visit the ISBE website.

Please note that the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) may change the state licensure and endorsement requirements at any time and without prior notice. Individuals are bound by the requirements in place when applying for the license or endorsement, not the requirements in place when beginning the program.

Student Teaching Requirements

Student Teaching is the culminating clinical experience in the student's program. All students in teacher preparation programs must meet the following requirements before applying for student teaching:

Academic Requirements:

● Completion of all Liberal Studies, Pre-Education, Advanced Standing and concentration/content area courses
● Overall cumulative GPA of 2.50 or better
● Cumulative GPA of 2.75 or better in all education courses

● Meet designated program standards
● Pass the required Illinois licensure content area test(s)

Clinical Requirements:

● Completion of all required field experiences
● Three satisfactory evaluations in field experiences
● Three satisfactory faculty recommendations
● Attendance at mandatory meeting for student teaching
● Application for student teaching, resume, transcripts, and writing sample (check deadlines)
● Review and approval by Student Teaching Committee of the College of Education

Student Teaching Timeline and Deadlines:

● Attend a Mandatory Meeting approximately 1 year prior to expected quarter of student teaching.
Submit application for student teaching after attending Mandatory Meeting, approximately 1 year prior to student teaching.

Academic requirements are due one quarter before expected quarter of student teaching.

Clinical requirements are completed as course requirements. Field experience hours are entered by the student as coursework is completed.

Online Faculty Evaluations are entered by the instructor of relevant courses. All data must be entered in the Field Experience Documentation System (FEDS) due one month prior to student teaching.

Individual childcare agencies and public and private school districts may have additional requirements (application, training, background check, etc.).

Degree Conferral and Graduation

DePaul holds one commencement ceremony each year in June. If you intend to participate, you must first apply for degree conferral for the current academic year and then submit a cap and gown order. Honors announced at the ceremony for undergraduates are based on winter quarter GPAs because a final GPA is not available at the time of the ceremony.

Additional information about degree conferral and graduation can be found on the College of Education website at: http://education.depaul.edu/.

Licence

Requirements for licensure include completion of full bachelor’s degree program, all licensure tests (including OPI for world language majors), and awarding of bachelor’s degree. A bachelor's degree is required to qualify for licensure and must be awarded before applying for the license.

Individuals must submit an application directly to the Illinois State Board of Education after completion of requirements and after DePaul has submitted notification to ISBE. Application requirements include application form, application fee, official transcripts, and registration fee.

All individuals must meet ISBE requirements in place at the time of application for the license. Requirements are subject to change per the discretion of ISBE. All coursework and requirements pertaining to licensure requirements must be completed before DePaul University can recommend an individual for the license.

Individuals seeking additional endorsements after applying for the licensure must contact ISBE directly for an evaluation request.

All coursework and requirements must be completed before DePaul University can recommend an individual for the license.

The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

Major Requirements

Course Requirements

Content Area Courses

Note: Language courses begin at the Advanced level for the major. A placement test in the language is required to determine skill level and appropriate level to begin the language. Beginning and Intermediate language courses are in addition to the content area requirements but can fulfill open elective requirements.

Advanced Language Core: 12 quarter hours required, grade of C or better required

- GER 201 ADVANCED COMMUNICATION I
- GER 202 ADVANCED COMMUNICATION II
- GER 203 ADVANCED COMMUNICATION III

Language Electives Core: 36 quarter hours required, grade of C or better required

- GER 200-300 level course 1
- GER 200-300 level course 2
- GER 200-300 level course 3
- GER 200-300 level course 4
- GER 200-300 level course 5
- GER 200-300 level course 6
- GER 200-300 level course 7
- GER 200-300 level course 8
- GER 200-300 level course 9

Teaching Culture Core: 4 quarter hours required, grade of C or better required

- WLE 370 SECOND & WORLD LANGUAGE LITERACIES AND CULTURES

Education Courses: 40 quarter hours required, grade of C or better required

- SCU 207 SOCIAL AND HISTORICAL ISSUES IN EDUCATION
- SCU 337 HUMAN GROWTH AND DEVELOPMENT
- SEC 364 METHODS: CURRICULUM AND INSTRUCTION IN SECONDARY SCHOOLS
- BBE 307 EQUITY ISSUES IN ASSESSMENT OF LANGUAGE LEARNERS
- SER 346 STRATEGIES FOR MAINSTREAMING AND INCLUSION
Oral Proficiency Interview (OPI) Test

Pursuing certification in the teaching of a world language (Chinese, French, German, Italian, Japanese, or Spanish) requires the oral proficiency test – an Interview – before you begin student teaching. You must earn a rating of "intermediate high" or better on the test.

Open Electives: 8 quarter hours are required

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours. The following cannot be used to fulfill an open elective: WRD 98, MAT 94, and MAT 95. EE 281 recommended as open elective course. Electives must be approved by the WLE Program director.

Student Teaching: 12 quarter hours required, grade of B- or better required

Registration in student teaching requires completion of all requirements and procedures indicated in the college core section. EDU 95 indicates to the Illinois State Board of Education that all field experience hours are complete. All students also take WLE 384 with student teaching (listed in the Liberal Studies section).

- WLE 385 STUDENT TEACHING IN WORLD LANGUAGES (12 credit hours)
- EDU 95 CLINICAL EXPERIENCE WITH CHILDREN AND YOUTH (non-credit, non-tuition, PA grade required)

Licensure Tests

All individuals licensed by the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) are required to complete licensure tests specific to their teaching license. World Language Education German majors must complete the following tests:

- Test of Academic Proficiency (TAP) (test #400) - assesses knowledge of reading comprehension, language arts, writing, and math. It is recommended to be taken during the first or second quarter in the program. Test is required before Student Teaching (deadlines apply). *Check with your advisor about qualifying for a waiver with acceptable ACT or SAT test scores.
- German Content Area Test (test #253) – assesses knowledge of the German language and culture. Test is required before Student Teaching (deadlines apply).
- OPI Test (see above).
- EdTPA - assessment conducted during the student teaching experience including video clips of instruction, lesson plans, student work samples, analysis of student learning and reflective commentaries. Students will submit an electronic portfolio to an outside agency for independent evaluation and a fee will be imposed by that agency as part of the assessment.

World Language Education Italian (BA)

The Bachelor of Arts program in World Language Education Italian prepares students to teach Kindergarten through 12th grade in a variety of urban and suburban education settings, including public and private elementary and high schools.

Students learn educational theories and effective teaching practices, participate in field experiences, which require observation and participation in teaching activities at multiple schools, and student teaching. Students should meet early and regularly with their advisor to design and monitor their program of study.

The program combines theoretical principles of education and field work with the student's choice of major. Students follow a general pattern of study for middle school and high school levels. In all cases, appropriate field experience plays an integral role.

Students entering the program must be able and willing to devote themselves to a program requiring a minimum of 130-135 hours of daytime field experiences in schools. These school-based clinical hours are completed in conjunction with methodology courses that require students to spend a half-day each week in a school. In addition, the student must spend a minimum of 11 weeks in full-time student teaching.

Please make sure you consult the Liberal Studies Requirements, Major Requirements, and College Core Requirements for full degree requirements.
Licensure

Illinois Professional Educator License with endorsement in Foreign Language Italian (kindergarten-grade 12), an Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) approved program.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Apply theoretical foundations of language education to develop sound instruction and teaching approaches for language learners.
- Integrate theory and research on second language acquisition into practice for language learners.
- Evaluate history and policies of language education and how historical and policy context affect the education of language learners.
- Analyze various assessment issues that affect language learners, such as accountability, reliability, validity, bias, special education.

College Core Requirements

Dispositions

The academic programs within the College of Education have set forth these dispositions as educational and professional expectations for all students. Students should be aware that failing to abide by DePaul University or College of Education policies including, under certain circumstances, these dispositions, could result in adverse consequences for the student, including removal from his or her program, the College of Education, or the University.

The following dispositions apply to Early Childhood Education, Elementary Education, Exercise Science Middle Grades, Physical Education, Secondary Education, and World Language Education majors only:

- Reflects on progress and identifies strengths and weaknesses, including evaluating strategies for success, finding alternatives for inappropriate strategies, and modifying future practices
- Is receptive to faculty feedback and acts meaningfully and professionally upon suggestions
- Values critical thinking, including engaging theoretical and philosophical frameworks and shows evidence of critical thinking through discussion and writing (e.g., journals, response to prompts)
- Understands the importance of and is committed to communicating clearly and in writing both in traditional and in new and emerging digital formats
- Values and is committed to continually developing strong content area knowledge and/or knowledge of the professional field, including pedagogical content knowledge
- Takes initiative, uses imagination and creativity, and seeks out information using a variety of human and material resources and technology to inform his or her teaching
- Is aware of the role of classroom environment and uses management procedures that reflect respect and care for learners and concern for their emotional and physical well being
- Takes the time and effort needed to understand how students learn, including discovering their interests and experiences and determining how to shape teaching acts (using technology as appropriate) that engage learners meaningfully and actively
- Values and is committed to using assessment to evaluate and ensure the continuous intellectual, social, emotional, and physical development of the learner
- Respects and considers cultural contexts in order to determine how to be responsive to learners and to proactively promote all students’ learning
- Values and is responsive to diverse learners' academic, emotional, and social needs through teaching acts (including careful instructional planning, implementation, and differentiation) and through everyday interactions with students
- Is committed to collaboration with colleagues, families, and communities in order to promote all students' learning and development
- Recognizes and fulfills professional responsibilities and habits of conduct (e.g., dress, language, preparedness, attendance, punctuality, etc.)
- Demonstrates collegiality, honesty, good judgment, courtesy, respect, and diplomacy
- Balances self-confidence and assertiveness with respect for others’ perspectives
- Respects the requirements, expectations, and procedures of both the College of Education and of our field partners and appreciates the issues of trust, fairness, and professionalism involved

The following dispositions apply to Special Education majors only:

DePaul University
Autumn 2018-2019
• Is receptive to faculty feedback and acts meaningfully and professionally upon suggestions
• Reflects on his or her own progress, identifies strengths and weaknesses, and evaluates strategies for success and professional growth
• Takes initiative
• Is open to new ideas and engagement in learning
• Respects diversity and cultural contexts to determine how to be responsive to learners and to proactively promote all students' learning
• Expresses positive attitudes toward individuals with disabilities and a willingness to advocate on their behalf
• Is committed to collaboration with colleagues, families, and communities in order to promote all students' learning and development
• Demonstrates professional ethical and legal behavior as defined by the respective codes of ethics and laws
• Demonstrates consistent professional behavior across all academic settings
• Maintains appropriate interpersonal and professional boundaries
• Accepts personal responsibility for one's behavior
• Expresses feelings and opinions effectively and appropriately
• Upholds confidentiality

Skill Building Courses

Before taking any math or English courses, students must take the DePaul placement tests to determine if skill level is at the college level. If placement indicates skill level in these courses, the courses become part of degree requirements. Consult with your advisor regarding placement test results and any required classes.

Advanced Standing

Students are admitted conditionally to the College of Education. There are additional requirements to reach Advanced Standing in your program in the College of Education. Requirements must be met to progress in the major and take courses in the Advanced Standing category.

Advanced Standing requirements are:

- Maintain a DePaul undergraduate 2.5 GPA
- Pass the Illinois Test of Academic Proficiency (TAP)
- Submit an application for advanced standing form

Students should attempt to complete the Advanced Standing requirements soon after beginning the program. There is no time limit to meet these criteria; however, students will only be able to take pre-education courses until requirements have been met. Students can also take liberal studies or content area courses before or after meeting Advanced Standing requirements.

Modern Language Competence Requirement

Students pursuing a Bachelor of Arts degree in the College of Education will be required to demonstrate a measure of competence in a modern language, as defined by the college. Such competence may be demonstrated in one of several ways:

- completing two years of a language sequence in high school
- completing the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language
- completing a college course beyond the first-year level in any language
- achieving a satisfactory score on any of the Modern Language placement examinations administered at DePaul
- achieving a satisfactory rating in a proficiency examination accepted by DePaul
- achieving a score of 3 or higher on the Advance Placement (AP) test for any language
- achieving a score of 5 or higher in the Language B assessment from a Standard or Higher Level International Baccalaureate (IB) program
- achieving a satisfactory score on the CLEP examination

Please note: The Modern Language Competence Requirement is not required for students in the Early Childhood Education: SNL Joint Program (BAECE) program.

For further information regarding satisfactory scores and possible credit from the DePaul placement, AP, CLEP, or IB examinations, please contact the Office of the University Registrar.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College of Education will abide by the COE Modern Language Requirement in place on the effective date of the ICT.

B.A. students who meet College requirements and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" of the Liberal Studies Program. While B.S. students are not required to demonstrate competency in a modern language, the "Modern Language Option" is available to them for language study at any level.

Licensure Tests

All individuals licensed by the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) are required to complete licensure tests specific to their teaching license.

Field Experiences
Each student seeking licensure from the College of Education/Professional Education Unit must complete supervised field experiences in appropriate settings in conjunction with education courses. The field experiences must include a variety of grade levels, multicultural experiences, and a minimum of 10 hours in special education settings. All field experiences must be completed prior to final approval for student teaching. Field experience hours should be entered by the student into the FEDS system when completing courses with field experience requirements.

Endorsements

An endorsement is a statement appearing on a license that identifies the specific subjects or grade level that the license holder is authorized to teach.

The Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) issues endorsements in various subject areas. To view the full list and requirements, visit the ISBE website.

Please note that the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) may change the state licensure and endorsement requirements at any time and without prior notice. Individuals are bound by the requirements in place when applying for the license or endorsement, not the requirements in place when beginning the program.

Student Teaching Requirements

Student Teaching is the culminating clinical experience in the student's program. All students in teacher preparation programs must meet the following requirements before applying for student teaching:

Academic Requirements:

- Completion of all Liberal Studies, Pre-Education, Advanced Standing and concentration/content area courses
- Overall cumulative GPA of 2.50 or better
- Cumulative GPA of 2.75 or better in all education courses
- Meet all other program requirements (e.g., modern language and residency requirements)
- Meet designated program standards
- Pass the required Illinois licensure content area test(s)

Clinical Requirements:

- Completion of all required field experiences
- Three satisfactory evaluations in field experiences
- Three satisfactory faculty recommendations
- Attendance at mandatory meeting for student teaching
- Application for student teaching, resume, transcripts, and writing sample (check deadlines)
- Review and approval by Student Teaching Committee of the College of Education

Student Teaching Timeline and Deadlines:

- Attend a Mandatory Meeting approximately 1 year prior to expected quarter of student teaching.
- Submit application for student teaching after attending Mandatory Meeting, approximately 1 year prior to student teaching.
- Academic requirements are due one quarter before expected quarter of student teaching.
- Clinical requirements are completed as course requirements. Field experience hours are entered by the student as coursework is completed.

Online Faculty Evaluations are entered by the instructor of relevant courses. All data must be entered in the Field Experience Documentation System (FEDS) due one month prior to student teaching.

Individual childcare agencies and public and private school districts may have additional requirements (application, training, background check, etc.).

Degree Conferral and Graduation

The awarding of a degree is not automatic. You must submit an application to be considered for the degree. DePaul awards and posts degrees at the end of each regular academic term (autumn, winter, spring, summer).

It is your responsibility to initiate the degree conferral application process by submitting an online application. Submitting an application means you intend to finish your degree requirements by the end of the term for which you have applied.

Undergraduate students must be approved for student teaching and complete student teaching and capstone to be cleared for the degree. Student must submit graduation application for the quarter that matches the quarter you are student teaching.

After you submit the application, you cannot register for any term after the one selected in the application.

To apply for degree conferral, log on to Campus Connection. Select STUDENT CENTER, then MY ACADEMICS. On screen instructions will... take you through the application process.

Provided that all requirements and financial obligations are met, degrees are posted 30 days after the official end of the term. Official dates are listed on the Academic Calendar.

DePaul holds one commencement ceremony each year in June. If you intend to participate, you must first apply for degree conferral for the current academic year and then submit a cap and gown order. Honors announced at the ceremony for undergraduates are based on winter quarter GPAs because a final GPA is not available at the time of the ceremony.

Additional information about degree conferral and graduation can be found on the College of Education website at: http://education.depaul.edu/.

Licensure

Requirements for licensure include completion of full bachelor’s degree program, all licensure tests (including OPI for world language majors), and awarding of bachelor’s degree. A bachelor’s degree is required to qualify for licensure and must be awarded before applying for the license.

Individuals must submit an application directly to the Illinois State Board of Education after completion of requirements and after DePaul has submitted notification to ISBE. Application requirements include application form, application fee, official transcripts, and registration fee.

All individuals must meet ISBE requirements in place at the time of application for the license. Requirements are subject to change per the discretion of ISBE. All coursework and requirements pertaining to licensure requirements must be completed before DePaul University can recommend an individual for the license.

Individuals seeking additional endorsements after applying for the licensure must contact ISBE directly for an evaluation request.

All coursework and requirements must be completed before DePaul University can recommend an individual for the license.

Liberal Studies Requirements

Honors program requirements can be found in the individual Colleges & Schools section of the University Catalog. Select Academics, followed by Undergraduate, then Honors Program Alternative.

Understanding the Past (UP)

- 2 Courses Required
  (Note: One must be US History.)

* Students must earn a C- or better in this course.

Notes

Specified required courses within Liberal Studies may have grade minimums (e.g. C- or better). Please consult your advisor or your college and major requirements.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.
Major Requirements

Course Requirements

Content Area Courses

Note: Language courses begin at the Advanced level for the major. A placement test in the language is required to determine skill level and appropriate level to begin the language. Beginning and Intermediate language courses are in addition to the content area requirements but can fulfill open elective requirements.

Advanced Language Core: 12 quarter hours required, grade of C or better required

- ITA 201 ADVANCED COMMUNICATION I
- ITA 202 ADVANCED COMMUNICATION II
- ITA 203 ADVANCED COMMUNICATION III

Language Electives Core: 36 quarter hours required, grade of C or better required

- ITA 200-300 level course 1
- ITA 200-300 level course 2
- ITA 200-300 level course 3
- ITA 200-300 level course 4

Oral Proficiency Interview (OPI) Test

Pursuing certification in the teaching of a world language (Chinese, French, German, Italian, Japanese, or Spanish) requires the oral proficiency test – an Interview – before you begin student teaching. You must earn a rating of "intermediate high" or better on the test.

Open Electives: 8 quarter hours are required

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours. The following cannot be used to fulfill an open elective: WRD 98, MAT 94, and MAT 95. EE 281 recommended as open elective course. Electives must be approved by the WLE Program director.

Student Teaching: 12 quarter hours required, grade of B- or better required

Registration in student teaching requires completion of all requirements and procedures indicated in the college core section. EDU 95 indicates to the Illinois State Board of Education that all field experience hours are complete. All students also take WLE 384 with student teaching (listed in the Liberal Studies section).

- WLE 385 STUDENT TEACHING IN WORLD LANGUAGES (12 credit hours)
Licensure Tests

All individuals licensed by the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) are required to complete licensure tests specific to their teaching license. World Language Education Italian majors must complete the following tests:

- Test of Academic Proficiency (TAP) (test #400) - assesses knowledge of reading comprehension, language arts, writing, and math. It is recommended to be taken during the first or second quarter in the program. Test is required before Student Teaching (deadlines apply). *Check with your advisor about qualifying for a waiver with acceptable ACT or SAT test scores.
- Italian Content Area Test (test #130) – assesses knowledge of the Italian language and culture. Test is required before Student Teaching (deadlines apply).
- OPI Test (see above).
- EdTPA - assessment conducted during the student teaching experience including video clips of instruction, lesson plans, student work samples, analysis of student learning and reflective commentaries. Students will submit an electronic portfolio to an outside agency for independent evaluation and a fee will be imposed by that agency as part of the assessment.

World Language Education Japanese (BA)

The Bachelor of Arts program in World Language Education Japanese prepares students to teach Kindergarten through 12th grade in a variety of urban and suburban education settings, including public and private elementary and high schools.

Students learn educational theories and effective teaching practices, participate in field experiences, which require observation and participation in teaching activities at multiple schools, and student teaching. Students should meet early and regularly with their advisor to design and monitor their program of study.

The program combines theoretical principles of education and field work with the student's choice of major. Students follow a general pattern of study for middle school and high school levels. In all cases, appropriate field experience plays an integral role.

Students entering the program must be able and willing to devote themselves to a program requiring a minimum of 130-135 hours of daytime field experiences in schools. These school-based clinical hours are completed in conjunction with methodology courses that require students to spend a half-day each week in a school. In addition, the student must spend a minimum of 11 weeks in full-time student teaching.

Please make sure you consult the Liberal Studies Requirements, Major Requirements, and College Core Requirements for full degree requirements.

- achieving a satisfactory rating in a proficiency examination accepted by DePaul
- achieving a score of 3 or higher on the Advanced Placement (AP) test for any language
- achieving a score of 5 or higher in the Language B assessment from a Standard or Higher Level International Baccalaureate (IB) program
- achieving a satisfactory score on the CLEP examination

Please note: The Modern Language Competence Requirement is not required for students in the Early Childhood Education: SNL Joint Program (BAECE) program.

For further information regarding satisfactory scores and possible credit from the DePaul placement, AP, CLEP, or IB examinations, please contact the Office of the University Registrar.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College of Education will abide by the COE Modern Language Requirement in place on the effective date of the ICT.

B.A. students who meet College requirements and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" of the Liberal Studies Program. While B.S. students are not required to demonstrate competency in a modern language, the "Modern Language Option" is available to them for language study at any level.

Licensure Tests

All individuals licensed by the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) are required to complete licensure tests specific to their teaching
Field Experiences

Each student seeking licensure from the College of Education/Professional Education Unit must complete supervised field experiences in appropriate settings in conjunction with education courses. The field experiences must include a variety of grade levels, multicultural experiences, and a minimum of 10 hours in special education settings. All field experiences must be completed prior to final approval for student teaching. Field experience hours should be entered by the student into the FEDS system when completing courses with field experience requirements.

Endorsements

An endorsement is a statement appearing on a license that identifies the specific subjects or grade level that the license holder is authorized to teach.

The Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) issues endorsements in various subject areas. To view the full list and requirements, visit the ISBE website.

Please note that the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) may change the state licensure and endorsement requirements at any time and without prior notice. Individuals are bound by the requirements in place when applying for the license or endorsement, not the requirements in place when beginning the program.

Student Teaching Requirements

Student Teaching is the culminating clinical experience in the student’s program. All students in teacher preparation programs must meet the following requirements before applying for student teaching:

Academic Requirements:

- Completion of all Liberal Studies, Pre-Education, Advanced Standing and concentration/content area courses
- Overall cumulative GPA of 2.50 or better
- Cumulative GPA of 2.75 or better in all education courses
- Meet all other program requirements (e.g., modern language and residency requirements)
- Meet designated program standards
- Pass the required Illinois licensure content area test(s)

Clinical Requirements:

- Completion of all required field experiences
- Three satisfactory evaluations in field experiences
- Three satisfactory faculty recommendations
- Attendance at mandatory meeting for student teaching
- Application for student teaching, resume, transcripts, and writing sample (check deadlines)
- Review and approval by Student Teaching Committee of the College of Education

Student Teaching Timeline and Deadlines:

- Attend a Mandatory Meeting approximately 1 year prior to expected quarter of student teaching.
- Submit application for student teaching after attending Mandatory Meeting, approximately 1 year prior to student teaching.
- Academic requirements are due one quarter before expected quarter of student teaching.
- Clinical requirements are completed as course requirements. Field experience hours are entered by the student as coursework is completed.

Online Faculty Evaluations are entered by the instructor of relevant courses. All data must be entered in the Field Experience Documentation System (FEDS) due one month prior to student teaching.

Individual childcare agencies and public and private school districts may have additional requirements (application, training, background check, etc.).

Degree Conferral and Graduation

The awarding of a degree is not automatic. You must submit an application to be considered for the degree. DePaul awards and posts degrees at the end of each regular academic term (autumn, winter, spring, summer).

It is your responsibility to initiate the degree conferral application process by submitting an online application. Submitting an application means you intend to finish your degree requirements by the end of the term for which you have applied.

Undergraduate students must be approved for student teaching and complete student teaching and capstone to be cleared for the degree. Student must submit graduation application for the quarter that matches the quarter you are student teaching.
After you submit the application, you cannot register for any term after the one selected in the application.

To apply for degree conferral, log on to Campus Connection. Select STUDENT CENTER, then MY ACADEMICS. On screen instructions will take you through the application process.

Provided that all requirements and financial obligations are met, degrees are posted 30 days after the official end of the term. Official dates are listed on the Academic Calendar.

DePaul holds one commencement ceremony each year in June. If you intend to participate, you must first apply for degree conferral for the current academic year and then submit a cap and gown order. Honors announced at the ceremony for undergraduates are based on winter quarter GPAs because a final GPA is not available at the time of the ceremony.

Additional information about degree conferral and graduation can be found on the College of Education website at: http://education.depaul.edu/.

Licensure

Requirements for licensure include completion of full bachelor’s degree program, all licensure tests (including OPI for world language majors), and awarding of bachelor’s degree. A bachelor’s degree is required to qualify for licensure and must be awarded before applying for the license.

Individuals must submit an application directly to the Illinois State Board of Education after completion of requirements and after DePaul has submitted notification to ISBE. Application requirements include application form, application fee, official transcripts, and registration fee.

All individuals must meet ISBE requirements in place at the time of application for the license. Requirements are subject to change per the discretion of ISBE. All coursework and requirements pertaining to licensure requirements must be completed before DePaul University can recommend an individual for the license.

Individuals seeking additional endorsements after applying for the licensure must contact ISBE directly for an evaluation request.

All coursework and requirements must be completed before DePaul University can recommend an individual for the license.

Notes

Specified required courses within Liberal Studies may have grade minimums (e.g. C- or better). Please consult your advisor or your college and major requirements.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student’s major and is cross-listed with a course within the student’s major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

Major Requirements

Course Requirements

Content Area Courses

Note: Language courses begin at the Advanced level for the major. A placement test in the language is required to determine skill level and appropriate level to begin the language. Beginning and Intermediate language courses are in addition to the content area requirements but can fulfill open elective requirements.

Advanced Language Core: 16 quarter hours required, grade of C or better required

- SPN 201 ADVANCED GRAMMAR AND COMMUNICATION
  - or SPN 205 ADVANCED GRAMMAR AND COMPOSITION FOR HERITAGE SPEAKERS I
- SPN 202 ADVANCED COMPOSITION AND COMMUNICATION
  - or SPN 206 ADVANCED GRAMMAR AND COMPOSITION FOR HERITAGE SPEAKERS II
- Choose one of the following:
  - SPN 203 ADVANCED CONVERSATION
  - SPN 207 ADVANCED CONVERSATION FOR THE HERITAGE SPEAKER
- SPN 220 INTRODUCTION TO LITERARY ANALYSIS IN SPANISH

Language Electives Core: 28 quarter hours required, grade of C or better required

- SPN 200-300 level course 1
- SPN 200-300 level course 2
- SPN 200-300 level course 3
- SPN 200-300 level course 4

  - or SCU 339 PHILOSOPHY AND PSYCHOLOGY OF YOUTH AND MIDDLE LEVEL EDUCATION

Oral Proficiency Interview (OPI) Test

Pursuing certification in the teaching of a world language (Chinese, French, German, Italian, Japanese, or Spanish) requires the oral proficiency test – an Interview – before you begin student teaching. You must earn a rating of "intermediate high" or better on the test.

Open Electives: 8 quarter hours are required

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours. The following cannot be used to fulfill an open elective: WRD 98, MAT 94, and MAT 95. EE 281 recommended as open elective course. Electives must be approved by the WLE Program director.

Student Teaching: 12 quarter hours required, grade of B- or better required

Registration in student teaching requires completion of all requirements and procedures indicated in the college core section. EDU 95 indicates to the Illinois State Board of Education that all field experience hours are complete. All students also take WLE 384 with student teaching (listed in the Liberal Studies section).

- WLE 385 STUDENT TEACHING IN WORLD LANGUAGES (12 credit hours)
- EDU 95 CLINICAL EXPERIENCE WITH CHILDREN AND YOUTH (non-credit, non-tuition, PA grade required)

Licensure Tests

All individuals licensed by the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) are required to complete licensure tests specific to their teaching license. World Language Education Spanish majors must complete the following tests:

- Test of Academic Proficiency (TAP) (test #400) - assesses knowledge of reading comprehension, language arts, writing, and math. It is recommended to be taken during the first or second quarter in the program. Test is required before Student Teaching (deadlines apply). *Check with your advisor about qualifying for a waiver with acceptable ACT or SAT test scores.
- Spanish Content Area Test (test #260) – assesses knowledge of the Spanish language and culture. Test is required before Student Teaching (deadlines apply).
- OPI Test (see above).
- EdTPA - assessment conducted during the student teaching experience including video clips of instruction, lesson plans, student work samples, analysis of student learning and reflective commentaries. Students will submit an electronic portfolio to an outside agency for independent evaluation and a fee will be imposed by that agency as part of the assessment.

Writing, Rhetoric and Discourse (BA)

The Bachelor of Arts in WRD focuses on the development and expression of ideas in writing—the very foundation of the liberal arts, and more broadly, contemporary democratic culture. Our lives are increasingly mediated by digital technologies that use writing to organize sound and image in interactive spaces like the World Wide Web. And through text messaging, email, and social networking, individual identity and interpersonal relationships are progressively bound up with writing. At the same time, we face growing demands for communicating across national, cultural, and linguistic borders, requiring us to rethink many assumptions we may have about written communication and expression.

WRD majors explore theories of language, rhetoric (how to make effective choices as writers), and discourse (the way writing structures human activity) as they develop understanding of the role of the individual writer within communities of writers. They write in a great variety of contexts and genres in preparation for a full range of dynamic and rewarding careers grounded in written communication.

WRD faculty members are published specialists in the fields that make up writing studies—rhetoric, technical and professional writing, new media studies, and linguistics—allowing students to learn from leading scholars.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Describe concepts, theories, and historical periods related to writing, rhetoric, and literacies.
- Produce clear, cohesive, and precise prose.
- Compose audience-centered texts in a variety of public and professional genres.
- Design persuasive multimodal texts.
- Assess the ethical, cultural, or political dimensions of rhetoric, language, or writing technologies.
College Core Requirements

Study in the Major Field

The student's course of study in the College consists of three parts: Liberal Studies, the major field, and electives. Together these three parts contribute to the liberal education of the student which is the common purpose of all study in the College. By "liberal education" the College understands not only a deep and thorough knowledge of a particular area of study but a knowledge of the diverse areas of study represented by criticism, history, the arts, the behavioral and social sciences, philosophy, religious studies, the natural science, and mathematics.

The major field program generally is built upon a set of core courses and a specialized "concentration." The number of courses required for a major varies by department. Most students go beyond the minimum requirements, electing additional courses which both broaden and deepen their understanding of their chosen discipline.

Because no academic major program is built in isolation, students are required to pursue a number of electives of the student's choice. The inherent flexibility of this curriculum demands that the student consult an academic advisor at each stage in the total program and at least once prior to each registration. Students will be prompted to visit the College Office for their official graduation check early in their senior year.

Declaration of Major, Minor and Concentration

All students in the College are required to declare a major field prior to beginning their junior year. The student will then be assigned a faculty advisor in the major field department or program and should make an appointment to see that advisor at his or her earliest convenience.

Students must declare or change majors, minors, and concentrations, via Campus Connection. However, for the purpose of exploring the possibility of changing a major field, the student should consult an academic advisor in the Office for Academic Advising Support.

The Modern Language Requirement (MLR)

All students will be required to demonstrate competence in a modern language (i.e., a language other than English) equivalent to the proficiency attained from one year of college-level language study. This Modern Language Requirement (MLR) may be demonstrated by:

- placing into 104 or above on the DePaul language placement exam
- completing the last course or earning AP/IB credit for the last course in the first-year college sequence of any language (e.g. 103 for DePaul language classes)
- completing a college course or earning AP/IB credit for a college course beyond the first-year level in any language (e.g. 104 or above for DePaul language classes)
- completing the final course of a four-year sequence of the same modern language in high school*
- completing a proctored exam by BYU and passing the exam (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)
- completing a proctored Written Proficiency Test (WPT) by Language Testing International (LTI) and achieving a score of Beginner High or above (see the Department of Modern Languages website for registration details)

* Students are strongly encouraged to take the DePaul language placement exam even if they have met the MLR via study of a language in high school. This will ensure continuation of language study at the proper level.

Students who complete an Inter-College Transfer (ICT) to the College will abide by this MLR in place on the effective date of the ICT, regardless of when they first matriculated at DePaul.

Students who have met the MLR and wish to pursue further work in the language may elect the "Modern Language Option" (MLO) of the Liberal Studies Program (see "Special Programs").

External Credit and Residency

A student who has been admitted to the College begins residency within the college as of the first day of classes of the term in which the student is registered. Students in residence, whether attending on a full-time or part-time basis, may not take courses away from DePaul University without the written permission of the college. Permission must be obtained in advance of registration to avoid loss of credit or residency in the college; see the LAS website for more information.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major. Students who choose to take an experiential learning course offered by the major may count it either as a general elective or the experiential learning requirement.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. - WRD 390 RHETORIC AND PUBLIC WRITING

*May be repeated for credit when the topic is different.

Major Field Electives

The equivalent of seven additional four-hour electives may be drawn from either of the elective categories above and from the following:

- WRD 207 INTRODUCTION TO WRITING AND RHETORIC
- WRD 290 WRITER'S TOOLS WORKSHOP (2 hr course, may be repeated for major-field elective credit as long as topic differs)
- WRD 291 THE SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH POSTER
- WRD 398 INTERNSHIP (EL/LSP EL)
- WRD 399 INDEPENDENT STUDY

Experiential Learning (EL) Requirement

All WRO students are required to take one EL-designated course within the major. WRD courses designated both EL and LSP EL will fulfill the major’s EL requirement and the Liberal Studies Experiential Learning requirement simultaneously. A LSP EL course taken outside of WRD will not count toward the EL course requirement.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.
3+3 Program (BA/JD)

In the 3+3 BA/JD Program, high-achieving first-year undergraduate students are admitted simultaneously to the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences and the College of Law. Students complete their first three years in the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences and their final three years in the College of Law. Students receive the Bachelor of Arts degree after successful completion of their first year of law school. Throughout the program, BA/JD students meet regularly with advisors in both Colleges and have access to a variety of resources to ensure their success.

Key Program Features

- Students earn a law degree (Juris Doctor) in a total of six years (three years undergraduate and three years in law school).
- Students save one year's worth of tuition, reducing their overall debt load.
- Students benefit from new curricular offerings and collaborative activities created to prepare them for law school.
- Students receive early (conditional) admission to the College of Law.
- Credits earned in the first year of law school apply toward the BA degree.
- Students may opt out of the College of Law segment of the program and continue in the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences during their fourth year.
- If students withdraw after the first semester in the College of Law, they return to the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences for the winter quarter.

Program Requirements

In order to maintain status in the program, students must demonstrate satisfactory progress toward completing their undergraduate coursework in three years, including meeting the Modern Language Requirement and necessary Liberal Studies Program or Honors Program requirements. Students must achieve a cumulative GPA of 3.35 by the end of their second year of study and maintain a cumulative GPA of 3.35 in their third and final year of undergraduate study.

In addition, students must complete a series of two-credit courses, taught by College of Law faculty, prior to matriculation in the College of Law. They are designed to help students understand many aspects of the legal system as well as to complement their undergraduate course of study. The courses are as follows:

- PRELAW 150 THE PRACTICE OF LAW
- PRELAW 151 RECENT CONTROVERSIES IN LAW
- PRELAW 152 THINKING ABOUT THE LAW

In order to matriculate in the College of Law, students will be required to register with the Law School Admissions Council, submit the College of Law's online application, comply with all character and fitness requirements for admission, and submit an LSAT score. The activities should be completed no later than the end of the Autumn Quarter of the participant's third undergraduate year. The LSAT score will only be used for consideration of merit scholarships; it will not be a factor in the admission of the participant to the program.

Combined Bachelor's/ Master's Degree

The combined Bachelor's/Master's degree programs allow students to complete 12 graduate credit hours while still undergraduates. These 12 graduate credit hours will count toward both the undergraduate and graduate degree programs.

The Writing, Rhetoric, & Discourse (BA) offers two options:

- DePaul Undergraduate Degree/Writing, Rhetoric, & Discourse (MA)
- Writing, Rhetoric, & Discourse (BA)/Secondary Education English (MEd)

Combined DePaul Bachelor's/Writing, Rhetoric, and Discourse (MA)

Any DePaul student regardless of major may apply for the Combined DePaul Bachelor's/MA WRD program. If admitted, undergraduate students will be allowed to take up to three courses in the MA WRD during their senior year as open electives in their undergraduate degree program. Final approval of the MA WRD courses as open electives will continue to reside with the college hosting the specific bachelor's degree program. WRD majors who choose the BA/MA option may count their three graduate courses as major or open electives. In addition to the credit earned toward their bachelor's degree, participants will be allowed to double-count the course credit toward the requirements of the MA WRD degree program. Current DePaul undergraduate students with junior status (at least 88.0 credits) and a cumulative DePaul grade point average (GPA) of 3.2 are eligible to apply to the Combined DePaul Bachelor's/MA WRD.

Application Deadlines:
To begin in Autumn Quarter, for Spring Graduation: April 15
To begin in Winter Quarter, for Autumn Graduation: November 15
To begin in Spring Quarter, for Winter Graduation: February 15

Writing, Rhetoric and Discourse (BA)/Secondary Education English (MED)

The TEACH Program combines a Liberal Arts and Social Sciences (LAS) undergraduate English major with a graduate level College of Education (COE) Master’s in Education Program. Students graduate with a BA in Writing, Rhetoric and Discourse and a MEd in Education with State of Illinois Secondary English Language Arts licensure. This combined degree program of the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences and the College of Education was collaboratively developed, and is governed and taught by faculty from these units.

Students may apply to the Program during the spring of their junior year. They must complete the Junior Year Experiential Learning course, TCH 320, and meet other application criteria prior to applying; these include completion of at least 16 quarter credit hours at DePaul and a 3.0 GPA. During their senior year, students are required to complete a Program capstone course, TCH 390 and three 400-level courses that count toward both their undergraduate and graduate degrees:

- TCH 401 TEACHING AS A PROFESSION IN SECONDARY SCHOOL
- TCH 411 THE NATURE OF ENGLISH
- TCH 421 INQUIRY & APPLICATION IN DEVELOPING SECONDARY ENGLISH PEDAGOGY

The following is a list of English Content Area requirements (grades of C or better required for licensure). These can be taken as part of liberal studies, major and/or open elective requirements:

- Introduction to Literature course: ENG 120 or 200-level LSP English course
- Reading Poetry course: ENG 220 or ENG 366
- Shakespeare course: ENG 228 or ENG 328
- Literary Research and Writing/Reading Prose course: ENG 221
- Linguistics/Grammar/History of the English Language course: ENG 211, ENG 370, WRD 203, ENG 300, WRD 300, WRD 323, or WRD 340
- 3 British Literature courses chosen from: ENG 245, any ENG course in the 310s-350s sequence, ENG 382 (British authors), ENG 383 (British authors), ENG 387 (British literature), ENG 388 (British literature), ENG 389 (British literature)
- Romanticism in American Literature course: ENG 361
- 2 American Literature courses chosen from: ENG 371, ENG 373, ENG 374, ENG 382 (American authors), ENG 383 (American authors), ENG 387 (American literature), ENG 388 (American literature), ENG 389 (American literature)
- 300-level Literature elective courses (With permission, WRD majors can substitute upper-level WRD course)

The master’s year comprises teacher-preparation coursework that culminates with student teaching during Spring Quarter. Upon graduation and the fulfilling of State of Illinois Certification requirements (which may require some additional course work in the student’s major and related fields), students are eligible to be certified to teach English at the 6th-12th grade levels.

A full description of the program can be found on the College of Education website in the graduate course catalog. Students interested in the program should consult with the designated TEACH Program advisor in their home department.

Costume Design and Costume Technology (BFA)

The Theatre School’s Bachelor of Fine Arts (BFA) degree in Costume Design and Costume Technology is designed to give students the opportunity to train as costume designers as well as theatrical draper/cutters, crafts persons, and costume shop managers, while providing them opportunities to practice their art and craft. The four-year curriculum, in many ways, simulates a costume designer’s, and costume technician’s professional experiences and processes. As designers, students learn to visualize the world of plays through the costumes and accessories actors wear, while the technology courses will teach students to turn those designs into reality. Students learn a variety of design and technical skills including: life drawing, photoshop, media for designers, sewing, pattern making, cutting, fitting, millinery, mask making, etc. They also take a progression of business management coursework. Students collaborate with directors, dramaturgs, other designers and technicians, and our professional costume shop staff in work on productions in addition to their class work. Only students who have completed their freshman year as either a Costume Design or Costume Technician major are eligible to apply for this degree.

Learning Outcomes

Core Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Identify and describe the historical and theoretical significance of a range of theatrical artists, works and artistic approaches from antiquity to the present, encompassing a broad range of periods, cultures, and styles.
- Synthesize and apply elements of their education and training in classes, rehearsals, and productions.
- Participate in theatrical production in a professional manner, with discipline, respect, and maturity.
- Demonstrate the role of the theatre practitioner as an active member of society and of the cultural and social impact of the arts.

Program Specific Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Apply General knowledge of theatre history, dramatic literature covering a broad range of historical periods, cultures, and styles, and major theatre artists on both a national and international level.
- Utilize the principles and vocabulary of performance, directing, design, and a thorough grounding in the theory of their particular area of specialization.
- Write with competency in a variety of writing styles from casual to formal.
- Fully engage with knowledge through the ability to access, analyze, and evaluate information and ideas from multiple sources in order to identify underlying arguments and assumptions and to formulate conclusions.
- Utilize existing knowledge to generate and synthesize ideas in original, creative, and imaginative ways.
- Articulate clearly the process of transforming the written text into the theatrical event.
- Design, develop, and execute a noteworthy intellectual and/or creative project.
- Develop a profound understanding of the role of the artist in society.
- Develop an understanding of the cultural and sociopolitical context of theatre from the perspective of both historical and contemporary practice.
- Develop strong self-discipline, self-motivation, and an ability to work independently.
- Work collaboratively and effectively within a group process and with creative artists from all theatrical disciplines.
- Understand the interrelationship of what it means to be human and what it means to be a theatre artist.
- Evaluate ethical issues with respect to theatrical analysis, concept, and practice.
- Contribute artistically to communities through socially responsible engagement and leadership.
- Develop an understanding of and a respect for a multiplicity of cultural and artistic perspectives that may be different from their own.
- Understand the availability and/or scarcity of global resources for a sustainable future.
- Set goals for future work that are the result of rigorous self-appraisal and reflection.
- Articulate their skills and knowledge as they represent themselves to external audiences.
- Work both independently and collaboratively.
- Use technology to create, communicate, and synthesize their ideas.

Specified required courses within Liberal Studies may have grade minimums (e.g. C- or better). Please consult your advisor or your college and major requirements.

Courses offered in the student's primary major cannot be taken to fulfill LSP Domain requirements. If students double major, LSP Domain courses may double count for both LSP credit and the second major.
In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student’s major and is cross-listed with a course within the student’s major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

Quantitative Reasoning and Technological Literacy

Readiness for LSP 120 is determined by the math placement test taken online after admission. Students may need to take developmental coursework prior to LSP 120. The LSP 120 requirement may be waived by credit already earned for advanced math coursework or by passing a dedicated proficiency exam. Students who complete both LSP 120 and LSP 121 take one less Learning Domain course. Students may not apply the course reduction to any Domain where only one course is required, and if taken within the SI Domain, the reduction cannot be applied to the SI Lab or SWK requirement.

Theatre Electives

Students must also complete any three additional THE, DES or TEC classes.
American Sign Language (Minor)

The minor in American Sign Language at DePaul University provides students with a basic linguistic and cultural background, develops their creative and critical thinking skills, and helps to prepare them for a career in a multicultural world.

The minor consists of a total of 5 courses in American Sign Language at the 200/300-level.

Marketing Honors (BSB)

IME, the honors sequence in Marketing, gives a select group of undergraduate students a hands-on opportunity to develop skills in marketing management while interacting with a Chicago area business. The real world focus of IME is an outgrowth of DePaul's strong links to the Chicago business community.

Instead of a series of classes that address a single marketing function, the IME curriculum features courses that address marketing issues in the way that managers are likely to encounter them. The stage is set for life-long learning in the marketing profession.

IME students are selected on a competitive basis. The evaluation is based on an interview, writing sample and performance in previous marketing and other coursework. Classes are limited in size and offered only once per year.

Business Ethics

All undergraduate students in the Driehaus College of Business complete a course in Business Ethics. It is recommended students take MGT 248 or PHL 248 in Philosophical Inquiry or MGT 228 or REL 228 in Religious Dimensions in the Liberal Studies Program (or University Honors Program) Requirements.
Second Majors and Minors

The addition of a second major or minor may affect the Business Core classes required for a student. Meet with an academic advisor to confirm requirements.

Math Requirements

- A student is expected to complete the business math sequence (MAT 135, MAT 136, and MAT 137) in the first year of study.
- MAT 135 and MAT 137 are completed through Liberal Studies requirements.
- MAT 135 may be replaced by MAT 150 or MAT 160 or MAT 170.
- MAT 136 may be replaced by MAT 151 or MAT 161 or MAT 171.
- MAT 135 and MAT 136 may be replaced by the sequence of MAT 147, MAT 148, and MAT 149.
- MAT 137 may be replaced by MAT 348 or MAT 351; if done, an additional Scientific Inquiry course must be added to the degree plan.

Communication Requirement

Students majoring in Marketing must complete MKT 376 for the Communication requirement.

Global Business Perspective

If a MKT course or ICS 350 is shared between Global Business Perspective and the Marketing major, additional hours of Open Elective credit are required.

Grade Minimum Requirements for Marketing Major

A minimum grade of C- is required for the following: ACC 101, ACC 102, ECO 105, ECO 106, MAT 135, MAT 136, MAT 137, MKT 301, MKT 310, MKT 376, the course used for Professional Writing, and any MKT course used for Global Business Perspective.

  - MGT 341 BEHIND THE SCENES WITH CHICAGO SPORTS ORGANIZATIONS
  - MGT 356 INTRODUCTION TO SPORTS MANAGEMENT

Communication Requirement

MKT 376 must be completed by students majoring in Marketing and serves as the Communication requirement in the Business Core.

Multiple Marketing Concentrations

While a student may complete more than one Marketing concentration, at least 50% of the courses used for the completion of a second concentration must be unique to the completion of that concentration.

Open Electives

Open elective credit (16.0 hours) is also required to meet the minimum graduation requirement of 192 hours.

Global Business Perspective

If a MKT course or ICS 350 is shared between Global Business Perspective and the Marketing major, additional hours of Open Elective credit are required. Any MKT or ICS 350 course must be passed with C- or higher.

Experiential Learning

MKT 393 is required in the Marketing Honors/IME major. Consult with academic advisor regarding options for Experiential Learning.
Graduation Requirements

All Marketing (MKT) courses and any other courses used toward the Marketing major must be completed with a minimum grade of C- and with a combined GPA of 2.000 or higher.

Animation (BFA)

The BFA in Animation provides students with a solid foundation in the art of animation and its history combined with insight into the latest techniques used in the rapidly-moving fields of high end 3D animation in the film, television, and game development industries.

Concentrations

3D Animation

The area of 3D animation dominates the film industry—five of the twenty-one top grossing films of 2017 were 3D animated, and eight of the top ten were heavily dependent on 3D animation for special effects.

Cinema Concentration

The technically demanding art of modern 3D character animation is grounded in the core fundamentals of animation mechanics, visual storytelling and acting. Right from the start, students in the Cinema Animation concentration gain hands-on experience bringing digital characters to life. They are given in-depth instruction in the most up-to-date software and technology available, including motion capture and green screen, but the emphasis is always on creativity, experimentation and expression.

Game Art Concentration

Becoming a game development artist requires a solid foundation in animation, visual design principles, color theory, and drawing. Students in the Game Art concentration also receive in-depth instruction in the latest advanced game modeling and animation technology and practices, including motion capture, rigging and digital sculpting. They learn about real-world problem-solving, team dynamics, and pipeline requirements while working alongside programmers and game designers on cross-disciplinary game development projects.

Motion Graphics Concentration

Motion Graphics, sometimes known as Motion Design, involves putting graphic forms, text, and photographic elements into motion using the principles of animation. These are almost always paired with sound and music for a specific purpose, such as in advertisements, educational and industrial videos, films and television titles, visual effects, and video games. Chicago is a major center for commercial advertising production, and Motion Graphics is a significant part of the commercial production and post-production process.

Storyboarding and Character Design Concentration

Storyboard artists are in demand in the television and feature film animation industries. A storyboard artist can also find work storyboarding live action films, visual effects, and commercials. The skills of the storyboard artist can also be applied to graphic novels and comics. Character design is a much sought-after role in animation, game art, live action film, comics, and children’s literature. Both disciplines share a requirement for strong traditional drawing skills.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- Demonstrate a solid foundation in design and traditional studio art, and will be able to use these skills in order to communicate effectively through visual means.
- Demonstrate knowledge of the history of animation through written critical evaluation of animated films and be able to analyze work in a historical context.
- Acquire animation skills necessary for careers in game development, 3D and 2D animated films, television or effects animation.

Open Electives

Open elective credit also is required to meet the minimum graduate requirements of 208 hours.
Combined Bachelor's/Master's Degree

The combined Bachelor's/Master's degree programs allow students to complete 12 graduate credit hours while still undergraduates. These 12 graduate credit hours will count toward both the undergraduate and graduate degree programs.

Students who meet the admission requirements below may choose to apply to a combined degree program. Interested students should consult their faculty advisor regarding the application procedure. This program allows students to combine many CDM bachelor's degrees with a CDM master's degree following the structure outlined below.

Admission Criteria

- Minimum of 44 quarter hours earned
- Minimum of 12 quarter hours earned at DePaul
- GPA of 3.3 or higher in courses taken at DePaul
- Endorsement of faculty advisor

In order to apply for the combined degree program, your faculty advisor must send an e-mail recommendation to the CDM Academic Success Center. The recommendation should include your full name, student ID number, and the bachelor's and master's degrees you wish to combine.

Bachelor of Arts in Professional Studies with a Major in Computing students who are enrolled via the School for New Learning (SNL) are also eligible for this program. Interested students who meet the admission criteria for a combined degree should contact Kenn Skorupa in SNL for more information.

Program Structure

Students in the combined degree program take a maximum of three graduate level courses that count toward both their bachelor's and master's degree requirements. Students may enroll in graduate level coursework in the junior and senior year only. Students in the combined degree program will receive the bachelor's degree after meeting all graduation requirements including the minimum credit hours required for graduation.

To earn the master's degree, the student must earn as many additional graduate credit hours as needed to reach the minimum number of graduate credit hours required in that master's degree.

Only CDM courses can be taken as part of this program. Advanced programs (e.g., JD/MS, MFA, and PhD) are not eligible for the combined degree program.

Maintaining Good Standing

Cumulative GPA and course grades will be reviewed after each Autumn, Winter, and Spring Quarter.

The student and faculty advisor will be notified when the student's cumulative GPA falls below 3.3 or when the student receives less than a C- in graduate level course.

If a student's cumulative GPA falls below 3.3, the student must earn a term GPA of 3.3 or above in the following quarter to stay in good standing. If the student does not achieve a 3.3 term GPA, then the student will be dismissed from the combined program and resume the traditional B.A./B.S./B.F.A.

If dismissed from the combined degree program after graduate courses have been passed, the graduate courses may only apply to the undergraduate degree. Should the student later be admitted to a graduate program, graduate courses applied to the undergraduate degree may not apply to the graduate program and may not be repeated if they are required in the declared graduate curriculum. Other graduate courses may be substituted in this case.

Designing a Course of Study

It is extremely important that the student and faculty advisor work together on a course of study immediately upon admission to the Combined Degree Program.

This course of study should include the graduate courses to be taken and the undergraduate courses that are replaced by the graduate courses. Failure to put together a solid plan can lead to extra coursework and a lengthening of the Combined Degree program.

It is advisable for the student and the faculty advisor to enter the proposed plan of study in the student communication record on the CDM intranet so it is available to the student and CDM faculty and staff.
Registering for Master's Degree Courses

Combined degree students must meet regularly with their faculty advisor. The faculty advisor will initiate the registration process for all graduate level courses taken during the undergraduate career.

Bachelor's Degree to Master's Degree Transition

In order to be fully admitted to the designated master's program, the student must meet all admission requirements for that program. When preparing to complete the undergraduate portion of the combined degree, students must submit the application for degree conferral for the undergraduate degree by the application deadline. At this time, the students should contact the CDM Academic Success Center about the procedure required to be formally admitted to the declared graduate program.

Graphic Art (Minor)

The Graphic Art minor is designed to develop artistic skills and abilities in primarily two-dimensional media.
